GERRY—WHITLEY

With her father officiating at the marriage ceremony, on last Friday evening, June 30, in the Second Congregational Church, of which he is pastor, Miss Ruth Elizabeth Whitley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John E. Whitley of Washington street, became the bride of Harold Tirrell Gerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Gerry of Hawthorne street, Cambridge. Both the bride and bridegroom are college graduates and many colleges were represented among the members of the bridal party.

Miss Whitley received her A.B. at Radcliffe in 1926 and her A.M. from Columbia in 1930. For the past three years she has been at the head of the History Department at Keene, N. H. Mr. Gerry, who is a member of the chemical fraternity, Alpha Chi Sigma, was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he received his doctor's degree in 1932, and where he is now a member of the research staff.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Edson P. Lichty of New York City, Radcliffe '26, was Miss Whitley's honor attendant, and Mr. Lichty, a graduate of Illinois University and of the Harvard School of Business Administration, class of 1925, was best man. Three Radcliffe graduates, Miss Alice Sexton of Arlington, A.M. Radcliffe, 1927, Miss Grace A. Richmond of Arlington, Miss Norma MacRory of Manchester, N. H., A.M., Boston University, '28, recently returned from the Paris Sorbonne; and Miss Mary Benson of Ukiah, Calif., a graduate of Pomona College with A.M. from Columbia in 1930, were bridesmaids.

Ushers were Canfield Hadlock of Scarsdale, N. Y., Dartmouth, A.B. and A.M.; Robert Armstrong of Cambridge, M. I. T. '30, now doing graduate work at the Institute; Isadore Amdur of Pittsburgh, Pa., University of Pittsburgh, S.B. and Ph.D., National research fellow at M.I.T.; and Spencer Prentiss of Washington, D. C., a graduate of George Washington University with Ph.D., from M. I. T., 1931, now a member of the Institute's research staff.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white lace with a matching lace cap and veil of tulle. Her flowers were valley lilies and butterfly roses. Mrs. Lichty wore blue mousseline de soie with matching lace jacket and carried a bouquet of talisman roses. The bridesmaids wore frocks of yellow mousseline de soie with lace jackets of the same color and carried Colonial bouquets. The wedding music was played by Earl Powers' Orchestra.

Yellow coreopsis, larkspur and roses made a most attractive setting for the ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the church assembly room. Parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving. Following the reception, Mr. Gerry and his bride left to spend their honeymoon at Greenwood Lakes in Maine.

KING—NICHOLS

Last Friday evening, June 30, in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Miss Carolyn Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guild Nichols of Brookline, formerly of Winchester, became the bride of Herbert Leslie King, Jr., of Philadelphia and Pittsfield. The pastor of the church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiated at the marriage ceremony which took place at 8 o'clock.

Miss Nichols was given in marriage by her father and attended only by her sister, Miss Janet Nichols, as maid of honor. Robert Hubble of Bridgeport, Conn., was Mr. King's best man, and the ushers were Cezar Nichols of Brookline, brother of the bride, and George Searles of Cambridge.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with the conventional tulle veil, arranged in cap effect, and a short rose veil. Her flowers were valley lilies and white roses. The maid of honor was gowned in flesh colored satin and carried tea roses.

An informal reception was held after the ceremony at the Village Chop House on Station street in Brookline, after which Mr. King and his bride went on to New York by boat.

They are to make their home in Philadelphia where Mr. King, who was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the class of 1932, is associated with the Atlantic Refining Company. The bride was graduated in 1931 from Winchester High School, where she took a prominent part in athletics and was captain of the field hockey team.

PAST COMDR. W. ALLAN WILDE
Chairman Legion Carnival Committee

LEGION CARNIVAL BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

Drum and Bugle Corps Competition Big Feature

Despite the handicap of cold, threatening weather, this year's big carnival, sponsored by Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, and running from last Friday evening through the holiday night proved in every way successful. From the all-important financial angle the affair came fully up to expectations, according to Past Comdr. W. Allan Wilde, who headed the committee in charge of arrangements. From the standpoint of entertainment and patronage it easily eclipsed all its predecessors.

This year's committee went to considerable trouble and expense to secure new features, in addition to those which had proven popular in past seasons. An especially happy thought was the Legion drum and bugle corps competition, held Saturday evening on Manchester Field, easily one of the best things ever done in Winchester and worthy of a much larger attendance than the fair sized crowd who witnessed it. Malden Post was adjudged the winner, with Andover Post second; followed by Somerville, Yankee Division Post of Boston, Cambridge and Stoneham, in that order.

Another feature of this year's carnival which proved really excellent was the spectacular European aerial act of Larry Saunders who performed breath-taking stunts at the top of a ladder considerably higher than the playground flagpole, and finally climbed a willowy pole some 20 feet above the top-most round, to suspend himself head down by a single foot while the crowd held its breath.

Less spectacular, perhaps, but fully as difficult was Saunder's stunt of kneeling on the top round of the ladder and without the assistance of his hands stooping to pick up with his mouth a handkerchief which he held under one knee. The acrialist was assisted by a petite blonde, not the least attractive feature of the act.

Also much appreciated, especially by the younger element were the antics of "Bill" Reno, Hickville's famous one-man police force, who arrived in Winchester Monday and remained through Tuesday evening. "Bill" amused the kiddies in the morning, and at the ball game in the afternoon sang songs, cracked jokes and conducted an assiduous search for "liker" among the bleacherites that caused many a laugh.

Rounding out the new features was an amplifying wagon, used for ballyhooing the carnival about town and for broadcasting purposes on the playground with Chairman Wilde at the microphone.

All the old favorites were back. Beano, the turtles, ball-throwing, flying horses, Ferris wheel, giant swings, and others, all well patronized by adults and children who, booth workers reported, had plenty of money to spend when they wished to do so.

A fair sized crowd was on hand for the opening of the carnival last Friday evening, and again on Saturday afternoon and evening when there were good sized gatherings at the field with a baseball game and the drum corps competition as features.

The Winchester Legion won both its Saturday afternoon ball game with the Linc-Ins A. A. and its holiday afternoon engagement with the Wayland Grays, making things perfect for the fans who are never satisfied with anything less than victory.

Certainly the largest crowd of kiddies ever to attend a July Fourth Carnival was present on the playground Tuesday morning, as many as 2000 being estimated as crowded on and about the bleacher seats for the entertainment. Two trick riders on attractive ponies performed for the youngsters, followed by "Bill" Reno, and a special act of Larry Saunders rounded out the bill, before the ice cream was distributed.

Five hundred servings were brought to the field, similar amounts having been ample in past seasons. This was soon exhausted and a raid was made upon the refreshment booth, the supply there being also completely wiped out before the last youngster was satisfied.

DR. KINSOLVING TELLS GIRLS HOW TO PRAY

"Many people," want to pray and do not know how," says Dr. Kinsolving of Trinity Church, Boston, when talking to groups of girls at Northfield last month.

The same note is struck by Mrs. Marie Cole Powell in her course on worship to be given at the Community School in October.

How to arrange a worship service is one thing, but how to organize one's private and personal devotions is far more important. If our ideas of prayer are confused, how can we teach children to realize clearly the need of prayer? Mrs. Powell helps us to clarify our ideas.

Mr. Packer performed the marriage ceremony and the bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Packer. Mr. Seager's best man was Lawrence Liles of Wilson Mills, N. C. and Samsun, Turkey.

WINCHESTER BRIDE IN NOVEL GET-AWAY

The usual stealthy exit from a rear door into a high powered automobile, followed by a dash to the nearest travel center, so often employed by newly-weds, was not needed by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilder, the former Mary Elizabeth Armstrong, after their marriage Monday noon in Friendship, Me.

After the informal reception and luncheon at the summer home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong, on Davis Point, the bride and bridegroom were rowed out to the Wilder's motor launch, awaiting them on the bay, a most romantic beginning for the wedding journey which is to take the young people to Europe for an extended honeymoon.

Among the Winchester guests at the wedding festivities which included a week-end house party, attended by about 25 college friends of the bride and bridegroom, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kelley and Miss Frances Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Butler and family, Miss Priscilla Bodman, Miss Eleanor Davis, Russell Davis, Miss Elizabeth Mansfield, Miss Anna Lee Pinkham, Miss Alice Friend, Miss Elizabeth Chadwick, Miss Anna Danforth and Miss Jeannette Comins.

The bride's uncle Rev. Arthur L. Pratt, D.D., of Greenfield, performed the marriage ceremony in a simple setting of wild flowers with green and white as predominating colors. Mr. Armstrong gave his daughter in marriage, and the wedding music was played upon the organ by Miss Priscilla Bodman of Winchester, a classmate of the bride at Skidmore College in New York.

The bride wore her mother's wedding veil, and gown of cream satin trimmed with Brussels lace and seed pearls. Her flowers were lillies of the valley and gardenias. PLAYGROUND NOTES

The playground season opened in full swing on Monday last—a season which undoubtedly will be our greatest in attendance if the record of this week may be taken as a barometer.

Tennis is fast crowding baseball as the most popular sport and the Loring avenue courts are constantly in demand. More youngsters are taking up the game than ever before, inasmuch as we have balls and racquets for those who cannot afford them. This has been made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Wightman, Miss Lucy Fowle, Mr. William Gilpatrick, Mr. William Packer and Mr. George Davidson, all of whom have contributed to our equipment. Free tennis instruction is to be given on the Loring avenue courts. Those desiring such instruction will please place their names with the field instructor, Mr. Robert Bernard.

The Junior League baseball schedule has been drawn and the first game will take place next Monday between the North End Eagles and the famed Hillside Yankees. This league will be composed of six teams: Loring Avenue Playground, Leonard Field Playground, the Eagles, Sluggers, Yankees and the Bravers. Another league is being fostered under the name of the Midgets and will comprise six teams. These boys must all be under 14 years of age and any boy who wishes to play may do so by sending in his name to the playground instructor.

It is the intention of the playground officials to sponsor a swimming team this year and the Winchester playgrounds have been entered in a meet which is to take place in the outdoor pool at Lexington. Teams from Lexington, Waltham, Belmont and Winchester will compete.

Mr. Tansey, playground supervisor, will be at Leonard Field beach to give free swimming instruction to any member of either playground who wishes to learn to swim.

ROTARY CLUB

Thursday, July 6, at our first meeting in two weeks, six absentees were noted. There were no guests or visitors at this time.

This meeting marked the beginning of the Rotary year and management of club affairs was taken over by the officers chosen at the recent election.

Immediate Past-President George Welsch took occasion to express his deep appreciation for the honor of having served as presiding officer of this club during the past year, after which he surrendered the bell and gavel to incoming President, Allen McLatchy. President "Mac" made a short address pledging his best endeavors for the good of the club and then yielded the floor to Past President "Church" Hindes. To "Church" fell the pleasant duty of presenting to immediate Past-President George the Past President's badge which, according to custom, this club annually bestows upon its retiring chief. George gracefully accepted this token and we trust that he will find it useful on his projected trip to the West.

We must not overlook the fact that President "Mac" received a beautiful Rotary horse-shoe from Past-President George Welsch as an omen of good luck for his administration.

Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer for the past year were submitted at this time and accepted as read. We are pleased to note that notwithstanding various economies which have been adopted, the club remains in a satisfactory financial condition. Those few members who have not yet paid dues or convention registration fees, would confer a favor by attending to this matter at an early date.

Frank Enman was appointed by President "Mac" to serve as Sergeant-at-Arms for the ensuing year. The standing committees were also named at this time.

The remainder of the session was given over to reports of the recent Boston Convention and several members told of their experiences while attending the various events during Convention week. It is interesting to note that the total registration at Boston was 8856, a figure that has been surpassed but twice in the history of Rotary. Delegates were present from 160 clubs outside of the United States. It is most complimentary to Rotary and Rotarians that various observers in Boston, official and unofficial, declared this assemblage to be the most orderly and efficiently conducted of any similar gathering in their experience.

LUCY FOWLE DROPPED CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL

Winchester Youngsters Contenders in Several Classes

Winchester had to be content with finalists only in this year's boys' and girls' State tennis championships concluded last Saturday at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Lucy Fowle, after playing superb tennis to erase the top seeded Joanna Palfrey from the older girls' singles in the heat of Thursday, showed a complete reversal of form against Helen Jones of Swampscott on Friday, losing in straight sets at love to the girl she has twice defeated on previous occasions.

Lucy was far from being on her game against the Swampscott entrant, who won her second title at the expense of Winchester's ace when she paired with Joanna Palfrey to beat Lucy Fowle and Sally Jones in the older girls' doubles final, 6—1, 6—0.

In the older class mixed doubles Lucy and "Billy" Gilpatric reached the semi-final round before being eliminated by Elena Ciccone of Newton and Ellis Tarshis of Montreal, ultimate titlists.

Sylvia Hatch and Norman Dalrymple carried Winchester's colors into the final round of the older mixed doubles class by defeating Joanna and John Palfrey of Brookline in the semi-finals. In the championship round, after a Marathon first set, the Winchester pair fell before the Newton-Montreal combination, 11—9, 6—2.

In the older boys' doubles Dalrymple and Lorimer Walker advanced to the semi-final round, losing there to Sumner Redman, Harvard freshman and Eugene Sullivan of Malden, 6—2, 6—1.

Ruth Bernnard and Betty Gilbert made a splendid showing in the younger girls' doubles, reaching the final round before being defeated, 6—0, 6—2, by the Newton team of Ciccone and Caroline Evarts, both much more experienced performers than the local girls.

Hoarding Ancient Habit

Hoarding is not a phenomenon of recent times. It is as old as the history of property. Indeed, prior to the rise of banking and capitalism in early modern times, most specie owned by individuals was preserved through hoarding devices. In primitive times, the natives hoarded all sorts of wealth. As soon as material possessions became a major source of social prestige, hoarding was prompted by the desire of display.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

For the help of program committees of Parent-Teacher Associations, Child Welfare, the National Parent-Teacher magazine, will begin to publish in its September issue a series of nine programs for next year's monthly meetings.

These have been prepared with the co-operation and advice of committee chairmen of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers who are specialists in their fields of work. They encourage a participating membership, discussions, demonstrations, the study of Congress publications and other source material, and the carrying out of worth while child welfare projects.

The plan of this program material is diametrically opposed to the old-fashioned method of getting an "outside speaker," and letting the members lose interest because of enforced inactivity.

Following is a list of topics which will be developed in Child Welfare from September 1933 to May 1934:

1.—Living Together in the Family
Suggestions for achieving happy family relationships.

2.—Nutrition and Growth
A study of foods for families with growing children.

3.—What Are School Essentials?
The need of scuttled "fads and frills" and their place in the school program.

4.—Alcohol and Narcotics
Some facts for home and school about the effects of alcohol and narcotics on safety, health, and character.

5.—The Practical Application of Mental Hygiene
Mental hygiene defined. Ways of using mental hygiene principles during the child's formative years.

6.—Youth and Social Hygiene
A study of a boy and girl relationships and wholesome leisure-time activities.

7.—The Wise Use of Radio
A study of its uses and abuses, particularly as they affect the child in the home.

8.—Building World Understanding
The development of a program for international good-will through knowing the customs, problems, and achievements of other nations, and our economic interdependence.

9.—The Motion Picture Situation
Ways of getting and showing films suitable for children and the family.

The objective of this course is: A better understanding of present-day issues which affect the welfare of children in our homes, schools, and communities.

Subscribers to Child Welfare and officers of Congress units may secure copies of this leaflet, free of charge, by writing to Child Welfare Magazine, 1201 16th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

NOONAN SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOYED GET-TOGETHER

On Monday afternoon the boys and girls who are leaving the Noonan School this year enjoyed a final get-together at the home of one of their members, William Conlon, at 54 Canal street. There were games, contests, entertainment, luncheon and a general good time.

Practically all the pupils have attended six years, and many have also had their kindergarten year, in the Noonan School. Their advance to the Junior High School next fall marks a definite step in their educational and social progress.

The committee of mothers in charge of arrangements for the party included Mrs. John Collins, Mrs. Michael Foley, Mrs. Thomas Gainey, Mrs. John McCarron, Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. Edward O'Connell and Mrs. Thomas Conlon, retiring president of the Noonan School Mothers' Association and recently elected president of the Winchester Mothers' Association.

Among those who attended were:

CURRIER AND IVES PRINTS AT WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

Exhibition of Photographs Loaned by The Library Art Club July 3 to 31

The originals of these pictures, which sold for from 25 cents to $3, now command large prices, sometimes over $2000. They were issued in the years from 1835 to 1895, and though some were hideous others were produced by capable artists, and furnish an invaluable record of American life for that period. They were lithographed in black and white and colored by hand.

This set was made from "Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives," by Russel Crouse; "Railroad—Indian and pioneer prints," by Fred J. Peters; "The spirit of America" and "The red Indian," by W. S. Hall; and "A portfolio of Currier and Ives," Doubleday, 1931.

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN CUBAN VICE COUNSEL

Winchester friends of the Bennett family who formerly made their home on Lebanon street will learn with interest and pleasure of the recent appointment of Edward Bennett, son of Mrs. Margaret Bennett, to the post of Vice Counsel to Cuba.

Mr. Bennett, who had been associated with the United Fruit Company in Cuba, flew to Washington to take the necessary examinations for the vice counselship, passing with high rank. He has assumed his new duties, and as soon as these duties will permit is to visit the states with his wife and two children.

Miss Brenda Skene of 5 Glengarry is recovering at the Winchester Hospital from a successful appendicistis operation.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The double-bladers had their first work-out in outside competition on the morning of July 4 at the City of Boston races on the Charles River.

Winchester had but two entries. A double blade single and a tandem. "Gus" Pistorino and "Bill" Locke paddled the latter and "Weenie" Pratt, the former. The best either could do was a fifth place. Nevertheless a week from tomorrow at Harmony, R. I., should make for a different story. The races there will be in strict classification and all will participate according to their rating which makes for more nearly even going.

The four boat crew was missing one "cylinder" and therefore did not even leave the garage.

It was a cheerful note in the programe that a townsman should take a first and two seconds in the rowing races. Reference is made to Miss Maribel Vinson, who took first in the mixed tandem sculls and second in two of the girls' rowing events. There were in the whole program, seven canoe events and 13 rowing races. Quite some feast for fast and furious followers of floating finesse.

Late in the afternoon of the 4th, "Andy" Skilling, "Monk" Russell, "Gus" Pistorino, "Weenie" Pratt, Henry Kvenan, Commodore Symmes and "Bill" Locke, together with their lady guests made the trip to Medford Boat Club.

A good wind made for some very fine sailing races. After that, the Hyde trophy race (one mile in canvas canoes) was run off. This was for Medford members only. Lawrence Nichols, formerly of Winchester, the present holder successfully defended his trophy and still retains the cup.

Taking it all in all, Winchester, as has been the case lately, cleaned up entirely.

In the singles singles, the results were as follows: "Bill" Locke, 1st; "Ken" Pratt, 2nd; "Gus" Pistorino, 3rd. In the tail-end race "Ken" Pratt, 1st; "Bill" Locke, 2nd; "Gus" Pistorino, 3rd.

In the tilting: Locke and Pratt first took Nielson and Nichols, and then after a tough battle, "Bill" Locke put out Williams and Woolley, who in going over also tipped over their victors, thus adding to the fun. In this tilt, the spectators got their money's worth. The stick weilding was quite wicked and paddlers as well as tilters "took it" often. It was no strokes barred and anything goes and how it went!

Not satisfied with cleaning up in the water sports, Winchester kept right on at the dance in the evening. Mrs. Russell and "Gus" Pistorino won the lucky dance, thus taking home the entire "spoils."

PREPARATORY COURSE FOR POLICE SERVICE

The policeman's "Blue Book," all-important manual of police conduct and practical duties, is now part of the instruction in "Preparation for Police Service," a course offered for home study by the University Extension Division, State Department of Education.

This addition has been made in anticipation of State-wide civil service examinations in September for positions in the police service of Massachusetts cities and towns, including Boston and the Metropolitan District.

The State's preparatory course emphasizes civil service English, including instruction in letter and report writing. In addition three assignments deal with practical questions on police service as outlined in the "Blue Book." The course may be started at any time. As assignments are completed they are corrected at the University Extension office at the State House.

The "Blue Book" covers every phase of the patrolman's work, and deals extensively with questions of arrests, definitions of crimes and legal terms, first aid, explosives and inflammables, the use of revolvers and clubs, and general deportment on duty.

Candidates for Boston and Metropolitan police service must be not less than 25 nor more than 35 years of age at the time of application, not less than 5 feet 8 inches in height and not less than 135 pounds in weight without clothing. Residence in Boston is not required of candidates for the Boston police service. Candidates for cities and towns other than Boston must be not less than 21 nor more than 35, not less than 5 feet 7 inches in height, and not less than 135 pounds in weight.

MARIBEL VINSON IN SCULLS VICTORY

Miss Maribel Vinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Vinson of High street and internationally known as the premier woman skater of the United States, has added sculling to her list of athletic accomplishments and on the holiday won one first place, a second and a third in the New England Amateur Rowing Association's 47th annual regatta on the upper Charles River basin.

Paired with Russell Colman, Miss Vinson brought the double scull shells, mixed, one-half mile straightaway title to the Union Boat Club, covering the distance with her partner in 3 minutes, 22 1 5 seconds.

In the girls' single sculls events, Maribel placed second in the quarter-mile straightaway and third in the half-mile championship straightaway, representing the Union Boat Club in both.

ALBERT HALE WON HOLIDAY RACE AT ANNISQUAM

Albert Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Hale of Lloyd street and Annisquam, started where he left off last summer by winning the Annisquam Yacht Club's first race of the 1933 season in the Fish Class on the holiday off Gloucester.

The Harvard boy skippered his Flying Fish into an early race lead and was never headed, the only contest being that for second place. A steady northeast wind kicked up a lumpy sea for the racing.

ELDREDGE—HARRIS

On Saturday afternoon, July 1, at 2 o'clock, Miss Barbara Ellen Harris, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Thaddeus William Harris and M. Alan Storey Eldredge, son of Mrs. West Daggett Eldredge of 65 Church street and the late Mr. Eldredge were united in marriage in the home of the bride at 102 Church street. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father in the presence of the immediate families. Miss Eleanor Clarke of Providence, R. I. was maid of honor and little Miss Joy Eldredge, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Eldredge, acted as ring bearer.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, after which the bride and bridegroom left on a wedding journey to the White Mountains.

A. A. WON FROM CUBS

Winchester A. A. won a 10—2 Amateur League game from the Cubs on Leonard Field last Friday evening. The Cubs played ragged ball and many of the winner's runs were the result of errors. "Red" Noble and "Tommy" Hannon, members of this year's high school team were the battery for the A. A.

LEGION SET BACK WAYLAND

In a slow, uninteresting ball game on Manchester Field the holiday afternoon, Winchester Legion defeated the Wayland Grays, 14—8 in a Paul Revere League contest. One of the largest crowds in years was on the field and it is too bad they weren't treated to a better game.

Both teams played ragged ball, a total of 14 errors being recorded with several more which fortunately do not show in a box score.

The pitching was erratic on both sides, though Lee, who worked for the Legion had far the better of his rival, McJennet, reputed to have been a Harvard box man.

"Bob" fanned 13 batters, allowed 10 hits and issued nine free passes, being apparently bothered no little by the preponderance of left hand batters on the Wayland team. During the six innings McJennet twirled he was touched for 13 bingles by the hard hitting Legionnaires, struck out 10 and issued three free tickets.

Four home runs were smashed out during the game, three of them going into the river in left field. Of these, Lee's in the fourth was a real smash, going to the right of the bandstand. Big "Jim" Fitzgerald's homer, his third in three days, was a tremendous line smash to right field, along the line.

The fielding gem of the matinee was contributed by Gladu, former Tufts center fielder, who robbed "Joe" Tansey of a hit in the sixth, by a beautiful hard-running catch of his hoist in short left center. Gladu's try for a double at first base was spoiled when big "Harpy" Fitzgerald plowed into Doherty as the latter foolishly got in the base-path attempting to catch the ball.

Frank Tansey also contributed a nice catch in the ninth when he picked Besse's fly off the left field foul post.

A girl and a woman were struck by batted balls during the game, and why there wasn't a wholesale slaughter in the Beano Booth, which was repeatedly shelled with foul balls, we can't say.

LEGION WON SLUGFEST FROM LINCOLNS

Those fans who like their hitting, got their fill last Saturday afternoon when the Winchester Legion baseball team set back the Lincoln A. A. in a Paul Revere League game on Manchester Field, 12—5. Eight hits for extra bases were recorded, including two home runs and three triples.

Winchester went out in front in the first when Harry Chefalo's slow roller couldn't be fielded in time to prevent a hit, "Nick" Fitzgerald sacrificed and "Jim" Fitzgerald hit for the circuit.

"Harpy's" blow was the longest left field home run ever made on the playground, the ball clearing the river and landing high up on the opposite bank. Previous to laying down a nice bunt, brother "Nick" laced a mighty swat across the river just a bit foul that landed in the far gutter of the Parkway and cleared an automobile to enter the junior high school yard.

Lincoln also scored in the first and for five frames the game was close, the Legion having a 3—2 lead starting the sixth. In this frame, the home club dusted off its batting togs and belted out eight hits, including a home run by Kendrick and a triple by Harry Chefalo that resulted in nine runs and took the game out of the contest class.

The veteran Frank Tansey pitched a nice brand of ball, going the distance and making the Lincoln batters look foolish during the six innings he was actually working. After easing up in the last three frames he fanned the last batter on three pitched balls.

LEGION WON FROM LEXINGTON

Winchester Legion won last Sunday afternoon's game in the Paul Revere League from Lexington at Lexington, 6—2, after a slow start.

Starting the sixth, the locals were on the end of a 2—0 count, but in this frame big "Jim" Fitgerald bashed out a home run with two mates on base and from then on it was all Winchester. "Lefty" Robert Callahan was very effective on the hill for the Legion.

Garfield Was a Preacher

James A. Garfield was a lay preacher of the Disciples' church when he became President. Born in a log cabin, he had worked for his education. Graduated from Williams college, he had taught there, studied law, been admitted to the bar, served in congress, been a general in the Union army, and been President about four months when a disappointed office seeker mortally wounded him in the waiting room of a Washington railroad station. He lingered 80 days before death relieved his sufferings September 19, 1881.

Wild Goat an Antelope

America's only species of wild goat (so-called, at least), is not a true goat at all, but a goat-like antelope. This animal, which ranges from California to Washington, Idaho and northern Montana, is generally Mountain goat.

Poor old Manchester Field continues to take abuse. The latest outrage to its battle-scarred surface took place on the holiday when several horseback riders galloped at will about the diamond basepaths and football gridiron, cutting up badly what little good turf remains upon the field. Why these riders were permitted to ride promiscuously about the field we can not say. Probably it was just another case of thoughtlessness on some one's part. The adult members of the riding party should have had sufficient sense at least to keep their mounts off the diamond infield. Any sportsman should have had that much consideration for his brothers in the sports realm.

The Star's old sports picture of this week is the girls' field hockey team of 1921, which appears with the current high school eleven. To those who may feel that 1921 is not so far back, it can be noted that field hockey at the high school does not date further back than about '18-'19, and it is our impression that it was played more or less informally at that time. The '21 cut is one of the first made for publication. Next week we hope to have one of the old football teams to publish.

Those who have occasion to send mail from Boston to Winchester under the new rates should remember that Winchester is not in the Boston Postal District and as a consequence a three-cent stamp is necessary. The Star has already received several pieces of mail with postage due, and it is a little hard to have to pay extra postage on some of the matter which comes regularly to a newspaper office.

If reports received by the Star of the trouble Wednesday afternoon at the Public Welfare office in the town hall are correct, immediate steps should be taken to prevent any recurrence. Prosecution in court should follow any attempt to do bodily harm to a town officer or employee in the performance of his or her duty. For those who feel they have a case against town employees or officials there is a proper way in which to present such a case. The use of physical force or intimidation should not be countenanced and ought to be nipped immediately while in the bud.

POSTMASTER HURLEY EXPLAINS

July 5, 1933

Mr. Edward L. Barwell,
16 Winslow road,
Winchester, Mass.

My dear Mr. Barwell:

Replying to your letter of July 3, asking why the Town of Winchester is not included in the Boston Postal District, I would advise that the cities and towns included in the Boston Postal District are determined by the Post Office Department. In the 25 cities and towns of our district there is only one Postmaster, the branch offices being in charge of a superintendent who operates under my direction. From time to time, residents of Winchester have indicated to me that they would like to be made a part of the Boston Postal District but it appears that form Congressman Dallinger, who, as you know, represented the district until very recently, was bitterly opposed to Winchester being included as part of the Boston Postal District.

Very truly yours,
W. E. Hurley,
Postmaster

Ed. Note—While it may be true that individual citizens have advocated including Winchester in the Boston Postal District, the opinion of the town as a whole has always been in strong opposition to such action whenever it has been brought up for public discussion. Most people have felt in the past that the disadvantages of becoming a part of the Boston Postal District outweigh the benefits. Whether they will continue to think so in view of the new postage rates for places outside this district remains to be seen. In making the objections referred to by Mr. Hurley, Congressman Dallinger was only reflecting the opinion of Winchester as a whole.

Geological Periods

Geological periods cannot be reckoned by years with any approach to certainty. Even the dates of geological events in the "Recent," or "Human Period," immediately following the glacial period, cannot be arithmetically computed. The order of their succession is about all that can be established with reasonable certainty. In America evidences of glacial action extend as far south at least, as Washington and the Ohio river, in Europe to 50 degrees north latitude, and in some places down to 45 degrees.

"Billy the Kid"

"Billy the Kid" was the name used by William H. Bonney, who lived from 1859 to 1881. He was killed by a bullet fired by a sheriff. Bonney was only twenty-two years of age and he had killed 21 men (not including Indians) during his six years of outlawry. The modern consensus of opinion is that "Billy the Kid" was perhaps the most notorious gunman the West ever had.

LEGION CARNIVAL BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

Following Tuesday afternoon's game Larry Saunders put on his act once more, appearing later in the evening at 11:30. Band concerts were played on both Monday and Tuesday evenings by the Winchester Post Band under the direction of Charles A. Young, snappy modern favorites being judiciously intermingled with selections of real musical merit in a most pleasing manner. The band played on the field level under the trees near the refreshment booth, losing much in musical effect thereby, but assisting to keep the crowds near the booths.

After the final appearance of Larry Saunders Tuesday evening the crowd gathered at the refreshment stand where Post Comdr. Kenneth Reed presided at the drawing of the carnival contest winners.

Prizes were awarded as follows: 1st prize, bicycle, ticket No. 1622, William Farrell, 18 Richardson street; 2nd prize, radio, ticket No. 1021, Marjorie Carroll, 30 Richardson street; 3rd prize, electric casserole, ticket No. 1109, Anna Colgate, 40 Elmwood avenue; 4th prize, red cart, ticket No. 313, Joseph Pirritano, 2 Tremont street.

Flashlight prizes were awarded to the following: Junior Smith, 122 Main street; John Piccolo, 7 Park avenue; John Mattson, 44 Wood street, Woburn; Mary Guiliano, Richardson street; Frank A. Gilchrist, Vine street; Dana Pickering, Hemingway street; Dave Snyder, Boston; Fred Stillson, Hemingway street; E. Keohane, Boston.

A word should be said of the policing at the carnival, the work of both officers and patrolmen being of a high order. Chief Rogers was present in person Saturday evening, and on the other evenings Sergts. Cassidy, Noonan and O'Connell were in charge. The entire personnel of the department was at the field at one time or another during the four days and nights that the carnival was in progress.

Past Comdr. W. Allan Wilde was at the head of the following committee of arrangements: G. W. Johnston, Bertram L. Gurley, Harry Bennett, Hector Cyr, Charles J. Flaherty, William Rogers, Conrad S. Larson, Kenneth S. Hall and Harry C. Goodwin, Charles N. Bacon, Fred M. Cameron, Fred C. Mitchell, Stanley W. Mobbs, William R. Carroll, J. Edward Lloyd, Robert M. Hamilton, P. T. Foley and Frank P. Zadlina.

Assisting the committee were Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald, Mrs. Roy Nelson, Mrs. John E. Hanlon, Mrs. David J. Meskell, Mrs. Kenneth Colgate, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Mrs. Bessie Pierce, Mrs. Blanche Bennett and Mrs. Amelia Reebenacker; also John Moynihan, Roy Nelson, Edward Boyle, Stafford Rogers, John McCarthy, Frank Migliaccio, John Cullen, Cyril Young, Frank Gilchrist, Daniel Lynch, Kenneth M. Must Have Heroes

Jud Tunkins says hero worship looks to him as if it was mostly carried on by people who don't care how much a hero may be worried or annoyed, so long as he can be made an excuse for giving a party.

MALDEN POST WON DRUM AND BUGLE COMPETITION

Spectacular Event Featured Legion Carnival

The blare of bugles, the roll of drums and the tramp of marching feet re-echoed along the Aberjona River last Saturday evening as Winchester Post, 97, A. L., staged the first Legion drum and bugle corps competition ever held in Winchester. The event took place on Manchester Field, under flood lights, installed by Harry Bennett, local electrician who is a member of Winchester Post, and was viewed by a large and enthusiastic crowd which should have been larger and which would have been much larger had people realized what was being offered them.

Six drum and bugle corps, representing Y. D. Post, 209, of Boston; Stoneham Post 115; Malden Post, 69; Somerville Post, 19; Cambridge Post, 27; and Andover Post, 8; were the contestants, appearing in that order. Preceding the competition exhibitions were given by a group of Winchester Girl Scout drummers, by Cambridge Post Junior Drum and Bugle Corps and by the Bedford Veterans' Post, the members of which have appeared previously in Winchester.

The Scouts were enthusiastically received as they lined up for their exhibition, drumming under the direction of their capable drum master, Leon F. Quimby. For several minutes the group went through their drum routines, drumming splendidly and tossing in several little stick tricks which delighted their friendly audience, many of whom were hearing the Scouts for the first time.

Just before the Scouts closed their exhibition, Nancy Jackson, Winchester Scout who is State Drumming Champion, played a solo exhibition which left no doubt in the minds of the crowd that her championship title was fairly earned.

Following the Scouts, the Cambridge juniors, a huge corps of boys and girls, gave a most creditable exhibition of marching and playing, led by a group of girl drum majors, who were judged for strutting and twirling their batons by Maj. William H. Mobbs of Motor Transport Company, M. N. G.; and Warrant Officer Chester E. Whiting, band leader of the 104th Cavalry, U. S. A. Cecilia Donahue was rated first and Frances Heise, a diminutive miss who was a general favorite, second. Mention should be made of the girl who led the entire corps and as a consequence was unable to show to advantage in the competition.

The veterans from Bedford were roundly applauded as they left the field after an excellent effort, to be followed by the first of the competing corps, the famous Y. D. of Boston. Undoubtedly this outfit was the most spectacular of all who competed. Garbed in dress uniforms of French blue with blue French helmets and composed for the most part of six footers, the Y. D. boys were very picturesque. Their manouvers were perhaps as complicated as any shown, including the forming of a star and other difficult evolutions. They were very popular, led by their tall drum major, all in red with a lighted baton.

Stoneham Post, next in line, stuck to straight marching and playing, making a good appearance in the orthodox Legion uniform with white helmets. Though somewhat smaller than most of the other corps, these boys had plenty of volume, and got off the field well within their time limit.

Malden Post, a huge outfit, came onto the field playing that famous old football song of the Crimson, "Harvardianna" and these Legionnaires had not been in action long with their chromium helmets and red drums before the crowd sensed that here was the corps to beat for first honors.

Precise marching, involving some clever breaks in the music, and some time music made this corps very popular and as its members swung into a big "M" and from that into line to play the "Marseillaise," the crowd burst into spontaneous applause.

Somerville, also in chromium helmets and Legion uniforms, gave an excellent all around performance which included both marching and manouvers, and was given a good round of applause as its men left the field.

Cambridge, handicapped by lack of numbers put on a snappy marching drill, employing the fastest cadence of any of the competing corps and featuring an especially tricky drum rhythm. These boys, like Stoneham wore white helmets and also white Zouave leggings with their Legion suits of dark blue and gold.

Last to compete was Andover, one of the smallest of the corps, and one in existence for only two years. In flaming scarlet tunics and blue trousers, led by a drum major in a huge bearskin busby, these boys were the odds as they swung about the field, receiving a perfect score for marching and maintaining especially trim files throughout their entire exhibition. Their music too was well done, attacks being noticeably sharp and crescendo and diminuendo effects being splendidly achieved.

As they left the field the judges, who included Major Mobbs and Warrant Officer Whiting, Band Master Charles Young of Winchester Post Band and Manager E. J. LaRue of the same organization, Scout Drum Master Leon F. Quimby, Scout Bugle Master Frank M. Whitehouse and Walter L. Rice, the latter director of the Lincoln Players Orchestra, adjourned to the Legion headquarters where, after checking their score cards, they announced that Malden Post had won first prize.

Andover Post was awarded second money, with Somerville, third, and Y. D., fourth. Cambridge and Stoneham trailed.

Following is the point summary:

	Buglers	Drums	Marching	Manouvers	Total
Malden	16.8	19.5	35	53	124.3
Andover	18.2	18	35	48	119.2
Somerville	15.45	19	30	45	109.45
Y. D.	13.05	17.5	30	48	109.

Perfect Score 130—Buglers 20, Drums 20, Marching 35, Manouvers 55.

The Bayonet

The bayonet, that cruel appendage to firearms, is said to have derived its name from the town of Bayonne in France where it was first manufactured. A Basque regiment which was engaged in fighting in the Pyrenees near Bayonne, became hard pressed. The supply of ammunition was exhausted and defeat seemed certain. Then the soldiers were directed to fasten their long knives into the barrels of their muskets and to advance upon the enemy. This they did, and the first bayonet charge was made, bringing victory to the Basques. This victory, due to the discovery of a new weapon, led to the manufacture of bayonets at Bayonne and their adoption by the armies of Europe. In England, use of the bayonet soon superseded that of the pike in battle.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Indians Entitled to Vote

Since 1924, when the Indian Civilization Act was passed by congress, all native-born Indians of this country have been United States citizens and as such entitled to vote after complying with the voting laws of their states. Before that time, those Indians living in tribal relations on the various reservations, were not citizens. They have just the same privileges with regard to the franchise as white and negro citizens, though, of course, the Indians on the reservations are under restriction with regard to moving off the boundaries of the reservations.

First Post Office Set Up at Boston in 1639

The first date of importance in the story of the North American post office is 1639. In that year the General Court of Massachusetts ordered "that notice be given that Richard Fairbanks, his house in Boston, is the place appointed for all letters, which are brought from beyond the seas, or are sent thither, to be left with him and he is to take care that they are to be delivered or sent, according to direction, and he is allowed for every letter a penny and he must answer all messages through his neglect of this kind."

A postal system was established in Virginia in 1657. "The Colonial law required every planter to provide a messenger to convey the dispatches, as they arrived, to the next plantation, and so on, on pain of forfeiting a hogshead of tobacco for default." In 1672 the government of New York established a mail to go monthly to Boston. The General Court of Hartford enacted laws in 1674 to regulate the postal services in Connecticut. William Penn set up a post office at Philadelphia in July, 1683, and opened mail routes between that city and the larger towns of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Hay Fever Long, Long Ago

As long ago as 1774 it was discovered in England that pollen was a cause of hay fever, and a scientist in Germany started the modern work of testing and treatment 30 years ago.

The family provider must look this question squarely in the face: what would my wife and family do if I should be taken away?

This is a real question and too many men have passed it by. In consequence, there are too many women eking out a meager existence doing menial work for which they are unfitted.

If you'll start a Thrift Account and add to it regularly, you have solved this question. No thoughtful man can do less.

Weather Always the Same

It is a cherished belief among many persons that the weather of today is milder than that of 50 years ago, but records fail to show any difference. The "early" and "latter" rain in Palestine is just the same in character and schedule as it was 35 centuries ago. The Jordan overflows its banks today just as it did in Biblical times.

Dog Next to Man

"The intelligence of the dog," says Albert Payson Terhune, authority on dogs, "is so uncanny at certain times that it takes precedence over anything possessed by man. Dogs feel states of mind, attitudes, emotions which must be exhibited in clumsy words to men. Long, long ago, their first ancestors made their compact of friendship and affection with men. That friendship has grown into an intelligent bond as well as an emotional one. And the brains of the dogs have commingled with the brains of man. In many instances, the dog's brains have not been inferior."

Maple Sirup and Sugar U. S. and Canada Yield

Maple sugar and maple sirup are produced only in the United States and Canada. Not only is it purely an American industry, but a very old one, and one that we took over from the aboriginal inhabitants.

The earliest explorers found the Indians making sugar from the sap of maple trees in the St. Lawrence valley and elsewhere in the northeast, and when the Indians found that the white newcomers liked the maple products, they were the first to produce them in quantities for trade.

For many years among the early settlers of the northern part of the United States, maple sugar was the only sugar used, the imported cane sugar being beyond their means. It was these settlers who improved upon the Indians' method of tapping and boiling.

Sirup and sugar are produced chiefly from the sugar maple and the black maple. These trees are found throughout the eastern United States and Canada, and as far south and west as Georgia and eastern Kansas. It is only in the northern United States and the adjacent parts of Canada, however, that production is important, the gradual spring of the north being necessary for a profitable flow.

According to requirements of the pure food and drug act, the sap must be reduced so that the sirup contains not less than 65 per cent total solids, and weighs not less than 11 pounds to the gallon.

Church Service and Sunday School at 10:45. A. M.

Sunday, July 9. Subject, "Sacrament."

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 9.

The Golden Text is: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (I Corinthians 10:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us: therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (I Corinthians 5:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor, — the receptive thought, — they will bring in the millennium" (p. 34).

NORTH CHINA'S BEACH RESORT AND COALING PORT FALL TO JAPANESE

The Japanese and Manchoukuoan flags now wave over Chinwangtao and Peitaiho, Chinese coastal towns southwest of the Great Wall, on the Peiping-Mukden railway line.

Chinwangtao is the one port of north China that is ice-free the year round, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society in Washington, D. C. This seaport on the Gulf of Chihli was opened to foreign commerce at the beginning of the present century, and has attained importance largely because of its export of coal. British interests have developed extensive coal mines in the neighborhood, with a yearly output of from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons, and Chinwangtao serves as ocean gateway for its distribution throughout the Far East. Many steamers also fill their bunkers with fuel at the port.

Tourist Gateway to Peiping

Besides a nine railway and extensive sidings, the mining company also owns the harbor facilities, which include a 2300-foot outer breakwater and several piers. Ex-President Hoover was once connected with the mining company. Chinwangtao is also the transport base and summer camp of the 15th United States Infantry, stationed at Tientsin. Rounding the world steamers bringing visitors to Peiping utilize the port and the railway connection with the former capital city about 250 miles distant.

Peitaiho, the second town to be included in the recent military occupation, is only about nine miles below Chinwangtao. At the seacoast, a few miles from the Peitaiho station on the Peiping-Mukden railway, and reached by a cross line, is Peitaiho Beach, the famous summer resort of North China. More than 200 cottages and several hotels are located along the stretch of excellent sandy beach where bathing is enjoyed for about six months of the year.

Peitaiho Sought for Sea Breezes

It received its first stimulus as a resort after the railway provided easier access to the beach. For some time foreigners were not allowed to own land in their own names, but more recently the settlement has been included within the treaty port area of Chinwangtao. Permits to own land were thus made possible.

Many Americans, Englishmen and other foreigners from the Yangtze Valley and North China visit Peitaiho during the summer months to enjoy the stimulation of its ocean breezes, which keep the temperature at least 10 degrees lower than that of Peiping. Peitaiho Beach also serves as summer camp for the United States Marines who are kept stationed at the American Legation in Peiping.

Changli, farther to the southwest along the railway, is a center of American mission activity. The city was the birthplace of the famous litterateur, Han Tui Chih, or Changli, of the Tang Dynasty. Descendants of Changli, now claiming to be of the 34th generation, still live in this old town.

VENICE SEES ITS FIRST AUTOMOBILE

The automobile, which has penetrated every inhabited continent on the globe, and has even been used in Antarctica, has just been admitted for the first time to one of Europe's oldest and most famous cities. With the completion of a three-mile viaduct over the lagoon that separates it from the mainland, Venice now can be reached by highway.

Despite this sudden hurdle from no vehicular traffic to the latest models of a mechanical age, Venice is still the bride of the Adriatic, a city where the boat—from flying boat and motor launch to the graceful gondola—is supreme, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Change to Water Craft at City's Gate

Those who love Venice for its sparkling canals, beautiful marble palaces, crumbling mansions, noiselessly-gliding gondolas, and tortuous, alleylike streets will be relieved to know that the new viaduct hardly affects the medieval charm of the city. Like the railroad, the new highway ends at the northwest gate of the city, where a huge garage has been built with a capacity of 2000 motor cars. Here the motorist or the train traveler must change to a motor boat or a gondola to reach his hotel or other destination in the city.

Were it possible to drive over the narrow, arched bridges of the city, progress in a motor car would still not be possible in the mere slits of paved passageway that serve as streets in Venice.

The modern visitor who arrives by air in Venice knows how closely the city is wedded to the sea. From a distance Venice appears to be a single, large island, whose dreamlike spires and domes rise about midway between the mainland and a long string of white, sandy keys facing the Adriatic Sea. As the plane glides closer the plan of the city unfolds. Twisting through the center of the town, like a gigantic letter "S," runs a broad waterway, the Grand Canal, which empties at its southern end into the wider Canal of San Marco.

How Many Canals in Venice?

Between the Grand Canal and the sharply-defined outer limits of the city wind many tiny threads and ribbons of water, all of them bordered by buildings of varying heights, and bridged here and there by graceful arches of masonry and brick. No other city is so interlaced with waterways as is Venice. In fact, its name has become a synonym for a "well-watered" community.

In all there are some 150 canals in Venice, dividing the city into 117 large and small islands. About 380 bridges provide access from one island to another, although only three bridges among them the famous Rialto, span the Grand Canal. The 15,000 stone houses and marble palaces of the city are built on piles sunk into the mud of once-marshy islands.

While all of Venice is fascinating to the lover of the picturesque, the gayest section to the stranger is that around the Piazza of San Marco, the scene of countless triumphs and pageants for centuries. In this broad expanse of pavement, an open square larger than that of many cities where land is not at a premium, is the focus of city life. Here, surrounded by graceful colonnades, the winged lion of St. Mark, the towering Campanile, and the domes and spires of the Cathedral, citizenry and tourists alike come to stroll, listen to concerts, sit at sidewalk cafes, watch the lottery drawings, attend services in the Cathedral, and feed the pigeons.

Gondola Ideally Suited to Narrow Canals

Undoubtedly the most famous institution of Venice is the gondola. Scores of narrow and shallow "water lanes" and "water alleys" gave rise to this strange type of craft just as truly as an aquatic life changed legs into flippers for seals or put web feet on ducks. Perhaps no other boat as large as a gondola, even though driven by oar or pole, could navigate these small channels. Extreme lightness of draft, and ability to turn and swerve about agilely are the chief needs in Venice's canal traffic, and every line and curve of a gondola seems designed to achieve these ends.

The visitor to Venice for the first time is likely to be disappointed in the appearance of the gondola. So much romance has been associated with these fairylike craft that the stranger unconsciously expects them to be gaily decorated. But each is like all the rest—a somber, funeral black. The powerful council of the old Venetian Republic decreed this shade back in the 16th century, because too many Venetians were squandering their money vying with one another in decking their gondolas with costly trappings.

Almost as famous today as the city of Venice is its playground, the Lido, on the Adriatic. Without this chain of low sand islands, which controls the tides, Venice, or at least the Venice that is well known, would never have been born. When Attila and his Hun hordes swept down on Europe in 452 A. D. many of the inhabitants of the mainland took refuge on the Lido. Spring and autumn storms, and vulnerability to attacks from enemy navies led, in 809, to a general exodus to the islands on which the present city of Venice is built.

The amount of tide-water that entered the lagoons through the channels of outer beaches was an important factor in the welfare of the city. If it had ever been more than normal, large vessels could have sailed up to the Grand Canal (as they do today due to dredging) and Venice would have needed heavy fortifications in place of airy palaces. If it had been any less, the city would have been malarial and unhealthy. Today the Lido, Italy's most famous bathing beach, lies but a short distance, by motor boat from the heart of Venice.

Constitutional Monarchy, Kingdom

The difference between a constitutional monarchy and a kingdom is that a constitutional monarchy is a sovereign state having a constitution, and a king, queen, or emperor as the highest executive authority. A kingdom is a country ruled by a king, and may be either a sovereign state, a dependency, or a sphere of influence.

"Conscience Fund" Money

The money that is paid into the "Conscience Fund" of the United States goes into the general funds of the treasury, from which the expenses of government are paid.

Curiosity

A woman wrote to the Bank of England asking how she had suddenly become credited with some £30,000 (about $120,000), her investments having been a tiny fraction of that sum. Investigation showed that a clerk had copied into her account the serial number at the top of a page.

Shakespeare's Education

William Shakespeare had all the education necessary to write the plays attributed to him. The Bard of Avon was well qualified to do the work he did. Far from being an untutored rustic, he probably was as competent a scholar as Bacon himself, Chaucer, Spenser or even Milton. He had the same training that they had, but he made more of his opportunities than they did.—Exchange.

Bahama Islands

There are 700 islands in the Bahama group and nearly three times as many rocks which extend above high water. The islands, only twenty of which are inhabited, comprise a chain beginning with Grand Bahama and the Biminis and extending over 700 miles in a southeasterly direction to Inagua, from where on a clear day the mountains at the eastern end of Cuba may be seen. One of their chief claims to fame is the fact that they were discovered by Columbus, San Salvador or Watlings island having been his first landfall on October 12, 1492.

Cleveland Son of Preacher

Grover Cleveland came of a line of five generations of clergymen. His father was Rev. Richard Farley Cleveland, a Presbyterian minister. Born in a manse, he was reared in a religious atmosphere, but the home was broken up by the early death of its mainstay. However, the boy's mother inspired him to make his own way, an uncle aided him to study law, and by various shifts he achieved his first success—election as assistant district attorney of Erie county, N. Y. His path to the White House led through Buffalo, where he was mayor, and Albany, where he was governor. At his first inauguration a Bible given him by his mother in his boyhood was used.

The Monroe Doctrine

Among later events in which the Monroe Doctrine proved an important factor was its acknowledgment in the League of Nations covenant in 1919, which stated that the covenant does not affect the validity of international engagements such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine for securing the maintenance of peace. The State department in 1929 published a historical review of the doctrine, and it was also invoked by some authorities in connection with the recent United States expedition in Nicaragua. Between 1829 and 1843 American statesmen gave notice that this country would not permit the transfer of Cuba to any other European power. In 1865 Seward gave formal notice that the French must leave Mexico. In 1895, in relation to the boundary dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain, the doctrine was invoked to compel arbitration. Other occasions have led to further enunciations and interpretations of the doctrine, which has become a permanent American policy.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Janet Gaynor in "Adorable" will head the double bill that opens at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. "Adorable" has a story that fairly breathes happiness in every one of its details. Its music has all the qualities of refreshing accompaniment, with songs that are destined for tenancy on the lips of millions. Janet Gaynor has found her perfect complement for her unique abilities in Henry Garat, the European player who makes his debut in "Adorable." Together, as they unfold step after step of the story, they form what is by far the most attractive, most whimsical, most romantic pair of players the screen has seen in many a moon. It is a rare motion picture occasion when stars fit so beautifully together. Miss Gaynor again reveals her manifold talent for the screen in its three principal departments — acting, singing and dancing. Henry Garat looks like a new screen find, a personality that will register strongly with the ladies.

"The Girl in 419," with a great cast that includes James Dunn, Gloria Stuart, David Manners, Jack La Rue, Johnnie Hines and Shirley Grey, is the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday. "The Girl in 419," centers around a young physician in charge of a police division emergency hospital and a young girl who is picked up half dead from a beating and brought back to life by the former's skilled care. The roles are played by James Dunn and Miss Stuart, respectively. Miss Stuart is brought to the hospital shortly after the mysterious killing of a gangster. When she regains consciousness, she refuses to tell anything about the incidents leading up to her beating, or even to identify herself. Dunn's contacts with a gangster at first reveals nothing else about her, but when an attempt on her life is made as she is recuperating, he suddenly discovers what is going on. In the breathless rush of events that follow, David Manners, a young physician, who is ambitious to become a surgeon are forever ruined by a wound he suffers in saving Miss Stuart from a gangster's bullet. Later, Manners became the instrument that snuffs out the gang leader's life.

Marion Davies in "Peg o' My Heart" heads the bill that ends its run at the Granada on Friday. "The Eagle and the Hawk," with Frederic March and Cary Grant, is the second attraction on the current bill.

Mr. "Dick" Downes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Downes of Aigremont, has left Winchester to attend camp in Portland, Me.

STRAND MALDEN ATTRACTIONS

Ruth Chatterton in the most astounding characterization she has ever portrayed on the screen will be the headline attraction at the Strand Theater, Malden, starting Friday, July 7, in the title role of the First National picture "Lilly Turner." As Lilly Turner, the "cooch" dancer and come-on girl for a carnival, she has in this picture more clandestine love affairs than most actresses portray in a lifetime. She flits from one love to another with a wild abandon inspired by cruel mistreatment at the hands of her first lover. It is not until she finally awakens to real love that ghosts of her many sweethearts rise up to haunt her. The picture reveals the life behind the scenes of the players in the tawdry medicine tent shows and the glamorous carnivals. Never, it is said, has she given such a powerful characterization as that of Lilly Turner, the girl who flaunts her charms to devastate the heart of the male; whose life is one of butterfly gaiety on the surface and bitter heartaches beneath. "Lilly Turner" is a vivid, realistic story with frivolity and pathos and real dramatic power. George Brent plays the leading masculine role opposite Miss Chatterton. Others in the cast include Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly and Guy Kibbee.

As an excellent foil to the drama of "Lilly Turner" the second attraction at the Strand this coming week will be Laurel and Hardy's latest feature-length comedy, "The Devil's Brother," for it bears not only the stamp of individual, inimitable humor which these two beloved comedians are noted for, but has been supplied with a highly colorful musical background. Laid in a picturesque era of nobility, courtly ladies and highway bandits, the plot gives the Messrs. Laurel and Hardy every opportunity to make delectable fools of themselves and to become involved in a series of side-splitting adventures which almost lead them to the gallows. The fun begins when the pair are robbed of their life savings by a bandit and, seeking revenge, hit upon the bright idea of becoming brigands themselves. The comic pair have never been funnier than in their latest vehicle. The picture is also benefited by an excellent supporting cast, which features the well known stage star, Dennis King, who sings a number of rollicking ballads and proves himself equally expert at dramatic work in the dual role of a bandit and the Marquis de San Marco. Thelma Todd is an engaging Lady Pamela. The picture was directed and produced by that well-known comedy director, Hal Roach.

"AMERICA'S SWEETHEART" AT THE CAPITOL IN ARLINGTON IN "SECRETS"

Mary Pickford's new picture, "Secrets," which opens at the Capitol Theater in Arlington on Thursday, July 13, for three days, will plainly indicate that Mary is still "America's Sweetheart," despite the fact that this is her first picture in two years.

"Secrets" is one of the most beautiful productions that has yet come out of Hollywood, and the star looks younger and more amazingly pretty than ever. Her performance is excellent, as is the work of all others in the cast, especially that of Leslie Howard in the role of a romantic lover.

The story begins in Salem, Mass, asd travels across the continent to Monterey, Calif., and back again to Washington, D. C., entwining with it the life threads of two people, following their joint careers from youth to old age. In addition to beauty and romance, there is also plenty of melodrama. While raising acttle in the West, the principals are beleaguered by a band of cattle rustlers in a terrifying fight which deals death along with justice. Generally speaking, "Secrets" is a story of the love and devotion of a loyal wife who sees her husband through many trying situations on his way to wealth and policitical fame.

Along with "Secrets," the followers of Joe E. Brown will see the versatile comedian in what is probably the greatest role of his long career, "Elmer the Great," a riot of laughs from the title to the end.

Bearers were Augustus T. Nerone of Bristol, R. I., son-in-law of the deceased; Thomas J. Feeney of Woburn, Cornelius Bowler, Michael Sullivan, Joseph Mawn and Leo Mawn, all of Winchester. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MARY MULRENAN HELD SATURDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Mulrenan, wife of Patrick Mulrenan of 43 Holland street, was held on last Saturday morning from her late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Roxbury.

Mrs. Mulrenan, who had lived in Winchester for the past 50 years, died at her home Wednesday, June 28. She was 73 years old and a native of Williamantic, Conn. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, a daughter, 16 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Miss Ruth Loftus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loftus of 27 Rangeley is spending this week as the guest of Virginia Peppard at Lake Winnipesaukee, N. H.

"HELL BELOW" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Following her brilliant success in "Frisco Jenny" which movie fans by their enthusiastic attendance proved that was the type of role they'd like to see Ruth Chatterton in, the First National studio again cast her in a down-to-earth role. This time she appears in the title role of "Lilly Turner" which starts Sunday for four days at the University. George Brent for the first time since his marriage to Ruth Chatterton, appears with her. Others in the cast are Guy Kibbie, Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly, Gordon Wescott, Grant Mitchell and Mae Busch.

"Ann Carver's Profession" the companion film featuring Fay Wray, Gene Raymond and Claire Dodd, deals with marital difficulties which result when a woman lawyer attains financial independence and personal prominence as a result of her legal exploits, while her husband plods along in a poorly paid position as an apprentice architect.

"Hell Below," thriller of submarine warfare, with Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Pallette and Robert Young in the cast, opens Thursday. Based on Comdr. Edward Ellsberg's famous book, "Pigboats," the picture unfolds a terrifically moving romance set amid thrills under the sea, on the water, and in the air, in a vivid narrative of fighting in the Mediterranean off the coast of Italy. Most of the exterior scenes in "Hell Below" were made on location near the United States Naval Base at Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands. The picture was filmed with the co-operation of the United States Navy, with Comdr. Morris Gilmore, a retired naval officer, serving as technical advisor.

"The Warrior's Husband" with Elissa Landi and Ernest Truex, is the companion feature. It is a hilarious comedy-romance of women who are the warriors and providers—of women who have all the rights, and good lefts, with which to enforce them—of women who believe that man's place is in the home, and are willing to fight it out in order to prove it.

ANDREWS—TENNEY

The marriage of Miss Margaret H. Tenney, daughter of Mrs. Cora E. Tenney of Rafferty road, Stoneham, to Mathew P. Andrews of Highland avenue took place Wednesday morning in St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham. Rev. William J. Conley performed the marriage ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Phyllis A. Tenney of Stoneham and Joseph Andrews of Woburn was his brother's best man.

Following the mass, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who was assisted in receiving with Mrs. Hugh O'Brien of Winchester and Mrs. John Cronin of Medford.

Upon their return from a wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews will make their home in Medford. The bride was graduated from St. Patrick's High School in Stoneham with the Class of 1932. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of Winchester High School.

ALBANIA PLANS NEW PORT

San Giovanni di Medua (Shen-Gjin), a seaport by courtesy of geographers, many soon be an Adriatic harbor of importance, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. A plan, for improving the harbor, has been presented to the Albanian Cabinet Council.

Sandwiched between Greece and Yugoslavia, Albania might be compared to a huge chess board on which the West and Near East have been making major plays since the division of the Roman Empire in the fourth century, A. D. continues the bulletin. The successive human moves on this animated board were made by Byzantines, Goths, Serbs, Bulgarians, Byzantines again, Sicilians, Venetians, and Turks. When the game seemed to have reached a stalemate in 1913, a Conference of Ambassadors in London declared Albania an independent State.

Harbor Site on Crescent Bay

The bay, which is known as San Giovanni di Medua to the Italians, Shen-Gjin to the Albanians, and Chinkin to the Turks, is located in the northeastern neck of Albania. It is two and a half miles long and two miles wide, cutting a crescent into the peculiar coast line of the eastern shore. A sandy beach stretching to the west and south forms a huge comblike barrier, with irregular sandteeth jutting out into the bay. At the head of the bay is the town of Shen-Gjin, flanked by swamp lands. In the background is a wild, tangled mass of dispirited hills.

Until 1858 the Drin River deposited its water south of Shen Gjin in a swampy wooded delta. The river then became obstructed by silt and most of its waters now go through the Boyanna, the outlet of Lake Scutari. Communication, in this section, is quite difficult as the Drin is not hridged, and the road to Scutari has been allowed to fall into decay. The natives usually cross by swimming, supported by inflated skins.

Oak Trees Furnish Both Fuel and Fodder

The lowlands surrounding the bay support very little vegetation. The trees are oak of the evergreen drought-resisting variety. These trees are valuable to the natives for they not only furnish fuel but also leaves and shoots which are used as winter fodder for the livestock. In the highlands is a luxurious growth of mixed forest. Fertile plateaus found there are used for summering livestock and for cultivation.

The people around Shen Gjin, or north of the Shkumbi River, are known as Ghegs, while those south of the Shkumbi line are Tosks. The Ghegs are chiefly dwellers in the hills and are kindred in spirit to the rugged chiefs of the Scottish Highlands. Unlike the Tosks of the south, who are very much interested in national affairs, the Ghegs' gossip and energy is of local nature. With the completion of the new harbor at Durazzo this year the south is opening a much needed trade lane. The Ghegs, realizing the value of such a harbor, have again proved true to their locality by sponsoring the development of their own harbor at Shen Gjin.

As a race the Albanians are brave and hardy, always faithful to their pledges. Drastic means are often used to enforce their personal laws. Inhospitality is inexcusable at any time. As they are isolated from foreign markets for lack of harbors, and from local markets ,for lack of roads, the people raise very little stock, living mostly on vegetables and fruit. They export a small quantity of tobacco. Their olive crop of 1932, which was sold to Italy, proved an economic salvation for the country.

Bob Whites Aid Farmers

The quail's nest, a depression in the ground, is softly lined with grass and partly arched over with tall grass or briers. The young look a lot like brown Leghorn chicks and are able to follow their parents the day they are hatched. Mr. and Mrs. Bobwhite, with their large family, roam the fields and feed on injurious insects and weed seeds that harm the farmers' crops.

Special for this coming week-end!

PHOTOGRAPHY IS ROYAL HOBBY IN SIAM

Exotic, remote Bangkok, capital of Siam, where, for the second time in a year, a military coup without casualties has given the king an entirely new governmental personnel, continues its march toward Westernization. One of the latest innovations is a palatial cinema hall which incorporates all the details of an up-to-date American motion-picture theater, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

King Prajadhipok is responsible for this new $750,000 building in the capital city, having secured part of the inspiration for its construction during his visit to motion-picture companies when he was in the United States two years ago.

King Builds Modern Movie Theater

This theater, one of the most modern in the Far East, continues the bulletin, is a welcome improvement to Bangkok residents who are interested in celluloid drama. All of the older cinema houses have been hopelessly inadequate since the advent of sound pictures, because most of them are barnlike structures, built largely of corrugated iron and possessing exceedingly poor acoustics.

Besides directing the affairs of State in his country of nearly 12,000,000 people, the king finds time to operate several American-made amateur motion-picture cameras with almost professional skill. Even the queen, Rambaibarni, as well as many other members of the royal family and persons in official circles, are enthusiastic photographers in both still and motion pictures.

"Movies" Filmed by King and Queen

Every year at its exhibition of paintings and photographs, the Siam Art Club, which enjoys the patronage of the king, usually has a number of entries in superb monochrome and color work produced by one of the king's half-brothers. An amateur motion-picture club, of which the king is a member was organized about four years ago. And on several occasions the club members have been invited to the royal palace to witness the showing of "Movies" made by their Majesties.

Siam is one of the best fields in the world for persons with the hobby of making pictures. The architectural features and the wealth of color in Bangkok's several hundred temples present inexhaustible opportunities for the artist, whatever his medium of expression may be. Here, certainly, the word "unique" has significance, for nowhere else in the world does one find such a variety of mosaics in pearl, tile, and bits of glass; multiple roofs with dragon heads terminating their corners; or such flower-bedecked prachedis (or votive spires) as in Siam.

Fascinating Subjects for Camera Studies

The many canals teeming with boat traffic, the fields where the country grows rice that places her third among rice exporting nations, and the northern hills in which the valuable teak trees are cut and then hauled by elephants to streams to be floated to Bangkok are fascinating subjects for a camera lens.

Siam's religious ceremonies and State processions are many and varied, possessing the chromatic splendor of rich oriental costumes. Recently one of the princes gave a striking private showing of thousands of feet of amateur natural color film that he had made of the Royal barge procession of the hundreds of fantastic boats used in bearing the king and his followers on a visit to present gifts to the Buddhist temples; the State processions by palanquin; and the annual round of ancient ceremonies. Not only had the pictures been taken by the prince, but the films were processed in his own laboratory.

FIVE DAYS FROM BERLIN TO BUENOS AIRES

After many years of prophesy and experimentation, a floating "half-way house" for trans-ocean airplanes, may soon appear on the Atlantic Ocean between Africa and South America, on a proposed air route linking Berlin and leading South American cities.

The ocean air-field, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, will be the Westfalen, a 5120-ton vessel which has been successfully used in experiments in the North Sea.

To Be Anchored in South Atlantic

The Westfalen has been constructed especially to serve as a floating island by a German air transport company which owns and operates many of Germany's leading air lines, continues the bulletin.

The proposed air route on which the Westfalen will be used will bring Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, and other cities of South America within five days flying time of Berlin. The first section of the route lies between Berlin and Cadiz, Spain; the second between Cadiz and Bathurst, Gambia, on the west coast of Africa; and the third will be the 1950-mile trans-Atlantic section between Bathurst and Pernambuco (Recife), easternmost city of the South American continent.

Catapult to Launch Aircraft

Waterplanes will be used on the second and third sections. The Canary Islands form an emergency landing place for the second section. Between Bathurst and Pernambuco, however, the Atlantic Ocean is without islands, and the Westfalen will be anchored somewhere between these cities.

The Westfalen, according to those who have flown the South Atlantic, will be more satisfactory than a "floating island" of non-ship type, because it will not be permanently anchored. It will go to the assistance of stranded planes at the rate of 12½ knots.

A floating stage attached to the rear of the vessel will afford landing places for passengers. Cranes are provided to lift planes aboard, and a catapult will send them on their way again. The vessel will be equipped with radio and light beacons and will carry a supply of emergency rations, oil and fuel, and a repair shop with a complete supply of parts for the type of plane to be used on the route.

While Bathurst has not been in the spotlight in trans-Atlantic flights, Pernambuco has been prominent as an air door to South America from the east. Inhabitants of Pernambuco were the first people on the South American continent to moor the Zeppelin; and many intrepid European airplane pilots who have spanned the South Atlantic have entered the continent by way of this city.

The Fandango

The fandango is danced by a man and a woman. The time of the dance is 6-8, but the figures are very lively and the music is supplied by castanets in the hands of the performers, and by a song which is accompanied on the guitar. Sometimes the music is stopped, whereupon the dancers also stop, and remain rigid until it is resumed. When one couple is tired, another immediately takes its place and the music and the dance go on as before, with no interruption.

Leopard a Bad Actor

The leopard is about as mean and fearless an antagonist as any man can face. When they charge they present so narrow a target, and come so swiftly, that a hunter who has faced one successfully inclines towards great respect for them, and is apt to endow leopards with qualities they do not possess.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The police were called upon early Sunday morning to straighten out trouble which arose when a resident of Middlesex street discovered a live duck in his cellar and his alarm clock missing after a visit from a resident of Swanton street. Meanwhile a second resident of Swanton street came to the station to report that a duck and hen had been stolen the night previous from his premises. Ancient Republics

Probably the earliest republican governments were the Jewish commonwealth or republic under Moses and Joshua and their successors, and the various republics of Carthage and the Greek states. The dates of these are approximately: 1491 to 1005 B. C. for the Israelitish commonwealth; 700 to 146 B. C. for the Grecian republic; 850 to 146 B. C. for Carthage.

Chinese Started "Hero's How"

To the Chinese the world owes a debt for several of the beer-drinking niceties of today. Certain of his customs have persisted except in those isolated places where the savage has advanced little in the social amenities. He gave the world the merry-go-round drinking from the filled horn and the "here's to you" or toasting style of drinking.—Exchange.

More Females

The actual male and female population of the earth is not known, but it is estimated around two billion persons and it is also presumed that females slightly outnumber males.

Wrote "Home, Sweet Home"

Is it not odd that a man who never had a home and died in a foreign land should have written the well-beloved lines of "Home, Sweet Home"? Or was it a natural expression of an innate longing for something he never known by experience? John Howard Payne was born in New York in 1792, and was the author of several plays, among them "Brutus," "Charles II" and "Clari, the Maid of Milan," first sung at the Covent Garden theater, London, in 1823. In the last named play occurred the famous song. He was sent to Tunis as American consul in 1841, and died there in 1852. The song was adapted to a Sicilian tune written by Sir Henry Bishop, composer of many operas.—Indianapolis News.

Habits of Silkworms

The silkworm spins its cocoon about itself and passes into the torpid state of a chrysalis or pupa. If allowed to remain in this state too long, it becomes active, begins to gnaw its way out through the cocoon, and finally comes forth in the butterfly state. The cocoon is then of little value. But if, just before the chrysalis begins to grow active, the cocoon is dropped into boiling water, the insect is instantly killed, and the silk is easily unwound and reeled for the market.

Criminals in Bird World

"We have criminals in our world. So have birds," notes an authority in the Detroit News. "There are some cruel, murderous types—hawks, for example. Some writers describe the falcon's onslaught by saying that it rakes the body of its victim with its claws. In every instance which I have observed—and I've observed many of these crimes—when a duck hawk strikes, its claws are driven in and remain there. Usually victim and aggressor come to earth together."

FRUIT AND FLOWER MISSION

"In Life's garden the sweetest flowers are sympathy and love." This is your opportunity to show that somebody cares enough to help make life worth living. So bring your flowers to the hamper in the Winchester Station. Every Tuesday morning it goes into Boston on the 9 a. m. train.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Sunday, the Dubby-Dubs had a set of tennis, or if you will, lawn pingpong. The poor ball was fanned so much it almost mistook itself for an ice cube. The fine players were Sears Wolff (rah) "Charlie" (rah rah) "Gus" Pistorino (rah rah rah) and "Weenie" P-ratt (hip hip hooray). It really was a sight well worth booing.

The volley ball Tuesday came and was made good use of. The boys had quite a game, the experts, Capt. "Willie" Locke, Junior Gustin and "Monk" Russell against the other fellows, "Weenie" Pratt, "Dick" Clark, "Gus" Pistorino and "Herbie" Ross.

The experts (no argument they told us they were good) lost the first game. Maybe it was because "Monk" Russell tried to just push the ball over instead of hitting it. However, "Willie" was all over the court doing something.

"Doc" Blanchard arrived and made the experts super-experts as he keeps in trim during the cold months at the Congo Church. Needless to say the other fellows lost the next game, 15—5.

"Gus" Pistorino's serve was a bit weak. Maybe it was the absence of the brown helmet, the dirty white one probably weighed him down.

"Dave" Downer and Fred Campbell joined the game and added even more commotion.

"Weenie" falsetto laugh kept the music in the air so all was done with much rhythm (to hum). Incidentally there was a big audience of the "Mrs.'s" and some applauders for "Weenie" alone.

Important event—One week from Sunday the club members and their friends are all going on a picnic to Wingaersheek Beach (no fair looking up the spelling, it's in Essex.) The women folks put up the lunches. All meet at the club at 9 o'clock and leave from there. You without cars come and we with cars will take you. Remember the 25th of July!

MRS. NANCY LAMBE

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Cobb Mitchell Lambe, wife of James Lambe were held Sunday, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Kenneth Todd Young, Sudbury road, Concord, where she died Thursday at the age of 87.

Mrs. Lambe was born in Carmel, Me., the daughter of Barnet and Hulda Nickerson Mitchell. She lived for many years at Calais, Me. Besides her husband and granddaughter she leaves three great grandchildren and a daughter, Mrs. Stephen Bensal Hunt with whom she lived at 31 Wedgemere avenue. Interment was at Calais, Me.

A Tribute

Mrs. Nancy Lamb, who came from Calais to live in Winchester, endeared herself to all who came in contact with her. Alert, keen, active, and capable, she was a tower of strength to her family and a friend to all who turned to her for help. Sweet, kind, gracious, and gentle, yet with a strength that was far-reaching in its influence for whatsoever things were true, honest, lovely, and of good report, she went her way. Though hearth and home were her deepest joys, she thoughtfully and conscientiously performed her part in community and civic tasks.

Her price was far above rubies and "her own works praise her in the gates." To those of us who all our lives have known her intimately remains the thought that "her passing seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music."

WILLARD T. CARLETON

Died at Sea During Health Cruise

Willard T. Carleton, president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company and long active in the civic and social life of this town, where he had made his home since 1906, died at sea Wednesday on the United Fruit Company's steamer Petan as the steamer was entering the harbor at Kingston, Jamaica. He was 54 years of age.

Mr. Carleton was seriously ill during the winter and spring, having suffered a nervous break-down, and had more recently received treatment at a sanitarium. His condition had greatly improved and it was felt that he was well on the road to complete recovery when he left last week for a southern cruise. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Loretta Carleton. First word of his sudden death came Wednesday night from Capt. Henry T. Spencer of the Petan.

Mr. Carleton was born in Island Pond, Vt., May 9, 1879. He was educated in the public schools there and was subsequently graduated from the St. Johnsbury, Vt., high school. Coming to Boston in 1906, he took a minor position in the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, rising to the offices of vice-president in 1920 and to president in January, 1932.

He was a director of the Bay State Mortgage Company, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Ditson Distributors, Inc., the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brockton, the Hollingsworth & Whitney Company, the Railway & Light Securities Company, the Tacoma Railway & Power Company and the Trimont Manufacturing Company.

He was also trustee of the Eastern Utilities Associates, the New England Storage Warehouse Company, the Winchester Co-operative Bank and the Winchester Savings Bank. In addition he was a member of the executive council of the Massachusetts Bankers' Association, and the Boston City Club.

He was a Mason, past master of his Vermont lodge and a member of William Parkman Lodge and Winchester Royal Arch Chapter of this town. He was a member and former director of the Calumet Club. A Winchesterite life he had served upon many important town committees and was a past chairman of the town's finance committee.

He leaves a wife, the former Loretta Nagel, whom he married in Concord in 1909, and who is seriously ill at the home, 28 Rangeley; one daughter, Miss Loretta Carleton, and two sons, Dean W. and Frank N. all of Rangeley.

The remains are expected to reach New York next Wednesday, and tentative arrangements made by the family are to hold the funeral services at the Rangeley home Thursday afternoon with Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church officiating. The interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

HENRY J. KELLOGG, JR.

Henry J. Kellogg, Jr., son of Henry J. and Carolyn Dunn (Dewett) Kellogg of this town, died Sunday, July 9, in Santa Fe, N. M., following an operation for appendicitis with which he was stricken about two weeks previous. He became ill while motoring near Santa Fe with Harry Morse, a classmate at Deerfield Academy, with whom he had been traveling to San Francisco since the closing of the school in June. Morse's father was with the boys when young Kellogg was stricken. His condition was critical and his parents were summoned, being with their son when he died. The remains were accompanied east by Mr. Kellogg, arriving in Winchester yesterday forenoon.

Funeral services were held at the home of the young man's aunt, Miss A. Natalie Dewett, 16 Calumet road, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Henry Alphonsett Kellogg, Jr., was born 19 years ago in Palmer, N. Y. He came to Winchester six years ago and attended the Winchester High School, later transferring to Deerfield Academy, from which he was graduated with honors in June. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters, Carolyn and Natalie Kellogg, and his grandmother, Mrs. George G. Kellogg, all of Winchester.

MET BEAR AT CLOSE RANGE

Selectman and Mrs. Donald R. Waugh of Kenwin road who spent last week-end motoring in the White Mountains with Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Goodwin of Orient street had a thrilling experience while driving through the Waterville Valley.

They had stopped their car and were enjoying the view when near at hand in some underbrush something was heard thrashing about.

The something turned out to be a good sized and fine specimen of black bear, that waddled into the road and stood surveying the tourists at rather close range.

The bear was the first to move. After completing his observation he made off through the valley in a direction exactly opposite to the one taken by the Waughs and Goodwins immediately afterward.

Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mrs. Ada Ailes Wilson.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Eugene E. Ailes of Scarborough-on-Hudson, New York. She wore an ivory satin, pearl-trimmed gown, the wedding gown of her aunt, Mrs. Eugene E. Ailes. Her ivory-colored tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Kyriakos Panayoti Tsolainos, of Bronxville, New York, was matron of honor. Miss Charlotte and Miss Margaret Snyder, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Hess Houghton, of Plainfield, N. J., were the bridemaids. The attendants' gowns were of ice-green mousseline de soie. They carried Colonial bouquets of delphinium blue, pink and yellow garden flowers.

The bride's young cousins, Miss Charlotte Morgan Ailes of Chevy Chase, Maryland, and Miss Josephine Adrienne Ailes of Cleveland, Ohio, attended the bride as flower girls. They wore organdie gowns of sunshine yellow, and carried Colonial bouquets of garden flowers matching those of the other attendants.

Mr. Robert Blake of Cambridge, was best man for Mr. Snyder. The ushers were Mr. Kyriakos Panayoti Tsolainos, of Bronxville, N. Y., Mr. Lawrence Gilman of Boston and Mr. Alexander Langmuir of New York City.

After the ceremony the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Jane Elliott Ailes, Mrs. Ada Ailes Wilson, Mrs. Frederic Sylvester Snyder and Miss Grace Wills, sister of Mrs. Snyder. A wedding breakfast followed the reception.

The bride, the granddaughter, grandmother's wedding dress of old Irish lace, was given in marriage by her uncle, Mathew P. McCullough, and attended by Miss Ruth McCullogh. John Groom McCullough was Mr. Welburn's best man.

Following the ceremony, Mr. Welburn and his bride came on to Winchester for a short visit with the bridegroom's parents, leaving Sunday night for New York where they sailed Wednesday on the S.S. President Harding to spend their honeymoon in Europe. The trip abroad was the gift of the bride's mother.

The bride is a member of Chicago's younger social set and a debutante of the past fall. Mr. Welburn was graduated from Winchester High School and attended Harvard. Upon their return from the wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Welburn will make their home in Chicago.

AMBROSE—HANLON

Wearing a white chalk crepe gown with a corsage of gardenias, Miss Marion Evelyn Hanlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hanlon of Cutting street, was married on last Sunday afternoon, July 9, in St. Mary's Rectory, to Vincent Charles Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Ambrose of Vine street. The pastor of St. Mary's Church, Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt performed the marriage ceremony at 3 o'clock, the double ring service being used.

Miss Edna Frances Hanlon, wearing pink crepe with a corsage of gardenias and talisman roses, attended her sister as maid of honor; and Howard F. Ambrose, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families and a few intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's parents. Upon their return from a wedding journey to Washington, Mr. Ambrose and his bride are to make their home in Winchester at 8 Park avenue.

Both bride and bridegroom are widely known in Winchester, the former having been a member of the faculty at the junior high school. She was graduated from Winchester High School and from the Lowell Normal School, later specializing in graduate courses at Hyannis Normal School. Mr. Ambrose, who is associated with the Winchester Division of the New England Laundries, Inc., was graduated from Winchester High School and attended Boston University.

Mr. Percy Bugbee of Symmes road returned this week from a six weeks' trip to the Pacific coast and the World's Fair.

1908 FOOTBALL TEAM FINE CLUB

The Star is reproducing this week with the high school's current football team the elevens of 1908 and 1902. The latter picture will prove interesting by reason of the difference in equipment apparent in the old and modern group, the former brave with turtle neck sweaters, nose masks and shinguards.

The team of 1908, differing not so much in equipment from the current teams, though by no means so well protected (and incidentally the boys bought their equipment themselves to a large degree in those days) rates with the best teams Winchester has had and included in its membership several players who would have to have careful consideration if any one were to attempt the task of picking an all-time high school team.

Leon Tuck, "Doc" Hurd, "Jack" Sheridan and "Brick" Small are right at the top of those who have filled the positions they held down during their schoolboy days. As an all around performer Tuck has had no superiors in a Winchester uniform. He was a great halfback who could run, tackle and kick, either punt or dropkick. The forward pass was used but little, if at all, in his time, but had it been, "Tuckie" would have been even more effective, for he was a great basketball player, an all around athlete if there ever was one and the only boy to win letters in all the five branches of sport fostered by the high school in his day.

No quarterback this writer has seen has been the equal in all around ability of "Doc" Hurd, whose highest playing weight as a schoolboy was about 105 pounds. There was no branch of quarterbacking in the midget realm he did not effectively, he was especially good as a safety back, called his plays smartly, and was literally India rubber in his durability. The late "Jack" Sheridan was about the best of the old time guards whose duties differed materially from those of present day players in this position.

Little ground was ever gained through Sheridan, a burly boy, who had as rock, weighed between 185 and 190 pounds. Probably no stronger boy ever wore a high school uniform and good judges of football believe the big red head would have made any college team.

"Brick" Small was another great all around performer who was a fine hole-making tackle and also especially strong on defense. Weighing never more than 150 pounds, we can't remember any of the big boys he stacked up against ever outplaying him, a real fighting fool if ever there was one, and a boy who loved the rough going.

These outstanding performers had little on their team mates, Cameron and Collins were perhaps as good a pair of ends as Winchester ever boasted, though some will like Bryant Woods and "Bobby" Cutting of 1913 and others, Mason and McNeilly of 1922.

"Ted" Main was a hard fighting tackle who bothered all opposition and "Bud" Hudson and "Bob" Hamilton rounded out a formidable center trio with Sheridan.

Fullbacks in the days of the old "formation-A" play had to be durable to withstand the hauling and shoving to which they were subjected in mass plays through the center of the line. "Jack" Sharon, short and sturdy, was a great plunging fullback who was pushed through the guard holes for many hard earned yard. Capt. "Johnny" Welch, another featherweight, at left halfback made a fitting running mate for Tuck and Sharon and carried out his duties well enough to earn him a captaincy, never given in his time to any but an effective player.

As a team the 1908 club did well, playing most of the high schools in this vicinity and losing, if memory serves, only to Everett, which school was then entering on the era of the Brickleys, "Dutch" Bold, "Buckey" Sweetland and other luminaries. The team was coached by "Tas" Hurd, brother of its quarterback, a Harvard student, who found time to get around many afternoons to help out his younger friends. When he was unable to appear the captain was in charge.

Comparison between the 1908 team and such teams as those of "Doc" Sexton in 1916, "Rufe" Bond in 1922 and Coach Mansfield's club of 1927 is very difficult as the first named played a different brand of football entirely, but make no mistake about it, the old timers were players who could have played the modern game and we believe, as well as it has ever been played since their time.

We are sorry we can not give any data on the team of 1902, but perhaps some reader of the Star who knew that club intimately will supply us with the details. We do remember that Wilder Gutterson was one of Winchester's largest linemen, who made a great reputation as a college tackle at Williams. Let's hear about the others.

H., highly commending Patrolman Clarence Dunbury of the Police Department for the courteous assistance he rendered Mr. Barry when the latter lost his way going through Winchester on June 29. Chief William H. Rogers of the Police Department ordered the letter read at roll calls Tuesday.

CAMP NEWS

Twenty-five Scouts are regularly enjoying the day camp at the Scout Cabin in Brooks' Woods, meeting two days each week on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 until 4. It is not too late to enroll in the camp, and in reply to numerous requests for information upon this point, attendance is not obligatory. There is no registration fee of any kind, the only expense to which the campers are put being the actual cost of materials used in carpentry, handicrafts, etc. There is no specific camp uniform which must be purchased.

This week the Scouts enjoyed a "cook-out" and picnic lunch in the woods as well as the usual camp activities. The construction of bird feeding stations is occupying the Scouts interested in carpentry while in handicrafts the girls are braiding bracelets and dog leashes and making variegated desk brushes.

Pioneering instruction has been given in the use of knife and axe and work has been begun upon a primitive kitchen near the outdoor fireplaces. The Scouts are making an "all-one-color" garden for their nature activity, gathering the specimens from the immediate vicinity of the camp. An exchange library is being planned by the girls who are designing their own bookplates with Elizabeth Phillbrick who is also assisting at the camp.

WILLIAM S. McLEAN

William S. McLean, a resident of Winchester for the past 21 years, died early Thursday morning, July 13, at his home, 6 Winthrop street, following an acute heart attack. He had suffered for more than a year with heart disease, but his sudden passing had not been anticipated and he had attended business as usual on Wednesday.

Mr. McLean was 59 years old and a native of Glasgow, Scotland. As a boy he came to this country and before coming to Winchester at the time of his marriage in 1912, lived in Somerville where he received his education in the public schools. He was for many years connected with, and at the time of his death manager of, M. T. Bird Co., Stationers, of Boston.

During his residence in Winchester, Mr. McLean was actively identified with the First Baptist Church and had been a member of the Bantist Social Union. Winchester Boat Club and Winchester Country Club.

He leaves his wife, who was Miss Leona Goodspeed of Somerville, two sisters, and three brothers.

Private funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the late residence. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Turtle 250 Years Old

A seventy-eight-pound turtle, which was dubbed Methuselah because it is estimated he is two hundred and fifty years old, was found in a pond near Tyler, Texas. It has a shell so thick and tough that a man can stand on its back. Methuselah was placed in the city park.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE PLEASANT VIEW HOME

At the beautiful spot near Concord, N. H., called Pleasant View, where Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, resided many years, The Christian Science Pleasant View Home was established in 1927 under the auspices of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, as a permanent home for elderly persons whose length of service in the cause of Christian Science, good works, and other circumstances turnish special reasons for generous provision by Christian Scientists.

The estate comprises about 100 acres. The architecture of the main building, which accommodates about 150 persons, is colonial in type, especially suited to the location and to the purpose of the Home. A Home it is in every sense of the word. Living rooms, sun parlors, reading rooms, game rooms, sewing rooms, and a carpenter shop provide for the comfort and pleasure of residents and workers. The dining room seats 200 persons comfortably and the assembly hall accommodates the same number. Paths through the fields and woods are laid out on the estate so that long walks may be enjoyed without leaving the grounds.

WEEK-END FIRES

Three of the four fires reported over the past week-end involved motor vehicles and resulted in but slight damage.

Box 531 came in at 10:43 last Friday morning for a fire in a Studebaker truck on Bacon street at Lakeview road, and at 3:34 in the afternoon Box 57 sounded for a fire in a Chevrolet truck, owned by the New England News Company, at Cambridge street and Glen road.

Saturday morning at 12:19 Box 43 came in for a fire in a Dodge sedan, owned by G. M. Gardner of 35 Willis avenue, Medford, on Main street near Clark street.

Sunday at 5:41 the department was called to correct trouble with a gas oven at the home of Mrs. Helen Gilbert on Sanborn place.

Uneducated Women Drawback

Students of political and social economy declare that the resistance of the uneducated woman is one of the principal factors in delaying progress. She may have enough schooling to enable her to vote in countries that have woman suffrage, but she thinks along ancestral lines and refuses to admit the modern viewpoint.

THREE SMALL BOYS IN DANGER AT WEDGE

Three small Winchester boys, the youngest three and the oldest six years, were reported in danger while playing in the water of Wedge Pond last Saturday afternoon.

Patrolman John Murray was sent to investigate and found that the youngsters had taken a life preserver kept near the Lake street end of the pond and were dragging each other around in the water upon it.

Officer Murray warned them not to repeat such dangerous sport, and then took them to their homes, reporting the matter to their parents.

The Bridge of Sighe

The famous original Bridge of Sighs leads across one of the canals in Venice. It connected the palace of the Doge to the state prison in the days of the Venetian republic. In imitation, a bridge in New York city, over which prisoners are taken into the Tombs, is called the Bridge of Sighs.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

It is not often that professional firemen volunteer to co-operate with parent-teacher associations in relief work, but they did volunteer last winter in Chester, Pa., when an emergency arose.

There was a paralysis of the shipbuilding business and other industries in Chester, and many school children were undernourished. The school principal in desperation appealed to the Parent-Teacher Association to find a room for a cafeteria (the schoolhouse had no space), someone to operate it, and someone to finance it.

The firmen of the nearby fire station offered the use of their basement and it came about that the firemen and the parent-teacher members started to operate a full-fledged lunch room down beneath red fire wagons and sparkling brass which are associated with other forms of relief.

A good cleaning, some beaver board and paint, tables made by placing boards on wooden horses, and dishes bought at a bargain from a closed mill cafeteria, three large stoves, a work table, a deep sink, and pots and pans galore transformed the fire house basement into a clean and efficient lunch room.

The entire fire department, in immaculate white jackets, were the cooks. They were assisted by members of the parent-teacher association. The teachers (who contributed a dollar a month out of their already much reduced salaries for food supplies) helped with the serving. And so parents, teachers, firemen, and interested neighbors, by working together managed for months to feed 140 undernourished children in order that they might be fit to carry on their school work.

It was a substantial meal, and not a light lunch, that these hungry youngsters enjoyed. One day it was a Brunswick stew and cabbage; another day it was a thick vegetable soup or a vegetable plate. And always plenty of day-old bread, milk and cocoa. No child went away hungry.

To "say grace" before meal was a coveted honor. One day a quiet little fellow held up his hand for attention after all were seated. "Please, I know one." And a lump came into some of the older throats as he launched bravely into the Lord's Prayer.

There was a small table in this firehouse lunch room where some of the pale and small children sat—known behind the scenes as "the cod-liver oil children"—and to these cod-liver oil was covertly administered in their food.

And so just before noon each day any one in Chester might have seen this little struggling army with empty stomachs but radiant faces marching down the wide stairway which leads to the basement of the fire house and presenting to a waiting fireman their small blue cards which entitled them to a good nourishing meal.

Someone asked the inevitable question of one of the firemen—at a moment when he was busily serving big bowls of thick soup—"But suppose there should be a fire?"

The fireman laughed, crossed his fingers, and replied, "Well, it hasn't happened yet!"

Protection for War Balloons

Observation balloons were protected by airplanes which hovered several thousand feet above them. Barrage balloons were intended for use in protecting cities on important points against attack from the enemy. Several of these were in the air at one time, the holding cables serving as a possible means for the fouling of an airplane propeller or otherwise producing such damage as to bring a plane down out of control and short of its objective point.

MEETING SOME MONEY CRISES OF THE PAST

Some of the adjustments made and the devices created to keep business moving during money crises in foreign countries are outlined in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In most cases, it is pointed out, the emergencies arose from causes entirely different from those operating in the United States at present. Often the foreign crises followed the sudden fall in value of the monetary units, or resulted from steady inflation.

In France, following the World War, says the bulletin, the need for small change was so great that thousands of merchants wrapped postage stamps in wax paper and used the packages as small change. The average client did not bother to open the paper but took it for granted that there were four 25-centime stamps in the transparent packet handed to him in lieu of a franc, and in turn passed it on when he needed to make change.

Russian Money Changers

Both in France and in Austria local Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade issued small coinlike tokens as well as small paper notes like cigarette coupons. The contents of travelers' pockets became loose-leaf gazetteers of the cities along their routes.

In the Russian Caucausus region, following the October Revoltion small bills were in great demand, and money changers set up business, charging 20 rubles and more for changing thousand-ruble notes.

In China where different prices obtain in "big money" and "little money" small change is always a nuisance. The value of each coin fluctuates, but one must carry 10 or 15 pounds of square-holed "cash" as change for one gold dollar. They are strung on cords, 980 of them being counted as a thousand, the other 20 being a fee for counting the pieces and stringing them.

LINDEN A. A. WON FROM CUBS

Linden A. A. imported four ball players from Woburn to assist them in winning a 9 to 4 verdict over the Cubs in an Amateur League game on Leonard Field last Friday evening, arousing considerable comment among local fans and players.

We are told that the Lindens were given permission to secure three players, and all they picked up were Capt.-elect "Neddo" Murray of Northeastern, "Brad" Coates, of Dartmouth, "Bob" Walsh and R. Coates, numbered among the best ball players in Woburn.

The Cubs gave the strengthened Lindens a good game for six innings, but in the seventh the Lindens pushed over six runs to win.

LEGION WON FROM NORTH WOBURN INDEPENDENTS

Winchester Legion came from behind to defeat the North Woburn Independents in an interesting game of ball on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon. The visitors, strengthened for their local appearance by the addition of the capable "Tony" Colucci, put up a good game, and made the locals hustle all the way to win.

Frank Tansey, veteran southpaw, went the route for Winchester, and after the first inning, held the opposition at his mercy, fanning 11 batters and permitting six hits, several of which were of the flukey variety.

Pitching for Woburn was the burley right hander, "Charley" Melinsky who also hurled good ball, holding the hard hitting Legionnaires to eight hits, which, however, were more effectively bunched than those of his own club.

The visitors scored in the first when Buttimer dropped a lucky one in left and rode all the way home on Colucci's homer along the left field foul line, a drive which "Olio" Lee played none too well.

Lee, it was, however, who put the locals in the game with a mighty home run smash into the river in the third. A walk to "Tony" Chefalo, followed by successive singles by "Joe" McKee and "Tentine" Lentine tied it up in the fourth.

Winchester put over two in the 6th, assisted by Melinsky's balk. With Kendrick, running for Lentine, and Procopio on second and first respectively, Melinsky, out of his box, faked a motion to the batter, while Chadwick who had the ball, whipped it to Colucci, catching "Skin" off second.

Umpire Roche ruled a balk, and advanced both runners, the North Woburn boys putting up a terrible squawk. The ruling was correct and stood, despite the arguments of the visitors. Both runs scored on a fly to left when Melinsky deflected McKittrick's throw to the plate over Brennan's head.

North Woburn scored in the 7th when Tansey while engaging in some brisk repartee with the Woburn coacher at third, made one away to good for the squarejawed McDonald and the latter smote the ball over McKee's head in right, scoring a hit later on a weak Texas Leaguer just out of Procopio's reach.

Winchester scored again in its half, and neither club was able to tally thereafter. Woburn at one time had the bases filled with no one out, yet was unable to push a run across.

What a London Fog Does

All sorts of mischief has been attributed to the London [illegible]s, which is famous alike to those who have experienced them as well as those who have not. The latter are acquainted with the London fog by reputation. London's shipping alone is interfered with to the extent of £1,000,000 sterling per day. It doubles the electric light bill, causes disease or death and increases the laundry bills of those who are compelled to penetrate it.

MONAHAN AND COOLEDGE WON WINCHESTER FOUR-BALL CROWN

Judge Joseph Monahan of Presidential and Wallace Cooledge of Arlmont on last Friday afternoon won the annual invitation four-ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club, defeating H. L. Esterberg and Walter B. Meader of Tedesco in the championship round of the first division competition, 6 and 4.

The champions reached the final bracket at the expense of "Ed" Bu[illegible]ere of Thorny Lea and "Dick" Nugent of Presidential, whom they defeated in the semi-finals, 1 up. Esterberg and Meader won in the semi-finals from "Bill" Scudder and "Al" McIntyre of Worcester, 3 and 2.

Monahan dominated the play in the championship round, having a 26 on his own ball going to the turn and being only two over par for the 14 holes necessary to decide the match.

On the holes for which Monahan was over par, the 11th and 14th, his partner Cooledge, produced the necessary par 3s, giving the team a better ball card exactly even with the coveted par figures.

Esterberg had a birdie 3 to take the third hole and square the match, but thereafter the fine work of Monahan would not be denied, and the Tedesco pair was forced to trail, winning only the 8th hole during the remainder of the round, and halving only the 6th, 7th and 10th. Esterberg had to hole a nice put to match Monahan's 4 at the 10th but thereafter the Tedesco team was unable to equal the steady play of the winners.

Following are the cards of the final:

Monahan and Cooledge:
Out	4	4	4	4	4	4	5	5	2	36
Esterberg and Meader:
Out	5	4	3	5	5	4	5	4	3	38

Esterberg and Meader:

Winchester got a cut of the second division championship when Arthur Rogers paired with "Ed" Peterson of Oakley to defeat R. W. Knowles, Jr. and P. Fitzpatrick of The Country Club, 4 and 3. The youthful Winchester-Oakley team played parbreaking golf to win their title, and would have given any of the first division teams a real battle for honors.

Winchester's only complete team to survive the preliminary rounds in the third division, Stanley Neill and W. J. Speers, was eliminated in the semifinal by J. Keirce of Scarboro and "Jim" Fisher of Bear Hill, 2 and 1. H. A. McGrath, paired with "Tom" Carr of Salem took Winchester's banner into the final round in this division, winning from H. H. Atwood and E. O. Turner of Oak Hill in the semifinals, 19 holes.

Kierce and Fisher proved too good for the Winchester-Salem combination in the final round, taking the championship honors, 6 and 5.

In the fourth division E. B. Badger and A. T. Hall of Winchester were finalists but were unable to pull their match with C. N. Stiles and A. P. MacMullin of Bear Hill out of the fire, losing 4 and 3.

MERRILL WON AT COUNTRY CLUB

Scouts Enjoy First Week at Camp Fellsland

Camp Fellsland, at Amesbury, the camp operated by the Fells-land Council, B. S. A., has just completed the first week of the 1933 season with 39 Scouts enrolled.

The many new features added to the program this year have made the camp one of the best Scout camps in New England.

The big event of the first week was the annual opening banquet held Thursday, July 6, and attended by 20 Scouters from the various communities of the Council. The banquet program opened with the singing of "America," the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. Casey, camp chef, prepared the meal, which consisted of fruit cup, roast duck, mashed potatoes, peas, rolls, coffee, tonic and ice cream. Scout Executive Harry T. French presided, introducing Geo. W. Pingree, chairman of the camp committee; W. E. Moats, Scout Commissioner; and James J. Quinn, President of the Council; as speakers. For entertainment, Carroll Tucker, assisted by Howard Palmer, lead the Scouts and guests in several songs, including two compositions by Mr. Tucker, entitled, "Camp Fells-land," and "Boy Scout Marching Song." Miss Theresa Casey, assistant chef, rendered several selections on an accordian, and the Camp Fellsland Players, under the leadership of "Dad" French, put on a sketch entitled, "Safety Razors First," with Alva Norwood and Wm. M. Barnett playing the parts.

The Scouters present inspected the camp, and were well pleased with the conditions as they found them.

The new Seascout Landship is attracting wide attention. Under the leadership of Lieut.-Comdr. Frederick Craven, U. S. N. R., the older boys' cottage has been remodeled so that it now resembles a ship. Nine Scouts, 15 years of age or older, are now enjoying this new feature of the program.

The camp nature den with William M. Barnett, instructor in Biology at Springfield College, in charge, is another new feature of the program this year. Here the Scouts are assembling a collection of nature materials collected around the camp. Here, also, the Scouts are learning to make plaster casts and blue prints of leaves, as well as many interesting facts about the plants, amphibia and reptiles, which inhabit the camp.

Most of the Scouts are enrolled in the dramatic class which is in charge of "Dad" Harry A. French. This new feature is resulting in the best evening program in recent years.

The first Court of Honor was held Friday evening, when the following awards were made:

American Red Cross Beginners' Button—Frederick Whittemore, John F. Mahoney, Edward Brown and Charles Cavanaugh.
First Aid—John Lobingier, James Rich.
Scholarship—James Rich, Walter Tolman and Carl Tolman.
Business—James Rich.
Metal Work—Geo. Largess, Carl Tolman.
Reptile Study—Winston Forward.
Civics—Willard Ames.
Safety—Walter Tolman.
Pathfinding—Willard Ames.
Music—Walter Tolman.

This year the staff has a higher portion of adult leaders than in recent years. As a matter of fact, the average ages of the staff is 25 years. Parents will appreciate the added safety of this mature leadership.

The camp is very fortunate in the supervision of the waterfront, which is in charge of Clifford Larcom, Harvard, '33, who for three years was a member of the Harvard Varsity swimming team.

As usual Scouts are extending their periods at camp from their original applications. Hence, Scouts who intend to come to Camp Fellsland are urged to send in their application to the Scouts office as soon as possible.

BAPTISTS ADOPT RESOLUTIONS UPON PASTOR'S RESIGNATION

At a meeting held Tuesday, July 11, the members of the First Baptist Church voted to accept the resignation of their pastor, Rev. Merritt Lodge Gregg, previously tendered, to take effect Aug. 31, 1933.

The following resolution was adopted at the time the resignation was accepted:

Whereas: Our Pastor, who has served us faithfully for the past year, has resigned on account of ill health, and

Whereas: We feel the necessity for him to seek such living arrangements as will enable him to recuperate and bring full restoration of health. Therefore be it

Resolved: that we, the members of the First Baptist Church of Winchester, Mass., do record our deep appreciation of the devotion and earnestness of our pastor, Rev. Merritt Lodge Gregg, and of Mrs. Gregg, and of their fine Christian character. We further pray that the Great Head of the Church will bring healing to our brother and give him renewed strength and power. Our interest and best wishes will always follow him.

House Shape of Elephant

The world's strangest house is built in the shape of a huge elephant, the body 38 feet long and 80 feet in circumference, the legs 22 feet long, and the glass eyes 18 inches wide. To the top of the howdah, which forms an open-air sunshine room on the elephant's back, is 65 feet, and the house can be seen eight miles away. There are 22 windows giving light and air to its six rooms and to the spiral staircases which occupy the two hind legs. This peculiar residence is at Margate City, N. J., U. S. A., and is a memorial to an elephant the owner loved.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

TAX COMMISSIONER LONG DESCRIBES TAX COLLECTOR'S JOB

In a lengthy article appearing in last Sunday's "Boston Globe," Henry F. Long, Massachusetts Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, explains the duties of the tax collector, and the importance of this much maligned official to town, city, state and Nation.

Any community's credit is not better than the ability of its collector of taxes to collect the amounts upon the individual tax bills committed to him by the assessors. Many cities and towns have learned, and are learning, to their sorrow that the tax collector of taxes, the so-called good fellow type, has proved a costly public official indeed, his failure to collect the community's taxes when due resulting in partial or complete loss of public credit with the consequent inability to borrow money either from banks or from private individuals upon the community's notes.

All tax collectors before permitted to commence their duties must take an oath of office and furnish a surety company bond sufficient to guarantee the city or town that they will faithfully perform their duties.

The individual collector who performs his duties to the letter of the law, treating all taxpayers alike and favoring none, usually has little or no trouble in collecting taxes, with the result that his city or town always has available either hard cash he has collected or a creditable record of collection upon which it can borrow in anticipation of revenue.

Such a collector has no difficulty in getting a surety company to renew his bond, but the tax collector, the good-fellow who extends time beyond the legal date for taxes, is soon likely to find that no company cares to go his bond, because under the law he is liable for his indiscretions and the community whose borrowing power is impaired by the failure of its collector to faithfully fulfill his duties according to law can proceed for satisfaction against the company that furnished his bond. Failing to be bonded, the easy going tax collector has no alternative than to give up his position and become personally liable for delinquent taxes.

In days of prosperity the collection of taxes is not an arduous task, and this fact has resulted in the erroneous supposition that any one can fill the collector's office. This supposition has cost many communities their fafavorable credit standing, because during the current hard times the collector who has been a good fellow finds it hard to tighten up while those accustomed to extended time for paying taxes, when money was plentiful, naturally find it increasingly difficult with no money in sight to pay their taxes when due.

On the other hand the communities where efficient collectors have insisted upon the payment of bills when due are having much less difficulty in collecting their taxes, even though the average purse is much thinner than usual, for the payment of taxes is more or less a habit which if correctly inculcated in the community life, becomes a matter of course.

The collector is obligated to collect real estate taxes within one year, but in the event the taxes are not paid the collector can advise by advertisement that he is going to extend the lien for a further two-year period as permitted by law.

This is the so-called tax sale, but it merely extends the lien, if the city or town takes, at the tax sale and merely sells the lien for the tax and charges to an outsider if such a one purchases. Neither the town or city nor the purchaser has any rights in the real estate except that before good title is given the lien must be removed by paying the amount accumulated. There is no right of entry or possession conveyed and the delinquent taxpayer can not in any way be molested in the free use of the real estate.

There is a requirement that at the end of two years foreclosure can be had either by the municipality or an outside purchaser provided during the two-year period the delinquent taxpayer has not redeemed his property by paying the charges accumulated.

If the municipality forecloses, it can, after getting good title, sell the property and thus, many months after the time when the tax was due get more money into the local treasury. The collector clears his warrant through these so-called tax sales, because when an outsider purchases he receives money to satisfy his warrant and where the municipality takes he is credited by the local treasurer, who sets up a tax title on his books and who must, at the expiration of two years, foreclose, unless redemption is made by the delinquent taxpayer. The collector, in addition to clearing his warrant by cash collections or tax sale, can also get clearance by abatement of taxes by th Board of Assessors. His warrant must, however, be cleared before he is in good standing.

Existing legislation permits borrowing by municipalities outside th debt limit to an amount not exceeding the tax title account, on the theory that the tax titles will be good and that the liquidation of the loan is secured. Proposed legislation will permit an extension to three years for redemption where the delinquent taxpayer can pay partially toward redemption. Existing law permits the partial payment of taxes. In the event the tax collector allows the period of lien to run and loses for the town the security for the real estate tax, he becomes personally liable and the community can proceed against the surety company.

The tax collector stands as the one upon whom all must rely to restore cities and towns to a proper credit base. If tax collections can be made, but little borrowing will be needed. If borrowing is needed, the fact that taxes are collected will ensure an opportunity for borrowing and at favorable rates. If leniency in tax collection is shown, the collector is personally liable and takes such action at his own risk. The day of the tax collector is probably numbered. The surety companies can no longer take the risks of a few years ago and have already advised that if tax collections are slow, no bond will be issued. The lenders of money are taking a similar attitude.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

There were four absentees from the meeting of July 13. We were pleased to welcome as a visitor at this meeting Past District Governor "Bert" Comins.

Frank Wentworth has transferred his membership from this club to the Rotary Club of Newton. We have known Frank as an enthusiastic Rotarian and his genial presence in our midst will be greatly missed. Our loss is Newton's gain.

We are in receipt of District Governor Lester Merritt's first monthly letter to the clubs of his district. Governor "Lester" announces the membership of his council and we note that Herbert E. Taylor of Framingham is in charge of that section of the district which includes the Winchester Club. We hope for an early opportunity to greet Herbert.

The club has gone on record as in favor of continuing the annual fall conclave of this district. Although there has been a movement to omit this conclave as a measure of economy, the very successful gathering of last September indicated a real demand for this event. We trust that the entire district will agree with our club that it would be an error to forego an occasion which has proven so effective in binding together the clubs of the 31st District.

During the entertainment period the club was addressed by Librarian Goddard of the public library of the City of Woburn, on the subject of "Manufacturing and Transportation in the Early Days of Woburn." As Winchester was an integral part of Woburn until 1850, the speaker's remarks were of great interest to club members. There was a reel of moving pictures to illustrate prominent landmarks and sections of old Woburn. Particular attention was paid to existing traces of the old Middlesex Canal along its course through the municipality, as well as historic illustrations pertaining to the tanning industry. We assure Mr. Goddard that his efforts were greatly appreciated.

Next week, July 20, we are to hear from a prominent Winchesterite an account of his recent sojourn in the Orient. We hope that every member will be present and bring a friend with him. Do not miss this meeting.

Percentage of attendance July 6—84.61 per cent.

Lusitania's Cargo

The Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine, carried 5,400 cases of ammunition, consisting entirely of cartridges for small arms. These were carried by permission of the United States Department of Commerce and could not, according to the report of the collector of the port of New York, be called explosives under the terms of the statutes. She carried no troops, guns, loaded shells or high explosives. The cargo consisted of copper articles, brass and furs and was valued at $750,000.

Fuel for Engines

The most efficient engines extract from 15 to 34 per cent of the power from the material they consume, and Harvard engineers do not hope for efficiency of more than 50 per cent to be achieved within the next quarter of a century.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The Winchester Junior League members are in for some excellent baseball instruction in the near future as it is the intention of the playground officials to invite Horace Ford and "Ben" Cantwell up to Loring avenue to show the youngsters just how the big leaguers do it.

The Yankees under the capable management of P. Holbrook, Jr. are in the lead with three games won but are closely followed by the strong playground team at Leonard Field. The Eagles, managed by Harry Cassidy, are tied for second place and should be a strong factor in the league race. Incidentally this team is the first team which can boast of uniforms for every man—no mean feat in these days of economy.

An all-star team to be picked from the Junior League is scheduled to play the Lexington playground team on their field early next week.

Blueberry picking has shot the Midget League schedule to pieces—some teams having difficulty in fielding seven men. Despite this handicap we have played ten games in this league and expect to add an all-colored team in the league. It is difficult to procure suitable officials to umpire in these games as the youngsters to refuse to play unless two men of unquestionable ability are present. In short the Midget League is in a class by itself when it comes to rabid baseall enthusiasm and wild emotional displays.

Tennis has become so popular at Loring avenue this season that the officials have established a rule that no person over 16 may use the courts in the morning or afternoon of any day except Saturday or Sunday. At the present time the playground instructor is forced to use an afternoon schedule of allotted time to each individual.

On Thursday morning, July 20, the Loring avenue tennis team is scheduled to play a return match with the Reading playground team. We have had some excellent competition from Reading and are looking forward to this match.

A. A. SWAMPED PALS

Winchester A. A. won 10—4 in an Amateur League game last evening on Leonard Field, the losers having to pick up two men to complete their nine. The A. A. hit both Pals pitchers hard and the resulting game was just the sort the league can not afford to have many more like.

The Fruitful Banana

Bananas, introduced into Great Britain in 1878, were the first delectable foreign fruit to be sold on a large scale. A wonderful fruit, the banana; 4,000 pounds of them can be grown on a space which would produce only 99 pounds of potatoes and 33 pounds of wheat; and, except for clearing away old stalks, practically no cultivation is necessary.

Flawless Emeralds Scarce

Unlike the diamond, most emeralds have flaws and these give individuality to the gems and render them more valuable. A flawless emerald is a rare thing.

A man who had investigated our institution for the first time said, "You surely hit the nail on the head when you stated that a building and loan account was the safest of all investments."

Anyone who takes the trouble to investigate will find that this is true.

But that is not all: because of the simplicity and economy of our operations, we are earning higher dividends than are obtainable in the ordinary savings institution.

This also is a matter worthy of your attention.

Animals and Birds Valuable

A study of the eating habits of wild life in America disclosed 90 per cent of our animals and birds are beneficial, according to Donald A. Gilchrist, naturalist.

Weight of Feathers and Iron

In a vacuum a pound of feathers will weigh exactly as much as a pound of iron if the same standards are used. There is an old saying that a pound of feathers is heavier than a pound of iron. This is in a sense true because of the buoyancy of the air. The following experiment pictures this fact: Counterbalance in air a hollow sphere against a small solid sphere. Place the balance under the receiver of an air pump and exhaust the air. As soon as the air is removed the balance is no longer in equilibrium, the larger sphere than overbalancing a smaller one. Thus bodies which apparently have equal masses in air are found to have different masses in a vacuum. The large hollow sphere corresponds to the pound of feathers; the small solid sphere to the pound of iron.

Sunday, July 16 Subject, "Life."

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16.

The Golden Text is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "What man is he that desireth life, and loveth many days, that he may see good? . . . Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it. The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry" (Psalms 34:12, 14, 15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When being is understood, Life will be recognized as neither material nor finite, but as infinite, — as God, universal good; and the belief that life, or mind, was ever in a finite form, or good in evil, will be destroyed . . . The sinless joy, — the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain, — constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man whose being is spiritual" (p. 76).

PARK DEPARTMENT NEWS

The Aberjona Valley improvement work continues to show progress but from now on the number of men at work will be greatly reduced. This is due to the fact that they will alternate between this job and Highland avenue. The latter project started last week, at which time the Highway Department took 16 men from the river work. These returned this week and 29 other men went to Highland avenue. It now appears that about one-half the number of unemployed will work one week on Highland avenue while the remainder will be on the river. The next week the gangs will be shifted, those who had been on Highland avenue returning to the river while the river crew goes to Highland avenue.

At the present time there are 175 men on the unemployed list. These are given work equivalent to 96 men at full time or five days a week.

The work on the river is now nearly concentrated on the area between the railroad tracks south of the Beggs & Cobb factory, where the mud is being excavated from the swamp.

A small crew is kept busy at Black Ball Pond where a road is being built from the railroad tracks to a point on the opposite side of the pond south of Nelson street. This road will eventually define the limits of the pond on the northern end as the area in back of it will be filled. The gravel for this road is coming from Highland avenue.

Of the $29,500 appropriated at the Special Town Meeting in June, $1519.11 had been expended up to and including Saturday, July 8.

TYNWALD, EUROPE'S ONLY OPEN-AIR PARLIAMENT

On July 5, old Mid-summer Day, the only national, open-air parliament in Europe holds its annual meeting on the Isle of Man—England's independent possession in the Irish Sea. The Tynwald Ceremony, which has persisted unchanged for over 700 years, was brought to the island by Viking conquerors of the ninth century, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. According to ancient Scandinavian custom, all laws binding a free man must be enacted in the open air before a full assembly of freemen. Thus the Tynwald in name and form is a strange survival on British soil of the old Norse Thing.

Meet on Artificial Hill

Tynwald Hill, in the village of St. Johns, where the ceremony takes place, is a small mound 12 feet high and 250 feet in circumference, supposedly built of earth brought from every parish in the island. On the appointed day government officials and clergy march in solemn procession to take their places upon this hill, which has previously been strewn with green rushes—another traditional custom. Then, before the assembled population of the island, the new laws are proclaimed and officers for the ensuing year appointed. The laws are always read in both English and Manx, the latter a branch of Gaelic allied to the Irish and Scottish tongues.

The Isle of Man has its own unique form of Home Rule. No act of the British Parliament applies to the island unless expressly so stated in the law. The Court of Tynwald, one of the oldest legislative assemblies in the world, consists of a Lieutenant-Governor appointed by the Crown, and two Chambers, the Council and the House of Keys. The 24 members of the latter are elected by popular vote, in which women share equal rights with men. All measures must pass both Council and Keys, and receive approval from the Sovereign.

Land of Beauty Behind Mist

An old legend tells how the magician Mannanan jealously guarded his beloved island from intruders by veiling her blue mountains and rocky headlands in soft mist. The mists still linger, but holiday trippers from near-by England, Ireland and Scotland have discovered that behind them lies a country of rare beauty. An amazing variety of scenery is crowded within the small area of 227 square miles. Steep, rugged mountains, Snaefell, the highest, over 2000 feet; smooth, rounded hills; desolate moors; and sudden glens, cut deep by swift streams, and green with mountain ash and tall bracken. Everywhere there is golden gorse, and in August, the deep, soft purple of heather spreads over the moors and up the sides of the mountains.

In the sheltered coves are tiny fishing villages. The Manx herring fleet was once the island's chief source of wealth. "Life to man and death to fish" was the toast at every dinner table. Now, however, the industry has declined, to be supplanted by the less picturesque trade in tourists. Agriculture is the main occupation of the 49,000 inhabitants. The even climate, with an extreme range in temperature of only 16.5 degrees, is particularly favorable to farming. There are a few mines—zinc, copper, silver, and lead, some woolen cloth factories, and a few breweries.

The town of Douglas, capital of the island, lies on the east coast in the curve of a wide bay, protected by encircling hills. Its dignity is of recent date only, in earlier times it served as an important base for smugglers, while Castletown was the capital. There stands Castle Rushen, ancient hall of the kings of Man. Robert the Bruce laid siege to it in 1313 and presented Man to the Earl of Moray; but a few years later Edward I gained control and since then England has held the island in continuous possession. As one wanders over the hills and moors, however, one finds prehistoric stone circles, Celtic crosses of fifth century Christianity, and Runic monuments commemorating Norse victories; scattered marks from the shifting scenes of earlier centuries.

FORESTS AFFECT AMERICA'S MARKET BASKET

Articles ranging from telephone poles to clothespins are among the millions of objects made of wood which the present "metal civilization" finds indispensable. Even before the institution of the President's forestry camps, lumbering, measured by the number of persons engaged in it, was one of the largest industries in the United States, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Forests Prevent Floods

Lumbering and forestry, as they are at present practiced, vary widely in their aims although the cutting of wood is a factor in both, says the bulletin. Lumbering is the term used for the cutting of timber for an immediate financial gain, while forestry carries the conception of long-time planning for continuous income. If trees are stripped carelessly from land, it is frequently left open to alternate floods and droughts. Much of it becomes worthless for agriculture or recreation and can support little animal life.

When white men came to America, it is estimated that there were 1,061,-528 square miles of forest between the Atlantic Ocean and the prairies. In what is now the West of the United States there were 220,062 square miles. This million and a quarter square miles of forests had been reduced to 733,551 square miles in 1928. Over half of this remainder had been selectively cut over, leaving the smaller trees for future growth. Of the original forests, 126,-875 square miles were cut so ruthlessly that the land is now practically useless.

National Forests in 31 States

To discourage further devastation of the country by thoughtless lumbering methods, the Government organized the forest service. The areas under the supervision of this service are the tree-covered public lands in the West which were not taken up by homesteaders, and forests purchased from private owners in the East. At present there are National Forests in 31 States. Plans have been made for camps for the unemployed in the National Forests of all these States. In States having no National Forests, similar camps will be established in State Forests or on private land.

During the past quarter century, the Government has emphasized the value of forests for the whole country. For the farmer—and the 1930 census showed over 50 per cent of the population living in rural areas—there are two great problems that are affected by forestry practice. One is erosion, or washing away of the valuable top soil; the other is the distribution of rain water. If there are no trees or cover crops to slow up the erosion is unavoidable. Thus water which should seep down to the valleys through a period of weeks, rushes in torrents down the stream beds, causing floods in the valleys followed by long periods of drought.

Aside from the protection of farm lands and conservation of moisture, National Forests bring the Government a direct revenue in various ways. Full grown timber and cord wood are sold; grazing lands are rented; water power concessions are leased; drinking water is furnished large cities; and irrigating systems are provided. These projects have proved so remunerative that even with the expense of seeding new sections, and pruning, thinning, and clearing underbrush in the older growths, may of the National Forests have been put on a self-supporting basis. From their income some National Forests contribute to the treasuries of counties and States in which they are situated.

Perhaps the largest single expenditure for forestry is for fire prevention. The toll of life is not ordinarily great, deaths from forest fires rarely running over 50 persons a year; but the damage to forests and the dependent water districts has been found to amount to millions of dollars. To avoid this loss lookouts are placed on high points of national forests and contant watch is kept for the telltale smoke. Forest rangers now frequently are successful in beating out fires before they have passed the possibility of control. Public education has done much to limit the horror and waste of these fires; but one unavoidable cause, lightning, accounts for more than 25 per cent of the fires.

The forest service has been quick to see the recreational possibilities of the forests, and roads have been built, hiking clubs encouraged, lake shores cleared, trails broken, and camping grounds established, so that tourists, climbing enthusiasts, fishermen, and hunters may have an opportunity to indulge in their favorite avocations. Summer home sites have been leased in a number of the forests for those who wish to live a more settled life in the woods. Botanists and zoologists have keenly supported the forestry movement, so that rare plants and animals might be preserved.

The forest service has taken with it roads, telephones, radio, and other instruments of civilization and has brought prospering occupations to formerly isolated spots, many of them of striking scenic beauty. It has given a new vision to many lumbermen, persuading them that ultimate good for the country can be achieved and great harm averted by substituting the ideal of forestry for that of lumbering.

Flying Dutchman Fable Hooked Up With Piracy

The Flying Dutchman, which is fabled to appear during tempestuous weather off the Cape of Good Hope, is considered an omen of ill luck.

The tradition, as stated by Sir Walter Scott, is "that she was originally a vessel loaded with great wealth, on board of which some horrid act of murder and piracy had been committed; that the plague broke out among the wicked crew, who had perpetrated the crime, and that they sailed in vain from port to port, offering, as the price of shelter, the whole of their ill-gotten wealth; that they were excluded from every harbor for fear of the contagion which was devouring them; and that as a punishment for their crimes, the apparition of the ship continues to haunt those seas in which the catastrophe took place."

According to another story, the Flying Dutchman was a ship whose captain met with contrary winds while trying to round the cape on his return from the East Indies in 1808. Advised to put back, he swore he would round it in spite of God and the devil, even if he strove until judgment day. He was taken at his word, and his ship still struggles in vain against head winds, and brings disaster on all who see her. Captain Marryat's "The Phantom Ship" is founded on this legend.

ARLINGTON CAPITOL ATTRACTIONS

Moviegoers recognize that there is no faster entertainment than a James Cagney picture, and his latest hit, "Picture Snatcher" which opens at the Capitol Theater, Arlington, on Monday, is no exception. In fact it is probably the fastest paced film that he has ever made. Warner Brothers, who have the knack of digging up robust stories, have given Cagney a peach, and how he romps through his role!

The James Cagney of former pictures was, to say the least, superb. "Picture Snatcher" is a fast moving story which fits him like a glove and will have the audience howling with glee at the pugnacious actor's antics and his crisp, cracking lines. There isn't a dull moment throughout the entire picture. It is one of those ideal Cagney stories that has punch in every foot of film, direction that keeps the pace from lagging, and a choice cast of supporting players that was certainly up to snuff in keeping up with the fast moving work of Cagney —and that is saying something in the way of action.

Sharing the honors with Cagney for the first half of the week is "Hello Sister," featuring James Dunn and Boots Mallory.

For the last part of the week starting Thursday, Miriam Hopkins brings to the screen her fifth great successive characterization in the outstanding performance of her career as the complex heroine of the "Story of Temple Drake" which features Jack Larue, William Gargan, William Collier, Jr., Irving Pichel, and Sir Guy Standing.

Temple Drake, as a character, offers limitless possibilities to the emotional actress, and Miss Hopkins has taken advantage of every opportunity to give an understanding, sympathetic performance. Though she extended exquisite interpretations in such outstanding pictures as "Trouble in Paradise," "Dr. Jeekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Twenty-four Hours," and "The Smiling Lieutenant," her work in "Story of Temple Drake" is far more deft, far more compelling, bringing the show world to the realization that she is among the screens most outstanding performers.

On the same program with "Story of Temple Drake," Genevieve Tobin and Roland Young are featured in "Pleasure Cruise," a very outstanding attraction.

The Kiddie Klub which has been a feature of the matinee performance at the Capitol Theater, Arlington, for the past two weeks has its third meeting this Saturday at 1:30 and the kiddies who are members of the Klub are just bubbling over with anticipation as the last two Kiddies shows have certainly been humdingers, with punch & Judy shows, magicians, westerns, contests, prizes, etc. All with the regular program of two features and shorts.

This Saturday will satisfy for another week the Kiddies desire for a real Kid's show, with a doll show for girls, a potato race for boys, local talented instrument players, pay envelopes for members with lucky numbers, a spelling bee, real professional actors, and Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great" along with Mary Pickford in "Secrets."

"THE LITTLE GIANT" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

When an underworld big shot decides to turn gentleman, gives up rum-running for tea dances, exchanges his machine guns for books on philosophy and etchings, trade in his liquor trucks for polo ponies; when he begins to talk with a broad A. lapsing into a bit of French now and then—when, in short, he makes up his mind to "muscle in" on society and be a millionaire among the millionaires, the result is likely to be hilariously funny. It would be funny even in real life. But when the gangster turns out to be Edward G. Robinson, as he does in "The Little Giant," which comes to the University on Sunday for four days, you can settle back in your seat to follow his adventures with the prospect of an amusing hour ahead. The supporting cast includes Mary Astor, Russell Hoptin, Helen Vinson, Donald Dillaway, Kenneth Thomson and Burton Churchill.

A fine comedy cast has been assembled for "Professional Sweetheart," the companion film, a hilarious take-off on the radio stars, its personality creators and the program sponsors. Ginger Rogers and Norman Foster are featured with a list of favorites including Gregory Ratoff, Zasu Pitts, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins, Lucien Littlefield and Franklin Pangborn.

"Adorable" with Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat in the stellar roles, starts Thursday. It is reported as a notable production with the most popular player in America and the premier European screen actor setting a new standard in entertainment. Miss Gaynor plays the role of a lovely girl who does the wooing and wining of a handsome soldier of the guard. Garat's role is said to give him a splendid occasion for his American picture debut. The supporting cast includes C. Aubrey Smith, Herbert Mundin, Blanche Frederici, Stuart Holmes and Albert Conti.

Frederic March and Cary Grant play the two leading roles in "The Eagle and the Hawk," the companion film, the story of two wartime flyers whose hatred for each other made them both heroes. Jack Oakie and Carole Lombard head the supporting cast.

Police Headquarters was notified Tuesday forenoon that a man had taken a vacuum cleaner to repair from a house on Forest street some two weeks previous to that day, and had not been heard of since. Investigation located the man at Central square in Woburn, and the police of Woburn were asked to check up on him. They learned his name and his place of residence in Cambridge, and the man stated that he would get in touch at once with the owner of the vacuum cleaner.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The biggest stars of both the screen and radio-land appear on the program that opens at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday, "When Ladies Meet" with Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy, Alice Brady and Frank Morgan is one of the attractions. "International House" with Rudy Valle, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Stuart Irwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Sari Maritza, Cab Calloway and other favorites is the startling line-up of national stars to be seen in this production. "When Ladies Meet" is a screen adaption of Rachel Crothers play that hit Broadway with a smash this season. Alice Brady makes a screen comeback in this film and does so well that she was immediately signed up on a long term contract.

"International House" sets a new standard in beauty, fun and music, in fact, it has everything—a grand story with laughs and giggles and roars galore; music you'll be whistling for days and days, and quite enough beauty and lovliness to make your eyes pop. And it's a comic paradise and laugh-riot for every spectator. You've never seen anything quite as funny as the eccentric Professor Quail, played by W. C. Fields, who starts off from Jaurez, Mexico on a non-stop flight. Suddenly he finds himself over Wu-Hu, where "International House" is located. From this point every scene is a comedy smash, interspersed with entertainment by the stars of radio land.

During the storm of last Sunday morning about 8:30 lightning struck a large horse chestnut tree on the O'Hara estate on Mystic avenue, shearing off a large limb. After striking the tree the lightning ran along some telephone wires, melting them and causing considerable trouble with telephones in that neighborhood.

STONEHAM CUBS HERE SATURDAY

Winchester Legion plays what is likely to be its hardest game to date tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 on Manchester Field, meeting the Stoneham Cubs who have been playing some of the best clubs around Boston with fair success.

The Legion's opposition in the Paul Revere League has been none too strong, and the local boys have been winning regularly. Manager Chefalo's outfit possesses a fine batting punch and given good pitching is a hard team to take, even with a just so-so defense and none too good base running.

Frank Tansey has tossed in two well pitched games on the past two Saturdays and if he works tomorrow, the Cubs are likely to find him a much harder proposition than in last year's game with the A. A. when he and "Bob" Callahan were slaughtered at Pen worth street.

With Kingsley, Jeremiah of Dartmouth, Adzigian of the Harvard frosh, the veterans, "Mike" McGah and Frank Desmond of Woburn, and "Lefty" Robinson, old Tufts pitching ace, Stoneham looks to have a big edge over Winchester in all around strength, particularly in experience, though the "Fitzies," Frank Tansey and "Bob" Lee have been around.

Whether better balance and experience on the part of Stoneham can offset the Winchester punch remains to be seen, but we personally would like to see the Legion strengthened here and there for this game. The two clubs play a return engagement Sunday on the Pen worth street grounds in Stoneham.

Winchester Legion plays a Paul Revere League game tonight with the Lincoln A. A. at Lincoln. The club is much better than its standing in the league would indicate and if it ever gets any pitching will make its presence felt in real earnest.

TIPSY DRIVER ARRESTED

Shortly after 12:30 last Saturday morning Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department had his attention directed to an automobile proceeding in a zig-zag manner along Main street near Clark street.

He stopped the machine and arrested the driver on the charge of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. The latter gave his name as James F. Caulfield of 98 Fulton street, Medford. A companion, Fred Ransome of Chicago, Ill., was also arrested, charged with drunkenness. The three remaining occupants of the car were permitted to go.

In court later Saturday morning Caulfield was fined $25 on the drunken driving charge and had the drunkenness charge filed. Ransome was found guilty of drunkenness and his case was also filed.

MISS VINSON GOES ABROAD

Miss Maribel Vinson, Winchester's Skating expert, will sail for Europe on Sunday on the SS. Georgic. She graduated from Radcliffe in June and has been America's woman champion figure skater. She will remain abroad until February, when she will take part in the world figure skating championships. Aside from her plans for the skating competition she expects to play considerable tennis and to do some sculling. She became interested in the latter sport a few seasons ago and is now one of New England's leading scullers, wearing the colors of the Union Boat Club.

The Star is informed that during the severe thunder storm of last Sunday morning lightning struck and split open a tree on Ginn's Field not far from Wedgemere station.

INJURED AS TRUCK AND COACH COLLIDE

Mrs. Nellie Ackley of 53 Stevens road, Melrose complained of injuries to her right wrist and forearm shortly before 3:30 last Friday afternoon when the Hudson coach, in which she was riding with her husband, Frank E. Ackley, was in collision at the junction of the Parkway and Main street with a truck, owned by Moulton & Holmes Company of Boston and driven by Harry A. Haskins of South Boston.

The Hudson was crossing Main street, going west, while the truck was on Main street headed north.

Miss Blanche C. Eaton is at her home on Everett avenue, recuperating from a recent operation for appendicitis.

Boston & Maine carpenters replaced the worn planking on the bridge over the Woburn loop of the railroad this first of the week.

Mary Smith
LOST two days' PAY

MARY SMITH is one of those working women known as "accommodators." Some of them cook or serve when someone is giving a party. Others care for children, help with plain sewing, look after various odd jobs in peoples' houses, and generally "accommodate."

Last week Mary lost two days' pay because she didn't have a telephone. She used to have one, but she tried to save a little money by taking it out.

What happened was this. Mrs. White planned a dinner. She wanted Mary to help for a couple of days as usual. She tried to telephone, but found the service discontinued. Another "accommodator," with a telephone, got the job.

Mary Smith has her telephone back now. She knows this one job would have paid her telephone bill for a month or so, and she isn't going to miss any more.

Peanut butter first came into use about 25 or 30 years ago as a food for invalids. It soon became a staple article of food. Peanut butter contains only the ground kernels of roasted, blanched peanuts, with the addition of 1 to 4 per cent of salt. The food value of peanut butter is very high.

Our First Chairs
The earliest chairs made in this country were Tudor, with the triangular seats and curved legs the Colonists had known at home. Square seats came in soon after, to be followed by upholstered seats and backs. Cane, introduced by the Dutch settlers, was also popular.

Self-Opening Parachute
Persons who are likely to make use of the parachute are compelled to learn how to operate them. After the plunge into the atmosphere and when free of the airplane, there is a cord which must be pulled in order to release the big bag which fills with air and permits the gentle descent to the earth. There is always a possibility that under the excitement of the moment the cord may not be pulled and disaster is the result. One design has a timing apparatus built into the parachute by which the opening process is automatically taken care of. Adjustment may be made to have the operation take place at any desired distance and the human element is eliminated entirely. The device is also said to be of great value where mail matter or supplies of any character are to be dropped, for the exact spot of the landing can be accurately regulated.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Delegates to the 59th annual convention of the W. C. T. U. at Milwaukee have returned to their homes with plans for a continuation of the organization's fight against the liquor habit and the liquor traffic.

As to the future of the organization, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, President, addressing the convention on the opening day, declared:

"Whatever may be the verdict of the American people we have seen no reason to change our minds and we still believe prohibition is the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic. We believe total abstinence is the only safe attitude to take toward the use of alcoholic liquor. We believe the children should be taught the effects of alcohol on the human system to the end that in the interest of health, efficiency, good citizenship and public safety they may voluntarily abstain from the use of alcohol . . . The repeal of prohibition will not change the nature of alcohol but a legalizing of beer has encouraged some people to drink who would not have done so had the sale not been legalized.

The convention adopted resolutions calling attention to the widespread state laws for public education in the effect of alcohol; stressed the necessity for observation and enforcement of prohibition as long as it is in the Constitution; protested the return of the liquor traffic to a controlling position in American politics; denounced the undue haste of the beer and repeal legislation and in conclusion stated: "No question is settled until it is settled right and the liquor problem will not be settled by legalizing beer or repealing Prohibition. The drink traffic must be destroyed."

Among interesting speakers addressing the convention was Whiting Williams of Cleveland, Ohio, author and sociologist, who spoke on his personal survey of the situation regarding Prohibition and the workers of the country, declaring that the laboring classes had benefited hugely under the 18th amendment; Bishop H Lester Smith of Cincinnati, chairman of the prohibition emergency committee, declared that the fight to retain prohibition was "a holy war," while Dr. Norman V. Peale of the Marble Collegiate Church of New York City called upon the American people to revise and lift up their standard of morals and thought, charging that "the wet wave" is largely the result of a lapse of moral standards.

Election of officers brought two changes to the personnel of national leaders who have been so well known these past eight years. Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, was elected president to succeed Mrs. Ella A. Boole who will devote her time to the work of the World's W. C. T. U. Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of New York was elected vice-president. The other officers, re-elected, are Mrs. Anna Marden De Yo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, treasurer; Mrs. Sara H. Hoge, recording secretary; Mrs. Nelle Burger, assistant recording secretary.

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY SERIOUSLY INJURED

"Ronnie" Simonds Was Football Star at High School

Ronald "Ronnie" Simonds, ex-Winchester High School football star and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Simonds who formerly made their home on Orient street, was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Kalamazoo, Mich., on the morning of July 6.

According to police reports of the accident, received by the young man's parents, the car Mr. Simonds was driving was in collision with a truck at cross roads on the state highway on which he had commenced a trip to Boston from Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

The young man's car was demolished and he was critically injured, sustaining a fractured skull and lower jaw, and a fractured pelvis. He was removed to the Kalamazoo Methodist Hospital where for a time his life was despaired of. Later reports however were more hopeful, and the last report received by his parents assured them that he is resting comfortably and will eventually recover. In commenting on the case, hospital attaches state that only Mr. Simonds' splendid physical condition pulled him through.

"Ronnie," who played fullback on "Hennie" Knowlton's crack football team that tied for the Mystic League title in 1927, had been in the west for only a short time previous to the accident. He had secured a position with Roberts Studio, commercial photographers, of Boston and had been sent to Kalamazoo by his firm to drive an automobile, owned by the company and loaded with photographic equipment, back to Boston. He was on his way to Boston when the accident which nearly caused his death occurred.

While it is expected that Mr. Simonds will completely recover, he will be confined to the hospital for about three months, and during his convalescence will be glad to hear from his many friends in Winchester.

FORTNIGHTLY GARDEN GROUP

On Wednesday, the 12th, Mrs. Edward Berry acted as hostess to the Fortnightly Garden Group, at her summer home, Little Neck, Ipswich.

After a box luncheon, with hot tea and coffee served by Mrs. Berry the group spent the afternoon visiting the gardens of Mr. E. Leon Bracker and Mrs. George E. Barnard, a courtesy extended the group through Mrs. Berry.

The Bracker garden in every detail bespoke the artist. It was a series of calm surprises from the little dooryard garden through the many winding, shady pathways with occasional openings into a sandy beach with swimming pool fed by springs, and all the comforts of beach chairs and seclusion, or a perennial and annual garden with a profusion of bloom, on to a path leading to a thatched resting house to gaze into a pond of pink pond lilies and lotus flower, already to bloom, arrow head and all the other natural flowers were in evidence as well as the hibrids. This garden in spite of its vastness gave one the feeling of comfort and rest, time to think and commune with nature, a fairyland indeed.

The Barnard garden immediately impressed one with the great desire to see a stately bride at its topmost entrance and to the strains of Lohengren enter the rose garden. A beautiful formal garden where one may easily imagine the presence of kings and queens. All through this garden one noticed the presence of lavender loosestrife, black-eyed susan and silver leaf and how graciously they blended with the annual and perennial garden flower. The natural rock garden, pools and Ipswich river flowing past made this seem a heavenly spot, a garden of the Gods.

The happiness of the owners of these gardens in sharing their good fortune with others made the pilgrimage doubly enjoyable. The Fortnightly Garden Group will meet the second Wednesday in August and another pilgrimage will be planned. Beginning with October the meetings will be held the third Wednesday of each month in Fortnightly Hall at 2:30 p. m.

Cow Birds Are Laziest of the Feathered Tribe

The cowbird ranks among the laziest birds of the field. It derives its name from the fact that it follows along behind or just in front of grazing cattle, feeding upon insects which are disturbed by the cows and leave their cover in the grass. When the cows decide to seek better grazing elsewhere and start off at a fairly rapid pace, it is not unusual for these birds to hop on the cows' backs and ride along with them, observes a correspondent in the Washington Star.

Even when it comes to perpetuating their species, the cow birds still are lazy. They build no nests of their own but lay their eggs in the nests of other birds, preferably smaller birds. The foster mother, when she hatches the cow bird's young along with her own, appears not to notice that the larger cow birds are not her own and feeds them and raises them at the same time as she raises and trains her own.

Color Blindness

Color blindness, about which very little is known, is hereditary and affects boys to a greater degree than girls. At the same time, people who are color blind are generally above the average in intelligence.

CHIEF ROGERS NO KIDNAPPER

Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock a boy, apparently 10 or 12 years of age and very badly frightened, approached Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey in the center, telling the big policeman that a man had tried to catch him while he was riding his bicycle near Symmes corner. The youngster said the man was riding in a big Buick sedan, and had jumped from the machine, trying to head off the boy who had made haste to get to the center and police protection.

Officer Dempsey took the boy to Headquarters, and after calming his fears with the assistance of Desk Officer Hogan, got a more careful description of the man who the boy was firmly convinced was attempting to kidnap him.

"Is that the man, sonny," asked Officer Dempsey as Chief William H. Rogers entered the station. Taking a look at the chief, the boy nodded, meanwhile drawing nearer to his policeman friend.

Explanations followed and the youngster, who lives in East Arlington, started for home, reassured, and evidently very glad that the chief was not after him in real earnest.

Chief Rogers has been hot on the trail of youthful bicycle thieves who have been visiting Winchester too frequently of late, and wanted to question the boy who was riding a bicycle when he spotted him. The Chief said he had rarely seen a youngster make better speed on a machine, and had to admit the boy showed good judgment in appealing to the police to straighten out his trouble.

TIRE BITERS BITTEN

Monday night shortly before 10 o'clock, a group of west side boys, in a purely sporting spirit, decided to cruise about in the vicinity of Rangeley letting the air out of automobile tires. They were observed in their pleasantry and the police notified, the officers succeeding in rounding up three boys who admitted deflating the tires of Mr. Dunbar F. Carpenter's machine.

Patrolmen William E. Cassidy and John H. Boyle, who answered the call at Headquarters, in addition to bringing the matter to the attention of the boys' parents encouraged the merry-makers to pump up the flat tires in question, doubtless feeling that the boys would be glad to share in the good time they hoped to give the car owner. Whether or not a good time was had by all, the boys manned the pumps until a late hour, finding that even the modern low-pressure tire takes quite a bit of air.

ACCIDENT AT RIDGEFIELD ROAD

Wednesday shortly before 11 a. m., Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey notified Headquarters of an accident at Ridgefield road and Main street. Patrol 51 with Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman John Dolan was sent to investigate and found upon arrival that a Reo sedan, in charge of John W. Taylor of 48 Garfield road, Melrose, parked in front of the residence of Mr. D. W. Estabrook at 5 Ridgefield road, had rolled backward down the hill.

About 15 feet from Main street the machine went over the sidewalk on the southerly side of the road, damaging about 10 feet of shrubbery at the residence of Mr. Allard W. Spencer of 1 Edgehill road. It then struck and knocked down a portion of the stone wall at the corner of Ridgefield road and Main street causing the road sign to fall down. Finally the car ended its mad career by tipping over on its right side, damaging the fenders and top. Fortunately no one was injured.

The Central Garage wrecker was called, and after righting the car, towed it to the garage. Taylor told the police he had not set the brakes on the car, but had left it in gear.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

At the meeting of July 20, six absentees were recorded.

The July "Rotarian" is now in the hands of our members. We are confident that all of our members, both those who did and those who did not attend the Boston Convention will take pleasure in reading the detailed reports of that Convention as they are presented by the able correspondents of the "Rotarian." It was a grand convocation, much important business was transacted with efficiency and dispatch, our good New Englanders were capable hosts and our genial visitors departed with that satisfaction which results from a thoroughly enjoyable visit.

A letter from Past President George Welsch who is enjoying a well-earned vacation in his native city of Chicago tells us that he was recently a visitor at the Rotary Club of that city where he had the pleasure of greeting many notable Rotarians, including Paul Harris.

Club members were delighted to greet Dr. Daniel C. Dennett as the speaker during the entertainment period today. Dr. Dennett has but recently returned from a journey to eastern Mediterranean countries, including a visit to his son, Daniel C. Dennett, Jr., who is stationed at Beirut, Syria. Dr. Dennett was careful to procure very noteworthy motion pictures of the various peoples and places which he visited and a generous portion of these were exhibited on this occasion. Preceding which, the speaker in his characteristic, scholarly manner gave a short talk descriptive of this region, its distinctive position as the cradle of races and religions, and the marvels of its history as disclosed by modern research. We are sure that Dr. Dennett will have insistent calls to repeat this lecture in fuller form in the near future. We assure him that all of our members were deeply appreciative of his efforts today.

Next week we are to have a talk concerning a welfare movement which is of great local interest. Keep abreast of the times by attending our weekly sessions.

Percentage of attendance July 13—88 per cent.

MISS PETTINGELL SHOWERED

Miss Virginia Merrill and Miss Deborah Gilbert gave a linen shower Wednesday afternoon at Miss Merrill's home in Rangeley for Miss Frances Pettingell whose marriage to Mr. Clifton McNeill is to take place on Saturday afternoon.

Bridge was enjoyed, the prize being won by Miss Pettingell's mother, Mrs. Roger V. Pettingell of Main street. Table decorations were cut flowers and the gifts were arranged under an umbrella. Miss Pettingell was completely surprised, first learning that a party had been arranged in her honor when she was showered with confetti as she entered Miss Merrill's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loftus of 27 Rangeley have closed their home and will spend the summer at their summer home in Hillsboro, N. H.

THIS WEEK'S BASKETBALL PICTURES

The Star is printing this week some high school basketball pictures which are likely to prove of interest to many in Winchester.

No comment is needed in connection with the current high school team, its recent season being familiar to all interested in the game.

The 1921-22 team was one of the good clubs the high school had ju after the World War when the locals were playing in the Suburban Interscholastic League along with Brockton, Winthrop, Chelsea, Watertown, Natick and Wellesley. Winchester, if memory serves, finished third in the league that year, behind Brockton, with "Red" Randall and Karl Brillhart, and Winthrop. "Joe" Mathews was the team's pivot man with "Muggins" Tansey and Capt. Aby Winer, forwards; Glen Kendrick and "Art" French and "Rady" Mortenson, backs. "Frank" Tansey and "Touchy" Gray were sub forwards and "Jeff" Flaherty, sub back. Mathews, Winer and the Tanseys number with the best players the school ever tourned out.

The old timers of 1904-05, coyly posed on the floor of the art room at high school, and probably photographed by Miss Minna B. Noyes of the school teaching staff, were the first team to play for Winchester in the present high school building on the Parkway. We are told that they were a fine team, and recalling the athletic ability of the boys who comprised the club, we are quite ready to credit such a rating.

Champions of Eastern Massachusetts was the title which went with the cup in the foreground of the 1913-14 girls' team published this week, one of the fine clubs the high school used to turn out more or less as a matter of course in the "good old days." The team was coached by Miss Dora Brown, then girls' gymnasium teacher, and played such teams as Swampscott, Melrose, Wellesley and Oliver Ames, losing according to its captain, Maude (Gurney) Dover, but one game. The team was considered good enough to challenge for the right to play for the State title, but nothing came of the challenge, and the club had to be content with ist Eastern State rating.

WINCHESTER PLAYS "CROOSHIAL" TENNIS MATCH WITH BELLEVUE

Winchester Tennis Association plays the match which will probably decide its ultimate standing in the Old Colony Tennis League this Saturday afternoon when it will meet the strong Bellefue Club of Melrose on the town courts at Palmer street, commencing at 3 o'clock.

Winchester is now in second place in the league point standing, despite the fact that it has not lost a match. Its policy of playing younger players whenever possible has cost it points which might have been won had no one but the tried veterans been used in inter-club competition.

Saturday the club expects to throw a strong team on the courts with "Larry" Freeburn, Hall Gamage, "Jim" Riley and "Herb" Ross playing singles, and also doubles with Norman Dalrymple and it is hoped, "Bill" Packer.

Bellevue has a strong team with the veterans, "Steve" Crowell and Jones, and the former Melrose High interscholastic ace, Paul Guibord.

If Winchester can win from Bellevue by a score of 5—2 or better, its chances of pulling out a league championship will be considered bright, despite the fact that the championship Woodbourne aggregation will be met a week from Saturday in the final match of the season at Forest Hills. A defeat at the hands of Bellevue or even a win, 4—3, will eliminate the locals as championship contenders.

THRIFT SHOP

August, September, and then the Thrift Shop re-opens. We hope you won't forget us and are saving your "white elephants," cast-off clothing of all kinds, furniture, dishes and what have you. Everything and anything will be gratefully received.

A gift to the Thrift Shop helps in three ways, those who need, by supplying the need—those who give, by relieving the home of unused articles, and lastly, helps towards the building fund of the First Baptist Church. Many thanks for your kind co-operation.

FUNERAL RITES FOR WILLARD T. CARLETON

Funeral services for Willard T. Carleton of 52 Church street, who died Wednesday, July 12, in Kingston, Jamaica, while on a cruise for his health, were held Thursday afternoon, July 20 in the First Congregational Church with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating.

The church was filled with friends and business associates of Mr. Carleton who was president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company and director or trustee of many other commercial or banking houses, including the Winchester Co-operative and Savings Banks. Honorary bearers were James Dean, E. G. Preston and Nathaniel F. Ayer of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company; Walworth Pierce, president of S.S. Pierce Company; Thomas Crimmins of Crimmins & Pierce; and Frederic S. Snyder, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Active bearers were Arthur N. Maddison of Lexington, formerly of this town; and John A. Maddocks, Alfred G. Barr and J. C. Kerrison, all of Winchester. Raymond Merrill, Herbert E. Stone, John Hart Taylor, Walter J. Brown, Curtis W. Nash, John P. Carr, Harry Bowler and Harry C. Sanborn, all of Winchester, were ushers.

During the services the church organist, J. Albert Wilson, played Adagio, by Widor; Andante, by Rheinberger; Chopin's Funeral March, a Bach aria, and two favorite selections of the deceased, the Largo by Handel and "Nearer My God to Thee." The many beautiful floral tributes indicated the esteem in which Mr. Carleton was held by all who knew him.

In his eulogy Dr. Chidley paid high tribute to the deceased, mentioning his ability, willingness to be of service and integrity, speaking particularly of the trust implicitly placed in him by those who sought his advice, a trust of which he was at all times worthy.

Following the services the interment was made in Wildwood Cemetery.

DEAN OF COMMUNITY SCHOOL A WINCHESTER CLERGYMAN

The Community School for Training Church School Workers, which opens in Winchester on Oct. 2, is fortunate in having for its dean the Rev. John Leslie Lobingier of this town. Mr. Lobingier is secretary of the Congregational Educational Society, Department of Adult Work and World Friendship. At present he is at Northfield, giving a course on "The Message and Program of the Christian Religion," and another on "Methods for Young People."

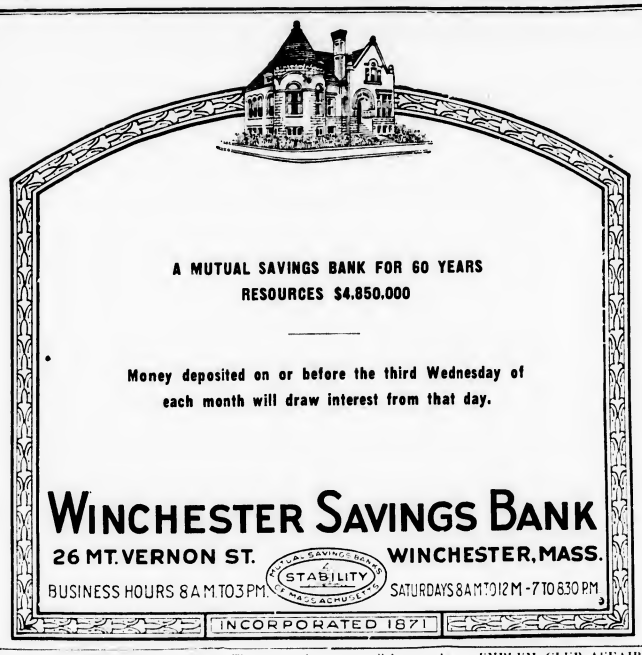
"These young people's conferences are the most significant feature in young people's work today," says Mr. Lobingier. "Our Community School offers the same opportunities and courses as these summer conferences, without the summer atmosphere."

Mr. Lobingier is well fitted to hold the important position of dean as his winter work keeps him in touch with the latest ideas in the field of religious education, and his summer activities give him opportunities for observation in many schools. This summer he has taught at Blairstown, N. J., a leadership school conducted by the New Jersey Councils of Religious Education; at King's Mountain, N. C., a Congregational Negro conference. Now at Northfield, he goes later to the International Council of Religious Education Leadership School at Lake Winnipesaukee.

MISS HUDSON PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

Miss Eleanor Hudson as Program Chairman of The Early American Glass Club with a membership of nearly 600 persons, conducted the meetings daily at the First National Exposition at Hotel Mayflower, Plymouth. There were 30 speakers, all nationally, prominent authorities, three of whom came from Ohio, and the majority from New York. The show which was a tremendous success was largely attended. The New York Sun of July 15 contains several columns about the show, telegraphed daily by its editor, Charles Messer Stow, who in commenting on the second National Glass Exhibition to be held in Sandwich Aug. 8-13 wrote, "Miss Eleanor Hudson of Winchester, Mass., will be chairman of the program committee as she was at the July meeting where her efforts were a conspicuous success."

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by William Warren Rausch of 225 Park avenue, Arlington and Ann Newcomb of 23 Stevens street, also by Clifton Ward McNeill of 39 Grove street and Frances Pettingell of 282 Main street.



LOCAL BOYS AND GIRLS TO GET FREE TRIP TO WORLD'S FAIR

Local interest in the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago takes on increased intensity with the announcement this week by the Great A. & P. Tea Company that its New England Division will send 28 Massachusetts boys and girls to the World Fair as guests of the Tea Company.

The boys and girls who will take the trip are to be selected as the result of a contest conducted by all A. & P. Food Stores in Massachusetts.

Beginning Monday, July 17, all customers at all A. & P. Food Stores in Massachusetts will be given coupons with every purchase. These coupons will be in various denominations counting as votes for the different boys and girls to determine the winners of the contest.

The contest will continue for four weeks ending Aug. 12.

On Saturday, Aug. 26, the 14 boys who have been declared winners in their respective counties will leave Boston under the leadership of Mr. Franklin H. Smith. Mr. Smith is well known for his work among boys, is an active Y. M. C. A. worker, and is director of the A. & P. Managers' Benefit Association of New England.

Associated with Mr. Smith in conducting the boys' party will be a man well known in Boy Scout and boys' group work.

The girls' party will leave on Sunday, Aug. 27, in charge of two well known girls' group workers who are widely experienced in girls' work and Y. W. C. A. work.

Both parties will make the trip to the Fair with all expenses paid by the A. & P. Food Stores. They will have a full week at the Fair and while in Chicago will be the special guests of the A. & P. organization in charge of the A. & P. Carnival.

The A. & P. Carnival occupies nearly an acre and a half at The Century of Progress. It is right on the lake shore. The location is central, directly opposite the 23rd street entrance to the Fair Grounds.

The A. & P. Carnival consists of a bandstand about 50 feet high, with an outdoor amphitheater seating 1600 people on one side and a boardwalk on the shore on the other side. A gaily striped awning 30 feet wide and 180 feet long spans the length of the boardwalk. The stage of the band stand revolves, so that A. & P. can give shows to the outdoor amphitheater or to the boardwalk as is wished.

The shows consist of the A. & P. Marionettes, designed by Tony Sarg, with a Marionette of George Rector acting as host and announcer. Marionettes of the A. & P. Gypsies, and about 10 Marionette acts; the A. & P. Gypsies in person giving afternoon and evening concerts and broadcasting Monday nights direct from the fair grounds (three months beginning July 1); George Rector as host, giving talks on food, anecdotes, introducing guest speakers from the stage, screen and literary worlds; tea dances on the boardwalk, and several other attractions.

Admission to the A. & P. exhibit will be free. A. & P. will sell coffee and tea, both iced and hot, as well as copies of a beautiful food man. Rector cook books, assortment of Quaker Maid products and A. & P. menu binders.

There are two A. & P. exhibit buildings on the A. & P. lot. One will be devoted chiefly to mural paintings, depicting the coffee business. The other building will contain a display of food products, as well as an A. & P. model kitchen.

The whole exhibit was designed by Tony Sarg and A. N. Rebori, Chicago architect. Sarg's touch is evident throughout. He has painted the murals. Lanterns by Tony Sarg in the form of pigs, cows, pumpkins, cabbages, rabbits, etc., illuminate the entire grounds. Under the arches are hung lanterns consisting of State Food maps. In other words, a lantern on which a map will show what foods A. & P. purchases from that state, and telling the amount.

Tony Sarg has reproduced an A. & P. food map of the United States 40 feet long against the north wall of the exhibit, and a map of the world showing the countries from which imported foods come, against the south wall.

The contest is open to all boys and girls in Massachusetts between the ages of 12 and 18, except children of A. & P. employees or their relatives. Entry blanks for the contest may be procured at any A. & P. Food Store in Massachusetts.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Co-operation of home and school is vital to the success of the school and consequently to the development of the child. And so teachers are increasingly responsible for a working knowledge of the technique of organizing and carrying on parent-teacher associations.

For many years the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has provided a trained worker to give different types of credit courses at the Columbia University Summer School. Many school superintendents, as well as teachers and college-graduate parent-teacher leaders register for these courses.

Several universities offer parent-teacher credit courses during the regular winter semester, and call on the National Congress for instructors.

Normal schools, also, are quite alive to this modern requirement for their student bodies and quite generally provide lecture courses and carry on parent-teacher associations in connection with their practice schools.

At state parent-teacher conventions all over the country (every state except Nevada is organized) institutes are held to instruct local leaders in the art of maintaining healthy, useful associations. The National Convention each May gives valuable assistance to officers and leaders of local units, of which there are approximately 20,000 in the States, Hawaii, Alaska, and the District of Columbia.

Under the direction of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, parent-teacher courses and conferences are scheduled for the 1933 summer schools in the following colleges and universities:

Iowa State University.
Maryland State University.
Nebraska, Hastings College.
Omaha Municipal University.
State Teachers College, Peru.
University of Nebraska.
Utah State University.
Virginia State University.

A course is being given at each of the normal schools in the State of New York.

Mrs. H. R. Butler, executive secretary of the National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers, is conducting a series of lectures two mornings each week at the summer school of Atlanta University.

Through the education secretary of the Congress, Mrs. Arthur C. Watkins, anyone may take a parent-teacher correspondence course which will give a groundwork of knowledge of the parent-teacher movement, its growth, and the application of the principles of co-operative education to the activities of local associations.

Information may be obtained through the office of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, 1201 16th street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

MEXICAN DINNER PARTY FOR MR. GODDU

Mr. Dana Goddu of Cave Creek, Ariz., formerly of Winchester and the son of Mr. Napoleon Goddu of Chestnut street, was guest of honor at a real Mexican stag dinner party, held last Friday evening at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Goddu, on Cliff street.

Many of Mr. Goddu's friends attended and spent a most enjoyable evening, partaking of an unusually appetizing menu and listening to old ranger songs sung by Mr. Lawrence Small of Medford, who accompanied himself upon the banjo. The songs, many of which had often graced the prairie fire and hunk-house, were picked up by Mr. Small during a recent trip through the west.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The big day for Winchester Emblem Club is next Wednesday, July 26, when the annual outing is slated to take place at Hampton Beach. Surf bathing and games will feature the day's program, and members may do as they please about taking a lunch or having dinner at the beach. The chairman, Mrs. Kathryn T. Griffin, assures us that if it rains "cats-'n-dogs", the trip will be postponed until the following day—which is a great relief as the beach is wet enough without wishing a rainy day party onto it. No cheer-leader has been selected as yet, but anyone may qualify by trying out her voice in a few "rah-rahs." Of course the "glooms" won't get a look-in for this honor, so cheer up, sisters! The bus will leave Winchester square at 10 a. m. For reservations tel. Wob. 0643-M.

It was the hottest night on record—June 28. Nevertheless, the card party given by Sisters Emily Scholl, Myrtle Goodhue and Caroline Coakley was well attended and, best of all, proved to be as great a financial success as the previous affair. Mrs. Scholl graciously thanked all who braved the heat-wave to attend the last social of the season.

Mrs. George H. Lochman, state trustee, presented a very comprehensive report of the business session of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs, held at Hotel Westminster, Boston, on June 27. Mrs. William Smythe of Winthrop, the newly elected state president, outlined plans for a very busy season which includes many social events. The Ways and Means Committee gave a report on the Scholarship Fund and also proposed starting a Vacation Fund for the benefit of poor children. Special stress is laid this year on welfare work. A "Big Sister" is appointed in every subordinate club to carry on the work in her community, and itemized reports of the same are given at each state and supreme session.

And speaking of relief work, our own big sister, Mrs. Fred Scholl, gave one of the best reports on record. She selects the summer vacation time to accumulate her working fund for the ensuing year. This year the need for charity is just as great as ever. Each member may help materially by attending the big sister's card parties, and by donating articles of food and clothing for distribution during the long winter months. Remember that this relief work is confined to our own community, regardless of club or other affiliations.

The outing of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs will be held at the Bass Point House, Nahant, Saturday, Sept. 9. Reservations for dinner may be made through Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon, president of the local club.

INJURED BY TRUCK

William J. Carroll, 21, of 5 Nelson street, was painfully injured shortly before 1 o'clock last Friday afternoon when he was struck while crossing Swanton street by a truck owned by Thomas Quigley, Jr. of 56 Lake street and driven by Francis Tansey of 81 Nelson street.

Tansey told the police he was driving across Swanton street from Holland to Florence street when Carroll and Michael Penta of Irving street started to cross the street. The truck was going slowly and Penta crossed all right. Carroll, however, was struck by the left rear wheel of the truck, injuring his foot and ankle.

The young man was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Fireman Everett W. Kimball and treated by Dr. Lincoln of Medford, who ordered X-rays to determine the full extent of his injuries.

CONGRESSMAN EDITH NOURSE ROGERS WRITES CONCERNING THE HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION

Washington, D. C.
July 12, 1933

To the Editor of the Star:

Many requests have come to me from distressed home owners for information concerning the Home Owners' Loan Act.

As you know, this legislation was designed to assist the home owner who was in danger of losing his property.

I have endeavored to supply the information to those who have written to me, but there must be many others who desire it. For that reason, I have prepared the enclosed statement, which I feel will be of interest to the readers of your paper.

With all good wishes and kind regards.

Sincerely yours,
Edith Nourse Rogers
(Mrs. John Jacob Rogers)

If you own a home and are threatened with mortgage foreclosure, the newly-enacted legislation creating the Home Owners' Loan Corporation may be of help to you.

Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers, in response to inquiries from many individuals, today issued a statement as to the operation of the new law. She points out that the law was passed by Congress in an effort to give some measure of relief to distressed home owners, in the hope that it will thereby stabilize realty and mortgage values, but that the Corporation does not undertake to refinance every mortgage loan under foreclosure or threatened foreclosure.

Applicants desirous of procuring loans must come within the provisions of the Act. Applications will only be considered upon a dwelling occupied by an owner or held by him as a homestead, erected for the occupancy of four families or less, of a fair value of $20,000 or less.

Upon such a property, the Corporation may give in exchange for a mortgage its bonds to the extent of 80 per cent of the fair value of the property. In such a transaction, cash will be added if necessary for the payment of taxes, necessary repairs and incidental expenses of the transaction, the total of such cash advances and bonds not to exceed the total of 80 per cent of fair value. The Corporation will then take from the home owner a first mortgage upon the premises for an amount equal to the amount of bonds and cash it has advanced, which mortgage will be amortized over a period of 15 years with interest at five per cent.

It is readily seen, therefore, that each such transaction contemplates a three-party deal. The present mortgagee, who must agree to accept the bonds of the Corporation and deliver his mortgage endorsed for cancellation; the home owner, who must execute the new mortgage to the Corporation; and the Corporation itself, which delivers the bonds and cash necessary to pay off all existing encumbrances, so that the lien acquired by it is a first lien upon the premises.

The bonds to be delivered by the Corporation run for a period of 18 years with interest at the rate of four per cent, and are guaranteed as to interest only by the Government of the United States.

In the event that a mortgagee refuses to accept the bonds of the Corporation in exchange for his mortgage, provision has been made for the making of cash loans in the same manner as above set forth, except that cash loans will only be made in a sum not to exceed 40 per cent of the fair value of the premises. In this case, too, for its advances up to 40 per cent, the Corporation must be given a first mortgage on the premises.

Under another provision of the Act, where a home owner owns his premises free and clear of all indebtedness, except taxes or assessments, the Corporation may advance up to 50 per cent of the appraised value of such premises for the payment of taxes or assessments and necessary repairs to the premises.

The Corporation will function through State Managers and Assistant Managers, who will be appointed very shortly. Notice of their appointment and location of their offices will, of course, appear in the papers and applicants desirous of obtaining loans or information should make application to these offices, where the necessary forms and data will be furnished.

Congressman Rogers added that insomuch as there are $20,000,000,000 worth of home mortgages in the country, over one-half of which are in default of one or more of their terms, and only $2,000,000,000 in cash was appropriated for the use of the Corporation, and that they were authorized to issue only up to $2,000,000,000 worth of bonds, it is apparent that the Corporation cannot meet every distressed mortgage situation, and can only treat with those who have sufficient equity in their homes to come within the terms of the Act.

Mr. Thenberg died Monday night, July 17, in New York City, where he had made his home for the past 15 years. He was 51 years old and a native of Sweden. The interment will be made in Wildwood Cemetery.

Cats Are Independent

"The cat is a notch deeper animal than many people realize. They may not seem as intelligent to the lay observer as the dog, but if you had studied thousands of them closely, as I have," says an authority in the Boston Herald, "you would reach the conclusion not only that they are smart but that they are so smart that they are way ahead of you most of the time. Personally they fascinate me. The cat, you know, is one of the most stubborn animals living, and extremely independent. They will starve before they will change their habits. This is particularly true of pet cats. They will eat only certain things and many times they insist on having their food out of the same dish."

Cinque Ports of England

The original Cinque Ports of England were located on the coast of the counties of Kent and Sussex. The original ports were Dover, Sandwich, Hastings, Hythe and Romney. Later Winchelsea and Rye were added. These ports were granted special privileges by the later Saxon and early Roman kings of Britain, on condition of furnishing a certain number of ships during a war. There was no permanent British navy before the reign of Henry VII.

Florida continues to hold the position of being the country's largest phosphate rock producer. Out of 1,711,000 tons mined in 1932, Florida produced 1,484,433 tons. Tennessee was a distant second, with 182,000 tons to her credit, while Idaho furnished 23,000 tons and Montana 20,000 tons.

STONEHAM WON RETURN GAME FROM LEGION

Gilt edged pitching by "Robbie" Robinson went for nothing Sunday afternoon in the return game between the Winchester Legion and Stoneham Cubs at Stoneham, the latter finally putting over the single run of the contest in the 11th inning on a couple of local misplays.

"Robbie" was in fine form, allowing the Cubs just three hits while the Legion was finding the veteran "Jerry" Johnson, former Springfield College hurler, for nine.

The game should have been Winchester's in the regulation nine frames, the locals having had several good scoring chances which were not taken advantage of. Once again the Legion refused to play for the one run which would have meant the ball game preferring to stick to its policy of hitting at all times and blazing into three twin killings that hurt.

"Sparky" Duran, midget second baseman of the Stoneham team, opened the 11th with a single to center and reached second when "Nick" Fitzgerald juggled the ball a bit. "Robbie" bore down hard and fanned both Kent and McShane, but Frank Desmond, with two strikes on him, hit one through "Jim" Fitzgerald to score Duran.

LINCOLNS GAVE LEGION FIRST REVERSE

Winchester Legion finally dropped a ball game in the Paul Revere League last Friday evening, losing a one-sided game to the Lincoln A. A. at Lincoln, 14 to 4.

The veteran "Niko" Weafer, pitching for Winchester, was hit hard by the Lincolns who with improved pitching loom as one of the strongest clubs on the league circuit.

"Nick" Fitzgerald got the longest clout of the game, a tremendous drive to far right center for a home run. Lee Todd of Lincoln also hit for the circuit.

This week's old sports pictures have included some basketball teams that made history while in action at the Winchester High School. Next week we hope to have several interesting baseball pictures.

A quick glance in passing the mill pond might lead the casual observer to believe he was looking at a lush meadow out in the country. The weeds and eel grass have grown so thickly over the bottom of the pond that little shows but a nice green at present. The town will be able to advertise "standing hay" for sale before long.

The new postal rates have not made much of a hit in Winchester. Any one naturally resents a system which makes him pay three cents to send a letter into the next town while his neighbor, in Stoneham for instance, can send a letter to Weymouth for two cents. The reason for this apparent injustice is that Stoneham is a part of the Boston Postal District while Winchester is an independent office under a postmaster who is a resident of the town, appointed by the Postmaster General at Washington. Thinking only of the saving in postage, there have been some residents of the town, who, since the latest change in rates, have advocated placing Winchester in the Boston District, and the Board of Selectmen, with a proper view to protecting the town's interests, have been giving the matter careful consideration. The Board does not plan definite action immediately, and there is little to indicate that it will eventually advocate placing Winchester in the Boston District. The town in the past has not favored such action and the slight saving in postage resulting from the step seems to the Star to be completely offset by the disadvantages of the plan. In joining the Boston District, Winchester would lose its individuality as a town office and become one of 35 or 40 offices included in that district: a little cog in a big wheel. In place of a postmaster, who is a resident of the town and because of that fact, interested in giving the town the best possible service, the local office would be under a superintendent appointed by the Boston office and strictly under its orders. Any complaints to this official would have to be submitted to the Boston authorities for decision before action upon them could be taken. Substitutes would come from the Boston office, and in all probability would be men strangers to Winchester, with a consequent appreciable loss of delivery time, in the case of carriers, and office efficiency and esprit de corps, in the case of clerks. With the local office in the Boston District, Winchester substitutes would be obliged to go to the Boston office and be placed at the bottom of the substitute list there, to be sent anywhere throughout the district. The little favors done patrons in the typical small town office such as Winchester would disappear under Boston. Local patrons of the office would find that mail could be obtained only through regular deliveries, and not at the window at any time desired. A superintendent from Boston would not be dependent upon community good-will to retain his position, and would be inclined to turn a deaf ear to local requests for special service, sticking rather to the letter of postal regulations which requires the delivery of mail through the regular delivery channels. Such favors as search through racks for an especially wanted letter, or getting a much needed parcel at odd hours would be taboo under any but a staff friendly to, and interested in the community they serve. It is not likely that local service will appreciably improve under Boston, and it is possible that in such a case those now working at the local office might be transferred elsewhere through the district. It is conceivable that city politics might enter into the conduct of Winchester's post office in greater or less degree, and it is certain that such money as may be available from time to time for improved postal service will go to those offices in the Boston District in which the Boston authorities are directly interested or where official interest is directed by political pressure. Under the present system the town has a postmaster, who because of his connection with the community, is constantly trying to obtain the best possible postal service for his office. The Star believes this system should be continued, and it also feels that something will be done by the postal authorities to remedy the obvious defects of the present district system. Few believe that it was the intent of the law to work such inequalities in postal rates, but while things are straightening out it will be better to pay that extra cent than to sacrifice the town's individual postal rating for a place in the Boston machine.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

Leonard Field bathing beach has materially helped to increase the daily attendance at the field proper and also has proved a boon to the playground youngsters on hot days.

Swimming classes are held every afternoon at 2:30 by Mr. Wright and Mr. Tansey. The Red Cross swimming tests are to be given some day next week by Mr. Carme at Leonard Field.

The Winchester Junior League has added another team to its fold—the Gargas, which has at present displayed a good brand of baseball. The second round in the league will start next Monday. No team has proved itself a real leader as yet, with every team suffering at least one defeat. The Hillside Yankees and the Leonard Field team are tied for the top place at the present time.

In the Midget League, Loring avenue and Leonard Field are tied for the leadership with three wins and no losses. The feature game in this league was played last week on Loring avenue between the Linden A. A. and Loring avenue team. This game which was won by the latter, 12—11 went for 13 innings.

On Friday morning of this week, the Eagles resplendent in their new uniforms will journey to Lexington to play the playground team a game there. The Lexington team will pay as a return visit next Thursday morning.

The date of the inter-playground swimming meet which is to be held at the Lexington pool is Aug. 2. This meet is open to any boy from this town who is under 16 years of age. Those who are interested in taking part are requested to give their names to the playground instructors. Belmont, Lexington and Waltham are represented by teams at this meet.

GIRL SCOUTS

CAMP NOTES

Carpentry, Nature, Handcrafts and Pioneering have been occupying the Scouts at their camp at the Scout cabin this week. Under the direction of George Rivinius the girls have been making garden trellises in carpentry and continuing the work on the bird feeding stations which are proving most interesting.

The nature activity, under Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, has included a nature trail and the construction of a bird bath, and in handcrafts the Scouts have been making braided bracelets and rings, as well as dog leashes, permatex belts, cowhide belts for camp and leather "twist-up" change purses, under the direction of Miss Natalie Stevens.

The use of both axe and knife has been stressed again in pioneering this week, and the girls have also been learning the fine art of lashing.

Patrols at camp have all chosen names, No. 1 being known as the Pine Tree Patrol; No. 2, Buttercup; No. 3, Cardinal and No. 4, Grasshopper. The patrol, the members of which have been busy making a fireplace near the camp are looking forward to next week when they are to barbecue a chicken.

In addition to the above camp activities the Scouts are being coached in archery, and there is a court for volley ball.

THREE FIRES LAST NIGHT

During the height of last night's thunder storm, shortly after midnight lighting struck a chimney at the home of Mr. K. Boodakian at 14 Lockwan street. The lightning smashed the chimney and went out through the plaster into the attic of the house. Only slight damage was reported and no one was injured.

At 12:34 this morning Fire Headquarters was notified of a tree on fire at High street. The fire alarm car and the Edison repair crew attended to the trouble.

Box 46 came in at 2:43 this morning for a fire, caused by a short circuit in an automobile in a garage at the residence of Mr. Thomas Quigley at 17 Loring avenue. The car was badly burned.

"REUNION IN VIENNA" AT THE UNIVERSITY

John Barrymore is starred in "Reunion in Vienna," the picturization of Robert E. Sherwood's smashing Broadway stage hit of last season. In the film which comes to the University on Sunday for four days, Barrymore plays the role of the impulsive and irresistible Hapsburg archduke, Rudolph, who returns to Vienna from exile to recapture the memory of kisses that lingered long after the royal reign toppled and the glory of the glamorous court life faded. The role, created on the stage by Alfred Lunt, with Lynn Fontaine in the feminine lead, is said to match Barrymore's individual talents and personality with flawless fit. Dianna Wynyard is the leading lady, filling the Fontaine role of Elena, the Viennese beauty who marries an eminent psychiatrist in an effort to forget the romance that swept her off her feet in the gay court days.

"The Girl in 419," a romantic drama set against the background of a police emergency hospital, is the companion feature. James Dunn and Gloria Stuart have the leading roles.

Marion Davies will be seen starting Thursday in "Peg o' My Heart," screened from the famous J. Hartley Manners' play in which Laurette Taylor created the title role on the stage 21 years ago and broke attendance records on two continents. As the little Irish girl who inherits an ancestral estate in England and falls in love with the young lawyer who arranged for her entrance into society, Miss Davies is considered to have given the finest performance of her entire career. A musical background adds charm to "Peg o' My Heart," the picture featuring two new songs, "Sweetheart Darlin," and "I'll Remember," as well as incidental music. Onslow Stevens makes his debut as the leading man in this picture, after first winning screen attention as the playwright in "Once in a Lifetime." The large cast also includes J. Farrell MacDonald, Juliette Compton, Alan Mubray and Robert Greig.

"Cocktail Hour" with Bebe Daniels in the starring role is the companion feature. This picture deals with the ever timely subject of whether a woman should go out and taste life before she settles down to married life. The leading character in this film is said to be modeled after a noted New York commercial artist.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"College Humor," one of the year's biggest screen hits, opens at the Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and the Ox-Road Co-eds, are the stars of the piece. "College Humor" is a movie musical in the new style. Its lavish production, glittering cast, fast story, crackling dialogue and entrancing music represent Paramount's determination to have it stand as the season's smash musical hit. Action of the picture takes place on the campus of a mythical college where teachers and alumni cynically watch the students neck and play football, wondering just how long it will be before the glitter wears off and the youngsters become disillusioned. "Learn to Croon," "Moonstruck," and "The Old Ox-Road" are the film's three outstanding song hits.

"The Life of Jimmie Dolan," with an excellent cast that includes Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Loretta Young, Aline MacMahon, Lyle Talbot and Fifi Dorsay, is the second feature on the hill that opens on Saturday. "The Life of Jimmy Dolan" is well rounded, lively entertainment with Fairbanks cast as a fighter who wins the light-heavyweight championship. After the bout he stages a wild party in his apartment and during the fracas a man is killed. Then the action of the picture jumps to a health farm in Arizona, where young Fairbanks secures work under an assumed name. He falls in love with Loretta Young and when he discovers that she needs $2000 to save her place, he takes a chance and enters the ring to get it. He is recognized and the film moves on to an unexpected climax.

Spoiled Husbands

When a married man turns out bad his mother says that his wife didn't understand him and his wife says that his mother spoiled him.

First Typewriter Was Invented by a Printer

Many years ago a clever printer from Milwaukee, with a flair for invention, was about to emancipate American womanhood. He didn't know it. He thought he was simply producing a typewriter, or as he called it, "a writing machine." His name was Christopher Lathem Sholes. In March, 1873, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, he and his backer, James Densmore, were in Ilion, N. Y., where the Remington Arms company was building the first typewriter in its gunshop.

Feminists may find something symbolic in the fact that the typewriter was born at Ilion, not 100 miles from Seneca Falls, where in 1848 Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Stanton Cady started the American suffrage movement.

The typewriter and the telephone both made their first real bid for public recognition at the Philadelphia Centennial exposition. Both found the public rather languid. But it was not many years before the office girl and the hello girl were marching along en masse to take their place in the commercial life of the nation.

The superior dexterity of women gave them an early chance at the typewriter. Office men with Dundreary whiskers and fancy waistcoats growled at the feminine invasion. But the girls did better work on the new contraption.

A man who had investigated our institution for the first time said, "You surely hit the nail on the head when you stated that a building and loan account was the safest of all investments."

Anyone who takes the trouble to investigate will find that this is true.

But that is not all:—because of the simplicity and economy of our operations, we are earning higher dividends than are obtainable in the ordinary savings institution.

This also is a matter worthy of your attention.

Original "Uncle Tom"

It is commonly believed that the prototype of Uncle Tom, in Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was Rev. Josiah Henson, who is buried near Dresden, Ont. According to the inscription on the tombstone, Henson was born on July 15, 1789, and died on May 5, 1883, at the age of ninety-three. His birthplace was Port Tobacco, Md., and he escaped from slavery in 1828, reaching Canada and becoming a Methodist minister and one of the leaders in the "underground railroad" for fugitive slaves. According to the generally accepted account, Mrs. Stowe met Henson in Boston in 1850 and made use of his own story to write her famous novel. The assertion of western Ontario residents that Henson was the hero of this book was recently confirmed by the novelist's grandson, Lyman Beecher Stowe, in a speech at Montreal. Mr. Henson visited England several times and was entertained by Queen Victoria.

Butterflies and Moths Fly Across North Sea

Most people interested in nature have wondered at the migratory flights of birds and marveled that such tiny creatures as golden-crested wrens should be able to traverse the North sea. But how many realize that butterflies and moths also fly into the British Isles, not only from Europe, but even from North Africa and Asia Minor?

Painted Lady butterflies, hatched from chrysales in Africa or Asia, flutter across the Mediterranean, across France and into England and Scotland. Probably some of these travelers fly right on—to Iceland. Thus the full journey of these fragile insects may be extended to nearly 4,000 miles.

Cabbage White butterflies also migrate in great swarms, and Clouded Yellows, which come across the channel from the northern coast of France, may often be seen fluttering down on English land in Kent and Sussex.

It may be noted that clouds of butterflies are observed at sea by sailors quite often, though inland large swarms are comparatively seldom seen—probably because the flights break up on reaching land.—Montreal Herald.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 23.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations" (Psalms 100:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, . . . Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled" (Matthew 5:2, 17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The supposed laws which result in weariness and disease are not His laws, for the legitimate and only possible action of Truth is the production of harmony. Laws of nature are laws of Spirit; but mortals commonly recognize as law that which hides the power of Spirit. . . . Truth casts out all evils and materialistic methods with the actual spiritual law, the law which gives sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, voice to the dumb, feet to the lame" (p. 183).

The Seascout Division with its landship is attracting the attention of Scouters and newspapermen from far and wide. The ship, the second one of its kind in New England, now has nine boys enrolled, and has been named by the boys, the Seascout Ship Mystic. The daily program on board the ship is patterned after that of any merchant ship, with proper ceremonies, "bell time," and sea routine.

Life belt drill was held Thursday under the supervision of Surfman Morrison, of the Salisbury Beach Coast Guard Station. Competitive drills between the two "crews" of the ship were held.

The Scouts who have elected to engage in the Seascout program while at camp are keenly interested in the activities on board the "Mysic." A trip to the Coast Guard Station at Salisbury Beach will be held soon where the boys will be given instruction in International Code Flags, and the use of the breeches buoy.

The new Dramatics Department under the leadership of "Dad" French has filled a great gap in the program of former years. Thus far the "Fellsland Players" have presented the following sketches, all of which were well received by the campers:

Jake Longshortsky .... Mr. Charles Briss
BlackBeard Stranger .... Mr. Allison Burt
Napoleon Bonaparte .... Mr. Sumner Thompson

On Wednesday evening, July 12, the following was staged also by the players of the Fellsland Camp:

Fun in a School Room

Herr Spitzmoodle .... Edmund Brown
Isaac Cohen .... George West
Jimmy Sharp .... Frederick Whittemore
Willie Goodchild .... Robert Whittemore

This was enjoyed by the boys and the visitors very much. It was funny in the extreme.

Norman Bach was next, and played several violin selections. The next program was a funny two-character sketch entitled:

Soft Boiled and Hard Boiled

Soft Boiled, an English Dude .... James Rich
Gummes, the hard boiled tough .. Arthur Baird

Type of Alder Towers Eighty Feet in Height

The alder, commonly thought of as a small tree, almost shrublike in its appearance, belongs to a family which finds among its members one giant species which towers 80 feet in the air. The tall type is the Oregon or red alder, which is found along the Pacific coast.

Its usual habitat is along the banks of streams, on the sides of canyons and far up the mountains beyond even the spruces. The reddish, brown wood of the species is often used in the manufacture of furniture.

The alder which grows along the banks of rivers and brooks is valuable in keeping the banks from crumbling through the wash of rain and the constant sweep of water at the trunks.

There is no outstanding commercial use of the alder, although it does make its way into realms of usefulness. Branches of the tree make the finest charcoal for manufacture of gunpowder while its bark yields a valuable dye. The wood itself is used in manufacturing watering troughs, pumps, piles and other wooden articles which are subjected to constant exposure to water.—Boston Herald.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA: LAND OF GOLD AND SAND AND SUN

At the polls and at her gold mines Western Australia's activities have drawn the spotlight of news. With the definiteness of a two to one referendum she has recently proclaimed her secession from the Commonwealth, suggesting the first break in the confederation of the six Australian States that has existed for 32 years. Although authorities maintain that the action can have little effect, because there is no governmental machinery allowing any State to withdraw, yet Western Australia's protest has been made. An outburst of gold fever, too, inspired by the present high prices of that metal, has awakened new activity at her one-time boom mines.

Western Australia, comprising approximately one-third of the whole island continent, has made rapid strides in its century of development, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Especially during the last half century, it has seen significant progress, yet vast areas in its 975,920 square miles are desert and waste land.

Had Boom Like California and Klondike

Gold mining gave the land its first boom. Kalgoorlie, Coolgardie, Kimberley, and other gold fields poured millions into the world's coffers. In 1903, when it reached its highest point, Western Australia produced $42,000,000 worth of the precious metal. In 37 years of its greatest activity, its mines enriched the world's gold supply by $775,000,000.

Kalgoorlie, with its famous "Golden Mile" and other nearby mines, mushroomed almost over night into a roaring camp, and became much like San Francisco in '51 or Dawson in '99. Former President Hoover, as a young mining engineer, once worked in this rich mining district, and successfully put many "sick mines" into profitable operation.

As gold production waned, Western Australia, once known as "the land of sin, sun, and sand," became a new land of promise through its wheat fields, forests and cattle and sheep grazing areas. Today, however, Kalgoorlie is again taking on many of the aspects of a rip-roaring mining camp, and many of the "swaggies" or "sun-downers" are again plodding the sun-parched regions to set out new claims. A chemical syndicate is also reworking to a profit old tailings and poorer dirts. It is doubtful, however, that Western Australia will ever again produce the quantities of gold that it once did, yet some of the old prospectors are always hoping that they will one day strike it rich.

Has Become Important Wheat Region

In less than a quarter century of agricultural development Western Australia increased her export of wheat from $35 to $35,000,000. Of the slightly more than four and three-quarter million acres of land now under cultivation, nearly four million acres are devoted to the growing of wheat, with a recent yield of more than 53,500,000 bushels.

On more barren areas graze more than 9,800,000 head of sheep and 800,000 cattle. The wool clip furnishes the largest export next to gold and wheat.

The cities along the west coast are not large. Perth, the capital, has only a little more than 200,000 population. Many of the others live only by virtue of their position as exporting centers for the cattle and sheep country. Broome, along the northern part of the coast, is one of the most interesting because of the fact that it is one of the few "Asiatic" towns in the 98 per cent British-born population of Australia. There live many Japanese, Chinese, Malays, Filipinos, and Koepangers from Timor, who are engaged in the pearl and pearl shell industry.

Western Australia may well feel a certain independence from the rest of Australia because she is more or less isolated by a great desert region 500 miles wide and 1000 miles long. Air services and the transcontinental train system with its branches, however, do link up many of the towns in Western Australia and bring them in close communication with Canberra, the new capital, and cities on the eastern coast.

Despite the fact that the western province does have much barren waste land in some cases has had to pump water through 350-mile lengths of pipe line, it does hold promise for great development in the future, for there are many areas still unexploited. Also, with a climate ranging from tropical to temperate, a fairly wide range of products can be grown successfully.

When Two Irish Kings Agreed on Peace Terms

Malachi and Brian Boru were two great kings of Ireland. They quarreled and fought for a while with each other to settle the question of preeminence, and finally entered into an agreement that became fateful in Irish history. They agreed to divide Ireland between them—Malachi to rule the north, Brian the south—that was in the year 998, and there is still a north and south of Ireland. Brian Boru was not of a temperament to be satisfied with a divided kingdom. He pleaded for the unification of the island and, failing in this, he invaded Malachi's realms and brought Malachi into his camp to swear allegiance to his sovereignty. He made Malachi titular king of Meath and from that time on Brian Boru ruled undisputed in Ireland. Then a miraculous thing happened—for Ireland. After forty years of warfare, the dove of peace descended upon the Green Isle, and from conqueror Brian became an Augustus and brought about Ireland's "golden age."—Kansas City Star.

U. S. Grant Product of Methodist Environment

Ulysses S. Grant was a product of a Methodist environment. His father was of Puritan descent, a book lover and a skilled debater; it was said of him that he carried the Bible in his heart. His mother also was a keen student of the Scriptures, a woman of sincere piety and of saintly temperament. Both parents were active in the church. The teaching of the boy's home became the practice of his life. Men who were with him at West Point later testified to the purity of his speech and the rectitude of his conduct. In the army "he gave every encouragement and facility for securing a prompt and uniform observance of religious services, and was generally found in the audience listening to the preaching." He had the chaplains say grace at mess.

As President, Grant and his family attended the old Foundry Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. J. P. Newman was their pastor. He subsequently became a bishop, and Grant served as a trustee of his church, the Metropolitan temple, New York.

LEGION WON FROM STONEHAM CUBS

Lee Starred in 7—3 Victory

Winchester Legion scored a 7—3 win over the Stoneham Cubs in the first of a two game series between the two clubs last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field.

Any time a club can hit the opposing pitcher for 14 safeties and gets the sort of pitching "Ollie" Lee delivered last Saturday, that club is pretty sure to win. Lee was in great form, holding Stoneham to six hits and deserving a shut-out. Sloppy fielding on the part of his mates permitted the visitors to score.

Chase, who pitched for Stoneham, was in hot water nearly every inning, but fast fielding behind his offerings and some stupid base-running on the part of the Legion, combined with the locals' utter disdain for the policy of playing for one run kept him in the running until the seventh when the Legion tallied twice, adding three in the eighth to clinch the game.

The visitors scored in the opener. After Adzigian had fanned on three pitched balls, Kent pushed out a fly to right field which McKee misjudged, the ball going over his head for a triple. Lee fanned McShane, out Desmond singled past Harry Chefalo, to score Kent. J. Fitzgerald took Latham's foul to retire the side.

McKee singled to right to start the Legion third and advanced to second after Jones made a fine running catch off H. Chefalo's foul. "Nick" Fitzgerald's single past Kent sent McKee over and Nicholas tallied a moment later when brother James bashed a double to center. "Harpy" was out trying to stretch the hit, Marston to Adzigian to McShane.

Procopio threw out Marston as Stoneham opened the fifth, but Adzigian singled to right, and getting a long lead, stole second. Tansey's late throw was in the dirt and the speedy Herant went on to third. Kent slapped a hard one at Kendrick, but the latter came up with the ball, and holding Adzigian at third, proceeded to throw the ball even beyond big "Jim" Fitzgerald's giant reach, "Adzy" scoring. Lee fanned McShane and Desmond hoisted to Kendrick to end the frame.

Avery replaced Marston in center in the sixth and starting the seventh, singled to left. "Tony" Chefalo guessed up the rap and the runner advanced to second from where he easily scored on Adzigian's double to right. Lee bore down sharply and forced Kent to pop to H. Chefalo, McShane to foul to J. Fitzgerald and Desmond to roll out to "Fitzy" unassisted.

In the Legion's half, "Tony" Chefalo led off with a single to right and went to third as Lee hit to right center. "Ollie" went on to second and was ruled safe by Umpire Roche despite the fact that Avery's throw to Kent was there away ahead of the runner.

Stoneham squawked, but to no avail, and a moment later Chefalo was caught in a hot-box off third as McKee hopped to Chase. "Tony" scrimmaged safely back to third when at rather low throw from McShane got away from Jones, filling the bases. Chefalo scored as Adzigian fumbled N. Fitzgerald's hopper. "Jim" Fitzgerald topped one of Chase's fast ones and almost hit into a double play, just beating Kent's peg to first after the latter took the ball from Adzigian for the putout. "Harpy" died stealing, Jones to Adzigian.

Tansey singled past third and Kendrick hit into left to open the Legion eighth, and when Chase couldn't field Procopio's attempted sacrifice, the sacks were loaded. On "Tony" Chefalo's rap to Chase, Tansey was erased at the plate, but when Jones' throw to Desmond on an attempted double was low and wide, Kendrick counted, Procopio and Chefalo reaching third and second. Lee's line single to center scored "Hokie" and "Tony." McKee walked, but H. Chefalo hit into a double play, Chase to Adzigian to Desmond.

Stoneham failed to tally in its half, though two were on.

Notes

Not a bad crowd at all. Many of the old time fans wandered down last Saturday and saw an interesting, if not a perfectly played game.

Lee surely was busting them Saturday, and when "Ollie" hits them they travel. Only big "Jim" Fitzgerald hits them any harder.

Lee pitched a great game, only Adzigian being able to do much with his shoots. With good support, he should have had a shutout.

The Legion's policy of straight-away hitting, no matter what the situation on the bases did not work out so well last Saturday, the locals blazing in three double plays and having three more missed by mighty narrow margins. Lee tripled to start the third and remained there while the next three batters flied out. With the score tied the run might well have been "squeezed" in.

Big "Muggins" Tansey had a field day at bat, missing a perfect rating by a narrow margin. His rap to Kent in the sixth was a harshly hit ball, but was hit directly at the fielder on the bounce and the scoring rule in such a case is an error for the man handling the ball if he does not come up with it.

Procopio made a nice catch of Jones' foul in the fourth, jumping over some of the third base crowd to grab the ball.

Jones, visiting catcher, was a demon on fouls, catching no less than four during the game and running all over the lot to make the grabs.

Both teams took exceptions to Umpire Roche's decisions, and it did look as though he missed plays at second when he called first Adzigian and then Lee safe at that station on throws from the outfield. "Skin" Kendrick's rap in the second looked good to most of the crowd, and if it had been called fair, would have resulted in two runs.

One thing, however, every one must admit, when Roche is in there. He calls them as he sees them and stands by his decisions, refusing to be intimidated by players or fans.

The Legion missed Francis Tansey in left. Few fielders play the foul lines and bankings any better.

George Franklin, the Squire of Fairmount Hill, got an assist on a foul hit into the stands midway through the game. We'll believe now that he did used to play for the "Northeaston Substantials" in the good old days, provided he had the wood cut!

Credit "Skin" Kendrick with a slick play in the ninth when he crossed over behind the box to take Jones' hopper and toss out the speedy catcher while on the dead run. Harry Chefalo had a field day at second, accepting ten chances without a bobble and retiring Stoneham on three plays in the eighth.

TWO MOST POPULAR STARS TOGETHER IN "ADORABLE" AT THE CAPITOL

Two of the most popular screen players in the world are co-starred in "Adorable," the romantic comedy with music, which opens at the Capitol, Arlington, for three days starting July 27.

They are Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat. Miss Gaynor, who has steadily climbed the ladder of popularity since her memorable performance in "7th Heaven," is admittedly the best magnet of all girls in pictures. Her productions are seen and heard by more persons throughout the world than those of any other actress.

Garat, on the other hand, is the most popular male star on the continent where he has made pictures in English, French and German. Announcement of his name as a member of a cast is the equivalent of a sell-out at every European theater. Teamed with the popular Miss Gaynor in his first picture made in Hollywood, he is certain to become as popular in America as he is abroad. He is young and handsome, with a great amount of charm and excellent acting abilities.

An exciting co-feature with realism carried to the nth degree is "Below the Sea" with Ralph Bellamy and Fay Wray. All underwater scenes are in gorgeous technicolor and the story itself is as interesting as a story can be.

The kiddies are getting real treats every Saturday at the Capitol Kiddies' Klub. Already many of them have brought home prizes and gifts besides the enjoyment of a real kids' show.

Meaning of "Hinterland"

"Hinterland" means "back territory." The term came into general use at the time of the partition of East Africa between Germany and England in 1890. The doctrine of the hinterland is based on the claim of German diplomats that when a power takes possession of a strip of seacoast its right extends inland indefinitely or until its territory reaches the recognized boundary of some other country.

NEWELL—CHAPPELL

One of the loviest social events of the summer was the morning wedding of Miss Elizabeth Chappell and Dr. Edward T. Newell, at 8:30 o'clock, on July 12. The ceremony took place in the living room of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Chappell, in La Plata, Mo., before an altar of white, banked with ferns and summer flowers and canopied with oak leaves. On each side of the altar, and at the door through which the bride and her attendants entered, were tall candelabra in which burned seven tall tapers. Then there were quantities baskets of flowers with roses predominating, which were placed about the living room and dining room where there were assembled 30 guests, relatives and close friends of the bride and groom.

The guests were received by Mrs. Frank Van Order, of Ottumwa, Iowa, who is an aunt of the bride. Mrs. Van Order wore a sky-blue chalk crepe, fitting into the color scheme of the pastel shades.

As a prelude to the wedding ceremony, Miss Margaret Bragg sang, "I Love You Truly," by Bond. The wedding march was a piano arrangement of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus;" the music during the ceremony, "Flower Song," by Lange, both of which were played by Miss Bragg.

The beautiful Presbyterian double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. Fred L. Hudson, pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church. Dr. Newell was attended by Mr. Gip Hudson, best man. Miss Jean Christie, maid of honor, preceded the bride who came to the altar on the arm of her father.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party and guests went to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Fred L. Hudson, 212 North Owenby, where a two course breakfast was served. The guests were received by Mrs. Hudson and seated at quartet tables, and during the time Miss Thelma Lock played several piano numbers. The decorations of tables and house carried out the scheme of pastel colors; roses and sweet peas, yellow, white and pink candles, table appointments of hues which blended, all made a lovely setting for the bride who was eating her wedding breakfast in the house in which she was born, and the room in which her parents were married, 27 years ago. Five guests attended both weddings: Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Casey of La Plata, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Deskin of Kirksville, and Mrs. Van Order of Ottumwa, Iowa. The breakfast was served by four of Mrs. Newell's former Home Economics pupils—Misses Dotty Bilyen, Mary Jane Cox, Margaret Edmonds and Blanche Hunsaker, all of Clarence, Mo. They continued the color scheme with organdy dresses of rainbow colors. As the guests left they were given boxes in which were individual wedding cakes. Little Margaret Ann Van Order, niece of the bride, gave out the cakes.

The bride was becomingly gowned in peach bloom chiffon, with touches of sky blue. Her bouquet was made of bride's roses and forget-me-nots, with streamers of blue. Her one piece of jewelry was a white gold filigree necklace, a gift of the groom. Her going-away dress was a dark blue and white mesh, the material, with accessories to match. The maid of honor was dressed in white embroidered organdy with touches of pink. She carried pink roses with summer flowers and pink streamers. Miss Bragg wore yellow embroidered organdy, with a corsage of roses. Mrs. Chappell wore light blue flat crepe and eyelet, with a corsage of roses and sweet peas. Margaret Ann Van Order was in white eyelet embroidery.

Dr. Newell and his best man, Mr. Hudson, were in dark blue business suits. Dr. Newell changing to a grey traveling suit before leaving.

Mrs. Newell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Chappell, and has grown to womanhood in La Plata. She is a graduate of the La Plata High School and the Kirksville State Teachers' College, graduating from the college with the class of 1930. She is a member of the Pi Kappa Sigs Sorority, and was active in the social life of both High School and college. Her high honors in scholarship were well known to her friends. During the past two years she has taught vocational home economics in the Clarence High School.

Dr. Newell is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Newell, of this town. He is a graduate of the Winchester High School, and the Kirksville College of Osteopathy, Kirksville, Mo., graduating with the class of 1932. He was a member of the Atlas Club, and was actively interested in all college activities. During the past year he has served a post-graduate intern-ship at the Lanchlin Hospital, as physician. He is well known in La Plata, having made many friends here during his stay in Kirksville.

Dr. and Mrs. Newell left at once for a trip through South Missouri, terminating in Bolivar, Mo., where they will make their home, and where Dr. Newell will open offices for practice.

Those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Order, Margaret Ann and Paul Van Order of Ottumwa, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Deskin, and Billie Deskin, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dreer, Mr. Llewellyn Woodworth, Kirksville, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Chappell, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Casey, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Christie, Misses Jean and Jane Christie, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Goodding, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Perry, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Hudson, Mr. Gip Hudson, Misses Thelma Lock and Margaret Bragg, all of La Plata.

WINCHESTER WON FROM CABOT CLUB

After a long absence from competition the Winchester Tennis Association swung back into Old Colony League action last Saturday afternoon, defeating the Cabot Club 5—2, on the Palmer street courts.

The local racquet wielders swept the singles matches, even without singlesters as Hall Graham and "Bill" Packer; Norman Dalrymple, Andover captain-elect, and Roger Pettingell, former high school No. 1 player, filling in nicely.

Larry Freeburn and the veteran "Jim" Riley played No. 1 and 2 singles, giving Winchester a strong upper bracket pair. In doubles Riley paired with Earl Waters, former high school and Brown player, to win the No. 1 match, the visitors taking the other two.

The summary:

Freeburn (W) defeated Sylvester, 6—2, 6—3.

Tapestry Brings Big Price

A tapestry panel of the Peta, woven in Alsace about 1450, was sold in London for $5,500.

ALASKA'S NEW "JACK-IN-THE-BOX"

Another mountain has joined the "Jack-in-the-boxes" off Alaska. Augustine Island in Kamishak Bay, an indentation of Cook Inlet, is reported to have been the most recent island to present an act after the old stage formula "now you see me, now you don't."

When an Alaskan island seven miles in diameter and nearly 4000 feet high erases itself from the map, it is front page news everywhere except in Alaska, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Alaskan residents know that the volcanoes along a part of the Territory's seacoast have done strange things in the past. They can easily believe that a beautiful, cone-shaped mountain of today may be a jagged peak tomorrow, or that an island of this month may be beneath the waves when the next moon shines.

Bogoslof Plays Hide and Seek

Bogoslof of the Aleutian Islands, which belong to the same chain of volcanoes as Augustine, is famous for its jack-in-the-box activities. The island was discovered in 1790 but its strange habits were not known until nearly a century later. At first Bogoslof was a single island. Then suddenly appeared a companion island which its discoverers called Fire Island. They were joined by a narrow strip of land.

In 1909 the American Navy reported that the "hyphen" had disappeared and two unattached islands appeared above the water. In 1905 a new peak appeared at Bogoslof, thus adding another bit of land to Alaska, to which Bogoslof belongs. Two years later, however, Alaska's territory was diminished when McCullock Peak of Bogoslof disappeared leaving a splendid harbor. Since, another peak has also disappeared in the sea.

Mount Katmai, A Famous Neighbor

A nearer neighbor of Augustine than Bogoslof, however, is Mount Katmai, on the Alaska peninsula, whose explosion in 1912 was one of the most tremendous in history. Instead of sinking, it blew its head off. Two cubic miles of mountain top were blown away. Some of the debris was scattered over hundreds of square miles of near-by land and sea; but a large portion disappeared, being blown to dust and ash which was hurled into the upper air and then whisked away by winds even to the far side of the earth.

Though the inhabitants of the United States were unaware of the great explosion of Mount Katmai, they felt its effects, one of which was the cold, damp summer of 1912, caused by the interception of sunlight by dust from the eruption. Even the clear, cloudless sky of the Sahara Desert region was overcast.

Fortunately Katmai was remote from congested population centers. If the explosion had occurred in New York City, the sulphurous fumes would have polluted the air as far west as the Rockies and the noise would have reverberated like an artillery duel across the Central States.

An area around Mount Katmai half again larger than Delaware was covered with a foot or more of ash—enough to destroy all but the most hardy plants.

America's "Garden of Fireworks"

"America's Garden of Fireworks," as Alaska's volcanic region has been called, also includes the famous Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, a volcanic phenomenon which has been carefully explored by expeditions of the National Geographic Society. This Valley lies near Mount Katmai. For a number of years after the Katmai explosion millions of columns of steam ascended from the valley floor. The steam jets are fewer now. The fumaroles, or vents, through which the steam escaped, disclosed enormous deposits of great beauty, variety and color. There were masses of bright yellow sulphur, chunks of ash turned red and blue, and pure white encrustations of silicious material.

Explorers of the Valley cooked meals over the hissing jets, holding their long-handled frying pans down by main force against the uprushing steam. They found a natural bathing pool, one end cold and the other hot. President Wilson turned aside from the stress of war time to make this region a national monument.

One Point of View

Pleasure comes through toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one.

Dive for Amber

Amber, once one of the wonders of the early scientists because of its development of electricity through friction, is found largely along the shores of the Black sea, although some small quantities are also found along the shores of Maryland, New Jersey and Massachusetts. It is found clinging to seaweed which is brought up from the bottom either by divers or dredges which tear the seaweed to the shore where women and children pick over in search for the amber which has a relatively high value.

Unscientific Science of the Forgotten Past

That the hoop snake sticks its tail into its mouth and rolls downhill for fun, that horse-hair comes alive in water, that the porcupine shoots his quills at his enemies, that toads give people warts, and that the rattlesnake hypnotizes his victims by looking at them—these are a few superstitions which all of us have heard, and which some of us believe, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The fact is that the ostrich does not stick his head in the sand to hide when he sees an enemy, that the bald-headed eagle which embellishes the silver coins of the United States is not a very praiseworthy bird, but an ugly scavenger, that the death's head moth is harmless and that monkeys don't pick fleas off their skin, but dandruff.

The foundations of people still believe that poisonous snakes stab their victims into their victims with their forked tongues, but their tongues are quite incapable of such activities.

The countless old stories that a rabbit's foot brings luck, that a peacock's feather is unlucky as is a black cat across one's path, and that a gecko (a kind of tropic lizard) means good fortune in one's house, are among the silliest superstitions with which men have been ridden. These, at any rate, have largely been banished from our thinking.

History, as well as science, has been embroidered with fairy tales about cherry trees and Nero's fiddles, but fewer historical than scientific fables seem to have survived modern years.

Quebec Seigniors Were Canada's Landed Gentry

The seigniors of Quebec were the members of the landed gentry, especially those of Lower Canada. The system of land holding in this French colony of New France was a survival of feudal days. No one was held to hold the land except the king, who granted to these seigniors tracts of land as a reward for their services to him, the only payment required being military service when called upon. These holdings were divided by the seignior into smaller tracts, whose occupants were called censitaires or renters. The seignior had much power over these, administering justice and fixing terms of work and pay for services of all kinds. The renters had to grind their grain at the seignior's mill and pay him one-fourteenth of the grist. The system made of each seigneury a sort of village, and as the St. Lawrence river was the only means of transportation, the renters lived on the river and as near each other as possible. The result was that the farms were very narrow, and these little ribbons of land extend through the province even today. The seigneurial tenure system was abolished in December, 1854.

Sharks Change on Land

Sharks look very different on land than they do in the water. This is due to the fact that they lack bony frameworks, and when brought to shore their bodies flatten out.

Civil War Finances

The British government did not finance either side during the Civil war, though both sides sold bonds in Britain and other foreign countries. The Confederates had hoped to finance their operations through the sale of cotton, but the blockade interfered with this plan. British subscribers to the Erlanger bonds for the Confederacy in 1863 lost millions of dollars. Dewey's Financial History of the United States states that while the war lasted, but little foreign capital was transferred to the United States, but when peace was established European funds were rapidly turned westward and government bonds were sold abroad in large quantities until the agitation began for the payment of bonds in currency instead of gold.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Chug! Chug! Chug-chug-chug. With a dismal groan the buzz-wagon coughed, settled back on its haunches and stopped.

Stuck! The crew, "Weenie" Pratt, Gus Pistorino, "Bill" Locke, Junior Gustin and "Ted" Dissel, plus three boats, six paddles, two tents, three suit cases, 13 cushions, three tent poles, five duffle bags, seven ponchos, two cots, nine miles of rope and a heavy framework—stuck!

Up came the hood, all looked important, but no one knew what to do. Captain Gus thought it would make a good impression, so he carefully removed the spark plugs in a business like manner. Junior Gustin and "Bill" Locke almost electrocuted themselves to death playing around with the distributor. "Ted" Dissel nonchalantly examined the gas tank with a lighted match. Coach "Weenie" looked disgusted.

Forty miles from Harmony, R. I., the Eastern Division championship races to begin at 4 p. m.—and stuck.

For a quarter of a mile the boys alternately pushed the car and recited poems. At last, aid. Thanks to three kind gentlemen, the car received a push, and, for no reason at all, the engine got going. And so the meandering continued over hill and dale until the camp hove in sight. What a ride. What a ride!

The races were quite late in starting, so the crew, although greatly delayed by various mishaps on the route, arrived in time to enter the events in which they were interested. Captain Gus and "Bill" Locke just had time to swing the boat into the water and make the first race, the junior double blade tandem.

In this race Winchester took a hard fought third place, although receiving a very bad foul from a competing boat. A boat stopped dead square across their bow, so that Winchesterites were forced to stop and push it aside. Losing many precious yards in this mixup, the W. B. C. boys, nevertheless, as aforesaid, regained their stroke and got third place.

Immediately following was the intermediate double blade tandem. Again Gus Pistorino and "Bill" Locke swung up to the starting line and in this contest squeezed out a fourth place.

Comes the revolution!

In the meantime camp had been pitched and the all important question of "When do we eat—what do we eat?"—became the centre of a much heated disputation. A defunct gasoline stove spoiled plans for camp cooking, thus a roadside restaurant became the unfortunate purveyor to their royal majesties, the crew. Was I mortified!

As is usual at all such meets, each club is requested to put on an entertainment around a huge bonfire. Chattanoga Canoe Club won first prize performing an operation in silhouette. A very strong light was placed behind a sheet, while the operating table and actors stood between the light and the sheet. It was most excruciaing to witness the scene, as the "doctor's" deftly carved the patient with blow torches, hammers, scythes, drills and chisels, or as yards of entrails were pulled from the victim and a leg or arm carelessly lopped off. Winchester's entertainment was well received and was awarded an honorable mention.

Comes the revolution! There was no sleep Saturday night!

The WBC boys sought slumber at 12:30 a. m. For four hours a very jovial group in the next tent insisted on playing leap frog, blowing horns, harmonizing, yelling! Why should they sleep? They were sleepy.—Shut up you Winchester punks! Haw! Winchester wants to sleep! Haw! Haw!

Discretion is the better part of valor. The crew looked askance at one another, stuffed grass in their ears and tried to sleep. Until 4:30 a. m. they twisted under the blankets and recited poems. Finally the arms of Morpheus embraced the camp and all was silent, but for "Bill" Locke and his magnificent basso profundo snore!

Let us skip the harrowing details of Sunday morning. The general camp meeting took up about two hours of the time, at which Coach "Weenie" Pratt and "Bill" Locke were elected to the Regatta Committee of the American Canoe Association for 1934.

The Sunday races began at 1:30 p. m. "Ted" Dissel and Gus Pistorino entered in the junior double blade singles. In this race another foul by a rival paddler left Captain Gus behind at the start. Quickly righting himself, Gus worked his way to the forefront, where he maintained his position for a short while. The pace however, was too much, and he was forced to lose out from the point positions.

"Ted" Dissel, although not amongst the leaders, was very much in the race. During the last spurt he overtook many boats by a steady powerful stroke. Twenty-five or more boats were in this one race.

Coach "Weenie" and Junior Gustin were in the next race, the intermediate double blade singles. Neither of the entrants placed with the point winners, but both gave a good accounting of themselves, leaving behind several rivals who bear a reputation as very good men.

At last came Winchester's big event, the junior double blade four. The stroke, "Bill" Locke, 2nd, Gus Pistorino; 3rd, "Ted" Dissel, 4th, "Weenie" Pratt.

Bang! They're off! In perfect unison the crew followed the stroke set by "Bill" Locke. Spectators afterwards stated that it appeared as if the Winchester Boat Club was shot from a gun.

Getting at least a 25 yard lead at the start, the Winchesterites settled down into a steady, long pull, kept their lead, then at the last 100 yards gave it the "works" and won by a handy margin.

There was a good laugh in this race. As the WBC boat came driving on towards the finish, tremendous shouts of encouragement, yells, whistles came from the assembled spectators. It happened that the Winchester crew had no supporters on hand to root for them, and hearing all the noise, assumed that a rival boat must be creeping up into the lead. As one of the rules is "never look around," the crew just grit their teeth and dug harder than ever, expecting momentarily to be overtaken, and not realizing that they were only putting more water between themselves and the other boats.

Then when the shore was reached, it developed that everyone was cheering none other than Coach "Weenie" Pratt. 'Tis said that two or three girls tried to kiss his rosy cheeks and rumple his silvery locks, but shucks, you won't get "Weenie" to admit that. No sirree, not that fellow.

The intermediate double blade four followed at once. In this race "Ted" Dissel was substituted by Junior Gustin and again Winchester faced the starting line. A second place was the best the boys could get out of the race, but it was a hard, close battle right to the finish line, and the boys got a good hand from the crowd when they reached shore.

Nine o'clock found the crew back home, ready to hit the hay and make up for lost sleep. As "Bill" Locke would say, "Three cheers for the Greenville Inn."

That's all!

P. S.—The club picnic leaves from the club at 9 a. m. Sunday morning, July 23. Everybody be on time.

LORD TANNING HERE TOMORROW

Winchester Legion has secured the strong Lord Tanning baseball team of Danvers as its attraction for Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, and all who have seen the tanners in action know that in scheduling this club the locals have picked nothing soft.

Led by "Bill" Lord, old Harvard slugger, the tanners' lineup is a strong one, including "Charlie" Deveranne, old New England Leaguer, the redoubtable "Tony" Colucci, formerly of Holy Cross, Lee and Skaff, to mention only a few.

Winchester will have to play far and away better ball than it had yet showed to "take" this outfit, but no one can deny the locals have a real punch at the bat, and that is where games are won. Defensively the Legion does not compare with the tanners. Lee is likely to work for Winchester and "Olio" has been plenty good of late. He'll need all his staff on Saturday, and his mates will have to check some of their stupid base running outside the park if they want to hang up a win.

Only President in Arlington

William Howard Taft is the only President of the United States buried in Arlington National cemetery.

FRANK HERBERT ELLIOTT

Frank Herbert Elliott, a life long resident of Winchester, died suddenly Wednesday evening of an acute heart attack with which he was stricken while waiting for a bus in Medford square on his way from Boston to his home at 11 Herrick street.

Mr. Elliott had been for several years in failing health. His sudden passing had not been anticipated, however, and came as a severe shock to his family and many friends.

He was born in Winchester, Oct. 18, 1854, the son of Sylvanus and Lavina (Rogers) Elliott. After receiving his education in the Winchester schools he entered the employ of Smith, Patterson Company in Boston, with which concern he was associated for 46 years, subsequently becoming a member of the firm and of its board of directors.

He was a past president of the National Retail Jewelers' Association, a director of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and of the Calumet Club; also of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Winchester Royal Arch Chapter and of the First Congregational Church, of which his father had been a charter member. He was intensely interested in Winchester's early history and had amassed a large fund of data and anecdotes bearing upon the old days of the town.

Mr. Elliott was twice married. Apr. 17, 1878, he married Addie V. James of Woburn who died in 1898; and in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 9, 1900, he married Jennie S. Davis, who died in 1921. Surviving are two sons, Theodore Elliott of Baltimore and Eugene P. Elliott of Worcester; a sister, Mrs. Charles P. Foote of Pawtucket, R. I.; and two grandchildren, Jennie Louise, and Barbara May Elliott, both of Baltimore.

Funeral services were held on this Friday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Rev. Franklin H. I. Peterson, pastor of the Highland Congregational Church of Somerville, performed the marriage ceremony at 4 o'clock, only members of the immediate families being present. Miss Virginia Merrill of Winchester, wearing blue organdie with a corsage of butterfly roses, attended the bride who was given in marriage by her father. Mr. McNeill had for his best man James E. Haley of Winchester.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held for a few intimate friends, after which Mr. McNeill and his bride left to spend their honeymoon in Atlantic City. Upon their return they will make their home in Winthrop at 26 Lincoln street.

Both bride and bridegroom are widely known among Winchester's younger set. ARLINGTON PROS HERE TOMORROW

Horace Ford in Legion Lineup

The Arlington Pros, one of the best semi-pro teams in Greater Boston, will be the attraction at Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon, or perhaps we should say one of the attractions. For it is quite likely that even the appearance of several Woburn boys who have long been favorites with Winchester baseball fans will be overshadowed by the fact that Horace Ford, veteran big league ball player, will be in the Winchester Legion lineup against the visitors.

Ford, always rated as one of the best infielders in the big time has worked out with the Legion a couple of times this week and though he has not played previously since the middle of May when he was given his release by the "Braves" has agreed to get into a local uniform Saturday. Obviously he will not be anywhere near his real form, but his presence in the lineup bolsters a weakness which has existed in the Legion infield all year.

Ford will play shortstop, and those who are worrying about the fact that Manchester Field is literally in terrible condition for baseball can save their sympathy. Ford has "been around" in a baseball sense, playing on all sorts of diamonds under all sorts of conditions. He is showing a nice community spirit in playing with the Legion and deserves a hand from all those interested in local baseball.

"Robbie" Robinson, dusky submarine hurler, will work on the mound for Winchester and Frank Tansey will be back in left field. The remainder of the team will be as usual, excepting that Lee will play right field.

With the Walsh boys, Brad Coates and "Eddie" Doherty in the Arlington lineup, to say nothing of "Neddo" Murray, Northeastern U. captain-elect, the visitors will be no easy team to defeat. On paper the Pros look a bit better than the Legion, but with Ford in the line, the visitors will have to hustle to win.

Following are the lineups:

LEGION		ARLINGTON PROS
J. Tansey, c		c, Doherty
Robinson, p		p, Smith
J. Fitzgerald, 1b		1b, Kelley
H. Chefalo, 2b		2b, T. Walsh
Kendrick, 3b		3b, R. Walsh
Ford, ss		ss, Coates
F. Tansey, lf		lf, Johnson
N. Fitzgerald, cf		cf, Murray
Lee, rf		rf, Judd

GRIFFIN ESTATE ON SWAN ROAD SOLD

Final papers have recently been recorded on the sale of the estate of the late Harry S. Griffin, located at 47 Swan road, Winchester. This transfer created more than local interest for the property is one of the most notable in the beautiful estate section of Myopia Hill.

In addition to a modern colonial house, two-car garage and a tool house, there are three and one-half acres of land beautifully landscaped, with a formal garden on the east side while natural rock formation closely bordering the house on its west side blends itself admirably to the development of an exceptionally lovely effect in rock gardens. The house was thoroughly renovated and replanned a few years ago. It is insulated, contains 12 rooms, five baths, vapor heating system with oil burner and has a slate roof.

The estate was sold in two sections. Mildred F. Thompson of Winchester was the principal buyer, purchasing the house and other buildings with approximately two acres of landscaped land. H. I. Fessenden cooperated with Charles A. Cushing in the sale. Mr. Cushing represented the seller, Elizabeth Ness, trustee, and Mrs. Fessenden represented the buyer.

Charles N. Atwood of Chelsea was the purchaser of the remaining land, approximately an acre and a quarter with a 250 ft. frontage beginning at the western boundary. H. I. Fessenden in co-operation with A. J. Archibald represented the buyer and Charles A. Cushing of Boston represented the seller, Elizabeth Ness, trustee. The whole property is taxed for $33,525, of which $11,375 is on the land.

TRADER'S DAY AUG. 9

Housewives are reminded that local stores in general will be closed upon that day. The local merchants have planned no concerted outing, but will spend the day as they see fit.

REV. J. MARION SMITH AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. J. Marion Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clarksburg, West Virginia, will preach again this Sunday at the Union services to be held in the First Baptist Church. Those who heard Rev. Mr. Smith last Sunday spoke highly of his ability as a preacher. They will doubtless welcome an opportunity to hear him again. For those who have not heard him a real treat is in store and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this service.

Speaking of fish, Alan Breed of Purrington place brought about as fine a pickerel as we have seen for some time into the office last Saturday. It measured 21 inches in length, weighed all of two pounds and was caught in Wedge Pond! We've been telling you, "Ed" Merrill!

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION GARDEN PARTY

Threatening weather which kept the committee on the anxious seat during the morning and early afternoon finally cleared in plenty of time to make the opening day of the Immaculate Conception Church garden party on the parish grounds at Sheridan circle last Saturday a complete success.

With the arrival of the crowd in the afternoon the party got under way with a sports program for the younger members of the parish and their guests. Fifty yard races for both boys and girls brought out some spirited competition while the potato races in which both girls and boys participated gave the adults almost as much fun as the competitors.

Francis Murray proved the fastest of the boy racers while "Dot" Murray finished in front of Virginia Moran to win the race for girls. Just to prove his versatility, Francis went out and won the potato race from Ralph Gear, Virginia Moran winning the girls' potato race from Ruth Beaton.

Another interesting feature of the afternoon was the baby show and doll carriage parade. Contestants in both were so closely grouped that the judges had no easy task to determine the winners.

After a consultation the judges awarded first prize for the best appearing little girl to Mary Lou Whatley, 2½ year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Whatley of Brighton. First prize for the best appearing boy baby went to 11 months' old William Edward Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Reilly of 419 Cross street.

A number of little girls, all daintily clad, entered the doll carriage parade, trundling gaily decorated carriages. Little Claire Kelley, 4, daughter of Traffic Officer and Mrs. John Kelley of Malden and niece of Mrs. John T. Smith of 930 Main street was awarded first prize. Dressed in a pale pink frock with a pink poke bonnet, Claire wheeled her baby sister, Joan, in a carriage covered with freshly cut roses.

Four year old Denyse McGonigle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McGonigle of 2 Carter street, Woburn, won second prize. Denyse wore a cleverly made little frock fashioned from pale pink and white crepe paper, matching the decorations of her carriage. All of the contestants' carriages and costumes were worthy of praise and the committee regretted that prizes could not be given to each and every one.

Santa Maria Court, C. D. of A., was in charge of the supper which was served on the grounds at 6 o'clock. It was necessary to wait in line for a chance to sit down to the tables, but there was plenty for everyone and as all were good natured, no one minded the inconvenience of waiting.

By 8 o'clock in the evening, the party was in full swing with large crowds around each of the prettily decorated booths. Praiseworthy lighting effects had been secured by electrician Harry Bennett, and from a distance the grounds presented an attractive appearance.

Members of the Board of Selectmen, their clerk, Miss Mabel Doherty, and Town Clerk Mabel W. Sullivan, were invited to the party and three of the Board, Messrs. Henry J. Maguire, Edward H. Merrill and Donald R. Waugh, were able to attend; Miss Doherty also being present.

Block dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by the Columbians, who also rendered good step dancing and jigging had their music furnished by John Kelley, fiddler, and John Doherty, accordian. The "jiggers" attracted a large crowd of on-lookers who saw some fancy steps tossed into the going by several of the dancers.

There was much interest manifest in the drawing of several handsome prizes donated for the benefit of the party. On Saturday evening a decorated cake, donated by Mrs. Harold Senebaugh, was won by Miss Rose Fitzsimons, sister of the pastor of the Immaculate Conception Parish, and a beautifully dressed doll, donated by the Misses Doherty, was won by Mr. John Kelley.

Monday evening a fancy bedspread, donated by Mrs. John Murray of Salem street was won by Miss Irene Mawn of Woburn and on Tuesday evening, a fine patchwork quilt, donated by Mrs. Margaret Foley, was won by Miss Catherine Cox of Woburn.

The garden party continued Monday evening and despite rather unfavorable weather conditions, attracted a good crowd on that night. Booths were all well patronized and it is expected that a goodly sum will be realized for the parish building fund. So popular did the Bingo prove that a Bingo party is being planned for Saturday night, Aug. 5, to be held on the church grounds.

Rev. Fr. James Fitzsimons, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church and his assistant, Rev. Fr. Charles J. Foley, exercised a general supervision over arrangements for the party. Ralph Gear was chairman of the committee and was assisted by Miss Melia Dempsey and Mrs. Alice Foley Fitzgerald, secretaries; Miss Marion C. Noonan, treasurer.

Following are individual committees:

Bingo Table: William LaRogue, Miss Helen Reagan, Daniel Lynch, Miss Sue Mawn, Miss Ellen Doherty, John Albert, Mrs. Mollie Maguire.

Novelty Booth: John McCarron, Miss Gertrude Ball, Miss Adelaide McGovern, Mrs. Frances Rawlinson.

Cake Booth: James Noonan, Phillip Lynch, Joseph Dineen, Arthur Haggerty.

Horse Racing: Archie McDonald, Edward Dineen, Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Camp News

Pioneering activity for the week has included the building by the Cardinal Patrol of a trench-tire and a reflector, and also the broiling of chicken to which, needless to state, full justice was done. Yesterday a group of eight Scouts from the several patrols broiled chops and put into use the new dishwashing racks, made by the girls being instructed in lashing, and also the new out-door portable table made in carpentry.

The Scouts in handcrafts have been assembling stools for which they are weaving seats. The making of cowhide belts, leashes, etc., are also still occupying the attention of the girls.

Mrs. J. Waldo Bond has been conducting groups of campers about town to observe unusual botanical specimens, of which there are many in Winchester, carefully explaining their individual characteristics.

The cool weather of this week proved excellent for sports and the girls enjoyed archery and also on Thursday, volley ball, the latter being under the direction of Miss Mary F. Carr, a former Radcliffe athlete, who assisted the camp director, Miss Katherine Carlisle, for the day. Miss Carr was the guest of the Scouts at the outdoor luncheon served at the camp and spent the entire day at the cabin. The rain of Tuesday kept the girls indoors, but folk dancing and games made the time pass quickly.

Several members of the camp committee have visited the cabin during this week, and it is hoped that others will drop in from time to time. The camp was started more or less as an experiment, but it has met with such success that it has proved a happy a solution to the vacation problem of the Scouts who are spending the summer in Winchester.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Ten members were absent from the meeting of July 27. Absentees should make every possible effort to attend other club meetings during the summer. Our attendance record suffers severely at this season.

We are pleased to report that Irving Symmes is making encouraging gains on the road to the recovery of his health. Irving has had a long illness and it will be very good to greet him once more at our meetings.

President "Mac" is in receipt of a special message from District Governor Lester Morrill. With a little intelligent, concerted action we can undoubtedly do much to overcome the existing distress. The question is squarely before us. Shall we work and achieve that pinnacle of satisfaction which is the result of good deeds well done? Or shall we sit idly by and stonily view the misery and want which will surely follow individual apathy or stupid indifference to imminent economic disaster?

Rotarian A. H. Stoneman of the Boston Club was guest speaker at our entertainment period last Thursday. "A. H." is manager of "The South End House" in Boston, which institution is in charge of "Winning Home" the local settlement for the care of children of the big city—those children who suffer from inability to enjoy the freedom and fresh air of the open country. Winning Home was founded in 1898 by the late Henry Winning and is a tract of more than 100 acres of land located on the boundaries which delimit the towns of Lexington and Winchester, and the city of Woburn. It has facilities for caring for 28 children, each of whom is resident for a period of two weeks during the season. At present a two weeks' period is assigned to 28 girls, which is followed by a period of two weeks for 28 boys, and so on alternately. This welfare work is intensely interesting and should be better understood by our citizens. At the conclusion of the address several of our members went on a short inspection tour to the home.

Next meeting, Thursday, Aug. 3. Come! Percentage of attendance July 20—84 per cent.

ARRESTED TWO TIPSY DRIVERS WITHIN 24 HOURS

Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department made some sort of a record for Winchester when between 4 o'clock Sunday morning and 12:30 Monday morning he arrested two automobile drivers on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor and drunkenness.

The first of the two tipsy drivers was arrested in the center at 4 o'clock Sunday morning when his manner of driving a Ford sedan from Main street into Common street attracted Officer Farrell's attention. Stopping the machine Officer Farrell placed the driver under arrest.

He gave his name as Fred J. Stephen of 35 Cary avenue, Lexington. In court Monday morning the case against him was continued until Aug. 11.

The second arrest was made in Woburn, after a chase, shortly after 12:30 Monday morning.

Officer Farrell, while patrolling on north Main street near Russell road, noticed a DeSoto sedan, zigzagging along the street, headed north. Commandeering a machine, he gave chase and succeeded in catching up with the other machine on Stoddard street in Woburn, where he placed the driver under arrest.

Patrol 52 was sent to Box 10 and the driver was taken to Headquarters where he gave his name as John Pellegrino of 66 Shepard road, West Medford. In court Monday morning when Justice Jesse W. Morton learned that Pellegrino was the father of 11 children he found him guilty and gave him a month's suspended sentence.

Wrote Secretly With Aspirin

German prisoners during the World war sent out censored letters which were later found to contain valuable information not apparent to the censors. The prisoners had no chemicals or invisible inks available, and it was revealed recently that the secret lay in aspirin tablets to which the Germans had access. When dissolved in water, aspirin makes an ink invisible to the eye, but when placed under a violet-ray light, the words show up plainly.—Popular Mechanics Magazine

MERCHANT MARINE ACADEMY OFFERS FREE SHIP TRAINING TO BOYS

For the purpose of awakening the youth of America to a realization of the advantages offered by the United States Merchant Marine as a career, the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C., is giving such an opportunity to boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 21 years by enabling them to secure from two to four weeks of training on board a schoolship of the Academy within the period from Aug. 1 to Sept. 30.

The training ship to which the young men will be assigned is a five masted harkentine-rigged vessel of 2500 tons, 300 feet long and 46 feet wide. The vessel was built in 1919-20 and is one of the largest sailing vessels under the United States flag.

While on board ship the boys will follow the regular daily ship routine and will be given practical instruction in nautical subjects including seamanship, signaling, rowing, handling and use of life boats, swimming, life-saving and naval drills.

Parents, relatives and friends of the boys will be allowed to visit them on the vessel during the period of training.

No charge will be made for instruction nor for living quarters on board ship, but a charge of 39 cents will be made for each meal.

Due to the fact that the number of accommodations available is limited, those wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should send their applications at once to the Commanding Officer, Training Ship Marsala, Edgewater, N. J.

WINCHESTER AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Mrs. Lilla J. Ryan of Cliff street, Miss Helen R. Niedringhaus of Myopia Hill, Miss Mary O. Tufts of Stratford road, Miss Dorothy Linscott of Central street, H. Russell Davis, Jr. of Lakeview road and Paul B. Shivers ick of Mystic Valley Parkway are among those from Winchester studying with the 1000 representatives of 29 states and seven foreign countries at Boston University Summer School.

Two hundred and sixteen colleges and universities, 15 of which are outside the United States are represented with 32 nationalities besides American. Hebrew, English and Italian lead the foreign students, others being Arabian, Greek, Japanese and Chinese.

In addition to teachers and college students working for extra credits there is another large classification, the self-styled "unemployed," who are taking the opportunity of preparing themselves for better times. Seventy-nine men and 73 women have listed themselves as out of a job. Among the employed studying at B. U. are a minister, physician, lawyer, iceman, fireman and baseball player.

WINCHESTER IN FINAL TENNIS MATCH WITH WOODBOURNE

Winchester Lawn Tennis Association plays the final match of its Old Colony League season tomorrow afternoon with the Woodbourne Club at Forest Hills. Undefeated to date, the locals are three points behind Woodbourne which is leading the league standing with 30 won and 5 lost. Winchester has 27 won and 8 lost. A 5—2 win for Winchester Saturday will deadlock the two clubs for the league championship.

Winning 5—2 from a club like Woodbourne is quite a stiff order and Winchester will have to play its best tennis of the year to realize this goal. Doleman, Baker, Higgins and Dray of Woodbourne are fine players, the first two being easily among the best in the league.

Drake won the Old Colony singles title a year ago, and Doleman is undefeated in league competition this season. Freeburn and Gamage, Winchester's top singles pair, lost last Saturday, yet are fine performers, and if playing their best tennis, will give the Woodbourne aces plenty to worry over.

LEGION SET BACK CONCORD YANKEES

The great "Eddie" Loughlin of Harvard was just another pitcher to the Winchester Legion sluggers last Friday evening, the locals winning their game in the Paul Revere League series from the Concord Yankees, 8—0.

"Robbie" Robinson, on the hill for the Legion, showed the Yankees a brand of pitching they have looked at but seldom, allowing only four hits, two of which were scratches, while fanning five.

The Legion gave Loughlin a real shellacking, belting out 13 hits in six innings, including four doubles and a triple. "Ollie" Lee got a single, double and a triple while each member of the House of Fitzgerald belted out two singles and a double. "Joe" Tansey, despite a painfully sore thumb, caught most of the game, being finally relieved by Lentine.

Beautiful Insects

Of small insects there are many which are remarkably beautiful, as, for example, the dogbane beetle. But the cecropia is both gorgeous in coloring and enormous in size. It really seems too huge for an insect. It belongs to the "giant silkworm" group. The adults of this group live pitifully brief lives. After mating the male hides away and dies, while the female survives only long enough to deposit her eggs. They never eat, and therefore have no functioning mouth parts.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

On Saturday, July 29, the meeting of the International Federation of Home and School begins in Dublin, Ireland.

This is the regular section meeting which is held in connection with the biennial meeting of the World Federation of Education Associations now in session at Dublin.

The International Federation of Home and School was organized in 1927—when the World Federation met at Toronto—under the auspices of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which has been its sponsor and the largest contributor to its successful growth.

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, for five years (1923-1928) president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was elected the first president of the International Federation of Home and School and has been continued in office ever since 1927. Mrs. Reeve, whose home is in Philadelphia, will preside at the sessions of the Home and School Section in Dublin on July 29 and 31, and in the evening of Aug. 3, when there will be an open forum on the home and school movement as it is developing in various countries.

There will be reports of officers, directors, and committee chairmen from many countries. Officers will be elected for a two-year period and resolutions will be adopted which will provide the working basis for the Federation until the 1935 meeting.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento, Cal., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will address the health section of the International Federation meeting on the subject of mental hygiene.

Other parent-teacher workers from the United States who will attend the Dublin convention are Mrs. E. E. Kiernan, Philadelphia, secretary of the International Federation, and Miss Alice Sowers, Washington, D. C., association chairman of Parent Education, National Congress.

On International Evening at the Convention of The National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Seattle in May, Mrs. Edward Mahon, of Vancouver, B. C., represented the International Federation of Home and School. In summarizing the type of work that is being done for home and school co-operation in various countries belonging to the Federation, Mrs. Mahon said:

"'Child Happiness' they call the work in Finland, where the organization is known as the Home Society, and the publication, the Home Magazine, but the work is the same even though a sleigh and reindeer are the means of bringing outside contacts to these parent-teacher groups.

"Denmark, where young people talk their heads off to put the world straight, is the one country in the world that actually lives co-operation," said Mrs. Mahon, "and this country has weathered the economic storm of today.

"When we hear a group of Japanese children singing 'The Blue Bells of Scotland,' we realize that it is only the grownups who make the children of today feel that adjustment between nationalities is difficult. Children accept each other. May we find their spirit. Every parent-teacher member in the United States is an unconscious worker for the International Federation, whose one great object is to teach that the greatest thing in life, after all, is the art of living."

WINCHESTER POST BAND IN BROADCAST

Winchester Post, 97, American Legion Band, played the first of a series of radio broadcasts last Sunday afternoon over Station WBZ from 6 until 6:30 o'clock.

Under the direction of Bandmaster Charles E. Young, the band, which is managed by E. J. LaRue, offered a varied and well played program which could not fail to make many new friends for this organization which is fast winning a place for itself among the younger bands around Boston.

Bandmaster Young evidently strove for expression on last Sunday, and his men followed his baton admirably, playing the piano passages of the popular Light Cavalry and the passages for brass harmony in the Southern Medley with feeling and a nice light tone. The woodwind section of the band also showed to advantage in the Southern number, while the brasses came to the fore in the march numbers by Hall and Lisgough.

Following is the complete program:

March "Salutation" ..... Likes
Overture "Light Cavalry" ..... von Suppe
March "America the Beautiful" ..... arr. by Jean Missaud
Medley "Down South" ..... arr. by Arthur Middleton
March "In the Cards" ..... Lisgough
March "Cheerio", Edmund Franko Goldman
March "Waterville" ..... Hall

POSTOFFICE HAS NEW GOVERNMENT TRUCK

A Ford delivery truck, the property of the United States Government and sent upon the order of the Postoffice Department in Washington arrived at the local postoffice Tuesday morning and was put into service immediately, replacing the privately owned machine. It is to be used for the delivery of parcels post, for mail relays and connections.

The new machine is being housed temporarily at the local Y.-D. Garage until bids for permanent garage space can be secured. Bids will also be asked for furnishing gasoline and oil for the truck. All repairs to the truck and tires must be made at the government garage in South Boston.

Deliveryman Joseph Donaghey will drive the new truck which has a somewhat smaller capacity than his old machine which the office hired at the rate of 33 1 3 cents per hour. The new truck also has a governor which regulates its speed to about 20 miles per hour.

The Open Market

An open market is one that is free to all as distinguished from one in which participation is restricted to members of an exchange. In Wall Street terms, the open market for securities rises everywhere outside the floor of the Stock Exchange. In other words, the open market refers to the public as a market.

British Malaya's Products

The most important agricultural commodity of British Malaya is rubber; but coconuts are also extensively grown, and so also are spices, tapioca and pepper. Rice is also cultivated largely, but as it is the staple diet of the inhabitants, great quantities have also to be imported. Within recent years coffee, tea and tobacco have been given some attention, and may yet prove to be remunerative.

The highest cultural development of the entire Mound Builders' area of the United States is in southern Ohio and contiguous territory.

Tadpoles

Tadpoles, hatched from eggs of toads, are round, black, stippled with gold, with a long, narrow tail, edged with a narrow, translucent gray fin; the nostrils show as round white openings. The mouth has two rows of teeth above and three rows on the lower lip.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.

WINCHESTER WON FROM BELLEVUE

Winchester Tennis Association kept in the Old Colony League championship running by winning its next-to-last match of the season from the Bellevue Club of Melrose, 5—2 on the Palmer street courts last Saturday afternoon. With but two exceptions, the matches were all hard fought, bringing out some fine tennis for the edification of the gallery.

Strangely enough it was the two matches, Winchester was surest of, the number one and two singles, that went to the visitors.

Steve Crowell, Bellevue's number one, playing the best game he has been seen to show in several seasons, won a straight set, 6—1, 6—3, victory over Winchester's Larry Freeburn, laying some beautiful shots along the lines and driving continually to the right hand corner of the court, difficult shots for the left handed Freeburn to return effectively.

Larry, it must be admitted, was off his game, and he needed to be very much at his best to cope with the Crowell who dropped in last Saturday. Hall Gamage, playing number two singles for Winchester, also drew a tarter in Paul Jones of Bellevue, finally losing in a ding dong match, 6—3, 3—6, 5—7.

Gamage looked good winning the first set, but slumped rather badly in the second, and was apparently hopelessly out of the running with the steady Jones leading, first 4—2 and then 5—3 in the final set.

Uncorking a brilliant spurt of tennis, Hall deuced the set, but Jones wouldn't be denied and ran out the next two games to take the match.

The veteran "Jim" Riley played his usual steadily, effective game to down C. Jones and "Herb" Ross was also able to pull out his match with Gilley in straight sets, though the going was hard in spots, the scores being 6—3, 6—4.

Gamage and Freeburn got partial revenge at least in their doubles match with Crowell and C. Jones, winning in two well played sets, 6—3, 6—4. Riley and his kid running mate, Norman Dalrymple, pulled a marathon match out of the fire, finally setting down P. Jones and Gilley, 6—8, 6—4, 6—4.

Wallace Blanchard and "Herb" Ross had no difficulty winning two straight sets at love from the Bellevue team of Clark and Gushue.

Following is the summary:

Singles

Crowell (B) beat Freeburn (W) 6—1, 6—3.
Paul Jones (B) beat Gamage (W), 3—6, 6—3, 7—5.
Riley (W) beat C. Jones (B) 6—4, 6—1.
Ross (W) beat Gilley (B), 6—3, 6—4.

Doubles

Gamage and Freeburn (W) beat Crowell and C. Jones (B) 6—3, 6—4.
Riley and Dalrymple (W) beat P. Jones and Gilley (B), 6—8, 6—4, 6—4.
Ross and Blanchard (W) beat Clark and Gushue, 6—0, 6—0.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst of Oak Knoll sailed Sunday to enjoy a cruise to the North Cape and Bermuda.

LORD TANNING SET BACK LEGION

Winchester Legion lost its third game of the season last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, being set down by the strong Lord Tanning Co. nine of Danvers, 6—2.

The Legion with the lineup it had last Saturday was a bit out of its class against the Tanners, but even so, had the boys played ordinarily good baseball and hit a lick with men on bases, the outcome of the game might well have been in doubt.

"Ollie" Lee pitched good ball against the Lords, even though he was nicked for 10 safeties, including a double by the irrepressible "Doc" Doherty and triples by "Tony" Colucci and "Eddie" Doherty. Good fielding would have cut off several of the scratch hits that show in the box score, and others of the Tanners' blows came after the side should have been retired.

Lee himself led the Legion attack, clouting out a triple and a single, and being robbed of at least a triple when Skaff made a corking running catch of his drive in the fifth.

"Charlie" Deveranne, veteran of the old New England League, threw up a slow sinker to stop the Fitzgeralds and "Doc" Tansey dead, and with these sluggers missing them the Legion is pretty much a dead dog.

Winchester had the bases full and no one out in the eighth, yet was lucky to score, "Tony" Chefalo fanned, Harry Chefalo was out at the plate when he missed the count on the batter and ran in on three and one. Tofuri, the batter, then walked and "Robbie" Robinson drove a single past second to score Kendrick and Lee for the only Legion runs.

LEGION SET BACK ARLINGTON

Winchester Legion defeated the Menotomy Club of Arlington in a Paul Revere League game on Leonard Field Monday evening, 5—2.

The clubs were deadlocked going into the fifth, but in this frame Robinson and Lee reached first on Arlington errors and scored when "Nick" Fitzgerald drove a long one to the fence. "Jim" Fitzgerald sigled to bring "Nick" over and saw up the game.

Kendrick held Arlington to five hits and scoreless, except for the third inning.

PAINFULLY INJURED AS CAR SKIDS

Mrs. Helen Sias of 48 Clewley road, Medford, was painfully injured about 12:30 Tuesday afternoon when the automobile she was driving toward Medford on Main street skidded on the wet car tracks and struck a pole near the old Harrison Parker estate at Black Horse Hill.

The car was damaged and its occupants all injured. Mrs. Sias, who is the sister of Mrs. Roger M. Burgoyne of Washington street, was accompanied by her three-year-old son, John, and by her brother, Fred Swenson of 137 George street, Medford Hillside.

All were taken by passing motorists to the Winchester Hospital where they were treated by Dr. Burgoyne. Mrs. Sias sustained a broken collarbone and shoulder blade as well as three broken ribs. Her son was scratched about the forehead and had a bump on the head. Mr. Swenson suffered abrasions to the forehead and legs.

The higher apes, including the gorilla, chimpanzee, orang utan and the gibbon, differ more on anatomical grounds from their monkey brothers than they do from man himself, scientists have shown.

WORLD'S FAIR CONTEST HAS MANY ENTRIES

With literally hundreds and hundreds of boys and girls in all parts of the state apparently determined to win the trips to the World's Fair at Chicago offered by A. & P. Food Stores, the great "On to Chicago" Contest sponsored by A. & P. is getting off to a flying start.

In every neighborhood served by A. & P., boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 18 are busily gathering the vote coupons which will determine the winners of the contest. One boy and one girl in each county in Massachusetts is to be selected to go to the Century of Progress as a guest of A. & P. Votes and votes alone will determine the winners. There are no letters to write; no puzzles to solve; just vote coupons to collect and deposit at A. & P. Stores.

The 14 boys who win in their respective counties will leave Boston, Saturday, Aug. 26, in charge of two men well known for their work in the Y. M. C. A. and in Boy Scout activities. After a glorious week at the fair, they will return to Boston.

The girls' party will leave Boston, Sunday, Aug. 27, and like the boys will be in charge of capable and dependable leaders. Women experienced in Girls' Club work and similar fields will be the conductors. Under their direction every assurance is given for the welfare and protection of the young tourists.

At Chicago, both parties will visit the Exposition with capable guides and will be special guests at the A. & P. Carnival which occupies a large tract on the lake front at the Fair. They will see the A. & P. Gypsies broadcasting direct from the A. & P. Carnival and will meet Harry Horlick, George Rector, and other famous A. & P. folks.

Although hundreds of entries have been received and the contestants are busily at work collecting votes, Mr. Franklin Smith, Contest Manager and conductor of the boys' party to the Fair, gives assurance that those entering the contest now have a fine chance of winning,—as good a chance as any one else.

Mr. Smith says: "Boys and girls who have not yet entered this grent 'On to Chicago' Contest should not feel that they are too late. They are not. Those who enter now have just as good a chance as any already in the contest.

"What really counts is the number of votes that you have at the end of the contest, not at the end of the first, second, or third week. Those entering now have a perfectly good chance to catch up on the early starters if they get busy and collect coupons.

"Coupons are given to every A. & P. customer with every purchase. These coupons can be given to any contestant. Contestants themselves do not have to make any purchases. All they have to do is collect coupons and send them to the contest manager for credit. It is not necessary to mail the coupons They can be deposited at any A. & P. Store in envelopes which will be provided for that purpose.

"It's 'On to Chicago' all over Massachusetts now. Fourteen boys and girls are going as guests of A. & P., and I will be very much surprised if the winners do not include several who are not in the contest now, but who are going to the nearest A. & P. Store tomorrow for an entry blank."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Jennie Gerhardt," starring Sylvia Sidney, and "Melody Cruise," the newest musical film hit, with Charles Ruggles, Phil Harris and Greta Nissen, will make up the double bill that opens at the Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. Sylvia Sidney, the girl with the sad, wistful eyes, reaches the heights of screendom in Theodore Dreiser's amazing chronicle of the life and loves of Jennie Gerhardt. The picture, in which Miss Sidney receives her first star billing includes as featured players, Donald Cook, Mary Astor, H. B. Warner and Edward Arnold. The picture is a splendid version of Dreiser's vivid novel of the same name, believed by many to be his outstanding achievement in the field of American letters. The character is essentially a symbol of American womanhood, following her steps from girlhood to her development as one of the most talked of women in American fiction. Jennie Gerhardt is a woman who hardly realizes the effect of her beauty on men. She yields to a wealthy Senator, in love with her, because she is grateful for the financial assistance he has given her poverty stricken family. But he is killed in an accident before they can be married, and their child is born. Starting life anew, she is swept off her feet by the brother of her wealthy employer, and for years they enjoy their happiness until he learns of her child. His reaction is startling and in its effect on Jenny, tragic.

"Melody Cruise" is a musical movie, rather than a musical screen comedy, for it is the first story set to melody in accordance with effective talking picture standards. Clever lyrics are made consistently part of the story dialogue. The ensemble numbers build right into the story with logical ease. The plot, while necessarily light, frivolous and spicy, holds interest throughout with its gay comedy. Harris plays the part of a millionaire playboy, with his buddy Charles Ruggles, a henpecked husband, sail from California to New York. Harris wants to protect Ruggles from the fair sex and writes the latter's wife a letter describing Charlie's indiscretions and instructing her not to open it unless he marries. Then the playboy actually does fall in love. Ruggles' efforts to restrain his pal from marrying and his plans to recover the incriminating letter from his wife provide the plot of this delightful comedy.

"College Humor," the screen hit of the summer season, ends its run at the Granada on Friday. "The Life of Jimmy Dolan," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Loretta Young, is the second feature on the current bill.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Shoppers in Winchester will do well when leaving automobiles parked promiscuously around the center to lock their machines. This week a sizeable grocery order was stolen from a parked car, and the wonder of it is that the theft was the first of its kind reported to the police. The officers on duty in the center know many of the householders who frequent the square and are also familiar with the cars they drive. Obviously they can not know every one, nor keep an eye on every machine parked in front of the stores. Assist them by locking your car if you have to leave it even for just a minute. The little inconvenience involved is worth while in assisting to prevent crime and will also ensure your finding the Sunday dinner or your new book or last year's overcoat where you left them in the car.

KEEP OUT OF THE BOSTON POSTAL DISTRICT

The fact that Winchester is not in the Boston Postal District, and is thereby omitted from the two-cent postal delivery territory, has led some residents to clamor for the old bug-a-boo urged and successfully fought years ago of entering the Boston district. The idea was universally opposed when it was previously brought up, business men and our leading residents being solidly against it.

Now that the town has to pay the extra postage, the matter has again been brought to the front—presumably by those who can see no further than the one cent involved.

By all means Winchester should be kept out of the Boston district and continued as it now stands as a first-class office under local supervision governed by the federal authorities. It will, in the opinion of the Star, be a sorry day when our local office is thrown in with Boston and receives its orders from that city.

In the first place it is freely predicted that the discriminatory postage rate now in effect will not last, and this same prediction is that the entire country is shortly destined to return to the old two-cent rate. The present scheme is already bringing forth a raft of complaints.

Secondly the thought of more adequate mail service is completely at variance with conditions experienced elsewhere. Our mail service would in all probability be curtailed rather than enlarged.

Our volume of business determines the class of our office under present regulations. The more stamps we sell and the larger our revenue, the larger our personnel and the better off we are in serving our customers.

We have local men and a Winchester Postmaster. In the Boston District we may have such personnel as Boston sees fit to designate. A Brighton carrier substituting in Winchester would hardly be a desirable requirement to our delivery system. Neither would it be particularly agreeable to carry our complaints to a superintendent in Boston. It is furthermore hardly recognized as a favor when we visit the local office and ask for our mail but in the Boston district no avail is handed out at the window if it is likewise handled by carriers—like it or not. A letter posted at night to your next door neighbor may take a trip to Boston and back or to Malden and back before it is ready for delivery.

Any of our citizens who are on the fence regarding entering the Boston Postal District would do well to inquire carefully into the conditions and service we would emerate under before advocating such change. It would take a mighty short time for the presentation of a counter petition to get out of it.

Macaw's Beak Strong

The great strength of beak of the macaw is one of the worst drawbacks of making a pet of this bird. For it loves to use this instrument on most any hard object that is available, household furniture not excepted.

Upkeep of Parks in Missouri

Missouri's laws require that 25 per cent of the revenue received from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses must be used for the purchase and maintenance of state parks.

"THUMBERS" IN NEW ROLE

The statement from the general manager of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, that "thumbers" threaten the bus service of the transportation company, and that an increased fare or a decreased schedule must ensue unless motorists stop picking up the gutter pests, is a revelation in a brand new guise of what the traffic in "thumbing" can do to a transportation line.

Our sympathies are wholly and all with the bus company and the merchants of Medford, who must surely stand to lose trade if the Eastern Massachusetts should do either or both of the two things it foresees may easily become necessary because of the increase of the most courtesy accommodation of picking up the gutter standees with jerky thumbs pointing North.

We wonder just how keenly any automobilist on honest business bent has studied into the practise which is common everywhere? And especially whether the average good-natured motorist realizes the vicious background of "thumbing?"

It has more than once led to murder. It is all too easy for a good appearing young man to pick up a ride; and if the youth turns out to be the kind who has ulterior motives and carries a pistol—well, anything can happen.

We know men, and women too, who have cut their courtesies down for free "lifts" to people they know, or to school children living in their neighborhood. This is reasonable and probably safe, though except to one's intimates who are in a "pinch" we doubt if in the long run it is policy because of technicalities of the law which make suit possible—sometimes a grudge is "paid" in this way, the victim being the motorist who hasn't a policy covering in detail the very thing he seeks to avoid.

In the long run, we believe "thumbing" is a racket—cheap skate racket—which should be discouraged to the utmost; and we sincerely believe the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company is right in its explanation of the tight place in which it finds itself, and right, also when it points out the threat of lost business to our tradespeople.

We urge every motorist to discourage thumbing, for his own safety; and so that business shall continue to be brought to this city by the competent service in Eastern Massachusetts busses which we now enjoy.—[Medford Mercury.

BEDFORD WON FROM LEGION

The Bedford A. C. nosed out the Winchester Legion in a Paul Revere League game on Leonard Field Wednesday evening, 4—3.

The visitors brought a good looking team to Winchester and got effective pitching from Gilman.

The Legion scored all its runs in the first frame when "Bumpy" Fitzgerald drove out a terrific home run over the fence in centerfield with Robinson and Lee on.

With the score tied in the fourth, Gilman hit a home run over the centerfield fence, deciding the game, though the Legion threw away a fine chance to tie when "Nick" Fitzgerald was held on second by poor coaching as brother "Jim" singled to right.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN, ATTRACTIONS

A thrilling glimpse of America's smartest crooks in operation is to be seen in "Midnight Mary," drama of the upper underworld, which will be the feature attraction at the Strand Theatre, Malden, starting Friday, July 28 for one week. The evolution of a typical gang of small-time gunmen into high-powered specialists in big crime is woven into a dramatic love story that features Loretta Young and Franchot Tone in strongly emotional roles.

In "It's Great To Be Alive," the new Fox musical comedy which will be the second screen offering at the Strand, Malden, you have a full season of hilarity. In story, acting, music and dancing, it is as satisfying a piece of entertainment as has been seen hereabouts in a long time. Telling the story of a man who finds himself literally the last man on earth, the film depicts a world populated only by women, each of whom has one end in view—to get that solitary male. It is a dread disease that wipes the globe clean of the masculine sex. The scenarists have prepared for such a contingency, and what goes on toward a solution of this emergency forms the extremely funny basis for the picture. "It's Great To Be Alive" has a generous supply of hilarious moments. Gloria Stuart has the role of the feminine romantic role and the actors in support of the principals are each splendid in the individual portrayals.

North Star Very Bright

The North star is brighter than the sun, the former giving forth about 525 times as much light as our own sun.

"INTERNATIONAL HOUSE" AT THE UNIVERSITY

One of the largest all-star casts ever assembled for a motion picture play in "International House," lavishly produced musical comedy which comes to the University Theater on Sunday for four days, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Colonel Stoopnagle and Bud, Cab Calloway and his orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, Bela Lugosi, Lona Andre, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breese and the Girls in Cellophane are the featured players, and between them they represent the best talent of the screen, stage and radio. The action is set in a hotel in a mythical Chinese city where representatives of big business from all over the world are assembled to inspect and bid on a marvelous new invention.

Romance, mixed with exciting adventure is the keynote of "The Life of Jimmy Dolan," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in the starring role adding another strong characterization to his already long list of successes. Loretta Young and Arline McMahon head the supporting cast.

Edmund Lowe and Nancy Carroll play the leading roles in "I Love That Man," drama of a woman's devotion to a man she knows is a good deal less than trustworthy, which starts Thursday. Heading the supporting cast are Robert Armstrong, Lew Cody, Warren Hymer and Dorothy Burgess. The story centers around Lowe and Miss Carroll—a strange pair, bound together by a curious emotional tie. Lowe is a confidence man—a shrewd crook who finds no greater pleasure in life than separating a sucker from his money. Miss Carroll is a girl of good background, who knows, the moment she meets Lowe, that he is the one man in the world she can love.

Suave William Powell returns to the type of role that first won him screen recognition in "Private Detective 62," the companion feature. Once again this polished star portrays, as the title suggests, a sleuth, but one of a different order than his Philo Vance characterizations of the past. In this thrilling offering, Powell is tarnished, but more interesting, spy on erring wives and wayward husbands.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The swimming meet at the Lexington pool on Aug. 2 will find Winchester well represented by the talent developed at the playgrounds. "Danny" Coss, who will be remembered as capturing first place in the Wedge Pond swimming meet last year, is the best all around diver that Winchester has produced in many years. P. Sevene, H. Cosgrove, N. Arizo and others will undoubtedly help to make the meet interesting for the other teams.

The list of events is as follows:

Boys

50 yard dash.
100 yard crawl.
Diving—one front required; three optionals.
200 yard swim.
Relay—four boys, 25 yards each.

Girls

25 yard dash.
50 yard dash.
Dive.
Relay—four girls, 25 yards each.

The Junior League in baseball saw the Hillside Yankees forge to the front with five won and none lost. The North End Eagles are in second place with three won and two lost. The first game between these two clubs and the six teams are now going into the final stretch.

The Yankees have been picked to play a series with "Doc" McCarthy's undefeated playground team of Arlington. If the Yankees continue to play the same brand of baseball as they have in the past, the Arlington team will find their work cut out for them.

Th Lexington playground team defeated the Eagles in a well played game last Friday at Lexington by 6—5, a return game with Lexington is to be played on Leonard Field next Tuesday morning at 10 a. m.

A tennis tournament is now being held at Loring avenue in an effort to choose a playground team for our match with Lexington, Aug. 7.

In the senior boys' division, Walter Josephson has been seeded No. 1 place and in the girls' division, Mara MacDonald has been given the same position.

The result of the tournament for boys under 12 is as follows: 1st, Wm. MacDonald, Jr.; 2nd, Paul Connors; 3rd, F. Donovan; 4th, F. Allen; 5th, T. Connors.

A summary of the playground activities would not be complete without the following incident which speaks for itself.

In a hotly contested game in the Midget League, the score stood Sluggers 2—Leonard Field 2. Leonard Field had a man on third and one on first with two out. When the ball was pitched the man on first stole second. The throw to second beat the runner by six feet, but the second base man received the ball and instead of tagging the runner slid viciously into the bag. He arose triumphantly and dusted himself off amid a din of cat-calls and boos from his teammates. In the meantime, the runner on third proceeded home with the winning run as the man going from first, stepped safely on second base. When the field instructor took the youngster aside to explain the error the latter grinned in youthful fashion and said, "It's lucky I put these ice creepers on this morning as they give me a good 'holt' on the base that time."

BETHANY NEWS

A midsummer get-together of the Bethany members on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Belville, was a pleasant diversion. It was sponsored by the Bethany ladies of Brookside road, who united in giving a lawn party silver tea. About 40 guests were present, and the proceeds turned over to the society. It was a pretty little party out there under the shade of the old apple tree. "Ye village gossip" was among those present, and gleaned a few bits of news about different members, as follows:

Mrs. Rony Snyder and daughter Nancy, are making an auto trip to Idaho, where Lt. Snyder is stationed for the present with a division of the C. C. C.

Mrs. F. J. Baker and son Norman, have returned from a vacation spent at Lake Lowell in Sanbornville, N. H.

Mrs. William Cutter of Chisholm road has returned from a visit with her son in Meriden, Conn.

Little Natalie Nelson of Garfield avenue, who underwent an appendix operation at the Winchester Hospital last week, is improving fast and expected home soon.

Mrs. Leroy Higgins is convalescing at her home on Cross street, having been under treatment recently at the Osteopathic Hospital in Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Ball and family spent the week-end in Cummington, visiting at the home of Mr. Sears, whose farm adjoins the William Cullen Bryant Homestead. Cummington is a small isolated town up there in the Berkshires, but quite famous as the birthplace of the above-mentioned poet, and also as the site of the "Playhouse in the Hills"—as well as for its fine, conservative old Yankee settlers!

We have it on good authority that a reliable compass is needed by Mr. John McLean, to carry around with him on his blueberrying excursions to Bear Hill.

BRAZIL'S FRUIT INDUSTRY BOOMS

Brazil's fresh fruit industry is doffing its swaddling clothes. While the State has been attempting to regain its once dominant position in the rubber world, and its adopted industrial "child," coffee, has been maintaining its lead among the State's agricultural products, Brazilian fruit growers have been busy.

Today Brazil is exporting about $10,000,000 worth of fruit annually, or about 28 times as much as was exported slightly more than a decade ago, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Ranks Next to Coffee Among Brazilian Industries

Fruit-growing now is the second largest industry in the South American State and some Brazilian economists believe that if the present pace is continued, coffee, whose name has become almost synonymous with Brazil, will be toppled from its commercial throne, continues the bulletin.

Brazil's largest fruit crops are oranges and bananas but a vast acreage also is planted in pineapples, grapefruit and tangerines. The Washington navel orange of the California groves is a native of Brazil. The first navel orange trees were sent to Washington by American missionaries at Bahia and were introduced into California by the Federal Department of Agriculture. Today thousands of descendants of Brazilian trees are pouring more gold into California than the State's gold mines.

Banana Exports Quadruple in Decade

Large Brazilian and foreign fruit-growing companies now are clearing land; others, already off to a good start, are shipping fruit to markets of South America and Europe. One banana plantation in Sao Paulo, the so-called "coffee State" contains upward of 1,000,000 banana plants and each healthy plant produces one stalk or stem of bananas annually. In the Santos region, there are some 400 banana plantations with more than 5,000,000 plants. In 1921 Brazil exported about two and one-half million stems of bananas. Ten years later, the exports were four times as great.

Vast orange groves now are spread over several Brazilian States. Sao Paulo ranks also among the leading orange-producing areas. There are about 7,000,000 orange trees in that State. The State of Rio de Janeiro has about four and one-half million; Minas Geraes has nearly one and one-half million; and there are over a million in Rio Grande do Sul.

Argentina and Great Britain Are Chief Customers

Argentina is an old and leading customer of the Brazilian banana grower, and many stems also hang in the fruit markets of Great Britain. Orange producers find Great Britain their best market. The fruit also is shipped to Argentina, the Netherlands and Germany.

Grapefruit, tangerines and pineapples are coming to the front among Brazilian fruit, but they are not yet produced in sufficient quantities to swell the State's export figures.

Until a few years ago, Brazilians took little interest in grapefruit because they believed they were of no commercial value.

Europe's Tariff Walls

When Russia and Austria-Hungary were divided into nation states after the World war, the resultant tariff walls set up by them ran through farms, in several instances, and the owners had to pay an import duty on milk that was carried from the pasture to the barn.—Collier's Weekly.

Your Financial Goal

Today, a lot of people are starting out to accumulate $1,000, $2,000, $5,000 or $10,000, in a certain number of years: In five, ten or fifteen years, let us say.

They set aside a fixed amount every month, which is a splendid plan and about the only successful plan you can follow.

The purchase of co-operative bank installment shares, —payments monthly—is an excellent method for carrying out such a program.

Our exceptional dividends insure the best possible total.

QUERETARO, MEXICO, WHERE HISTORY GROWS

Queretaro, Mexico, which ushered into the world Mexico's Constitution 16 years ago, has a flair for history-making, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The city, continues the bulletin, cradled the plans for national independence in 1808; it saw Maximilian, Mexico's Austrian-born emperor, fall before a firing squad in 1867; and it gave a new Constitution to the Republic in 1917. These are but a few high-lights in the long list of stirring events which Queretaro has witnessed since its founding in 1440.

Miracle Brought Name Now Discarded

Nor is Queretaro's amazing history entirely a compendium of cold, hard facts. Mixed up with accounts of siege and political strategy is the record of a miracle—the story of how Queretaro received the name which it does not use.

Soon after the capture of the town by the Spaniards who fought the Otomie Indians for it in 1531, a miraculous manifestation was reported to have occurred during a fiesta of Santiago (St. James). A great cross of flame and gold, it was said, appeared in the sky with the apostle St. James beside it. The Indians accepted this as an evidence that he would be their patron saint, and the name of the town was then changed from Taxco to Santiago de Queretaro—the latter part indicating the province. Later the name was shortened to Queretaro.

Present-day Queretaro, with a population of 37,000 and capital of the State of the same name, has more than a historical past to recommend it. Located about 160 miles north of Mexico City, it is the distributing center to an agricultural district of moderate purchasing power, and has a varied assortment of industries. Cottons, woolens, tobacco, pottery, ironwares, hats and soap are among the important manufactures.

Book Stalls Near Cathedral Entrance

The Plaza, or Jardin Zenea, flanked by the Cathedral, and scene of the Sunday market, is the chief business center. On Sunday mornings the square is animated with market people and shoppers. Impromptu stands display wares of cotton cloth and Indian knickknacks. Book-dealers, brothers in spirit to those patient figures along the Seine, exhibit their small stocks of old tomes near the Cathedral entrance. Many an early church-goer lingers beside the stalls and thumbs dusty pages quite in the manner of his Paris cousins.

Opal mines located in the neighborhood give Queretaro eminence as a gem market. The polishing of the stones is usually done in the city, and opals are offered for sale in the streets as well as in the hotels and shops. Self-styled lapidarios, who claim to be opal-polishers and whose stones are not always obtained by normal business methods, make travelers their targets.

Old Colonial houses, with low-pitched roofs and crumbling escutcheons looking down from the doorways, lend a pictorial quality to the city. The Great Aqueduct, one of the "sights" of Queretaro and inevitably a distinguishing characteristic of a picture of the town, brings good drinking water from San Pedro de la Canada to the Plazuela de la Cruz, the Queretaro terminus. This imposing structure, five miles long, 96 feet high, with 74 arches, 50 feet high, is one of the four most important aqueducts in the Republic.

The Cerro de las Campanas, or Hill of the Bells, attracts visitors to its summit on the western edge of the city. There Maximilian fell with Miramon and Mejia. A brown stone chapel has been built to replace the three stone shafts which formerly marked the spot of execution.

Church Service and Sunday School at 10:45. Sunday, July 30 Subject, "Love."

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 30.

The Golden Text is: "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted" (Isaiah 49:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Science taught in the original language of the Bible came through inspiration, and needs inspiration to be understood . . . A misplaced word changes the sense and misstates the Science of the Scriptures, as, for instance, to name Love as merely an attribute of God; but we can by special and proper capitalization speak of the love of Love, meaning by that what the beloved disciple meant in one of his epistles, when he said, 'God is love.'" (p. 319).

Cactus of Saguaro Is Arizona Desert Wonder

The giant cactus of Saguaro, one of the wonders of the Arizona desert, is to be preserved for posterity and in the interest of science. An executive order issued by former President Hoover set aside a portion of the Coronado national forest to be known as Saguaro National Monument. This area will forever be protected against any activity which might interfere with the normal development of the desert flora native to that section.

The giant cactus specimens in the national monument include many more than one hundred years old. The huge fluted green columns are crowned by creamy white blossoms in May. The fruit is palatable and is used as a food by some of the Indians. The latticework skeleton of dead Saguaros is sometimes used in the construction of shelters and in the making of art goods. Despite the thorny character of the plants, the older trunks are often dotted with woodpecker holes, since these native birds prefer the tall trunks and branches of the Saguaro for nesting places, and often transform them into skyscraper homes. The Saguaro weather-strips the bird houses, exuding a cementing material which protects the woody structure of the trunks from decay.—Washington Star.

Jefferson's First Message

In his first message, as President of the United States, Thomas Jefferson earnestly supplicated for unity in the face of dissension, friendship to all nations and entangling alliance with none; for an active and efficient militia, for the freedom of speech, of the press and of religion; and for economy in public expenses. "These principles," he said, "should be the creed of our political faith, the text of civil instruction, the touchstone by which to try the services of those we trust."

Arizona's Cotton

Arizona's cotton-growing industry owes its origin to the introduction of Egyptian cotton into this country more than 30 years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture. Department workers soon learned that this type of cotton was not adapted to the main cotton belt, and concentrated their efforts in the irrigated districts of Arizona and southern California, where conditions are similar to those in Egypt.

The Beautiful Bluebird

The bluebird is seven inches long, with upper parts, wings and tail a bright blue; throat, breast and sides are cinnamon red, underneath white. The song is "tru-al-ly tru-al-ly. The nest is made largely of dry leaves. Four or six eggs, a pale greenish blue, are laid in each brood and two or three broods are raised in a season between March and November.

Where Poor Live in Big Palaces Built for Rich

The many curious and charming sights of the Free City of Danzig include the tree shaded old streets of the quaintest names, where poor people live in palaces.

Doubtless these stone houses with their striking colored baroque facades, high steps and fishlike gargoyles were built for the merchant princes of the Hanseatic era of the city's great commercial past, but the shawled women and street urchins that work and play about their portals remind one of the Syrian and Greek immigrants who live in the colonial homesteads of Bowling Green in New York city, except that the city authorities of Danzig have insisted on a cleaner appearance of both streets and homes.

Danzig is full of Gothic and Renaissance architecture, for the decoration of the city extended from public buildings to streets of houses, many going back to the Sixteenth century. This is specially true of Frauengasse and Frauentor; entered through an arch like the fortress portal of an ancient city wall, the streets open on both sides amid trees as if they were the private courtyards of royalty.

Many Towns of Same Name Cause P. O. Much Trouble

There are 22 post offices in the United States named Dayton, and if ever a correspondent omits to give the state in writing his address, we are quite sure to find that the postmark on the envelope is so blurred that it cannot be deciphered, says the Rural New Yorker. That is what philosophers call the innate depravity of inanimate things. There are 11 Deerfields, but if you think this shows a lack of originality, consider Dime Box; there is only one post office of that name, that being in Texas. Eagle occurs in nine places, and our national bird is commemorated in 41 other post offices, in which it forms part of the name. There are 11 Ethels, but only three Marys, though Mary forms part of the name of 29 other post offices. There is only one Snook in the postal guide, which seems quite enough; there is one Zag, one Zero, one Ynot, and one Whynot.

We do not know why a place in Texas should be called Whon, or another Tom Bean, and we question the taste which named Sodom, N. Y., or Ink, in Arkansas and Missouri, or Brandy, Va., but no doubt there was some local reason for all these names. It seems a pity to name 27 post offices Troy, and 18 Trenton, or 23 Warren. It is not surprising that 28 places are named Washington, or 18 Windsor, but these duplications sometimes cause trouble and delay in answering correspondence. There is one safe rule in writing to strangers; use black ink, write distinctly, spell out the name of the town without abbreviating, and never omit the name of the state.

Smallest Weasel

The smallest weasel in some localities is called "mouse-hunter." Its scientific label is Mustela rixosa. It measures only six inches from snout to root to tail. The tail is hardly an inch long, and has a white tip—a distinction alone among weasels. Its summer coat is glossy reddish brown above, and white below from chin to vent, and the feet are white.

The Violet

In a Greek myth we are told that the violet sprang from Io, a priestess of Juno's temple, with whom Jupiter was almost caught in one of his flirtations. Not having time to hide her, he changed her into a white heifer; and because grass was not good enough food for such a delicate creature, he created the violet as special food for her.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The nature program is one of the features at Fellsland this year. The leaders' cottage on the water front has been remodeled and painted and serves as a headquarters and workshop for this part of the camp program. Boys are busy at work on blueprints, spatter prints, plaster of paris mountings and other nature projects from morning until night.

One of the projects now under way at the Nature Den is the charting of the ceiling which, when completed, will show most of the major constellations in their proper relationship to each other, and with the proper magnitude for the stars. The ceiling is marked so as to show the hours and the angle of declination so that all constellations may be easily recognized as they are observed at night.

A nature trail is being built along the shore in front of the Nature Den. The trail begins with an outdoor cage which contains turtles, frogs, and water snakes; follows the shore for a short distance, and then turns into the woods and comes back to the Nature Den again. It is planned to have most of the trees and plants found on the camp property on this trail before the summer is over. Each tree and plant will be labelled and will have some interesting facts concerning its life history noted. Animals will also be found on the trail in habitats as near to their natural ones as possible.

The Nature Den itself has been one of the attractions for visitors at camp. The walls are covered with the project work of Scouts: drawings of animals, trees, flowers, birds, insects, and constellation charts. The shelves surrounding the room are rapidly becoming filled with insects and dissected animals which the boys have been worink on in connection with their zoology Merit Badge. Three black guinea pigs and a rabbit have been loaned to the camp for the summer which have kept the Scouts amused with their queer antics.

Bird hikes are held frequently early in the morning, and those who have taken them have seen a great number of different kinds in the vicinity of the Pow Wow River. Instruction in the constellations is also given on clear nights, just before taps. Many of the Scouts spend part of their boating period in trying to find animals for the camp zoo, and plants which are not found on the camp property, which they bring back for identification.

Seascout Ship Named

Eleven older boys are now living on board the Seascout Landship at Camp Fellsland. By a unanimous vote of the boys, the ship is now known as the Seascout Ship "Mystic." All of the Scouts on board the ship are now working on the apprentice Seascout requirements, and are looking forward to more advanced seamanship when they will take up relative bearings running lights and similar topics. Already they have learned several traditional ceremonies including "colors" and "piping" the skipper over the side."

The apprentice Seascout requirements upon which they are now working are as follows:

To become an apprentice Sea Scout a Scout must:

(1) Be 15 years of age. (2) Take the Sea Promise. (3) Demonstrate the proper method of using the lifebelt and the lifebuoy. (4) Write an article of at least 200 words on the Sea History of the United States. (5) Present the written consent of his parents and make application to join a ship or sea scout patrol.

The Scouts now quartered on the good ship "Mystic" are, Coxswain Willard Ames of Troop 3, Stoneham, whose crew consists of Gordon MacPherson of Troop 4, Medford; Norman Bach of Troop 1, Woburn; Carl Tolman of Troop 3, Stoneham, and James Rich of Troop 3, Stoneham. Coxswain Edward Marsh of Troop 4, Stoneham, whose crew consists of Richard Wheeler of Troop 5, Medford; Walter Koenig of Troop 3, Medford; Edward Nigro of Troop 7, Medford; George Largess of Troop 16, Medford, and Kenneth Gray of Troop 5, Medford.

FOUR SPLENDID PICTURES AT THE CAPITOL, ARLINGTON NEXT WEEK

Starting off a week of outstanding pictures is Edward G. Robinson, who first sprang to cenema prominence in "Little Caesar" and "Smart Money." He appears starting Monday, July 31 for three days at the Capitol, Arlington, in the "Little Giant."

An unusually strong cast supporting Robinson, include Mary Astor as his leading lady, Helen Vincent, Kenneth Thompson, Shirley Grant.

Completing the comedy bill is Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster and Zazu Pitts in "Professional Sweetheart."

For the last half of the week, starting Thursday, "The Eagle and the Hawk." The cast is a director's dream—Frederic March as the Eagle, loving flying, abhoring killing; Cary Grant as the Hawk, quick tempered and quick triggered observer; blonde and lithesome Carole Lombard as the beautiful English Society girl; Jack Oakie as the Aviator who takes nothing seriously except his meals and his medals.

A pulsing, exciting drama of the thrills behind hospital walls, titled enigmatically "The Girl in 419" is the co-feature with "Eagle and the Hawk."

Kiddie shows are fast becoming an institution at the Capitol, with many more children attending weekly, and the result is that the shows are also becoming bigger and better.

SYMPHONY CONCERTS AT LEXINGTON

Once again the town of Lexington will be among the first to sponsor an outstanding movement toward finer values when during the first two weeks of August 35 members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will give a series of six out-of-door concerts on Parker Field. If, as is at present the plan, the Boston Esplanade Concerts and next week the Lexington concerts will open on Aug. 2, and will run them Aug. 3, 4, 6, 7 and 8. In case of rain the program missed will be played on the 9th or 10th of August. These playground concerts will come to Lexington through the efforts of Mr. Chester Cook, supervisor of music in the public schools.

As nearly as possible it is desired to run the local concerts on the lines of the Boston Esplanade Concerts. They will be open to all comers without special charge, and every music lover of Lexington and surrounding towns is urged to take advantage of the opportunity. As at the Esplanade, chairs will be rented probably for 15 cents each, the proceeds from which will pay for the services of the artists. Donations will be received by the Lexington Trust Company.

In order to cover the expense of building the shell and starting the opening concert, strip tickets for chairs will be sold by those who are assisting Mr. Cook in the various suburban towns. These tickets will be good for one chair each on any of the six nights. It is hoped that many people will co-operate by purchasing these tickets early so that the committee will have something with which to work preceding the actual performances. There will be six tickets on a strip.

By the report of the committee on motor traffic and parking it is planned to so route cars that there will be no noise or confusion in the circular road around the playground. Instead, cars will be diverted so as to find parking facilities on the road toward Waltham street and thus will be headed in the right direction for a speedy departure at the close of the program.

The program tentatively agreed upon for the opening night, next Wednesday, will be as follows:

1.	On the Mall	Goldman
2.	Overture to William Tell	Rossini
3.	(a) A Wild Rose
	(b) To A Water Lily	MacDowell
4.	Fantasia, "Faust"	Gounod
	Short Intermission
5.	Suite, "Peer Gynt"	Grieg
6.	Dreams	Wagner
	Waltz, The Skaters	Waldteufel
8.	Pomp and Circumstance	Elgar

A TELEPHONE is Insurance

NO matter how many policies you have for protection, you need a telephone.

In emergency, it protects you against loss of time when every minute is precious.

It insures against loneliness the home-body who seldom sees kinsfolk and friends. No one with a telephone is ever really alone.

It fetches and carries—engagements, greetings, invitations, gossip—the small change of neighborliness and friendship without which your family's outlook is limited by the four walls of home.

It runs the housewife's errands, protecting her against inconvenience and downright discomfort, come sun, come storm.

And, not least important if you rely on it for work, your telephone protects you against loss of income.

A telephone is indeed insurance, giving you, not only protection, but daily dividends of comfort and convenience.

Come in or call our Business Office to ask about service. You can call us without charge from any Public Telephone.

YARKAND: COSMOPOLITAN MART OF CHINESE TURKISTAN

Yarkand, in Chinese Turkistan, which recently was seized by non-Chinese Moslem forces, is one of the leading markets of China's westernmost territory, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The city is set in a fertile oasis, about 200 miles southeast of Kashgar.

Because of the high, thick, tower-topped wall that surrounds it, Yarkand resembles a venerable fortress to the approaching traveler, says the bulletin.

Streets Too Narrow for Vehicles

Outside the city gates, straggling suburbs show the city's more recent growth. Inside the walls, however, it is a typical remote Asian settlement, compact with narrow streets—too narrow for wheeled traffic—squeezed between the facades of flat-roofed buildings constructed largely of sun-dried brick.

Among the few open spaces are estates of wealthy merchants whose imposing residences are set in spacious grounds amply supplied with fruit trees and flowering gardens. But these estates are not all to be seen by the public of Yarkand for many of them are encircled by high walls.

Yarkand's population—it has about 100,000 inhabitants—is a strange medley of human races. In the rumbling bazaars, in the space of a city block the visitor will encounter Persians, Afghans, Indians of many racial strains, Chinese, Mongolians, Siberian tribesmen, Russians, and strange peoples from many parts of Central Asia.

Swedes Maintain Mission

A part of the human mixture, which one finds at any time in the bazaars, has but recently trekked over dusty, tortuous trade routes that converge at Yarkand. Some of these trails lead over the difficult passes of the Himalayas, the Hindu Kush, and the high Pamirs, the so-called "roof of the world." These travelers are only temporary residents who take fresh merchandise to the Yarkand markets, or who go there to buy.

Seldom does the traveler meet a Westerner in Yarkand, unless it be a member of the Swedish Mission. At rare intervals tired members of a European or American expedition arrive to remain long enough to replenish their supplies. One factor in Yarkand's isolation from the Western world is the fact that the nearest railroad is in India, 700 miles away across towering mountain peaks.

Despite Yarkand's isolation, however, its bazaars amaze the traveler. In them he finds a rare display of rugs and cotton and silk goods in colorful array; ornaments of jade from the jade deposits of near-by Khotan; trinkets of many varieties; food stuffs that please the diverse tastes of a dozen different peoples; herds of camels, donkeys, horses and mules that may be hired or bought for use as mounts or baggage carriers. Yarkand has its own breed of thick-necked, small-headed horses, one of which sent as mount for the National Geographic Society's representative on a recent expedition across a part of Asia. While here and there European-made articles, such as a box of matches, may be seen mixed in the mercantile hodgepodge, most of the merchandise originated in Asia within a thousand miles of the city and arrived by slow-moving caravan, a type of transportation which rapidly increases the prices of materials from afar.

Yarkand was visited by Marco Polo in the 13th century. He wrote about people of Yarkand who were afflicted with goiter, which still is a prevalent disease. The city occupies the largest oasis in Chinese Turkistan. Many small villages dot the well-watered acres of the oasis which are covered with groves of trees, thriving farms, and fine grazing land. The region teems with cattle, horses, sheep, goats, donkeys and poultry.

A BOOM—TWO OF THEM—IN THE SALUTE MARKET

The salute market is experiencing a mild boom. Two "booms," in fact, have been added to the courtesy salute for Governors of American States by Presidential decree.

Henceforth Governors visiting Army or Navy posts within their own States will be entitled to 15-gun salutes, placing them on parity with members of the Presidential Cabinet. Formerly Governors received 17 guns.

Salute by gunfire is an ancient ceremony that grew out of custom and usage, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Once strong nations compelled weaker ones to salute by gunfire as an act of submission. During the 17th century fine points in matters of international courtesy sometimes even led to hostility between States of Europe.

Now All Salutes Are Returned

Because the earliest gunpowder greetings were largely forced affairs on parties of the second part, vessels and shore forts of stronger nations could reply to them or not as they saw fit. But gradually changed. With the spread of the idea of equality between nations, gunfire salutes were returned "gun for gun." This is now universal practice among civilized nations.

The most widely-used salute today is the International, which consists of 21 guns fired one after another. The ceremony and the number of guns was taken over by the United States from the British.

Why did the British choose 21 as the number of guns suitable for an International salute?

In the earliest days of saluting, British men-of-war fired seven guns. The number seven was taken, it is believed, because of its mystical and symbolical significance. Among ancient nations and in the Bible seven is "The Sacred Number." Astronomy once listed seven "planets," and the phases of the moon changed every seven days. In the Bible creation was finished in seven days, and every seventh year was sabbatical.

But while early British regulations stated that ships might fire only seven guns, shore batteries were allowed three guns to every one on shipboard. It was explained that powder made from sodium nitrate spoiled on shipboard, but it was easy to keep on land. The multiple three was chosen, too, because it has had mystical and symbolical importance from remote times.

21 Guns Is International Salute

When better gunpowder was made, the salute at sea was raised to equal that on land. By common agreement today the International salute of all civilized nations is 21 guns. In the United States 21 guns is also the National Salute, given for the President, ex-Presidents, heads of foreign governments, members of a reigning royal family, and for the flag.

Once our National Salute was one gun for each State. First authorized in 1810, the National Salute had grown to 21 guns in 1818. The number of guns increased steadily with the growth of the nation, until 1841, when the National Salute was reduced to 21 guns. In 1875 the United States also formally accepted 21 guns as the International Salute.

This country has also an extra-special ceremony known as the "Salute to the Nation," which consists of one gun for each of the 48 States. This mimic war is staged only at noon on July 4th at American military posts, although it has been given on a few other notable occasions, such as the death of a President.

Warned to Use Soft Pedal

When George Stephenson, English inventor of the locomotive, was preparing his case in support of what was to become the world's first railway his lawyer bluntly told him that if he bonsted so much about the speed of his engine (about 15 miles an hour) he would inevitably "damn the whole proposition" and be himself regarded as a maniac.

Chewing Insects

The chewing insects comprise the various caterpillars, beetles, grasshoppers, leaf rollers and tyers. Caterpillars are the larva of beautiful butterflies and moths.

Horseshoe Pitching

The standard regulation horseshoe pitching distance is 40 feet for women in contests and tournaments. It is 30 feet. Pitcher's box is 6 feet square; stakes are of iron, 1 inch in diameter, 8 inches above ground. Horseshoes are not over 7½ inches long, 7 inches wide, 2½ pounds in weight. Regulation game is 50 points; the closest shoe (or shoes) to stake, within 6 inches, scores one point; a ringer scores three points.

Tricks of Sparrows

English sparrows rarely injure other birds of full age, but do pull nests to pieces, and throw out any nestlings present in order to use the materials for their own structures. These robberies are mostly of the homes of swallows, martins, bluebirds and wrens.

BETHROTHAL OF MISS OLIVE GALE ANNOUNCED

Of much interest to Winchester residents is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Olive Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Lewis Gale of Yale street, to Mr. Robert Cobb Myers, son of Mrs. Henry Earle Myers of Akron, Ohio, which was made at a garden tea given at "Four Winds," the Nahant summer home of her parents, on Friday, July 28.

The engagement was disclosed in a unique manner. A poem written by Mrs. Gale, together with the names of the engaged pair, was artistically inscribed on decorated plates, the appropriate design of which carried ships, gulls and compass. These colorful and significant plates became souvenirs for the guests at the conclusion of the tea. The garden at "Four Winds" offered an effective setting for the affair, with its profusion of midsummer bloom. Miss Virginia Wadsworth of this town officiated at the tea table with the bride-to-be's mother.

Since her graduation from Winchester High School, Miss Gale has been studying the dance at the Miriam Winslow School of the Dance, Boston, and has taken a course of special studies under the internationally famous exponent of the dance, Mr. Ted Shawn. In May of this year, Miss Gale appeared with Ruth St. Denis at the Colonial Theater, Boston. She has played an active part in local dramatics and is a popular member of the younger set, both here and at Nahant.

Mr. Myers studied international law at the University of Geneva and has completed a course at Boston University where he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Wedding plans are being made for late September.

LEGION TO PLAY NORTH CAMBRIDGE "CASEYS"

Winchester Legion continues to pick the tough ones and tomorrow afternoon will play the strong North Cambridge K. of C. team on Manchester Field, commencing at 3:30.

The "Caseys" just at present are leading the Suburban League and are probably as good a club as any in Greater Boston. Frank McCrehan, Boston College baseball coach, is handling the team and taking his regular turn on the mound. If he works tomorrow, Winchester will face its toughest hurler to date and behind the veteran are such players as "Sonny" Foley of B. C., Horan, Cambridge Latin ace; "Jackie" Cote, brother of the famous "Pete," and "Larry" Gibson, B. C. slugger.

Winchester hopes to have the same club that faced the Pros in there tomorrow and will need fully as strong a club as that to make any headway with the "Caseys."

The locals can not hope to win games with the poor defense they have been showing, especially when they are facing pitchers like Devernanne, Rawding and McCrehan, who aren't going to permit any wholesale slugging bees. Muffed flies, messed up grounders, poor throwing and missed double plays are going to lose ball games sure pop against teams like Lord Tanning, Arlington Pros and North Cambridge, and while no one minds the loss of a game to a better club, every one who knows baseball, hates to see games booted away behind the sort of pitching the Legion has been getting from Tansey, Lee and Robinson. The boys must "snap out of it" and play ball, if they want the fans to continue to keep their interest in the club.

Getting back to the fans, it might be said that there were less than $30 in the good sized crowd at Manchester Field last Saturday. Allowing for poor times, that is no where what should have been taken in. There are many at the games, who can afford to do so, who are not contributing and to them the management is making a special appeal to help out. The least those who go down to ride the local players should do is to "loosen up" with a quarter for the privilege.

THOMAS MARSTERS HUTCHINSON

In the passing of Thomas M. Hutchinson of 21 Ridge street, on Sunday, July 13, Winchester lost one of its connecting links with an old time family, whose first settler came to this country in 1630 with that well-renowned Winthrop Company. Mr. Hutchinson died as the result of a shock sustained on Thursday, July 27 but though somewhat disabled, he kept around until Sunday, only taking to his bed at 10 o'clock in the morning. The end came peacefully at 1 p. m., his mind functioning to the last. He had been in declining health for several years, having on that account relinquished his position as Custodian of the Old State House in Boston, a position he held for more than 17 years.

Mr. Hutchinson was born Aug. 3, 1852, in the old residence which stands at the corner of Ridge street and Hutchinson road. The foundations of this house, which was burned years ago, may still be seen to the east of the present dwelling. He was educated in the scools of Winchester, first in the old Hill District School on the West Side, later in the down-town schools, graduating from the Winchester High School in due course. In his early manhood Mr. Hutchinson traveled extensively as a salesman and had many interesting stories to tell of the various sections of the country and of "little old New York" of a half century ago.

He had a wonderful memory and graphically described the happenings of years ago, patriotic celebrations, visits of noted men to Boston, and events connected with National elections when party feeling ran high. He was well posted on the genealogy and history of Woburn, Winchester and Arlington, and it was his hobby to collect data on the old settlers and their descendants. A cultured, well educated man of refined tastes, of a type of years ago, when men took time to consider the refinements of life, Thomas Marsters Hutchinson will be missed by a wide circle of acquaintances, as well as by intimate friends and neighbors.

Mr. Hutchinson was the son of Thomas Oliver Hutchinson of Winchester, and Mary Annie (Marsters) Hutchinson of Boston, and was of the eighth generation in this country, the first of the name, George and Margaret Hutchinson, of the Winthrop group, having settled in Charlestown. They assisted in starting the First Church in Charlestown, later the First Church of Boston at the corner of State and Devonshire streets. These first Hutchinsons lived on Bow street, then in Malt lane, Charlestown, and owned land which extended to the Charles River, where the State Prison now stands. Their old home was standing about 50 years ago, and Mr. Hutchinson well remembered visits there when quite young.

Land in Woburn was granted to the family in 1724, and the first house was built in 1745. The land then owned extended from Ridge street to Anderson place, by the Crosby Farm in Arlington, and across the meadow to Warren and Medford streets. Samuel Hutchinson was instrumental in organizing the church in Menotomy and it is on record that he gave six pounds to this object.

Mr. Hutchinson was of the sixth generation to live on this land, and all had lived in the one house until about 50 years ago, when the house and buildings, fine stables and carriage houses, with their contents, were destroyed by fire. He well remembered gay parties in the old residence when society folks of Arlington, attired in the style of 70 years ago, with high stepping horses and luxurious carriages, attended a reception or anniversary.

Some four generations ago, the first Thomas Hutchinson added to the family acres by purchasing from Richard Gardner (a relative of the celebrated Elder John Gardner, who was for many years minister at the church in Stowe, and whose tomb is in the Churchyard there) land which extended to what is now the Winchester Boat Club, and to Bacon street. The old Middlesex Canal ran through this land. Part of the estate therefore was in Woburn, later purchases also adding land near the Twombly place and in West Cambridge (later Arlington), but for a long time known as the Menotomy district. Turkey Hill, now a reservation of the Town of Arlington, was part of this extensive holding.

This section was sold by a cousin some years ago to the section developed since 19.. by the Jacob Wilbur Company. For 209 years the family has owned this land, and lived a vital part of the community, but their church affiliations have remained in Arlington. Now the last male member has passed on, and the only immediate relative being Miss Mary who has endeared herself to all who come in contact with her. To her the sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended. There are several cousins who are well-known, Mrs. George Spalding and Mrs. Louise Rice Kidder of Winchester, and Miss Edith Rice of Arlington.

The funeral services were held in Winchester on Tuesday afternoon, at the Kelly & Hawes parlors, and were conducted by Rev. Grady D. Feagan of the Baptist Church in Arlington. The attendance of many old friends and neighbors testified to the respect in which the family is held, as did the wealth of floral offerings. Interment was in the Hutchinson lot in Wildwood Cemetery, with services at the grave.

LEONARD BEACH DEDICATION

The members of the Park Department have extended an open invitation to all residents of the town to be present at the official dedication of the new Leonard Beach on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 9 at 1:30 p. m. An acceptance of this invitation will give one an opportunity to observe what has been accomplished with the youngsters at the beach together with a first-hand impression of the remarkable benefits which this project has brought to the people. The new sanitary building erected at the beach will furnish dressing quarters for those who would like an afternoon swim at the beach.

This beach under the capable direction of Norman Harrold, lifeguard, has been a tremendous success from the start and the members of the Park Department are to be congratulated upon their prophetic vision. The daily attendance averages around 300. During the last hot spell the beach has been taxed to capacity for over 700 registered on last Thursday.

A swimming meet for the children will take place at 1:30 and should provide an afternoon's entertainment for the guests. The Park Department announces that n surprise is in store for all youngsters who attend. This "surprise" will undoubtedly be the magnet which will tend to break all present attendance records.

At the end of the races awards will be made by Mr. J. Carnie, representing the Red Cross, to members of the beach who have passed the various tests given during the last week. At this point it might be well to mention that over 65 children have learned to swim at the free lesson classes held daily.

The bench can be reached in machine by taking the road at the northerly end of Leonard Field. The parking facilities at the beach are sufficient to provide space for any number of residents.

The program for the races is as follows:

EMBLEM CLUB GARDEN PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 16, Mrs. Frank E. O'Neil will be hostess at the Emblem Club garden party to be held at her home at 9 Alben street. Club members and their friends are most cordially invited. A whist game with the usual subscription and donated prizes will begin at 2:30 p. m. Cake and tonic will be on sale during the afternoon. Sister O'Neil has always been a most genial hostess and the stay-at-homes will welcome this little diversion of an out-of-door party at this time. Perhaps Sister Myrtle Goodhue will be there with her trusty movie camera. So come along, sisters, and you may get your pictures "tooken."

Apropos of snapshots, we are wondering if the ones taken at our outing at Hampton Beach are on exhibition yet. Everything was favorable for the camera artist—the sun shone all day long. The husky ones who took to the water were snapped—sunburn and all. So were the rest of us—at intervals. Relaxation was out of the question for there was Sister Myrtle, with her little camera, requesting us to "look pleasant." We ought to be firmly affixed to the beach scenery of Hampton, at least. But we are sure anxious to know how we looked after she chased us into the water—with our best clothes on, too.

Just the same, it was one great outing—a perfect beach day, a good shore dinner, and something doing every minute. Some of the sisters took occasion to do a little Christmas shopping at one of the various gift shops. They emulated the early bird in thus bagging all the bargains, perhaps, but we noticed that no gentlemen's gifts were on display. "Fred" and "Pete" and "Tom" need not be disappointed if their Christmas stockings are filled with lingerie—'cause bargains are something the fair sex cannot resist.

Of course we hunted up a bowling alley and bowled a few strings. Sisters Katherine Fallon and Anna Little were two of the star bowlers. Most of the others were off the alley, more than on, half of the time—but of course that was the fault of the alley. That's the usual alibi!

And speaking of outings, sisters, don't forget the outing of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs, to be held at Bass Point House, Nahant, Sept. 9. Reservations for either a steak, chicken, or fish dinner may be made through our President, Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon, as soon as possible. This will be a splendid chance to get in touch with other clubs and find out what they are doing, and all who go will have the time of their lives.

SEVEN PROTESTANT CHURCHES OF WINCHESTER UNITE TO FINANCE THE COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Depressions may come and go, but churches and their good works go on forever. When plans for the "Community School for training Church School workers" were in the making, the first question to be answered was, "Where is the money coming from to pay those professors and leaders in religious education whom we wish to engage, so that our school will have the best standards in scholarship and the newest teaching methods, as well as the highest ideals of Christian service?" The committee turned naturally to the churches and the churches responded as one man, underwriting the school for almost its entire budget. The nominal fee of $1, per student will amply cover the remaining expense.

"Character," said Rev. Stephen Tritchman at Star Island, this summer, "is not a by product, but it is performing some social function well. It is not getting a merit badge, but a genuine functioning in the community with superior success."

Though spoken of the individual these words apply equally well to the church as a whole. The character of our churches is determined by the way they function in the social life of the community. Their unanimous and hearty support of the Community School is but one "superior success" among a thousand.

The co-operating churches include
First Baptist Church.
New Hope Baptist Church.
First Congregational Church
Second Congregational Church
Crawford Memorial Church.
Church of the Epiphany
First Unitarian Church

TRYING FOR THE WORLDS' FAIR

My daughter, Harriet Lee Pilkington, is entered in the A. & P. Stores "On to Chicago" contest and has already received such a large number of votes that I feel she has a reasonable chance of success. Therefore, I take this method of asking the cooperation of those who have not already been reached by telephone or otherwise. Votes may be deposited directly in the stores where you make your purchases, in envelopes furnished by the stores for that purpose, which shall be marked with Harriet's full name and address and the number of votes, but if you are in this vicinity and will telephone me I will gladly collect them.

We will sincerely appreciate your assistance. Write or telephone Madeline W. Pilkington, 5 Wilson street, Winchester. Tel. Win. 1148-W.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The August meeting of the Fortnightly Garden Group has been canceled. The next meeting will be Sept. 13. Members will be notified of the details of the meeting in the Winchester Star.

CAMP NOTES

Two teams of Scouts enjoyed a fast session of volley ball Tuesday morning under the direction of Nathalie Stevens and Betty Thompson, each team winning a game and looking forward to the rubber which will be played on the first cool day.

Despite the heat, a few enthusiastic pioneers cooked lunch in the open, others enjoying picnic lunches under the trees. During the rest period which was longer than usual because of the warm weather the Scouts enjoyed reading books from the camp library, seeking out attractive spots where the trees provided a shade from the hot sun.

A busy afternoon was spent in the cabin weaving footstools, braiding bracelets and belts to match, and making colorful brushes and leather change purses. A few energetic Scouts refused to let the heat keep them from another round of archery in their free time.

Thursday's carpentry work included the making of small hanging book shelves for walls, and Betty Thompson, who is assisting at the camp and incidentally is very clever with a knife, instructed the Scouts in the intricacies of soap carving. Long strips of soap were donated and the girls used their own ingenuity in the matter of design, mostly fashioning animals and figures, some queer and some wonderful, but all interesting as expressing the individuality of the carver.

In addition to the carving the Scouts made lanyards for whistles in handcraft and more stools of varying design and color combinations. The girls also chose sides for a baseball game which aroused plenty of excitement.

On next Thursday, Aug. 10, camp is to close for the summer, and the director and camp committee sincerely hope that all parents and friends of Girl Scouts will visit the cabin with any others interested to see what the girls can do in a typical camp day and what they have been busy accomplishing during the summer.

The Scouts will be delighted to have all who care to do so bring a picnic lunch and plan to spend the entire day in camp. If this is impossible, at least plan to stop in long enough to see the Scouts in action and learn why the girls are so thoroughly enjoying the scouts and so enthusiastic about the camp where in an attractive cabin they have been free to work, play and enjoy life generally.

REPORTED HOLDUP TO WINCHESTER POLICE

Shortly after 6:30 yesterday morning Frank R. Nichols of Union street, Bangor, Me., reported to the local police that he had been held up while driving a load of wool cloth from Bangor to Boston.

According to Nichols he was driving a two-ton truck, owned by the New York, Boston and Bangor Express through Danvers when he was stopped by four men in a small sedan, bearing Massachusetts dealer's plates.

The men were armed and at the pistol point made Nichols get off his truck, whereupon he was blindfolded and his hands bound before he was forced to enter the car in which the men were riding.

He was then driven to Winchester and thrown out of the car in Fellsdale off Border road. Making his way to Border road he stopped an automobile driven by Winthrop Palmer of Wolcott terrace who took him to police headquarters.

The holdup occurred in the territory covered by the Reading Barracks of the State Police and Chief William H. Rogers took Nichols there after broadcasting the alarm over the radio and teletype systems.

FRED H. SCHOLL, P.E.R.

NEW DISTRICT DEPUTY, MASSACHUSETTS CENTRAL, B. P. O. E.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Fred H. Scholl, P.E.R., of Vine street, a prominent member of Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. E. to the important post of District Deputy for the Massachusetts Central District. His appointment was one of four for Massachusetts made by Grand Exalted Ruler, Walter F. Meier on July 22 at Chicago.

As District Deputy for Massachusetts Central, Mr. Scholl will have under his jurisdiction, not only Winchester Lodge, but also Arlington, Concord, Cambridge, Natick, Newton, Milford, Somerville, Watertown, Waltham, Framingham, Maynard, Hudson, Brookline and Marlboro. In addition to visiting these lodges he will be called upon to decide questions of policy and other matters of vital interest to the fraternity.

The new District Deputy is well fitted to assume his post for he has been one of the most active and enthusiastic Elks in Greater Boston since the inception of Winchester Lodge 11 years ago.

He was active in the group who brought about the institution of the local lodge, was a charter member and served as Exalted Ruler in the year 1926-27. Since its inception he has always taken an active interest in the lodges' welfare and charitable work, and was also active in promoting the "Kiddies' Days" which the lodge formerly ran for several years.

Mr. Scholl has a wide acquaintance among Massachusetts Elks and is also known to many members of the order throughout the country, having been a delegate from Winchester Lodge to the Grand Lodge convention at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1927, and representative to the Grand Lodge conventions at Miami, Fla., in 1928, and at Los Angeles, Cal., in 1929.

Last year he took an active part in the ritualistic contest held in the Massachusetts Central District and one of his degree teams, that of Newton Lodge won in the Eastern try-outs from the team representing the State of Rhode Island, and at the National Convention in Milwaukee won the national crown with a rating of 100 per cent.

DR. DREW PREACHER AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The preacher at this Sunday's union service in the First Baptist Church is to be Rev. Edwin Payson Drew, D.D., who will take as his subject "Life's Threefold Satisfaction."

Dr. Drew is no stranger to Winchester, having preached formerly at union services in the Baptist Church. Those who heard him on those occasions will welcome the opportunity to hear him once more, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this Sunday's service which commences at 10:30 a. m.

ODD FELLOWS' FISHING TRIP

Members of Waterfield Lodge, No. 231, I. O. O. F., and Dunster Lodge of Cambridge with friends are planning a real old time deep sea fishing trip for Sunday, Aug. 13.

The fishermen will leave the Lafayette Boat Club on Warren Bridge, Charlestown at 9 o'clock on an 80-foot boat and will be gone all day as the captain has promised to go where the fish are plentiful, either off Gloucester or down at the light ship. A wonderful day is promised all who go and for further information may be secured from either "Al" Hersey or Elmer Ripley.

Men were put to work Wednesday pulling up the weeds and long grass on the bed of the Mill Pond, a particularly rank growth having appeared there since the water was shut off. It will take some time to clean the place properly, but much of the work originally done to improve and beautify the pond would go for nothing if the weeds and grass are not destroyed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION ON PACIFIC COAST

San Francisco, California

The Sanatorium of Christian Science Benevolent Association on Pacific Coast was established by The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., in 1930, and is situated on a thickly timbered 16 acre piece of rolling land on the edge of San Francisco known as Arden Wood. Its general location is between Twin Peaks and the Ocean. The Sanatorium is sheltered from the prevailing winds by the hill which forms the principal topographical feature of the property. No public roads or ways cross it, but paths are arranged extending from the woods, making a feature of a small ravine which runs along the east boundary.

The Sanatorium is of steel and reinforced concrete done in a modernized Breton style, with high central pavilion, tall classic French windows and steep sloping, red tiled roof. It contains accommodations for 120 guests and associates (a term by which the workers in all departments are known.)

The good cheer and cordial hospitality of the Sanatorium are extended not only to those who are ill and are seeking health through Christian Science but also to those Christian Scientists who desire a quiet home-like atmosphere in which to recruit spiritually as well as physically.

A "REEL" VACATION

On invitation of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Dr. C. H. Tozier of this town left this week on an extended tour into the wilds of British Columbia. He is taking with him a number of color cameras, still cameras and several movie outfits. With the help of the Canadian Government Park Department, special privileges will be given the party in order to bring back the Canadian Rockies in all their glory, to be shown in Winchester later.

GRANADA THEATRE, MALDEN

"Hold Me Tight," starring James Dunn and Sally Eilers, and "Be Mine Tonight," the newest European film sensation, will make up the double bill that opens at the big Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. There are perhaps no other two players in pictures who so staunchly personify the real charm of modern youth as the stars of "Hold Me Tight." "Jimmy" Dunn is all young men, and Sally Eilers is every young girl, together they are ideal. In the film they are both employed in a large department store, where they meet and fall in love. Sally is attractive and "Jimmy" is ambitious. There seems to be nothing standing in the way of their complete success. But they reckon without the desires and ambitions of others. Let alone they have a good chance of achieving their personal aims, but hampered by others, the battle is a difficult one. With an unscrupulous store detective who is attracted to Sally and also in a position to get "Jimmy" out of the way, the fight is made all the more strenuous. In addition to Dunn and Miss Eilers, "Hold Me Tight," presents Frank McHugh and June Clyde as their companions in their battle for happiness. Other well known players are Kenneth Thompson, Noel Francis and Dorothy Peterson.

"Be Mine Tonight" comes to Malden with a reputation of being the acme of delightful entertainment. The production combines to the utmost degree sterling drama, delicious comedy, enchanting music and exquisite settings. Kiepura, who plays the lead in "Be Mine Tonight," one of the world's most famous operatic tenors, compared by critics to Cuarson and Gigli. Kiepura, in addition to his golden voice, has a most pleasing personality, is strikingly handsome, and a fine dramatic player, a rarity in opera singers. Sonnie Hale one of the stars of the English stage, and Bagda Schneider are the feminine leads. "Be Mine Tonight" has had advance runs at top prices in the larger cities and has been attracting capacity crowds at each showing.

Sylvia Sidney in "Jennie Gerhardt," a screen adaption of Theodore Dreiser's sensational novel, heads the bill that ends its run at the Granada on Friday. Miss Sidney's support includes Donald Cook, Mary Astor and H. B. Warner. "Melody Cruise" with Carles Ruggles and Phil Harris as the stars, is the second attraction on the current program.

THREE ACCIDENTS LAST SUNDAY

Both Injuries and Property Damage Reported

Several persons were injured in the first of three automobile mishaps reported to the police last Sunday afternoon and evening.

Shortly before 1 o'clock last Sunday afternoon three automobiles were involved in a collision on Washington street not far from the Woburn line. Desk Officer John Hogan was sent from Headquarters to investigate and found that a Plymouth sedan, driven by Gerald F. O'Neill of 11 Homer street, Worcester, while headed south on Washington street, was in collision with a Nash coach, owned and driven by Hyman Galner of 127 Devon street, Roxbury, who was headed north.

After the collision the Plymouth swerved to the left and collided with a Hupmobile sedan, also headed north and owned and driven by Isadore Flashner of 18 Fenelon street, Dorchester.

All three of the machines were damaged and O'Neill's wife, Mary J. O'Neill, sustained lacerations and contusions to the face and abrasions to her arms and legs. She was treated at the Winchester Hospital by Dr. Richard J. Clark, as was her 2-year old son, Gerald, Jr., who was badly shaken up. Both were taken to the hospital by Cornelius Moynihan of 29 Mishawum road, Woburn.

Later in the afternoon a Revere physician notified Headquarters of injuries to Bertha Pauline of 20 Fenelon street, Dorchester; Edward Pauline of the same address; Samuel and Jessie Flashner of 3 Kingsdale street, Dorchester; Isadore Flashner of 18 Fenelon street, Dorchester; and Anna Flashman of 18 Fenelon street, Dorchester; all of whom were riding in the Hupmobile. All sustained bruises and abrasions with Miss Flashman having a possible fracture of the arm. None of the occupants of the Nash was injured.

Sunday evening at 9 o'clock, Harry Wolzo of 102 Winsor street, Medford, came to Headquarters and reported that as he was driving his Ford sedan north on Main street at Swanton street, Rosanna Wallace of 70 Middlesex street started to cross Main street and struck the mudguard of his machine. Wolzo stated that the woman was not knocked down and in response to his offer to take her to her home, stated that she was not hurt.

Shortly before 11 o'clock last Sunday night the last of the three accidents occurred on Forest street not far from the Stoneham line. A Chevrolet sedan, owned and driven by James E. Greaney, Jr, of 55 Bedford street, Woburn, while headed north collided with the rear of a Ford coach which had been parked in front of the residence of James G. Simpson at 118 Forest street by Vincent P. Devanney of 11 Benton street, Stoneham.

Both cars were badly damaged, the Ford having to be towed away. As the result of the impact the Ford crossed the sidewalk and struck a small tree on the Simpson grounds, slightly damaging it.

Greaney's stomach was injured when he was thrown against the steering wheel and he was also shaken up. Mrs. Mary Merrigan of 31 Central street, Arlington and Mrs. Margaret Mulcahy of Water street, Arlington, who were riding in the Chevrolet, sustained bruises. All three were treated for their injuries by an Arlington physician.

ENGAGED TO WINCHESTER YOUNG MAN

Over the past week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Percy de Rochemont Berry of Jamaica Plain announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Martha Louise Berry to Gordon A. Speedie, son of Mrs. C. Elizabeth Speedie and the late Arthur D. Speedie of Oxford street.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

There will be an exhibition of photographs loaned by the Library Art Club Aug. 1 to Aug. 21 at the Winchester Public Library on "Contemporary American Portrait Painters."

The work of 50 living American artists is represented here in portraits. From Contemporary American Portrait Painters, by Cuthbert Lee. Designed and made by the Printing House of William Edwin Rudge.

The exhibition of some 70 photographs taken by Mr. Robert E. Fay illustrating the splendid work accomplished on the Aberjona River by the unemployed under the able direction of the Planning Board is still attracting considerable attention.

A TRIBUTE

Aug. 1, 1933

To the Editor of the Star:

Will you kindly publish the following:

The officers and members of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce feel that we have suffered a great loss in the recent death of Frank H. Elliott. Much interested in the welfare of the town and in the affairs of our organization, he never missed a directors meeting unless prevented by unavoidable circumstances.

Always cordial and genial, a true gentleman and a loyal friend, he will be sadly missed by all who were fortunate enough to know him.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The first swimming team to represent the Winchester playground left the town on Wednesday afternoon to engage the crack Lexington team. Winchester was defeated by a large score yet the youngsters on the whole gave a fine account of themselves. Peter Coss won the diving championship from his Lexington opponent by a margin of four points. Dorothy Goodhue H. Moroney, L. Goddu and Dave Fitts of the local team were other point winners.

The Winchester Junior League has started on the second half with the North End Eagles out in front as a result of their surprising win over the Yankees. The Eagles met the Lexington playground team on Leonard Field and atoned for an earlier defeat by beating the Minutes Boys 11 to 3.

An All-Star team which has been picked from the league will journey to Arlington Thursday morning to play "Doc" McCarthy's championship playground team. On Friday afternoon the boys and girls tennis team from Loring avenue will play the Lexington team at Lexington. Return matches from Arlington and Lexington will be played at home.

In the Midget League the Leonard Field team is tied with the Swanton street Sluggers with six games each. This 14-year-old team at Leonard Field is capable of putting up a surprising game and have been matched with a team from the Stoneham playground for next Saturday morning on Leonard Field.

WINCHESTER BLANKED WATERTOWN

Winchester Legion got back into the win column Monday evening on Leonard Field, defeating the Watertown Community Club, 5—0.

The Legion bunched four hits to score four runs in the sixth inning, putting the game on ice. Bad base running early in the game prevented the local score from being larger.

Lee worked a nice game for Winchester and Manager Harry Chefalo was the batting star of the evening, driving a home run over the center field fence and also hitting a triple. The summary:

WINCHESTER LOST AT CONCORD

Despite the fact that "Ollo" Lee held Concord to a single hit in last Friday evening's Paul Revere League game at Concord, that team defeated the Winchester Legion, 4—0.

Errors and bases on balls led to the locals' downfall, together with the fact that the Legion boys were unable to hit McKenna when hits meant runs.

WINCHESTER'S SHARE $6341.17

Winchester's share of the $3,898,554 received by the State Emergency Finance Board from the Federal Government for distribution among cities and towns of the Commonwealth under the terms of the Federal Lewis-Wagner Welfare Relief Act is $6341.-17, just $3,658.83 less than the $10,-000 asked by the Selectmen for the first quarter of the year.

This money is being distributed to reimburse cities and towns for the money spent for welfare and unemployment relief during the first three months of the current year. In most cases it is being apportioned on the basis of 90 per cent of one-third of the amount spent. It had been thought that the ratio would be about one-to-three, or one dollar returned for each three dollars spent.

ARLINGTON PROS WON FROM LEGION

Playing heads-up baseball and taking advantage of the home team's miscues, the Arlington Pros baseball team won from the Winchester Legion before a good sized crowd on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon, 4 to 2.

The locals should have won the game, 1 to 0, for one of their two runs was earned, while errors were responsible for the four tallies the visitors succeeded in putting over. "Robbie" Robinson, colored underhand slinger, working for Winchester, held Arlington to six blows while Winchester was making "Herb" Rawding's slants for eight. The latter, however, was very effective with men on bases, and in only two innings was Winchester able to get a man as far as third.

Horace Ford, playing his first game for the Legion, got himself two hits and handled his four chances afield flawlessly. Ambling "Tony" Colucci was at third for the locals and fortunate it was that a man of Anthony's unquestioned class was stationed at the hot corner. No less than 14 chances went the way of the former Holy Cross star, and 13 of them were accepted.

"Neddo" Murray starred for the Pros, though the entire team played good ball, young "Tim" Contes playing a very slick first base.

The visitors won the ball game in the second. Murray, drew a walk, went to second on a wild pitch and reached third when "Jerry" Johnson dropped a little looper safely in right field.

A sharp throw from Tansey to Colucci picked "Ned" off third and "Robbie" bore down hard to fan T. Coates. Hederman then hit what looked like the easiest kind of a routine fly out to Lee in left. "Ollo," however, got tangled up with the floodlight post in left field and let the ball drop safely. Hederman reaching second and Johnson scoring. "Eddie" Doherty rapped one along the third base line that Colucci failed to field and Hederman counted. Doherty scored all the way from first when "Nick" Fitzgerald dropped Rawding's long fly after a hard run. The Arlington pitcher was out trying to stretch it, Fitzgerald to Colucci to Ford.

Winchester got in the game in the fifth. Chefalo singled cleanly past "Tweet" Walsh and went to second as Kendrick scratched a hit away from "Bob" Walsh at third. Robinson fanned, but Colucci singled past third to score Chefalo. T. Walsh threw out Lee.

Murray hit past Colucci to start the Pros' 8th, but should have died at first as Johnson popped up to Tansey trying to sacrifice. Tansey's throw to first had plenty on it and was high, getting away from Chefalo and permitting Murray to reach second. Ned then proceeded to steal third after obtaining a big lead. T. Coates skied to Kendrick in short right and Murray scored after the catch when Kendrick's throw got away from Tansey on a difficult short hop.

Hederman then hit past Ford, but Horace made a great backing-up one hand catch of Doherty's liner to retire the side.

With two away in the 7th Robinson hit over second, the ball skidding away from T. Walsh. "Robbie" stole safely and came in as Coates lost Colucci's harshly hit grounder.

Notes

Another good crowd, and a good game to watch, even if there were moments to try men's souls; particularly those of the Winchester rooters.

We suspect that Horace Ford, ex-Prices infielder and much traveled major league ball player, was the magnet that attracted many to Manchester Field. "Ed" Doherty, "Neddo" Murray and "Brad" Coates of the Pros all formerly wore the Legion colors and there were plenty there to see them perform again, but it was Ford that most of the fans wanted a peek at.

Horace did his stuff. Despite the fact that he had not played since early in May he handled four chances, two of them difficult, without effort and got himself two hits, one of which would have gone for extra bases, but for a nice hop-up to the speeding "Jerry" Johnson.

"Tony" Colucci had a field day at third for the Legion, accepting all but one of 14 chances flawlessly. His miscue came on a hard hit drive off Doherty's bat in the second, a ball on which he waited a shade too long.

Ambling "Tony" held on to fiercely driven balls from the bats of "Ed" Doherty in the fourth and "Tweet" Walsh in the 8th. He made two corking running plays on soft hopping bounders in front of Ford and finished up in the 9th with a lightning recovery and throw of a drive from Hederman's bat that caromed from his shins and rolled nearly to the box.

"Ollie" Lee had a tough day of it out in left, losing Hederman's soft fly when he got tangled up with the light post and then dropping Rawding's easy hoist in the 5th. Just to make it unanimous he failed to get the ball out of the infield, after running all sorts of pitching throughout the year. It just wasn't the Generall's day, and it is likely to be just too bad for the pitchers he faces this week and on whom he is sure to vent his wrath. Lee has been playing the best ball of his career this year and it is too bad he had to have his off day against a good club like the Pros.

The junior member of the House of Fitzgerald was another hard hitter who failed to get the ball past the inner defense last Saturday, though he was robbed of one hit when Rawding saved his own life by stopping his vicious liner, and of another when "Tweet" Walsh shifted beautifully to take his bounder that took a sudden high hop.

Two of Winchester's errors were on hard chances. Harry Chefalo got a black mark when he failed to force Murray at second after stopping Johnson's sizzling grounder. He had plenty of time to get the man, but pushed the ball along the ground to Ford instead of tossing it. If there had been no one on base Johnson would have gotten himself a hit on the drive.

"Nicky" Fitzgerald's bobble came when he muffed Rawding's long fly in the fatal second. Apparently he had the ball in both hands, but dropped it while on the run.

Big "Joe" Tansey made a slick peg to catch Murray off third in the second, and than made touch throws, first to second in the fourth and then to first when he attempted to complete a double play in the 6th.

Two errors of commission, one of omission, a base on balls and a wild pitch were all bunched in that bad second frame, and they proved plenty to hand the game to Arlington.

Ford showed the crowd how they do it in the big time when he ran in, speared "Tweet" Walsh's slow hopper with his gloved hand and tossed out the runner while on the run. It was a difficult play, yet looked very easy as he did it.

Several colleges were represented in the game. Ford and the Fitzgeralds are Tufts men, "Tweet" Walsh, "Tony" Colucci and "Eddie" Doherty, played for Holy Cross, "Joe" Tansey for Norwich, Kendrick for Bates frosh, "Bob" Walsh for Dartmouth, "Neddo" Murray for Northeastern and Jerry Johnson for Springfield.

"Ned" Murray made a perfect peg to erase Ford at third on "Jim" Fitzgerald's single to center with Horace on first in the opening frame. The throw had to be just right, and was.

Those who think Tansey should have an error on that throw-in of Kendrick's in the 6th ought to try to catch one of those short-hop balls, the hardest sort of ball to handle cleanly. There was no error on that play.

Any pitcher who can stop Lee, "Nick" Fitzgerald and Tansey has the Legion on the ropes. Only Ford and "Jim" Fitzgerald got more than one blow off Rawding. "Robbie" permitted only Murray, Johnson and Hederman to hit safely, but couldn't win his game. Support does count.

The crowd was guilty of some very poor sportsmanship in booing Chefalo before the game. Regardless of his ability as a player, while representing Winchester he is entitled to the support of the fans. He scored the only earned run of the game last Saturday.

We had occasion one evening this week to visit a filling station on Main street north of the center and after nearly losing a wheel as we attempted to turn into the station yard, were prompted to watch the machines, headed both north and south along the roadway. Many of them were whaling along at a rate of speed entirely too high for this much used thoroughfare. The driver, who nearly cracked up our machine paid not the scantiest heed to a turning signal, given in plenty of time to inform him of our intentions, with the exception of a toot or two of his horn and a wrathful glare as his machine swished by on the left hand side of the road. The police have conducted several campaigns against speeders and those who cut out of line on Main street, but apparently there is still much room for improvement. A little closer co-operation on the part of the court, would surely make it much easier for the police to curb the speeders and those who have no consideration for the rights of others on the road.

Next Wednesday is Traders' Day and indications are that most, if not all, the local stores will be closed on that date. There is always more or less confusion and debate among storekeepers about closing, with many willing to pass the buck to their neighbor and keep open if they hear of any one else who is going to do so. As a matter of fact, the whole matter of closing places of retail business on traders' days or holidays lies squarely with the consumers. If they believe in giving the men and women who serve them day in and day out in their local shops, or for that matter in the city stores, a day off, they can easily ensure a holiday by doing no buying on the day when the stores are supposed to be closed. This is the fair thing to do, and if adhered to by consumers, will soon bring concerted closing. It is hard to convince many storekeepers that they should close on this or that occasion if their receipts show a brisk business when they remain open. No business anywhere will result in concerted closing and fairness to all. Surely we can all do our shopping once during the summer on either the day before or the day after.

LEGION TOO GOOD FOR BELMONT

Winchester Legion proved too good for Belmont Wednesday evening, winning the Paul Revere League game between the two clubs on Leonard Field, 9—3.

"Robbie" Robinson worked for the Legion and with an early game six run lead just toyed with the visitors while Winchester was smacking Harrison's offering for 11 blows.

"Nick" Fitzgerald led the local attack with three hits, including a double. His brother, large "Jim" put the game on ice when he hoisted one over the centerfield fence with Lee and Nicholas on in the second. Four hits in the opening frame produced two runs.

"WHEN LADIES MEET" AT THE UNIVERSITY

"When Ladies Meet," one of Broadway's biggest hits of the current season, will be the attraction starting Sunday for four days at the University Theater. Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery have the co-starring roles and the other principals are Myrna Loy, Alice Brady, Frank Morgan, Martin Burton and Luis Alberni. The thesis of "When Ladies Meet" is based on the conclusions of what would happen when the wife of a philandering husband meets the woman on whom this husband is now lavishing his attentions. The plot achieves its originality on the fact that its situations are so ingeniously arranged that neither of the rival women is aware of the other's identity. They are unexpectedly brought together at the home of a friend and before long take each other into mutual confidence. When each subsequently discovers who the other is, the sparks begin to fly.

"The Silk Express," the companion feature, is a melodramatic story of an attempt by silk financiers to prevent the arrival of a trainload of silk in New York in their effort to corner the silk market. In the cast are Neil Hamilton, Shelia Terry, Arthur Byron, Guy Kibbie, Allen Jenkins and Dudley Digges.

"I Cover the Waterfront," the romantic thriller of the screen based on Max Miller's best selling book, with Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon and Ernest Torrence in the principal role starts Thursday. Ben Lyon, playing opposite Claudette Colbert, has the role of a reporter who aids federal men in running down a gang of pseudo-fishermen, headed by Ernest Torrence, whose real racket is smuggling Chinese into the United States. After landing hordes of the undesirable aliens under the very noses of the authorities, the mystery finally is solved.

"Zoo in Budapest" featuring Loretta Young and Gene Raymond and reported as one of the most unusual pictures ever portrayed on the screen, is the companion feature. The story, built around the activities and the atmosphere of a great zoological park, deals with the romance of a young man who has lived all his life among the animals, and a simple, unsophisticated orphan girl who comes to the zoo for a lesson in natural history.

ANOTHER WEEK OF FOUR EXCELLENT PICTURES AT THE CAPITOL, ARLINGTON

Another week of hit pictures at the Capitol Theatre, Arlington, starts on Monday, Aug. 7 with "Doug" Fairbanks, Jr. and Loretta Young in "The Life of Jimmy Dolan" and Bebe Daniels in "Cocktail Hour."

After a period of two years, during which their respective screen careers have sky-rocketed, Fairbanks Jr. and Loretta Young again play opposite each other as the result of requests of fans from all over the country since their last appearance together in "I Like Your Nerve," at which time they were hailed as one of the ideal love teams of the screen. The story is thrilling from start to finish, and has an exceptional supporting cast.

"Cocktail Hour" will show that Bebe Daniels has not lost even one iota of her popularity and this picture is one of her best, being ably assisted by Randolph Scott in the male lead.

To top off the week, Paramount's lavishly "International House" starts Thursday and continues through Saturday. This picture is sensational from the array of screen, stage and radio stars, who make up the cast alone. Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Sari Maritza, Cab Calloway, Bela Lugosi, Baby Rose Marie and the girls in cellophane are only some of the prominent stars in the picture. "International House" is well worth seeing.

A decidedly interesting mystery picture is "Tomorrow at Seven" with Chester Morris and Vivienne Osborne. The jigsaw puzzle replaces the conventional poison letter, black hand and death mask as a warning of stalking death, in this thrilling mystery which shares honors with "International House."

A month of real hit pictures can be seen in the following which will play the Capitol during the month of August: "I Love That Man" with Nancy Carroll and Edmund Lowe; "Zoo in Budapest," with Gene Raymond and Loretta Young; "College Humor," "Diplomaniacs" with Wheeler and Woolsey; "Jennie Gerhardt" with Sylvia Sidney and many other outstanding productions.

Monday night, through the cooperation of Arlington merchants in conjunction with "Opportunity Days," 25 gifts will be given away at the theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Twombly and family of Highland avenue are at Priscilla Beach, Plymouth, for the remainder of the summer.

SUNSHINE HILL MEMORIES

Twenty members of the Fortnightly Club were able to accept the invitation of their president, Mrs. Gladys Wilson, to "come to luncheon and spend the day" at her summer home, Kittery Point, Me., recently. It was a never-to-be-forgotten occasion. The party traveled in five cars over the road, to be individually greeted at their journey's end by Mrs. Wilson, her daughter, Hope, and Judge and Mrs. Rennick, Mrs. Wilson's father and mother.

The scenic beauty from Mrs. Wilson's home is transcendingly lovely, small ponds, and beautiful woods lay below on every side, while a vista view of the open ocean commands a ship lane where ships not only pass in the night, but all day as well.

After a most delicious luncheon served out-of-doors by Mrs. Wilson's mother, the guests engaged themselves as they chose, which meant they all gathered on the wide veranda and had a most enjoyable social time, much lively banter being indulged in.

Judge Rennick made a perfect host delighting all with his hospitality and witty rejoinders when his judicial opinion was sought. The return trip late in the afternoon marked the close of a perfect day.

By an appreciative guest,
Helen I. Fessenden

During the heavy storm of Tuesday evening it is reported to the Star that lightning, resembling a ball of fire, struck in the yard at the home of Mr. John McLean on Kenwin road, breaking the trough for the water conductors on the house to pieces and tearing up the ground about it.

The Calumet Clubhouse is to close Saturday to be renovated for the fall season. Repairs to both the bowling alleys and pool tables will be made while the club is closed.

ROTARY CLUB

Seven absentees were recorded at the meeting of Aug. 3. This is better than last weeks' record, but not nearly good enough.

We were all very glad to greet "Dick" Sheehy and George Welsh today—fresh from their recent vacations. Both of these men have dim recollections of having been in Winchester previously.

The Rotary Club of Lexington announces that it is assisting in the production of a series of out-door concerts given in that town by Boston Symphony Players. These concerts, scheduled for Aug. 2, 3, 4 and Aug. 6, 7, 8 are free to the public and it is hoped that many Winchesterites will avail themselves of this opportunity to enjoy splendid music almost at their doors.

Have you received your copy of the August Rotarian. As usual this issue is good from cover to cover. This magazine is an outstanding example of the idea that whenever Rotarians determine upon any activity, the standard of accomplishment is very high.

Following the usual custom, this Club has provided no formal entertainments for the August meetings. This does not mean, however, that the August sessions are entirely devoid of life. Last Thursday George Welsch was called upon to give an account of his doings during his recent vacation trip to the West. The high spot of George's outing was his attendance at the Chicago World Fair. This is the first talk descriptive of this great exhibition which has been given at any of our meetings. We are grateful to George for permitting us to share his pleasant experiences while at Chicago and en route.

Now is the time to consider Club activities for the coming season. Members should present their ideas now and discussions are in order. Let us hear from you!

ARTHUR E. KILLAM

Arthur E. Killam, a railroad telegrapher in the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad for the past 44 years, died Thursday morning, Aug. 3, at his home, 1 Parker road. He had been for some time in failing health, but had been ill for only two weeks and was on duty at the new signal building at Winchester Station previous to that time.

Mr. Killam was 66 years old and a native of Moncton, N. B., the son of George and Mary (Keith) Killam. As a young man he learned telegraphy and entered the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad, serving during his long career with the road in several places throughout the system.

Mr. Killam came to Winchester eight years ago from Somerville. He was an Odd Fellow, a member of Crystal Fount Lodge of Woburn, and of organizations connected with the railroad and his business. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rachel J. Killam; a son, Dr. Franklin H. Killam of Belize, British Honduras, Central America; and one grandson.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 11 a. m. in the late residence with Rev. David Fraser of the Central Congregational Church in Somerville officiating. Interment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

PARK DEPARTMENT NEWS

About a week ago a power shovel was put in operation in the swamp below the Beggs & Cobb Factory. This was deemed necessary as the excavation of the mud by hand shoveling was becoming a slow and difficult proposition, due to the fact that the men were working in water. This will not increase the cost of the job, as fewer trucks will be required. A sufficient number of the latter to equal the cost of the shovel have already been laid off. This apparatus is stationed out in the swamp on plank runways which can be shifted as required. The trucks are driven under the shovel, loaded and then dumped just beyond the shore line of the new pond. Hand labor is being used to spread the material excavated by the shovel and also for digging wherever practical. In this manner far greater progress is being made.

The job between Cross and Washington street is now completed. This area, not long since a mosquito-breeding swamp, is now one of the most attractive spots in this end of the town.

A few finishing touches remain to be done on the Leonard Field section. The value of the unemployment relief work can be seen best in this area. It too was a mosquito-breeding swamp but is now the most popular playground in town. The daily attendance at the beach runs into the hundreds.

The number carried on the work list is now 149, which is considerably lower than during the past year. However, this does not mean that there has been a great drop in the ranks of the unemployed in Winchester, as 30 men from the river job are working on a full-time basis on Highland avenue and are no longer [illegible] on the Park Department roll. The remainder of the river crew alternate one week on the river and one week on Highland avenue.

Up to and including Saturday, July 29, the amount expended from the June appropriation was $1746.12.

VLADIVOSTOK: THE SAN FRANCISCO OF SIBERIA'S PACIFIC COAST

Vladivostok, which, it is reported, Japan is hopeful of acquiring if successful in purchasing the Soviet interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway, will bring under Japanese control the largest and most important port and city on the Siberian Pacific coast.

Vladivostok, though less than 75 years old, is a city of more than 100,000 inhabitants and has been one of the leading outlets for vast cargoes from nearly all of Siberia and a large portion of Manchuria (Manchukuo) says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Sprawls Up Side of Peninsula

Although the Sino-Japanese struggle has somewhat stifled the commercial life of the city, Vladivostok's harbor normally is filled with shipping. Its warehouses and docks bulge with soy beans, bean cakes, seeds, timber and fish, and huge tanks hold thousands of gallons of soy bean oil for shipment to many ports of the world.

The city is situated on a peninsula extending from the Siberian mainland (Amur Province) toward the Japan Sea. It sprawls, terrace upon terrace, up the mountainous backbone of the peninsula. The deep bays of the peninsula afford safe anchorage for many sea-going vessels near the city while the main harbor spreads over an area four miles long and one mile wide. In the winter Vladivostok harbor waters freeze but a fleet of ice breakers keeps commerce moving.

Growth Has Had Many Setbacks

Vladivostok's rise to its enviable position among eastern ports was not without distressing eras. During the earlier years it was the site of a frontier settlement dominated by a Russian fortress. Boisterous drinking houses, suspicious restaurants, gambling dens and many other social parasites were run with abandon.

Then came two fugitives from German ships; a Dutchman who arrived there ahead of pursuing police; and a Swede and a Finn who had been stranded and found their way to the settlement. They were joined by a Russian reputed to be a fugitive from justice. The "League of Nationals" opened a shop with vodka, wine, tobacco, candles, matches, fish, and rope as the principal stock in trade. The proprietors became rich.

Besides attending the shop, however, the proprietors bought and sold real estate. They erected some of Vladivostok's first substantial buildings on streets that now are the leading thoroughfares of the city. One chronicler says that the shop was not important in itself for a large part of the "association's" wealth was derived from the open sea where in small, fast, well-armed boats, they ran down and robbed American, Chinese, and Japanese ships of their cargoes of ginseng, furs, and gold. The strange group's depredations continued for several years. Meanwhile the members rose to high official and social position in the city so that ultimately they were able to abandon their dishonorable activities and prosper on legal enterprises.

Since its beginning Vladivostok has been cosmopolitan. Its population has always run the gamut of races with Russians, Japanese and Koreans dominating a sprinkling of Europeans, Americans and Africans.

Today, the former settlement of wooden and metal huts has almost disappeared. Knee-deep muddy roads now are wide streets with modern three-story buildings flanking them, and automobiles are worrying the most patient jinrikisha and drosky owners. Many cities in the world of Vladivostok's size have no finer railway station.

Vladivostok owes a greater part of its recent growth to the World War. Normally, before the war, the city had about 50,000 inhabitants. In 1918 its population leaped to 200,000. The city was a depot for huge supplies of war materials, massed there before the revolution came—acres of automobiles, mountains of car wheels and square miles of barbed wire.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. . . . Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Corinthians 2:9, 10, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is tributary to God, Spirit, and to nothing else. God's being is infinity, freedom, harmony, and boundless bliss. 'Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.' Like the archpriests of yore, man is free 'to enter into the holiest,' the realm of God" (p. 481).

THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE AUTO LICENSE PLATE

With the arrival of the vacation season the motorist takes to the open road, carrying on his car a label that proclaims the region which he calls home.

Forty-nine different American automobile plates are familiar to those who live along trunk highways or in large cities today, and occasionally the alert bystander may see tags from several Canadian provinces, Mexican States, Cuba, and even from such distant places as Hawaii, Haiti, the Canal Zone, and the Philippines.

In the passing parade of metal tags there is a good deal of geography, and some history and romance, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Primarily a mark of identification, the motor license plate has become, in some States, a peripatetic billboard bearing keystones, diamonds, stars, slogans, and other devices to advertise unusual features or products of certain regions.

South Carolina Plate Well Known

South Carolina's license plate, across the bottom of which is inscribed: "The Iodine Products State," is perhaps the most familiar tag exploiting a particular feature of a State. Even the name of the State is relegated to initials (S. C.) in order to advertise to the world the high iodine-content said to be found in South Carolina vegetables and fruits.

Arizona goes the southern State one better in advancing a natural resource. To indicate that Arizona is a leading copper-producing State, and also to aid in the disposal, in a small way, of the enormous stock of the metal held in the United States, Arizona has a license plate made entirely of copper. With copper selling at a few cents a pound these plates are not only inexpensive, but, with their black lettering, they make a striking appearance on the road.

Several license plates bear emblems of the States which issue them. Pennsylvania's, for instance, has a tiny keystone in each upper corner. Texas, "the Lone Star State," shows a star between the numerals in the center of the plate. Delaware carries a diamond design because Thomas Jefferson, while discussing the 13 American colonies, once referred to Delaware as the diamond of 13 gems.

The Cod and the Pelican

Once Massachusetts emblazoned the sacred cod on its license plates, but controversy arose over the design of the fish, some alleging that it in no way resembled a cod, and in 1929 the cod was replaced by a straight line penetrating a dot.

The pelican on Louisiana plates is the symbol of this southern State. It appears on both the license tags and on the State seal because, according to a Louisiana tradition, the pelican is the only bird which tears its own flesh to feed its young. If the mother bird can tear her own breast, say Louisianians, to feed her starving fledglings, it is an apt suggestion of the sacrifice that the State may make for the benefit of her own children.

There is no need to ask a Kentucky motorist what part of the State he is from. A motor tag of "the Blue Grass State" bears the full name of the county in which it was issued, as well as the State, year and the registration number. New Jersey indicates counties by a serial letter preceding the number: "A" for Atlantic County; "B" for Bergen County; "J" for Hunterdon County, etc. New York assigns letters and numbers to certain districts, but only a memory wizard could locate a car's home town without the distribution chart issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

In a few States, Virginia among them, municipalities require a second license plate, which is usually affixed above State tags. North Carolina has an ingenious scheme to prevent the tranfer of license plates from cars of one weight to those of another. Passenger vehicles are divided into three groups according to weight, the price of the license increasing for heavier cars. Each of these classes is indicated on the plate by a tiny numeral (1, 2, or 3) between the large numbers in the center of the plate. Truck license plates carry figures showing tons of net pay load the vehicle is licensed to carry.

Mississippi has another means of preventing the transfer, theft, or misuse of license plates. Its tags cannot be removed from a car without destroying a strip across the top bearing the date and class identification. Washington State designates the class of a vehicle by a small letter in the upper left corner: "x" for passenger cars; "t" for truck; "s" for stage; etc.

In Oregon the fiscal year has been for two years the license plate year, hence the addition of June 30 to the year numerals. Next year, however, Oregon will again revert to the calendar year, with all licenses expiring Dec. 31.

An Outline of Montana

Montana's license plate is distinctive because the numerals and name are surrounded by an outline shaped like the State's boundaries. New Mexico tags bear an arrangement of lines and a circle that looks like a symbolical sunburst a fitting design for a region with few cloudy days. Florida, Oklahoma, Mississippi, and Alabama cars carry only one license tag in place of two required in other States. The single tag is placed on the rear of the car.

Although at one time color schemes varied widely, in recent years they have been nearly standardized. A combination of black and yellow (or orange) is now used by 10 States and the District of Columbia, the numerals and background alternating in color each year. While this is not a particularly attractive color scheme, tests have shown that these two shades have high visibility. White and blue combinations are employed by eight States; black and white by seven; and white and green by six.

Minnesota has the odd combination of black on aluminum this year. Texas chose the colors of the University of Texas, orange and white, for passenger cars, and the colors of Texas A. & M. College, white and maroon, for commercial vehicles, in 1933.

In addition to the license plates issued by the States and the District of Columbia, various divisions of the national government, the Army, the Navy, and the police department of the District of Columbia have separate license tags.

The first State to issue a regular license plate is a matter of conjecture, but Connecticut, Maine, and New York were among the earliest. At first, motorists were assigned a registration number and were supposed to supply their own identification plates, or to paint the numeral on the side of the car.

ANDROS, LEAST-KNOWN LARGE ISLAND IN THE WEST INDIES

We are anchored off Andros Island and have good fishing, President Roosevelt radioed during a fishing trip off the Florida coast.

Where is Andros Island?

Andros is the largest island of the Bahama archipelago, a British colony composed of some 2500 fertile islands, rocks and coral keys, strung out for about 700 miles in the Atlantic Ocean southeast of Palm Beach and north of Cuba, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Almost as Long as Puerto Rico

Although Andros Island lies only 125 miles southeast of Miami Beach, Fla., and but 20 miles from Nassau, capital of the Bahamas on New Providence Island, it is the least known of the larger islands in the West Indies. Almost as long as Puerto Rico, and in one place wider than that island, wedge-shaped Andros has a land area of more than 1600 square miles (nearly a third of the area of the Bahama group), much of which has never been explored. Only last year a large lake, hitherto unknown, was found by a party of scientists in the dense forests that cover its interior.

Andros during periods of high water is really three islands, because several marshy lagoons, or bights, cut across its waistline, about midway between Nicholls Town, the chief settlement, and Cistern Point, at its southern end. The portions of the interior facing these bights are low, swampy and intersected by numerous shallow creeks.

The reason why Andros is less known than some of the remote islands of the South Seas is not difficult to find. Andros has no harbor whatsoever, and boats and small craft of less than five-foot draft are the only ones able to approach its shores. Coral reefs and wide mud flats shut in the island as effectively as would a high wall or a ring of mountains. The slimy mud, like pipe clay, that tapers off into the sea along the west coast in many places prevents approach even in a rowboat.

Flamingo Found on Island

But Andros possesses a good deal of potential wealth. Its forests contain such precious woods as mahogany, cedar, mastic, ebony and logwood, and its lagoons, bayous and mangrove swamps teem with food fishes and wild water-fowl, ranging from ducks to the beautiful pink flamingo. The latter is extinct elsewhere in the Bahamas and in Florida. Turtles and sharks are also plentiful and there has recently been a slight revival of the shark-skin industry.

Most of the 6500 inhabitants of Andros are concentrated along the east coast in a few settlements, including Nicholls Town, Golding Cay, Fresh Creek, Red Bay, Staniard Creek, Mastic Point, and Long Bay Cay. It is reported that back in the forests some of the negro inhabitants, descendants of slaves brought here in the 18th century, have almost reverted to the original type as found in Africa.

Fishing and sponging are the principal industries along the coast, but where land has been cleared for agricultural purposes bountiful crops of pineapples, sugar cane, oranges, bananas, and vegetables have been produced.

The soil is thin but rich, and rainfall plentiful. In fact, Andros is the only island of the Bahama group with continuously running fresh-water streams. Considering its proximity to American and Canadian markets, its early vegetable crop could be marketed to advantage if a way could be found to ship it out of the island.

Postage Stamp Advertising

At various times ingenious people have attempted to call attention to their product by placing an advertisement around a postage stamp to make it appear at first glance that there is a very large stamp on the envelope. In this country there is a law against the practice.

WINCHESTER TENNIS ASSOCIATION WON FROM WOODBOURNE

First Loss for Woodbourne—Locals Unbeaten

Winchester Tennis Association closed its Old Colony season unbeaten, defeating the strong Woodbourne Club of Jamaica Plain on the Forest Hills Courts last Saturday afternoon 4—3. Winchester's ability to take three of the four singles matches decided the tourney.

Both clubs were undefeated through the season and their match naturally brought out some fine tennis. There was much interest in the number one singles match in which the Old Colony champion, Drake, was opposed by Larry Freeburn.

Larry was right on his game and played great tennis in defeating the league titlist in straight sets, driving beautifully from the back court and placing his shots much more accurately than the Woodbourne star. Freeburn's service was going nicely, and Drake had plenty of trouble returning his slants.

Hall Gamage made good his assertion that if he met Doleman in the number two match he would win from the Woodbourne player who has been undefeated during the past two seasons.

Very much on his game and playing carefully, Hall volleyed nicely and drawing Doleman out of position continually, drove accurate placement shots to the corners that found the Woodbourne man flat footed.

"Herb" Ross, playing number three for Winchester, found Dray just a bit too good for him last Saturday, the Woodbourne man's drives along the lines to the corners being hard and very accurate. The veteran "Jim" Riley, after a hard first set with Higgins, got going in real earnest to take the second set at love and give Winchester a 3—1 advantage in singles.

This advantage was wiped out as Woodbourne took both the number one and two doubles in straight sets.

Dray and Higgins, admittedly the best doubles team in the Old Colony, won from Gamage and Freeburn after the Winchester pair had jumped to an early lead. Ahead 3—1 and leading 40—15 on Freeburn's service, the Winchester pair blew up after a cannonball shot from Larry's racquet squarely on the line was ruled out. Gamage managed to win his service, but the Woodbourne pair ran out the next four games and the set, 6—4.

Dray, a great volleyer and Higgins, the type who gets everything back, jumped to a commanding lead in the second set, Gamage playing some great tennis to keep the locals in the running. As Freeburn found himself, the locals deuced the match, but the Woodbourne pair were too steady and after a second deuce pulled out the set, 8—6.

"Jim" Riley and "Bill" Packer, playing number two doubles because of the illness of Riley's new partner, young Norman Dalrymple, showed clearly their lack of practice together and went down before the superior combination play of Drake and McIntire, the great work of the latter at the net being outstanding.

With the match all even, Wallace Blanchard and "Herb" Ross went out and won the number three doubles from Lyons and Keiran of Woodbourne in a hard fought match, 6—2, 9—7, the locals being a shade the better all the way.

Winchester's win deadlocked the locals with Woodbourne for the league title and it will be necessary to play off the tie to determine the championship.

Following is the summary:

Singles

Freeburn (Win) defeated Drake (Wood), 6—0, 8—6.

Gamage (Win) defeated Doleman, (Wood), 7—5, 6—2.

Dray (Wood) defeated Ross (Win) 6—4, 6—4.

Riley (Win) defeated Higgins (Wood), 8—6, 6—0.

Doubles

Dray and Higgins (Wood) defeated Gamage and Freeburn (Win) 6—4, 8—6.

Drake and McIntire (Wood) beat Riley and Packer (Win), 6—4, 6—3.

Blanchard and Ross (Win) defeated Lyons and Keiran (Wood), 6—2, 9—7.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Midst volleys of thunder and flashes of lightning a fast volley ball game was played last Tuesday night. In spite of the continued heat of the day, a good bunch was on hand to indulge in the pastime of boosting the ball around. The nearest ... lightning affected the flood lighting system, so that intermittently the tennis court lights would go out, but a flash of lightning would take their place.

However, hardly had the first game finished when the storm broke with a deluge of rain and the court was deserted in one grand rush for cover. Nevertheless, the team composed of "Bill" Locke, "Bill" Little, "Bobbie" Blackler, "Ken" Pratt and "Monk" Russell took the team composed of the Downer twins ("Art" and "Dave") "Gus" Pistorino, Junior Gustin and John Smith to the tune of 15—13. The onrush of the approaching storm pept the playing up to one of the fastest plays in several weeks.

"Bill" Locke and "Ken" Pratt were appointed to the Drake Island (Worcester) Regatta Committee. At a meeting at the Samoset Canoe Clubhouse on the Charles River, "Bill" Locke was chosen for "Omar the Tentmaker." A stag camp is planned for the week-end of Aug. 19-20 at Drake Island. The meet is to be held Sept. 15, 16, 17.

Captain "Gus" is trying to work up a joint war canoe crew of Medford and Winchester Boat Club paddlers to race at Canobie Lake, N. H., on Labor Day. The following Saturday, Medford Boat Club has challenged Winchester to a one-half mile war canoe race for the Tenney Trophy. From now on the lake should be a scene of plenty of activity.

Another picnic is scheduled for next Sunday. Starting at 9:30 a. m., cars will leave for a day at Long Beach, Gloucester. For particulars get in touch with Mrs. "Gus." A pleasant time is in store for all who go. Weather permitting.

James E. Purdy, widely known Boston photographer who died Wednesday at his home in Brookline, was the father of Mrs. Arthur Black of Everett avenue. Mr. Purdy in the 35 years of his business career was official photographer to innumerable college and high school classes. Among the dignitaries who sat for his camera were the late President William Howard Taft, the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and the late Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards.

WINCHESTER SONS OF ITALY OUTING

Big Crowd Enjoyed Picnic and Sports Program

More than 250 members and guests attended the annual outing of the combined Winchester Lodges, Sons of Italy in America, held last Sunday at McGovern's Grove in Bedford.

Several big busses with a number of private cars conveyed the crowd to the grove, leaving Putter's Field shortly after 9 o'clock and arriving in Bedford about 10. Among the invited guests at the outing were Joseph Gerrasi of Woburn, grand auditor of the Grand Lodge; his sister, Miss Sophie Gerrasi; Michael Fredo of Arlington, grand assistant venerable of the Grand Lodge; and Frank Abedesso of Medford, Grand Lodge trustee.

Upon reaching the grove the crowd gathered about the baseball diamond where the senior and junior lodges staged an interesting game which was won by the former.

Following are the line-ups:

Senior Lodge	Junior Lodge
Angela Tofuri, c	c, Dominic Luongo
Archa Amico, p	p, F. Provinzano
Frank Dattilo, 1b	1b, A. Gigliotti
C. Frongillo, 2b	2b, Joseph Cimina
D. Provinzano, 3b	3b, J. Galuffo
Gene Rotundi, ss	ss, Gaspar Galuffo
Frank Asaro, lf	lf, Tony DeTesso
Paul Amico, cf	cf, Sam Provinzano
Tony Cacciato, rf	rf, Joseph Asaro

Rocco DeTesso was umpire and called the plays in big league fashion. The big crowd cheered on their favorites and there was plenty of good natured rivalry to assist in working up an appetite for luncheon which followed the game.

Sandwiches, hot dogs, ice cream and tonic were served at a refreshment booth, under the direction of James DeLucca while a pop-corn man who arrived at the grounds shortly after the crowd did a thriving business. Many brought along picnic lunches from home and there was no one at the grove who was not well provided for. An itinerant photographer was kept busy during and after lunch snapping individuals, and groups of, merrymakers, the photographs making attractive souvenirs.

The afternoon program opened with an athletic meet in charge of Angelo Tofuri and Carmino Frongillo, starter. Following is the summary:

Sports for Girls

50-yard dash—Won by Virginia Derro. Prize, large doll.

Three-legged race—Won by Jennie Gaudioso and Sara Giacoloni. Prize, two pounds candy.

Following the sports there were games in which many participated, affording much amusement. James Gigliotti was in charge of the "greasy rope;" Ralph Severina of the "Guessing Game;" and Joseph Perritano, of the "Rooster Game."

At the conclusion of the afternoon a dancing contest was held which proved a big feature of the outing. To accordian music by Peter Occhento, a big group of contestants danced the whirling, yet graceful Italian "Tarantella," the dance lasting for about one-half hour, despite the heat. Judge Frank Poleno of Arlington had a difficult time to decide the ultimate winners, but finally named Josephine Galuffo and Rocco DeTesso the prize, a case of spaghetti being divided between them.

Special mention should be made of the singing of Dominic Cimina, 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cimino of Main street who was a general favorite. On the way to and from the grove the lad regaled the big crowd with songs, both serious and comic, and at the Grove sang many favorite Italian airs from a truck. He was warmly applauded and displayed a soprano voice of much promise. The committee in charge of the outing also especially appreciated the work of Officer James of the Bedford Police who was on duty at the Grove.

Venerable Frank P. Zaffina of the men's Senior Lodge was general chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the outing and was assisted by the following: Mrs. Ignasia Asaro, venerable of the Ladies' Lodge; James DeLucca, treasurer; Angelo Tofari, Carmino Frongillo, Vincenzo Gigliotti, Raffaele Severino, Frank Dattilo, Emilio Staffieri, Venanzio Iannacci, Joseph Perritano, Frank Ciruso, Luis Fiore, Salina Garbino, Carmella Chefalo and Mrs. Alphonso Lambiase.

ELKS' OUTING SUNDAY

The annual joint outing of the Elks' Lodges in Winchester and Woburn, always one of the big events of the summer season is to take place on this Sunday, Aug. 7, at Poccahontus Tavern in Lynnfield.

Under the direction of Frank McGrath, P.E.R., of Woburn Lodge, who is heading the general committee, a fine program has been arranged, including a golf match between the two lodges at the Sagamore Golf Club and a baseball game, in which the Winchester nine will be handled by Dr. James H. O'Connor, whose picture in last week's Star is proof that he was playing third base for the high school in 1904 and who is able to show some of the young idea how to play the hot corner today.

There will be athletic events for all under the direction of "Charlie" Farrar, P.E.R., who with Everett Hambly, E.R., and P.E.R. "Jack" Donaghey comprise the local committee.

Winchester Elks who have not yet gotten their outing tickets should get in touch with any of the committee at once as all tickets must be secured before Sunday morning.

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company discontinued its five cent fare from Church and Cambridge streets to the center the first of August. In a letter to the Board of Selectmen the company explained that the loss in revenue as a result of the lowered fare necessitated the step. The Board replied, asking that the company reinstate the lower fare for another trial during the fall, explaining that many who would normally use the road between the center and Cambridge street are away at this time of year.

REIDYS WIN BOTH FIRST AND SECOND IN WINCHESTER FATHER-AND-SON GOLF

The 15th annual father and son golf tournament held Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Winchester Country Club proved made to order for the Reidy family of Worcester, representing Wachusetts.

"Jim" Reidy, father of the flock, and incidentally winner with son "Jack" of last year's tourney, shot a nitty 74 with son Frank on Wednesday and these figures proved good enough by four strokes to win this year's competition.

Not satisfied with first place, "Jim" paired Thursday with his 18-year old son, Leo and turned in a 79 which landed the combination in second place. A. P. and "Ben" Goodale of Winchester and J. M. and "Don" Ritchie of Charles River had 80s on Wednesday, landing just outside the scores of the Reidy clan. Walter and Winthrop Hersey of Wellesley shot an 80 yesterday as well.

The 177 pairs who competed in the tourney last year did not approach the 213 pairs of last year, but are considered good in view of the terrific heat of Wednesday. When 101 pairs will turn out on such a day there can be no questioning the popularity of the event which lured them on.

The Reidys played some nice golf to turn in their winning 75 on Wednesday, carding no less than five birdies in the alternate shot making. Birdies on both the first and second hole got the team away to a fine start. Frank sinking a 25 foot put to make this possible.

H. M. and H. M. Biscoe, Jr. of Brae Burn had the best net score Wednesday, but their 68 was not good enough to withstand the 63 of F. A. Munroe and F. A. Munroe, Jr. of Bear Hill while A. P. and P. G. Derby of Oak Hill had a 66 for second. The net award for 36 holes has not as yet been awarded, H. G. Pollard of Vesper being tied with L. A. Newton of Woburn, both having 142.

Following are the individual cards of Wednesday's leaders and the scores turned in by Winchester teams on that day:

Several dads beside Newton and Pollard went around twice or more. The winning Reidy went around four times with Frank, Leo, Bill and John; Percy Goodale and Ralph Hall each went around three times, while Joe Galvin, Walter Hersey and J. L. S. Barton were among the 10 or so fathers to double up.

The youngest player in the tournament was Don Ayers, 7, of Worcester, whose caddy carried him over the hills after club officials refused to permit him to ride his bicycle. Arthur O. Turner of Oak Hill, 75, was the oldest player, by H. K. Morrison of Tedesco was over the 70 mark. Judge "Joe" Monahan of Presidential and son, "Joe," Jr., won the special award for the father, and son under 12, turning in an 85—70.

"Bill" Guy's colored baseball team and the Police All Stars played a 3—3 tie last evening on Manchester Field. The police, minus three players, put up a good game against the colored boys.

Organized Baseball

In 1903 the American league and the National league and National Association of Minor Leagues—called National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues—banded together as organized baseball. This was the result of the friction caused by the differences in the different teams and leagues.

Pressure on Iron

Only most extraordinary pressures amounting to several thousand pounds per square inch, would affect iron. Such pressures have been attained during tornadoes, with winds estimated at 200 to 300 miles an hour. For example, in the St. Louis tornado of 1896, a plank 2 by 8 inches, was reported to have been driven into a steel girder, punching a hole in the webbing and remaining stuck in the girder.

Find Fish Sleep

The question whether fish sleep has been settled so far as the director of the London zoo aquarium is concerned. He found that nearly all of them do. He has watched them, he says, and reports that some of them sleep on their sides.

Insects Do Circus Stunts

Fleas are not the only insects trained to do stunts, although they are the easiest to handle. Bees and beetles have been harnessed to pull loads, grasshoppers have been matched in steeplechase races, where they have tiny fences to hurdle.

VOL. LIII NO. 2 WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1933 PRICE SEVEN CENTS

JACOB F. HODGE

After a brief illness of about a week, Jacob Franklin Hodge, of 17 Edgehill road, Winchester, passed away on Sunday, Aug. 6, at the family summer home in Marblehead.

Mr. Hodge was born in East Boston Oct. 4, 1856, and was married to Miss Myrtle A. Low on May 8, 1889. As a young man he engaged in the cork business and in 1891 he became the New England manager of the Armstrong Cork Company, retiring from business in 1929. The family has lived in Winchester since 1913.

He was a member of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church in Winchester and had a wide acquaintance in business and social circles where in earlier years he had been very active. At the time of his death he was a trustee of the East Boston Savings Bank, a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, and of various Masonic bodies including Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine of Boston, Mystic Valley and William Parkman Lodges of Winchester. He was a Past Master of Baalbec Lodge of East Boston, of which his older son, George is now master. He was also Past Noble Grand of Zenith Lodge of Odd Fellows. Throughout his long life and in his every contact he was a universally beloved man.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, George Edward, who has succeeded his father as manager of the Armstrong Cork Company; J. Frank, Jr.; a daughter, Mary Low; and a grandson, George E., Jr.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. J. West Thompson, pastor of the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church, assisted by Rev. H. W. Hook, of Cambridge, a former pastor, were held from his late home at 17 Edgehill road, on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, with interment in Woodlawn Cemetery.

ARRESTED TIPSY DRIVER

Shortly before 1 o'clock Tuesday morning the attention of Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department was attracted by a Ford truck which was coming from a southerly direction along Main street toward the place where he was standing at the corner of Main and Swanton streets.

The machine was zigzagging along the road and as it approached him, Officer Farrell ordered the driver to stop. The man did so, but as the policeman started to go around the machine to question him, suddenly started up and sped away toward Woburn.

Officer Farrell commandeered a machine and gave chase, but the truck had gotten a good start before any automobile came along and was lost to sight before the pursuit commenced.

After going as far as the Woburn line, Officer Farrell left the commandeered car and returned to Box 10 where he met Sergt. Edward W. O'Connell in Patrol Car 51.

Driving about the vicinity they came upon the truck at the northerly end of Russell road, disabled with a flat tire. Officer Farrell placed the operator under arrest on the charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He gave his name as Alfred P. Stewart of North street, Lexington. Accompanying him were an Italian and his wife with their five children. These were taken to their home by Sergeant O'Connell in the police car.

In court Tuesday morning Stewart was found guilty. When the court learned that he is a married man with a family and is picking blueberries to support himself a month's suspended sentence was imposed.

WINCHESTER TO MEET WOODBOURNE FOR TITLE

Winchester Tennis Association will meet the Woodbourne Club of Forest Hills in a play-off match to decide the championship of the Old Colony League at the Winchester Country Club Courts on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 19. Local devotees will do well to enter the date in their diaries and plan to attend as the last match between the two clubs brought out some great tennis.

Winchester is undefeated in Old Colony competition this season while Woodbourne lost only to the locals in their match last week. Under the league point system the two teams are tied for premier honors despite the fact that Winchester has won more matches than Woodbourne, the latter club having made higher point scores in its wins than the locals.

This fact is attributed to Winchester's policy of breaking in younger players whenever possible rather than try for one-sided scores, while Woodbourne has relied mainly on veteran performers.

The locals will be at full strength for the play-off and are trying out several new doubles combinations in an attempt to strengthen this department of play.

The Woodbourne Club has two fine doubles teams in Dray and Higgins and Drake and McIntire. If the locals can defeat either of these combinations, their chances of winning the title are good as they had a three to one singles edge in the previous match.

SIMONDS REPORTED AS RECOVERING

Severely Injured in Automobile Accident July 6

Ronald Simonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Simonds, formerly of Orient street, Winchester, who was critically injured in an automobile accident near Kalamazoo, Mich. on July 6 is reported as out of danger, the Star was informed this week.

Mr. Herbert K. Miller of Governors avenue learned Wednesday from Mr. Simonds' attending physician at the Kalamazoo Methodist Hospital, Dr. Boys, that the former Winchester High football star has recovered nicely thus far from his injuries which are not as severe as at first reported.

According to Dr. Boys, Mr. Simonds did not sustain a fractured skull, but has a fracture of the jaw and a broken pelvis. It is the latter injury which is confining him to the hospital, but his recovery is expected to be rapid from now on.

This will be good news for the many friends of the old fullback who was one of the important cogs in "Hennie" Knowlton's championship football team of 1927.

Mr. Simonds was injured when the automobile which he was driving back to Boston was in collision at cross roads on the main highway near Kalamazoo with a truck. The young man had but the week previous entered the employ of the Boston photographer and was driving one of the company's cars when the accident occurred.

WEAFER—LEYDON

At a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Church Wednesday morning, Aug. 9, Miss Margaret Mary Leydon, daughter of Mrs. Mary Hevey Leydon and the late Patrick Leydon, of 432 Main street, became the bride of Dominic Francis Weafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Weafer of 58 Wrentham street, Dorchester. Rev. Fr. James F. Lynch performed the marriage ceremony at 9 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. The altar of the church was attractively decorated with cut flowers and palms.

Miss Ruth Leydon of Winchester was her sister's honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Miss Alice and Miss Gertrude Weafer of Dorchester, sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Winn and Miss Mildred Cosgrove, both of Woburn and cousins of the bride.

Mr. Weafer had for his best man Thomas Manley of Woburn and the corps of ushers included Thomas White of Brookline, Warren Truesdale of Dorchester, John Downey of Taunton, classmates of the bridegroom at Boston College; and the bride's cousin, Thomas Donaghey of Winchester.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Daniel Leydon of Winchester, wore a period gown of white satin with a jacquet of rose point lace. Her veil of tulle was arranged with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore pink point d'esprit with hat, sash and slippers of blue, and carried talisman roses with lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were frocks of white point d'esprit with contrasting hats, sashes and slippers, two wearing blue, and two, pink. Their flowers were white and pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's mother, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. The house decorations were cut flowers and ferns. A wedding breakfast was served out of doors upon the lawn, after which the bride and bridegroom left upon a wedding journey to Miami, Fla., where they will visit the bride's brother, George Leydon, who is in business in that city.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Weafer are to live at 41 Fulton street in Woburn where they will be at home about Sept. 1.

The bride is a graduate of Woburn High School, the class of 1926, was graduated from the Leslie Kindergarten School in 1929 and has been teaching at the Mystic School in Winchester. Mr. Weafer is a Boston College graduate, class of 1928, and received his master's degree from B. C. the following year. He is at present teaching science in the Woburn Junior High School.

WALTHAM CITY CLUB HERE SATURDAY

Winchester Legion will play the strong Waltham City Club Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, commencing at 3:30, and another snappy game should result.

Waltham has played in Winchester before and has never failed to provide the stiffest sort of competition for the locals.

Winchester came to life with a bang last Saturday, defeating one of the best ball clubs in Greater Boston. If it plays the same brand of ball tomorrow, Waltham will be in for trouble, and with Legion fans prodding the Legionnaires constantly that is the sort of ball they'll have to show.

The former Braves infielder is making a big hit with local fans by his hustling and with "Tweet" Walsh and "Tony" Colucci in the revamped infield gives Winchester the best inner defense it has had since the days of Murray Wingate and Bangs.

Crowds are increasing at the games, but receipts are still disgraceful, and if they do not improve, the management will be unable to book such attractions as it has been bringing to Winchester. The management merely asks enough to get out of it somewhere near whole and surely 25c is little enough to pay to see such games as there have been on Manchester Field the last few weeks.

MRS. NELLIE J. WILKINS

Mrs. Nellie J. Wilkins, widow of Frank J. Wilkins, formerly of Bronxville, N. Y., died Wednesday night, Aug. 9, at the home of her brother, George B. Smith, 120 Cambridge street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Wilkins was a member of an old Boston family, the father, James M. Smith, having been owner of the Suffolk Brewery. She was born in Roxbury, but spent most of her life in Bronxville, N. Y., travelling extensively and living at one time for eight years in London.

Following the death of her husband in Bronxville last February, Mrs. Wilkins came to make her home with her brother in Winchester. Besides Mr. Smith, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jessie Henderson, living in Arlington. Another brother, William M. Smith who formerly made his home on Church street, died several years ago.

Private funeral services were held on this Friday afternoon at the Smith residence, Rev. T. W. Harris, Episcopal clergyman, of Winchester, officiating. Interment was in the Smith family lot in Forest Hills Cemetery.

WINCHESTER FINAL AT MAGNOLIA

Lucy Fowle, ace of last season's high school tennis team, won the ladies' singles in the tennis tournament at the Oceanside Hotel courts in Magnolia yesterday, defeating Janet Smith, 6—2, 6—1, in an all-Winchester final.

THIS WEEK'S SPORT PICTURES

This week's pictures in the series of past Winchester High School athletic teams includes groups in sports no longer fostered here; namely, hockey and crew.

We have no data as to the success achieved by the hockey team of 1906-07, but individually there were some fine athletes in its lineup, so it is safe to assume that it won a fare share of games in the days when there was a rover on the forward line and the cover point played in front of the point on defense. It might be said that the late Dana Wingate who appears in the picture of this team was one of the finest baseball players Winchester ever produced, captaining the Harvard varsity for two years as well as his prep school team at Exeter.

Hockey thrived at Winchester High from its beginning in 1904-05 through 1913, having one of the best teams in Greater Boston in 1909-10 when those two later Olympic stars Irving Small and Leon Tuck were members of the club. The sport ran a few years after the graduation of that sterling rover, Warren Goddu, in 1913, but lack of ice in the modern winters gradually caused interest to wane and, except for occasional spasmodic revivals it has been dead since before the war.

Few present-day sports followers know much about crew, but previous to the war Winchester supported a four man canoe crew which raced yearly with Medford and Dedham over a course on Mystic Lake for a trophy donated by the late Thomas W. Lawson, an ardent canoe enthusiast. Winchester was on the whole successful in its races for the trophy which remained for a year with the winning crew.

The 1917 crew, depicted, must have been one of the last, if not the last crew to race for the trophy and both it and the 1914 group were winning crews. "Jack" Sheridan, who appears with the boys as coach, was himself a former high school oarsman and during his active years the best single blade paddler in Winchester.

Many close followers of basketball will contend that the 1910 team, captained by "Al" Dover, was as good a club as Winchester High ever had. It was good enough, at least, to play Winthrop High, led by Dartmouth's famous "Win" Snow, for the so-called championship of the State at East Boston, finally losing in a hotly contested game. Winchester was neck and neck with Winthrop in this battle until its center Alfred Dover was injured and had to leave the floor. Well over six feet, Dover was the team's pivot man and his loss was fatal, particularly as the locals' remaining players were much too short to be effective on the tap-off. Incidentally the dumping of soapy water under Winchester's basket by a few overenthusiastic Winthrop rooters didn't aid Winchester's chances.

WINCHESTER PLAYGROUND NOTES

The Winchester playground tennis team, which has remained undefeated for three years, continued its winning streak on the Lexington courts by defeating the latter team 5—2. Rose Russo and Helen Edgar played three exhausting sets of tennis in which the former finally won out by virtue of her tremendous stamina. The first set was 12—10 in favor of the Winchester girl; the second 13—11 in favor of the Lexington girl; and the third and deciding set was won by Miss Risso of Winchester 8—6. Walter Josephson and Peter Doherty won their single and double matches by a wide margin. Eleanor McCue and Mary Donovan provided the surprise of the meet by defeating the Lexington girls in two straight sets.

A match between Winchester and Melrose is to take place in the near future and will be the final outside match of the year.

In the Winchester Junior League, "Doc" McCarthy's Arlington team defeated a picked team of All-Stars 5 to 3 on Leonard Field. However, the All-Stars turned over a leaf in the afternoon by beating the Stoneham playground team 7 to 4 in a well-played game on the same field.

Leonard Field is leading the second half of the Junior League without a defeat to date. The championship is to be decided by playing the winners of the first half with the winners of the second half. The best ball game last week was played on Loring avenue between the Eagles and Leonard Field. The latter team defeated the former 5 to 4 in 11 innings—the game continuing until 1 p. m.

It appears as though the championship of the Midget League would go to the fast stepping Leonard Field. Juniors who had the temerity to play the senior team on last Thursday and who displayed a good brand of ball against the big fellows.

ATHLETICS WON FROM HARVARD A. C.

The swimming meet held at the new beach drew a big capacity crowd of 2000 townspeople who witnessed an afternoon full of interesting and exciting races. This meet held under the supervision of Mr. George Davidson and Mr. Alexander of the Park Department not only gave the youngsters an opportunity to display their swimming ability in front of mother and dad but offered them an excellent chance to have Mr. Manstield size up their potential football ability when free ice cream was handed out.

Marjorie Stevenson was the individual star of the meet winning first place in the 50-yard tree style tor girls, first place in the diving for girls and second place in the back stroke open to boys and girls. ROTARY CLUB NOTES

There were nine absentees recorded at the meeting of Aug. 10.

We acknowledge with thanks a greeting from the Rotary Club of Kansas City, Mo., in commemoration of "Friendship Day," Aug. 6.

The secretary is in receipt of the club copy of the proceedings of the 1933 Convention of Rotary International held at Boston last June. This volume in addition to carrying a full report of business transacted at the convention contains up-to-date statistics covering the activities of Rotary. This book of course is available to any member for consultation.

District Governor Lester Merritt announces that the Fall Conclave of this District will be held as usual this Fall and will be held at Poland Spring, Me. on Sept. 25, 26, 27. This Conclave has always been one of the outstanding events of the Rotary year and this year will be no exception. Several of our members have never attended a District Conclave. We would suggest that they make an opportunity to get a broader understanding of Rotarian fellowship and service. Further details in regard to this gathering will soon be forthcoming. Resolve now to make early reservations and do not forget Rotary Anns. The combination of the crisp autumn climate of Maine and good Rotarian cheer will go far to carry one through the vicissitudes of a harsh winter.

We are pleased to announce that the Calumet Club House will be open for the regular Rotary meetings throughout the month of August with Fred as master of ceremonies as usual. We need the presence of every member still in town to make these meetings as successful as possible. To be of Rotary one must be with Rotary.

Percentage of attendance Aug. 3—84 per cent.

William S. Packer, Jr. and Hall Gamage of Winchester are still in the running for the men's singles crown in the Eastern Yacht Club tournament at Marblehead. Mary Cutter is playing the women's doubles with Virginia Arnold of Brighton, surviving the semi-final round yesterday.

CAMP NEWS

The Girl Scout Camp, an innovation in Winchester this summer, officially closed yesterday, many parents and friends, in response to clever little invitations, visiting girls at the cabin in Brooks' Woods. The camp director, Miss Katherine Carlisle was assisted during the day by Miss Grace Jones, supervisor of physical education in the schools of Summit, N. J., and an authority on girls' basketball. Miss Jones inspired the baseball game which featured the afternoon sports program and assisted in other ways.

At noon the girls broiled chicken and "Kabos," also making mock angel-food cake over the fire. A feature of Thursday's program was a nature quest, directed by Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, in which the contestants were obliged to find (1) Leaf of grey birch, (2) Bundle of unbroken white pine needles, (3) Two cones, (4) Five white pebbles, (5) Three berries, (6) Sensitive fern, (7) New York fern, (8) Two pink flowers.

Contestants as they finished their quest were required to compose four lines of verse about the "Nature Trail," four of which are reproduced:

Oh Hail! Oh Hail!
We're on the trail,
See the goldenrod,
Yellow and pale.
Vera Snyder and Jacqueline Saunders

II

They wandered out in search of flowers,
Many of them had no powers,
They ran, they skipped,
They jumped, they hopped,
When they came to the end of the trail
They stopped.
Shirley Smith and Barbara Hayden

III

The trees are very lordly things,
And the birds fly on spread wings,
The flowers are yellow, pink and red,
And the things are true, everything I said.
Helen Tripp and Margaret Greene

IV

When the bluebird sings his happy song,
On the Nature Trail we march along.
We shout, we laugh, we sing in fun,
As along the Nature Trail we run.
Ruth Olmstead

Vera Snyder and Jacqueline Saunders were judged winners of the Nature Quest and were given prizes. Winners of the final heat in the suitcase race, which proved very popular with the Scouts, were Shirley Smith and Ann Rivinius.

Preliminary heats in the suitcase race were held on Tuesday, at which time the semi-finals and finals were played. The Scouts spent much time on archery this week, several of the girls making a good showing. The camp archery champion is Agnes Keenan whose shooting has been outstanding.

The usual camp activities have been carried out this week at camp, and the Scouts were sorry to see the end of the season. Barbara Bradshaw, Helen Rassat, Ann Coyne, Priscilla Jones, Ruth Olmstead and Frances Keyes, Scouts with perfect attendance records, have been promised an overnight camping trip during September with Miss Carlisle.

Forty girls have attended the camp during the season, the average attendance being 23. Girl Scout camp on the Cape during the last two weeks in July brought the average attendance down.

Assisting the director, Miss Carlisle, have been Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, Miss Nathalie Stevens, Miss Betty Thompson and Miss Mary Carr, all of whom were voluntary workers.

WINCHESTER-WOBURN ELKS' OUTING

The most successful outing held for some years was enjoyed by over 100 members of Woburn and Winchester Lodges of the Elks at Poccahontas Tavern in Lynnfield last Sunday.

The day started with a golf match between the lodges. The two Winchester teams, one headed by Fred Scholl, P.E.R., D.D.G.E.R., with Arthur Harty, E.L.K.; "Joe" Moffett and "Mike" Queenan and the other team headed by "Fred" Clement, P.E.R., with Norman Harrold, "Jake" Murphy and Leo Finnegan, E.L.K., were both successful in winning their matches.

Winchester was also successful in the quoit games, cleaning up Woburn in straight games. "Tom" Fallon, P.E.R., who was judge of the Barn Yard Golf, was in danger of his life on several occasions but all ended serenely.

The baseball game was something else again. Seeking revenge for last year's defeat, Woburn socked the offerings of the Winchester pitcher far, wide and handsome and when the carnage was over the score stood 24 to 4 in favor of Woburn in seven innings. The summary:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Woburn	1	5	3	2	5	2	3	—21
Winchester	1	0	2	0	1	0	0	— 4

Batteries—Peterson and McDonald; Dr. O'Connor, Harrold, Finnegan, Mitchell, Horne and Hamilton.

"Jack" Donaghey, P.E.R., handled the field sports and was one of the busiest men at the outing as the contestants all wanted handicaps of one sort or another, so "Jack" declared all contests a draw and then ran for his life, coming in time to win the clambake eating contest from Everett Hambly, E.R., by 29 clams. Where does he put them?

The hog calling contest was a tie between "Buck" Haley and Gordo Horne but when the golfers from the Sagamore course and the Fire Department came over with blood in their eyes it was called off as the noise disturbed the golfers and called out the Fire Department. Some hog callers!

The wheelbarrow race was won by the team of "Mike" Quigley and "Jack" McCarthy. Jack's nose plowed up a furrow 11 inches long and 1½ inches deep. First aid was rendered by "Charlie" Meek.

The pipe smoking contest was won by Fred Mitchell. Just think of this: 1 hour and 27 minutes on one match and a pipe full of tobacco! Only a Scotchman could do that!

At 5 p. m. all sat down to a wonderful dinner and to see the corn, turkey, etc. disappear was marvelous! There should be a famine in Lynnfield today sure!

After dinner a songfest was held with Norman Harrold at the piano while some of the boys dallied with the "kings and queens" and when we left at 9:30 p. m. were still going strong.

"Things to Remember"

"Jack" Donaghey, P.E.R., eating clams!

Everett Hambly serving hot dogs. Boy, can he toss them together!

"Charlie" Meek trying to drink a bottle of tonic with the cap still on!

Gordo Horne sliding into first base. Oh, boy!

"Tom" Farley and "Al" Horne pitching quoits against "Ed" Gilman and "Jack" Halligan. Four matches each! Twenty to 20 for a tie! No play-off, too tired!

"Charlie" Farrar, P.E.R., playing center field in his bare feet and no glove. Some fielder, and did he get a hit?

"Jack" McCarthy and John McCarron eating corn and arguing whether it is better to gnaw it off or cut it off with a knife!

CHILD STRUCK BY TRUCK

June Wilson, three-year-old daughter of Mr. Percy Wilson of 6 Park road was painfully injured Monday morning about 10:30 when she was knocked down while on Washington street opposite Park road by an Autocar truck, owned by Dennis P. Casey of 204 Manthorne street, Boston, and driven by Ernest E. Law of 52 Morrison street, Medford.

According to the police account of the accident Law was driving south on Washington street and had reached Park road when the Wilson child, who was playing with some children in front of the Weston Bakery in the block of stores at the corner of Swanton street suddenly ran from in front of a parked automobile against the side of the truck.

She was knocked down, sustaining cuts about the head and left side as well as a severe shaking up.

She was picked up by John Doherty driver of Whiting's milk truck, which was parked in front of the nearby First National Stores, and taken by Doherty and Law in an automobile driven by E. H. Kelley of the Park Radio Company on Main street to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Sanford Moses. Patrolman John Murray of the Police Department, who investigated, reported the accident to Daniels street, Arlington, and took the latter to the hospital.

INJURED AS CAR HITS POLE

The occupants of a Ford roadster were injured shortly before 6:30 last Sunday evening when the machine got out of control while going south on Washington street and struck an Edison Light pole near Orient street.

Patrolmen James P. Donaghey and Archie T. O'Connell answered a call for assistance sent in to Headquarters and found that the car at the time of the accident was being driven by Anna Tyndel of Daniels street, Arlington. The owner, Carl Freyer of Warren street, Arlington, was also in the machine.

Both were taken to the Winchester Hospital by E. M. Murray of New Haven, Conn., and treated there by Dr. Sanford Moses. The roadster was badly damaged and was towed to Conlon's Garage. The pole was broken off by the force of the impact at a point about eight feet from the ground.

CONOMO TO THE FORE

Conomo made a good showing in last Saturday's opening day of race week at Marblehead, C. P. LeRoyer, Jr. winning the event for fish catboats with his Redfish while Vincent Farnsworth sailed his Alice to second place in the races for the cat class. Ober Pride brought in his Snapper well up in the list of fish boats just ahead of "Jim" Newman's Whitefish and Albert Hale's Flying Fish, the latter representing Annisquam. Harris Richardson and Frank Lane had hard luck with their Mit-Me in the cat class racing and didn't finish.

On Sunday George Neiley, Jr. sailed the Alice to a second in the five and one-half mile race for Annisquam and Conomo eats while C. P. LeRoyer also took second with his Red Fish in the fish class racing. Henry L. LeRoyer sailed Ober Pride's Snapper to a fourth in this event and Harris Richardson, Jr. skippered the Mit-Me to a third in the cat class.

LAUNDRY EMPLOYEES ENJOYED MOONLIGHT SAIL

Jack McMinamin of the Winchester plant was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and was assisted by Eleanor McInerney and Bernard Devine of the Newton plant and Helen Dewar of Winchester.

Defamatory Words

Defamatory words are those which injure the reputation of another. If written and published they constitute libel; if spoken, slander. Libel is usually regarded more seriously than slander because the written word suggests premeditation, and has more permanence than a slander, which is often uttered in the heat of the moment.

Size of Corn

Several varieties of corn reach a length of 10 inches or more. One Ounnia corn grower produced some ears measuring 15 inches. The length of the stalks depends on the variety; many of them reach 10 feet or over. In some rich river valleys, specimens more than 20 feet tall are not infrequent, while varieties measuring over 30 feet have been reported from the West Indies.

Critics

A critic is a fault-finder who can give good reasons; whereas, with most people, it is either "swell" or "rotten."

Real Happiness

True happiness leaves no reaction. The mind is at rest within itself, and the consciousness filled with the joy of living.

City of Music

Vienna, the city Johann Strauss set to music and his home for 45 years, was also the home of Franz Schubert for 39 years. All the great masters loved Vienna and lived there. It is still the City of Music, trysting place of musicians and artists, together with medical students and roamers from the Balkans. It has a civic history back to the days of Marcus Aurelius, who died there.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change.

We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

Sunday Clothes

The old fashioned Sunday was, in short, the only institution that has ever made the entire American people, from top to bottom, realize the obligations and feel the benefits of dressing deliberately and appropriately for a given event. Those Sunday clothes, says a writer in the Atlantic Monthly Magazine, did for their wearers exactly what a uniform does for a soldier. They induced and maintained a complete mental attitude.

Comic Song Has Outgrown Period of Wheezy Organ

In the older "old days," the rapid spread of the "comic" popular song was greatly hindered by the difficulty of properly performing "Little Brown Jug" and "Shoo Fly, Don't Bother Me" on the cottage organ, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The introduction of the low-priced piano fostered this spirited though extremely frivolous type of minstrelsy. By the time that "Whoa Emma" swept the country, almost everybody who had a piano had acquired a square grand—"uprights" were not so well known. They came later, along with that pleasing ballad "Baby Mine" and also "Over the Garden Wall." A celebrated circus clown spread "Where Did You Get That Hat?" all over the country.

Some time after that the one-night stands performed a similar office for "Down Went McGinty" and "The Band Played On." Then came the phonograph, and the listeners "had what they wanted," over and over again. In spite of the neighbors' screams. The radio poured forth a great flood of music, endless and varied, from "Tannhauser" to "Happy Days Are Here Again." Syncopation came in, numberless scores in ragtime and most of the words in a modified dialect.

The old cottage organ would have a stuttering and wheezy time with them. It was attuned to "gospel hymns" and was their devoted instrument.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Constance Bennett in her new film, "Bed of Roses," and "I Loved You Wednesday," with Warner Baxter and Elissa Landi as the featured players, will make up the double bill that opens at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. Picturesque and varied backgrounds, ranging from the drab interiors of a reformatory to the Mardi Gras carnival in New Orleans, add glamor and spice to the swift-moving drama of "Bed of Roses." Released from a detention home, Miss Bennett proceeds to New Orleans, uses garter appeal on Stephen Paige, and travels directly into the wealthy patrons penthouse and pocketbook. She finds life with Paige a bed of roses—pierced with thorns by the absence of true love. Remorseful, Lorry seeks out handsome Dan, captain of a towboat on the drama Mississippi, played by Joel McCrea, and the two fall in love with each other. Always confident that she can have her cake and eat it, she plans for marriage. Her plans encounter a snag when cautioned against marriage without revealing her past. A strange climax solves her dilemma. Miss Bennett's allure and beauty are said to be perfect for the role of Lorry Evans. Pert Kelton, a newcomer from the New York stage, is said to give Miss Bennett a battle for acting honors with her wise-cracking-lady characterization.

"I Loved You Wednesday," is a screen version of the stage hit of the same name and previews, in addition to the stars, Warner Baxter and Elissa Landi, Victor Jory, Miriam Jordan and Laura Hope Crews. The story revolves around the glamorous figure of a ballet dancer in Paris who, seeking to heal the wounds of an unfortunate love affair, goes to South America to launch on a professional dancing career. There she meets a handsome engineer who falls in love with her. Their work separates them, but they later meet in New York, each of them having a measure of fame. They are about to embark on a honeymoon trip on his yacht, when her Paris lover puts in a sudden appearance and complicates matters. Two unusual features of this film are a dramatization of the work at Boulder Dam and the Dance of the Maidens.

"Hold Me Tight" with James Dunn and Sally Eilers as the stars, heads the bill that ends its run at the Granada on Friday. "Be Mine Tonight," one of the sensations of the season, a musical treat with European stars, is the second attraction on the current bill.

Whig and Tory

The names Whig and Tory were introduced in 1679 in England during the struggle over the bill to exclude James, duke of York, from the succession to the crown. The term Whig was used of cattle and horse thieves and was thence transferred to the Scottish Presbyterians. During the Seventeenth century, therefore, it denoted Presbyterianism and rebellion. Tory was an Irish term suggesting a Papist outlaw and was applied to those who supported the hereditary right of James in spite of his Roman Catholic faith.

LEGION WON FROM NORTH CAMBRIDGE K. OF C.

Robinson Held Visitors to Five Hits —Given Great Support

In the best baseball game played on Manchester Field since that memorable 13-inning battle between the Legion and the Presentation Club two years ago, Winchester Legion defeated the North Cambridge Knights of Columbus last Saturday afternoon, 3 to 1.

"Robbie" Robinson, colored underhand artist, was on the mound for Winchester and pitched great ball, holding the hard hitting opposition to five hits. He was given gilt-edged support by his team mates, both in the infield where Horace Ford, "Tweet" Walsh and "Tony" Colucci sparkled individually and collectively, and in the outfield where "Nick" Fitzgerald and "Bob" Lee turned in some life-saving catches.

The entire team was on its toes against the Caseys, easily the best club the locals have faced this year, and dangerous right up to the final putout. The same brand of ball as that shown Saturday by the locals would have resulted in wins against both Lord Tanning and the Arlington Pros.

Winchester nicked McGowan and Gallagin of North Cambridge for 11 safeties, slick fielding by the visitors and the locals' continued disregard of the "one-run" game keeping the score down. Two fine double plays hurt the local cause no end just when it seemed that a real rally was in the making.

"Robbie" worked himself out of a bad hole in the first. Ready hit a slow ball over second and reached second when Terry worked Robinson for a walk. Horan's hunt had a bit too much steam on it and Ready was erased at third on a very close play. Robinson to Colucci, "Jim" Fitzgerald took Towle's foul near the plate and Lee ran clear to the foul line for Cote's soaring fly.

McGowan knocked down "Nick" Fitzgerald's bid for a hit over second to start the second inning and got the runner by a stride. Lee hit into right field and scored as "Joe" Tansey doubled over third base. Kendrick's clean hit past short sent Tansey to third and Robinson's drive over second brought him in. Terry took Walsh's fly in center and Ready threw out Colucci.

Lee picked off Horan's fly to start the Casey fourth, but Towle fell on another Robinson slow ball for a hit over second and went all the way around when Cote drove out a long triple to center. "Tweet" Walsh made a great catch of Foley's bid for a hit over second and "Jim" Fitzgerald took Mathews' grounder to retire the side.

Robinson hit cleanly over second to start the Legion 5th and "Tweet" Walsh dropped a Texas Leaguer in left. Colucci hit into a double play, Cote to Horan to Mathews, Robinson reaching third. The run came over as Ready lost Ford's mean roller. Cote threw out "Jim" Fitzgerald.

"Robbie," went along nicely until the 8th, when after fanning pinch hitter Barry, Colucci threw low after making a nice running catch of Ready's hopper to give the Casey third sacker a life. Terry drew his second walk and there were two on and only one away. "Robbie" bore down hard and forced Horan to hoist to Colucci and "Nick" Fitzgerald ended the frame with a slick running catch of Towle's liner in short right center.

With two down in the visitor's ninth, Mathews lined one past Colucci and Manager Frank McCrehan went up to bat for Derek. "Robbie" got the big boy on strikes to end the game.

The Legion had a great scoring chance in the 8th when the Fitzgeralds singled consecutively with no one out. Lee, however, blazed into a double killing and Ready threw out Tansey.

Double plays—Walsh, Ford and J. Fitzgerald; Cote, Horan and Mathews; Mathews and Cote. Passed ball—Derek. Time—1 hr. 35 min. Umpire—Roche.

Notes

Seldom will you see better infield play on a semi-pro diamond than that shown by both clubs last Saturday. Ready's error on Ford's roller was excusable and "Tony" Colucci's bobble was a low throw which occasionally happens to the best of them.

That double play made by "Tweet" Walsh, "Hod" Ford and "Jim" Fitzgerald was expected by few watching the game because no one hut a big time infielder would have known just how to work out the important middle part of the play. Ford avoided the charging base runner by crossing the bag like lightning and his side arm toss to "Fitzy" from the second base side of the bag was the sort of peg the semi-pros don't know much about. It was very slick work, yet done so niftily it looked easy.

"Nick" Fitzgerald had his eye on the ball, getting two hits and missing another because first base was about three feet too far from home plate in the early innings. McGowan barely reached his high bounder in the second and had to make a very fast recovery to nip "Nick" at first by inches. Had the bag been in its correct spot, it would have been three hits for Nicholas.

Ford, too, lost a hit in the third when his hard hit grounder struck Ready in the face. The North Cambridge third sacker recovered rapidly and tossed out Ford by a single stride. With the bag right, "Hod" would have been "in there."

Some North Cambridge rooters gave Roche the well known "razz" when he came down and replaced first base in the fourth frame. "Chucker" gave them a mean look but made no come back.

"Sonny" Foley, former B. C. athlete and now a hockey official, was the victim of fine fielding on two occasions. "Nicky" Fitzgerald robbed him of a sure triple with a fine running catch of his long drive against the girls' hockey goal in the 2nd, while in the 8th "Tweet" Walsh pulled down his liner that looked for a moment like a sure hit.

Lee made a good catch of Cote's towering fly to end the first frame with two on. The ball was curving away from him and fell right in front of the foul post.

Ford made a corking play on Derek's deep bouncer in the 2nd, taking the ball off balance in short left, yet getting away his throw so fast he beat the little catcher to the bag, "Harpy" helping along with a fine stretch.

North Cambridge had a slick working first sacker in young Mathews, who it is said never played high school ball. He dug them up out of the dirt in a way that reminded us of "Chick" Meehan when he was first basing for "All Woburn" back in the "good old days."

Colucci robbed Towle of a hit in the 6th when he clutched his torrid liner just inside the bag at third. The blow was labeled and had it gotten by, might have done plenty of damage as Horan was on first at the time.

"Tony" narrowly missed doubling Horan who tried to push big "Jim" Fitzgerald out of the way as he dived back. "Harpy" didn't even jiggle, and Horan had a surprised look on his face as he unwrapped himself from the big boy's legs.

Terry, Casey center fielder, so we were told by a North Cambridge fan, hadn't previously struck out this year when "Robbie" got him in the third.

"Nick" Fitzgerald chased that three baser of Cote's almost to the far end of the running track. It was the hardest hit ball of the game and should have gone for the circuit. McCrehan, coaching at third, took no chances and held the runner at the hot corner when he saw Kendrick relay the ball in to Ford.

"Joe" Tansey is a great hatter in a pinch. His two bagger over third in the second was very timely. Kendrick and "Robbie" also came through when hits meant something.

While less spectacular than his running catch off Foley, "Nick" Fitzgerald's running-in grab of Towle's liner in the 8th was if anything, a harder catch and just about saved the game for the Legion.

You don't see so many double plays started by the first baseman in semi-pro ball, but Mathews and Cote worked their twin killing in the 8th flawlessly. Lee's belt to the first sacker was plenty hard which of course helped.

We still think it's foolish to hit away with two men on and no one out as the Legion did in both the fifth and eighth. Twin killings resulted in both cases, and the game was plenty tight enough to have made the play for one run logical.

Only $28.50 in that crowd, and for such a ball game. Think of it!

MANAGER CHEFALO OF LEGION TEAM ON INJURED LIST

Harry Chefalo of Cedar street, well known manager and second baseman of the Winchester Legion baseball team, is confined to his bed with an infected leg, thought to be the result of a baseball injury.

Chefalo injured his leg last week Monday evening sliding into home in an amateur league baseball game on Leonard Feld. Thursday the leg became very painful and Dr. Richard W. Sheehy who was summoned diagnosed the trouble as an abcess and ordered Chefalo to bed. It was at first thought that it would be necessary to open the leg, but improvement was noted the first of the week and on Tuesday the Star was informed that unless complications set in an operation will not be needed.

Chefalo is still confined to his bed, and it is thought will have to remain there for another week. How soon he will be ready for baseball can not be told until he is able to get onto his feet.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

An example of what Winchester might expect if a part of the Boston Postal District was seen last week in the receipt of an advertisement mailed in Stoneham Tuesday afternoon and received in Friday afternoon's mail—too late for insertion in the Star. Ceteratas!

The Star has been asked to inform its readers that the reason for the poor appearance which the Fortnightly community tree presents in its place on the common is the harm done the tree at Christmas time when it is festooned with colored lights. The tree does not quite recover from the heat generated by the lights from one Christmas to another and is gradually being killed. It is not as yet dead, but just how much it will come back is a question, and certainly it is no ornament at present. The lights which the town uses at Christmas time, according to Foreman Aaron Johnson of the Park Department, are not the small type usually employed in trimming evergreens and the heat coming from them is too great for the tree to withstand. A close inspection will show where many branches have already been lopped off, and there are still some dead limbs which ought to be removed. The tree will never make a good appearance and many believe it should be cut down. Whether it will come back sufficiently well to be an eye-sore in its present prominent place on the common is a question. At all events it evidently should not be lighted again. Artificial trees will serve the purpose as well.

The threat to poison barking dogs which the Star was asked to broadcast some weeks ago was not taken seriously by many dog owners, if one is to judge from a daily glance at the police blotter. There is hardly a night during which some officer is not obliged to round up and stop the persistent barking of a dog which is annoying those whose ability to sleep soundly is not so great as that possessed by the owner of the animal. We of course never believed the writer of the "poison" letter meant what he said, but we sympathize with him and those who are obliged to appeal to the police from the prolonged barking of dogs during the hours of rest. The voice of a dog may sound beautiful to his owner, but to those who do not share the pride of possession it is particularly jarring after the first ten minutes or so. If dog owners would exercise the same sportsmanship in the matter of preventing their animals from annoying their neighbors that they show in other phases of community life there would be no trouble and much of the prejudice against dogs would vanish. The police too would be glad to devote the portion of their time they spend straightening out difficulty caused by thoughtless dog proprietors to more important matters.

It was interesting to note the final chapter of the test case made in connection with police interference with tennis players on a recent Sunday morning at one of the Boston parks. Playing is limited on Sundays at the courts in question to the hours after 1:30 in the afternoon, yet devotees, according to complaints, were arriving at the courts and getting into action at daylight on the Sabbath. The police went to the courts and two players, to make a test case, went onto the courts and started to bat the ball around. Their names were taken and a complaint against them was sought by the authorities. A hearing was held, and the complaint denied because the young men asserted that they were merely practising tennis and not playing. There was nothing in the regulations to prohibit practice, and with this view the clerk of court agreed. The distinction is a nice one, as nicely drawn in its way, though hardly as important, as that which threw out of court a case against a motorist charged with manslaughter because the indictment stated that he was driving upon a town way instead of a private way. An eminent attorney, now deceased, was wont to say near the close of his life that courts are fast becoming courts of law instead of courts of justice! When they rule that practising tennis isn't playing tennis, it begins to look as though this opinion may be founded in fact. We aren't discussing the merits of tennis on the Sabbath. What we feel is wrong is an ever growing tendency of courts to twist existing laws and regulations into shapes they were never intended to assume; to find loopholes in the wording of a law which the framers obviously never intended to exist. We can get a laugh out of the tennis episode, (if we don't happen to live beside the courts, at which patrons arrive at 6:30 a. m.) but there are other legal decisions being made, the results of which are too serious to be laughed off.

THE HIGHWAY KILLER

The Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety today made its annual identification of the highway killer. The typical 1932 motoring slayer was revealed by local and national records to be fully as young as his predecessor of the year before, more physically perfect, equally sober, and even more guilty of disregarding the measures taken to guard against his ruthless activities.

Here are the outstanding characteristics by which the 1932 highway killer was identified by the committee:

He was a male, under 20 years of age. He had less than three months' experience at the wheel, or else more than a year's operating record. He had no physical or mental defect and was perfectly sober.

He was driving a private passenger car that was in an adequately safe mechanical condition. He was proceeding in a residential district, over a good road, with a dry surface in clear weather, but in the dusk or early darkness. Saturday was the day of his greatest activity. He was driving straight ahead at a speed generally approximating 29 miles an hour. Police found it difficult to place the blame on any specific driving violation. Plain reckless disregard of the laws of common sense in suiting speed to the actual conditions was the commonest verdict.

The victim was usually one of the killer's own motoring associates, though the number of pedestrians slain reached 11 per cent of the total. The typical pedestrian victim was slightly older than the slayer, in good physical condition and sober, who met his death by crossing the street between intersections.

LONDONDERRY BASKS IN SPOTLIGHT OF INTERNATIONAL AVIATION

Aviation again brings Londonderry, northern Ireland, into the spotlight. The landing there of the Italian seaplane squadron, enroute to Chicago, Ill., from Orbetello, Italy, recalls the famous transatlantic flight of Amelia Earhart Putnam who alighted on a farm near the city in May, 1932.

The most northerly town in Ireland, and one of the most prosperous, it nestles on the famous Foyle, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is more commonly known locally as Derry; having received its not altogether welcome prefix when James I granted lands in the vicinity to the City of London, in song and story the city is the "Maiden City of Ireland."

Along the two-mile quays of the river Irishmen jolly each other as they load and unload the foreign, colonial and coasting trade of the docking vessels. For the Foyle is wide and deep, and large tonnage ships sailing the flags of many nations bring their wares to her port. Busy looms in the city make linen, and then laughing, twinkly-eyed Irish girls make the linen into shirts before it leaves Londonderry. The salmon fishery on the Foyle is important and the town has timber mills, foundries, grain mills and shipyards.

Saint Columba Was Founder

But Derry has for the traveler a charm greater than the bustle and up-and-doing atmosphere—the story of a past replete with romance, devotion to principle, and the exhibition of an indomitable spirit. Columba, the greatest of the Irish saints after Patrick and Brigid, in 546 looked on the oak-clad hills and coveted them. Here he founded his abbey, known as Daire-Columbkille, or Columba's Oak Grove, within the shadow of the great fort on a neighboring hill, the stronghold of the Lord of Tyrone, in order that his sanctuary might have the protection of the fort. But in vain did he reckon his chances against the Danes and Saxons who, time and again, pushed their boats against his shores. Despite their plundering and burnings, the settlement grew and maintained its independence against even the English until 1609.

Derry was then given to the Corporation of London, which tacked on the prefix London. The Irish Society, to which Londonderry and much of the surrounding country had been given, pledged itself to inclose Derry within walls, and these walls, wide enough for a coach and four, are excellently preserved today. Long ago they grew too small to encompass all the inhabitants of the bustling port, but they stand like a stiff belt around the waistline of the hill on which the city is built.

Defending Walls Still Standing

The most inconvenient thing about them is that, though they are more than a mile in circumference there are only seven gates leading through them. Because the walls defended the city in the siege begun by James II, a busy man must make quite a jaunt out of his way to find a passageway through them, but, true to Irish sentiment, he does it without a murmur. On one of the bastions of the wall an old gun, affectionately known as "Roaring Meg," points her nose over the city.

Here, too, on the hill in the center of a crowded old graveyard stands the quaint, roofless cathedral with its queer pinnacled tower. It is called after St. Columba, although it is not on the site of the old abbey built by the Saint 14 centuries ago.

On a high, inaccessible hill in the distance, looms the stronghold of the Lords of Tyrone. It is said that St. Patrick came to the fort to baptize Owen who first set himself up to rule over the Province of Tyrone, and St. Columba visited it before his exile. Here, too, captive Danes who had threatened the peace of the city were dragged in triumph.

Though every trace of the old castle has been obliterated, the massive stone wall 11 feet thick and 18 feet high, resembling the handiwork of a cyclops, has stood out grimly against the centuries. A small iron gate hangs across a two-foot doorway, the only entrance to its huge amphitheaterlike interior, which reveals further devices designed for the protection of the inmates.

TABASCO, MEXICO'S STATE OF "DAMP EARTH"

Tabasco, Mexican State at the southern extremity of the Gulf of Mexico where intensive search has been made for the trans-Atlantic plane "Cuatro Vientos" (Four Winds), is one of the least known units that make up the Republic of Mexico, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Tabasco seldom comes into the newspaper spotlight today, continues the bulletin, but if modern newspapers had been in existence in the 16th century, this head line would have flashed across the front pages of the world: "Cortes Lands; Conquest of Mexico Begins." It was in Tabasco that the great Spanish Conquistador first set foot on Mexican soil, March 25, 1519.

Swampy Near Coast

The State's name, which is not to be confused with that of a famous sauce, is derived from an Indian term signifying "damp earth." No other definition describes Tabasco so well. Most of the district is low, and, near the coast, quite swampy. As the best watered of all Mexican States Tabasco has many rivers, large and small, and some of them are deep enough to permit small steamers to reach the interior.

Despite its swamps and lowlands, however, Tabasco does not bear the reputation of being an unhealthy spot. Back of the coastal jungles are many huge haciendas, or plantations, producing and exporting large quantities of cacao, coffee, tobacco, sugar cane, vanilla, rubber, pepper, and tropical fruits. Chicle, the source of chewing gum, fine cabinet woods, and dyewoods are also obtained from the forests.

San Juan Bautista (formerly Villa Hermosa), the capital of the State, stands on a commanding site along the Rio Grijalva, some distance from the sea. Along the river, between town and sea, ply small steamers. Founded in 1598 it was a thriving town when the first settlers arrived at Jamestown, Va. Its handsome cathedral dates from 1614, six years before the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock. Frontera, the chief port of Tabasco, stands near the mouth of the Rio Grijalva.

Network of Channels at Flood Times

While Tabasco has neither railroads, nor roads over which a wheeled vehicle can pass with any degree of comfort, it is blessed—and often cursed—with an abundance of waterways. The Grijalva and the Usumacinta, both rivers of considerable size, combine to form a network of channels which embraces a large part of the State in a low delta.

So low is the land along the Gulf of Mexico and so numerous are the passages that bind the river systems together, that annually some 2000 square miles of Tabasco's 9783 square miles (an area slightly larger than New Jersey) are inundated. Between overflows large herds of cattle find pasturage in the lowlands. During flood times canoes are universally used for cross-country traveling. At other times the chief mode of travel overland is by horseback. Nearly all of the State's produce, however, is shipped by river boats.

A short distance south of the capital the rubber country begins, and it extends almost unbroken to the Guatemalan border. Most Tabascan rubber is raised on huge plantations, some of them possessing as many as 50,000 trees. While many of the trees are newly set out, usually with cacao or coffee trees between them, some are magnificent specimens with girths up to six feet. Each mature tree produces about a half pound of rubber a year.

Some Sections Await Exploration

Large areas in the State, however, are still primitive wildernesses, and some sections have not been explored by white men. Tabasco is a paradise for the game and plant hunter. Back in the jungles the puma, tapir, tigercat, porcupine, wild boar, deer, and armadillo roam. The woods are fairly alive with brilliant tropical birds, insects, and flowers. Although there are few towns and no hotels in the interior, plantation owners are hospitable. Often they entertain each other in the grand manner of our own southern planters during ante-bellum days.

It was a report of the explorations of an early Spanish explorer, Grijalva, who sailed to the Mexican coast and explored the river which bears his name in Tabasco, that induced Cortes to lead his expedition to Mexico. Though Cortes touched first at the Islands along the coast of Yucatan, the community on the site of the present-day Frontera was the first town he captured. After fighting two battles and several minor engagements in Tabasco he sailed 200 miles farther along the coast of the Gulf of Mexico and established Vera Cruz, from which he extended his control over the entire country.

The closest modern descendants of the dinosaurs of prehistoric times are animals living on islands in the Java sea known as Komode dragons, beasts that sometimes grow ten feet long.

Bird-Eating Spiders

The London zoo has been enriched by a large number of giant bird-eating and other "out-size" spiders. A constant supply is provided by the many lines of banana boats, but notably those that come from Jamaica. As one explores the tier upon tier of holds in these ships, containing in all some 1,500 tons of fruit, these 6 to 8 inch-long spiders make a weird spectacle as they skate over the walls or sit waiting for the small birds which never appear. Some of the species can give a very severe bite, and dozens perish at the hands of the crew for every single one that arrives at the Regent's park menagerie. Zoo specimens become very tame, allowing themselves to be handled by their keeper.

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 13.

The Golden Text is: "My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God" (Psalms 42:2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, to keep the commandments of the Lord, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?" (Deuteronomy 10:12, 13.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Dost thou 'love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind'? This command includes much, even the surrender of all merely material sensation, affection, and worship. This is the El Dorado of Christianity. It involves the Science of Life and recognizes only the divine control of Spirit, in which Soul is our master, and material sense and human will have no place" (p. 9).

COCHIN: AN OASIS IN A DESERT OF ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES

Cochin, diminutive State of British India, is an oasis in the desert of depression, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society which points out that the favorable economic conditions in the State have caused an increase in population of nearly one-fourth in the last decade. The State now is one of the most densely populated areas of its size in the world—814 people to the square mile.

Cochin constitutes the northern end of Travancore State, the southwesternmost political division of the Indian peninsula, continues the bulletin. If lifted from the map of India and placed on a map of Rhode Island, it would overlap the New England State by about 200 square miles.

Twice the Population of Rhode Island

There, however, the favorable comparison between the two States ceases. For Cochin has nearly twice as many people; some of its mountain peaks rise 5000 feet above sea level; and its border is so wabbly that if India were made into a jigsaw puzzle, the State would try the patience of the most adept fan.

The eastern half of the State is a region of mountains covered with forests of teak and other valuable woods while many of its deep valleys are blanketed with a dense jungle growth. Despite the fact that there are so many people in the State, there is room in these mountains for a variety of wild animals—mountain goats, tigers, leopards, hyenas, deer, monkeys, and elephants.

Cochin, Chief City

The mountains slope to a central plain region, here and there broken by isolated hills. Here tiny villages of flimsy tropical structures are set amid vast acres of small, intensively cultivated farms, grazing lands and fruit orchards. The flat coastal region is the source of rice and coconuts.

Cochin City, the State's chief city and port, situated on the Arabian Sea, was the site of the first European settlements on the Indian peninsula. Cabral dropped anchor in the harbor in 1500 after his attack on Calicut, 100 miles up the coast. Two years later Vasco da Gama visited the post. The next year Albuquerque arrived and built the first European fort in the East. On Christmas day, 1524, da Gama died at Cochin, and was entombed in a local monastery until his remains were removed to Portugal in 1538.

The city was captured by the Dutch in 1663. The newcomer made extensive improvements, building substantial houses, business buildings, quays, and warehouses, but in 1795 when the city fell to the British after a long siege, many of the new structures were leveled.

A glance at the commerce-strewn docks of Cochin reveals one reason for the State's prosperity. Besides rice and coconut oil, copra, and nuts, there are large quantities of tea, pepper, cardamoms, teak, and coffee. Pepper was the first product of Cochin to move to European markets in the ships of early Portuguese traders, and it remains an important export of the State today.

Ernakulam, two miles from Cochin, across a lagoon, is the capital of the State; but Maharajah Sir Rama Varmah, the present native ruler resides at Trimunthra, six miles inland. The capital is connected with Cochin by frequent ferry service while it is linked with other western India cities by the State Railway, the only railway line in the State.

CARTWRIGHT, NORTHERN AIR DOOR TO AMERICA

Cartwright, air door to North America for the Italian seaplane squadron en route from Orbetello, Italy, to Chicago, is a tiny settlement of less than 100 inhabitants, lying on the southern shore of Sandwich Bay, one of the largest indentations in the southern half of the Labrador coast, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

One of Labrador's Best Harbors

The harbor at Cartwright is protected by islands and is one of the best havens in Labrador. During the short and busy summer season its quiet waters are often crowded with boats of many varieties. Two-masted fishing schooners, the little coastal steamer, "Kyle" which runs from St. Johns to Hopedale, the huge "Blue Peter," floating factory for freezing the season's catch of salmon, and the graceful, steam yacht, "Strathcona," Sir Wilfred Grenfell's hospital ship, have all met within the shelter of Sandwich Bay.

Besides a few frame houses of white fishermen and traders, and Indian and Eskimo half-breeds, Cartwright boasts a school, a mission, and hospital which were established by Dr. Grenfell, and a trading station of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Near Sites of Earliest Settlements

Cartwright is in the immediate neighborhood of the earliest settlements established on the Labrador coast by groups of fishermen from the Channel Islands, in the 17th century. In 1770 Major George Cartwright, after whom the settlement is named, resigned from the British military service and sought his fortune establishing trading posts from Cape St. Charles, near the southeastern tip of Labrador, to the present site of Cartwright. For a decade and a half he was active in the Labrador sealing and fishing industry, meanwhile attempting to cultivate trade relationships with Eskimos and Indians who had previously refused to trade with and resented the presence of British traders.

ANADYRSK, WHERE MATTERN WAS FOUND

If Mattern had flown due east for about 725 miles beyond Anadyrsk where he was located, he would have landed in Nome, Alaska, whose inhabitants have scanned the skies since he made his last take-off in Siberia, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Anadyrsk is a small settlement of a few hundred population on the Anadyr River 175 miles from its mouth. Across the river is the more important northeastern Siberian trading post, Markovo, but most of the other settlements of this region are tiny villages of native huts, inhabited by tribesmen speaking little-known languages. Some natives, however, have a limited knowledge of Russian.

The Anadyr River flows into the Gulf of Anadyr, a huge indentation in the Siberian coast of the Bering Sea. The river marks the southern boundary of the Chukchee tribes from which Northeast Siberia gets its name, Chukotsk Land. These Chukchee tribes resemble the Indians of Northwest America while the Tungus, also found in this region, are remnants of early Mongolian tribes that migrated into the Chukchee territory.

Many of the tribesmen are nomads, refusing to settle down in the villages. Reindeer and dog-breeding, hunting, fishing, and trading are the natives' chief occupations.

Distinguishing Sensations

The ability to distinguish between degrees of sensation varies greatly in the different senses. The eye can tell a 1 per cent difference in illumination, the arm 2.5 per cent in released weight, the skin 5 per cent in pressure, the ear 10 per cent in tone, and the nose 30 per cent in intensity of smell.

SPORTS JOTTINGS

Albert Hale was Winchester's winning skipper in Tuesday's "race week" events at Marblehead, sailing his Flying Fish to a victory in the fish class event for Annisquam, Conomo Point and Nahant boats. Ober Pride sailed in his "Snapper" to third place in the same race.

George Neiley is one of the younger skippers who has been making a good showing in the race week events at Marblehead. On Tuesday he sailed Vincent Farnsworth's Alice to a second place in the race for Annisquam and Conomo cats, giving Julianna Smith in her famed Caterpillar II some stiff competition.

Also listed among this week's winners in the racing at "the Head" was Mr. George Proctor of Cabot street who summers at Marblehead Neck. His "Curlew" was a winner in the famous Herreshoff S Class.

Winchester's representatives in the women's singles competition at the Eastern Yacht Club in Marblehead this week didn't fare so well, with the exception of Elizabeth Packer who reached the quarter-final round before losing to Louise Baker, finalist. Betty Proctor and Ruth Aseltine went out in the early rounds, the former having the misfortune to draw that nemesis of Winchester girl tennis players, Hilda Boehm of Malden, while Ruth was defeated by Mrs. A. L. Robinson, an experienced player.

A big upset in Tuesday's competition at the Eastern Yacht Club was the elimination of last year's men's doubles winners, William S., and William S. Packer, Jr., who were defeated by Morris LaCroix and Albert P. Evarts, Sr. in three sets, 6—4, 4—6, 6—2.

Frequenters of the courts at Palmer street are predicting a fine tennis future for Norman Dalrymple, youthful Winchester captain of the Phillips Andover team. He has gotten into several matches as a member of the Winchester Tennis Association team and has always given a fine account of himself.

Sylvia Hatch's win over Lucy Fowle on Tuesday in the North Shore girls' tournament at Tedesco is not to be wondered at so much. Lucy has played little tennis since school closed while Sylvia has constantly improved her game by playing early and late and competing in tournaments wherever possible.

This same Sylvia Hatch is going to take her place with Winchester High's best all around athletes, having won letters in field hockey, basketball and tennis. With another year in school she should go far in interscholastic competition as she is the type who is improving right along.

You can't convince Hall Gamage that his pal, "Larry" Freeburn can't win from Drake, star singles player of the Woodbourne Club, when they meet in the playoff to decide the Old Colony League title. Hall is also optimistic about his own chances with Dolaman, Woodbourne's fine No. 2 player.

Football is just around the corner, and already "Patsy" Tofuri, Winchester's representative at Notre Dame is commencing the pigskin about a bit. If enthusiasm and hard work count for anything "Patsy" is going to make a real bid for recognition at the South Bend football capitol.

Speaking of football, it is reported that "Hennie" Knowlton, one of Winchester's gridiron immortals, may coach at New Hampton Prep this fall. He has had overtures from the New Hampshire school and is said to be considering them.

If "Hennie" can teach his boys to tackle the way he used to "smack them down," wherever he goes his team will be a hard one to beat. Tackling and blocking still go a long way in the gridiron game.

The Star is informed that a series between the Winchester Legion baseball team and the Philadelphia Colored Giants is in the making. This should give the fans a real run for their money, especially for the small amounts they are shelling out at the Saturday games.

What a difference Horace Ford makes to the Legion on the diamond. The former major leaguer is hustling every minute and insists that his teammates do the same. His spirit is infectious and last Saturday the locals looked like a real ball club.

ONE COUNTRY, ONE GOVERNMENT

The master Christian taught us to pray, "Our Father which art in heaven." If all have one Father, then all may be said to belong to one country. What is the nature of the country in which all in reality live, and what is its government? In order to answer this we must first ascertain the nature of "our Father." The Bible tells us that "God is love." The country to which all in reality belong, then, must be the realm of Love; and it is, of course, governed by God, divine Love.

This is not what the material senses tell us; therefore, in order to understand reality we must rise above material sense testimony—must lift our thought above what the material senses testify about ourselves and others, about country, government, and so forth. Like the prodigal son in the parable told by Christ Jesus, we too seem to be in a "far country" —the realm of material sense. We also must say, "I will arise and go to my father."

How can we do this? In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science writes (p. 256), "Love, the divine Principle, is the Father and Mother of the universe, including man;" and on page 583 she defines "creator" in part as "the animating divine Principle of all that is real and good." This is our starting point, that divine Love is the Father and Mother, the Principle, the cause and governor of all that is good, and that only that which is loving and good is real. We must deny reality or power to that which is not loving and good. In the degree that we do this we are conscious that we are dwelling in the one real country and are under the government of the divine Principle, Love.

If, like the prodigal son, we are tired of the husks of materiality, let us make an earnest effort to arise and go to our Father—that is, rise into the true consciousness of spiritual being. Let us see ourselves and others as the children of divine Love, and strive to express love by being patient, gentle, tolerant, forgiving, and unselfish. Let us accept only the good as real. Whatever we see manifested which is not good is similar to an error in mathematics or discord in music; it has no real cause and can seem to exist only by reason of ignorance of what is true. Let us gratefully acknowledge all good as originating in God, the divine Principle, Love. We ourselves do not originate good. For instance, unselfishness is expressive of the divine Principle, Love; and each time we act unselfishly it proves that we are, to that extent, governed by God, the Mind which is divine Love. The joy and peace which we experience when doing something unselfish indicate how wonderful it is to be thus governed. Christian Science teaches that the real man, the true spiritual selfhood of all, is ever governed by divine Love. Holding in thought this fact enables us to think and do that which is loving and wise.

In the ratio that the world accepts Love's universe and Love's government as being the real universe and real government, selfishness, hate, greed, pride, and fear will disappear. In the degree that these false qualities disappear, the false beliefs that go to make up racial and national prejudices will vanish; whatever hinders disarmament, world peace, and right economic relations between individuals and nations will disappear, for only the opposite of Love's qualities seems to interfere with harmonious relationship. In proportion as an individual recognizes the omnipresence and omnipotence of Love and allows divine Love to govern him will he actively progress.

A man and his wife made some purchases in a large city. When they had completed them the wife said, "So much love was expressed to us. Everyone seemed so pleased to see us, and enjoy waiting on us." The husband, who was a student of Christian Science, had striven to realize that all were children of divine Love, and were in the real universe, wherein Love governs. This realization had enabled them to experience harmony. Mrs. Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 516), "The substance, Life, intelligence, Truth, and Love, which constitute Deity, are reflected by His creation; and when we subordinate the false testimony of the corporeal senses to the facts of Science, we shall see this true likeness and reflection everywhere."

The individual who realizes that in reality he is in the realm of Love, under Love's government, is doing much toward making his daily contacts harmonious. He is doing much toward bringing to pass that happy day when all will know themselves as Love's children, dwelling in Love's universe. — [The Christian Science Monitor.

Smithsonian Institution

The Smithsonian Institution was established in 1846 under the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who died in 1826, leaving approximately a half million dollars for an institution bearing his name and intended to increase the diffusion of knowledge among men. It is governed by a board of regents consisting of the Vice President, the chief justice of the Supreme court, three members of the senate, three from the house, and six private individuals named by congress.

TOWN TO GET COUNTY MONEY

At a conference held last Friday in their offices at East Cambridge, at which both Selectman Henry J. Maguire and Supt. of Streets Parker Holbrook were present, the County Commissioners voted to contribute the sum of $7500 to the town as the county's share of the amount necessary to rebuild Highland avenue.

During the special session of the town meeting held in June many were openly skeptical of the county's paying this money, and felt that the rebuilding of the road should wait until the money was actually in hand. Selectman Maguire assured the meeting that the money would be forthcoming and Chairman Comins of the Finance Committee also felt that the county would pay. Now it seems that their judgment was sound, and a good start has been made upon the road, the labor being done by local workers.

Relics of Vanished Race

Amazing discoveries were made by an amateur archeologist of Johannesburg, South Africa, in northern Transvaal. His discoveries include sacrificial graves of an entirely new type, a sacrificial altar approached by ceremonial causeways and staircases so small that they could only have been used by pygmies, an irrigation system of enormous extent, and remnants of a large dam made by a vanished race, and an authentic mining implement used by unknown copper miners of the Palabara.

The Driftless Area

The driftless area in the United States includes several hundred square miles in Wisconsin and adjacent portions of Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois. It has never itself undergone glacial action of any kind. Just why this area should have escaped the glacial action that went on all around it is by no means clear and has never been absolutely explained.

CAPITOL THEATER, ARLINGTON, ATTRACTIONS

All due to the amazing exploits of Edmund Lowe as the slickest confidence man that ever pursued an easy dollar or a pretty girl, in his new picture, "I Love That Man" which opens a week of fine pictures at the Capitol Arlington on Monday, Aug. 14. Nancy Carroll is the woman whose refusal to take "No" for an answer makes a most appealing love story. She plays the most exciting role of her career as the woman who adores this prodigal black sheep. Knowing how unreliable he is, she still trails along as his partner in crime through a swiftly paced story of laughs and love.

On the same bill with "I Love That Man" is "Under the Tonto Rim" with Stuart Erwin—tough as nails—and a sap withal is in the prize of all the Zane Grey action romances with a hysterically funny series of comedy situations that will turn you inside out and upside down. But it's a two fisted, hard smacking, western picture just the same.

Starting Thursday, suave William Powell returns to the type of role that first won him screen recognition in "Private Detective 62." Once again this polished star portrays, as the title suggests, a sleuth, but one of different order than his Philo Vance characterizations of the past. In this thrilling, highly entertaining offering, Powell is a tarnished, but more interesting, spy on erring wives and wayward husbands.

Discredited in diplomatic circles, Powell is forced to employ his ferreting genius in domestic spheres. By his charm and adroitness, he is unusually successful in a profession that is as remunerative as it is loathsome. Then he undertakes to "get the goods" on beautiful Margaret Lindsay, but makes the mistake of falling in love with her.

An equally pleasing feature on the same program with "Private Detective 62" is "Ann Carver's Profession" with Fay Wray and Gene Raymond. This is a strikingly different story of a girl who gladly takes everything the generous world has to offer—fame, fortune, luxury—only to balk at the price it asks her to pay.

Applications are now being taken for the perfect baby contest to be held at the Capitol soon.

"COLLEGE HUMOR" AT THE UNIVERSITY

"College Humor" a college drama set to music, opens Sunday for four days at the University Theater. The cast includes Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Jack Oakie, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Coach Howard Jones, Lona Andre and the Ox-Road Co-Eds. The story is based on "Bachelor of Arts," a best-selling novel by Dean Fales. "Learn to Croon," "Moonstruck" and "The Old Ox-Road" are the film's three outstanding song hits. Bing Crosby, who plays the role of the young instructor, sings them, with the assistance of other members of the cast.

Barbara Stanwyck's alluring beauty has been given full sway in her latest picture, "Baby Face," the companion film. It is a new and resplendent Barbara both in the lure of her enticing femininity and the splendor of her flimsy gowns. She throws herself into her role of a fascinating but ruthless temptress with such abandon that her power to ensnare seems almost hypnotic.

Lee Tracy, who has played reporters, columnists, fast-talking majors and other fascinating characters, comes now to the screen as an ambulance chasing shyster lawyer and makes laughs, romance and thrills out of an amazing legal racket. Tracy's newest appearance is in "The Nuisance" which comes Thursday. Madge Evans, Frank Morgan, Charles Butterworth, John Miljan, Virginia Cherrill, David Landau and Greta Meyer have prominent roles in the cast.

"Diplomaniacs," the companion feature, is a laughter barrage aimed at what ails you. Featuring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, backed by an all-star cast and a bevy of beautiful girls, it trips tunefully through the world's current problems, making laughs out of its carefully nurtured worries.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

When a parent-teacher association determines to do something which is for the good of the children in the community it finds a way to accomplish what seems at first to be an impossible task.

Three years ago the parent-teacher council of Santa Monica, Calif., decided that the city should have a place which, during the day, would care for motherless children whose fathers can be with them only outside of work hours and children whose mothers are employed during the day.

It seemed like a large undertaking when it was first suggested, but a day nursery was needed and a day nursery there must be.

Twelve associations, including the men's service clubs and the women's organizations assisted the parent-teacher council in carrying on the project. The necessary fund grew through private contributions, mite boxes in the homes of interested citizens, and Day Nursery banks in stores, shops and theaters. Parties and sales were held. The land was donated, and all labor on the Day Nursery building was a free contribution of the Building Trades Union. The time and work of the architect and the contractor were also given.

Finally the building where so many needy children were to be sheltered and ministered to was actually completed. The Day Nursery was an accomplished fact and was dedicated, free of debt, and presented to the board of directors who are to be responsible for its future operation. The dedication program was in charge of the president of the council, and marked the greatest celebration in the history of Santa Monica parent-teacher associations.

"They did it because they didn't know that it couldn't be done."

King Solomon Was Second Judean Monarchy Ruler

Solomon, the son of David, who succeeded his father on the throne of Israel and ruled from 974 until 937 B. C., was the second ruler in the Judean monarchy, and was of that branch of the white race which settled in Palestine in prehistoric times. Modern Jews are descended from the same stock, says a writer in Pathfinder Magazine.

The assertion sometimes heard that Solomon was of the black race is no doubt founded on the fact that Ras Taffari, ruler of Abyssinia, claims to be a descendant of King Solomon. This claim is no doubt well founded, for the civilization and culture of Ethiopia (now Abyssinia) parallels that of Egypt, and early records and legends may be given historical credence. The queen of Sheba visited Solomon when he was king, and from their son, Menelek, the kings of Abyssinia claim direct descent. There are unmistakable traces of white blood in the Ethiopian aristocracy.

Small Change Scarce

Small change was so scarce in France following the World war that thousands of merchants wrapped postage stamps in waxed paper and used the small parcels as change.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Our wet friends tell us that instead of a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, education will solve the problem. We all agree that education in the effects of alcohol on the human system is vitally important.

Let me call attention to the fact that it is the drys who have supported scientific temperance instruction in the schools. It is the drys who have told of the harm from the use of intoxicating liquors. It is the drys who have tried to keep alive in the minds of the people the memory of the stranglehold of the brewers and distillers on American politics in pre-prohibition days. Now that the wets are hopeful of success in repealing the 18th Amendment they are changing the definition of temperance and insisting that it means moderation in the use of intoxicating liquors. We prefer to stand by the definition as given in the Standard dictionary which is "Habitual moderation, especially in the indulgence of any apetite. (2) Specifically the principle and practice of total abstinence from intoxicants." This definition is in harmony with the use of the word "temperance" from the beginning of the movement 100 years ago. It was the term used in connection with the Sons of Temperance and the Good Templars. When the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized in 1874 and its name adopted, it was with the distinct understanding that temperance meant total abstinence and every member was and is expected to sign a pledge as a condition of membership. That policy has been continued during all these 59 years and there has never been any attempt to make the W. C. T. U. other than a total abstinence organization.

The resolutions adopted from year to year have reaffirmed our belief in total abstinence as the only safe rule in regard to the use of intoxicating liquors. Our contention has been confirmed by the findings of science which tells us that alcohol is a habit-forming drug. There can be no other basis for education than that which is founded on the nature of alcohol itself.

The repeal of prohibition will not change the nature of alcohol but legalizing beer has encouraged some people to drink it who would not have done so had its sale not been legalized. Education is by precept and example, and if education is to be the watchword of the future, then men and women must make the necessary sacrifice that will make them an example to the younger generation.

Minting Gold for Friends Was His Mining Sideline

Christopher Bechtler, a native of the Duchy of Baden, emigrated to the United States in 1829 and the fruit of his subsequent labors has become the source of study for collectors ever since.

Being by trade a goldsmith, he soon journeyed to the mountains of North Carolina, having heard there was gold in the hills. Building a small cottage a few miles north of Rutherford, he immediately began an active business. Besides coining money for his neighbors, he mined for gold and silver and the semi-precious stones that are still to be found in the southern mountains.

The inhabitants of the Carolinas and Georgia brought their gold to his mint for coining, just as they carried their wheat to the miller. The mint master weighed the rough gold in the presence of his customers and then entered it in his book, leaving a space for noting the assay. In a few days' time the coins were ready for delivery. Bechtler subtracted only a small percentage for his labor.

Varieties of Dogwood

The commonest variety of dogwood in America is the Cornus florida, generally regarded as one of the most beautiful of flowering trees. The white form has a distinctive light yellow-green flower center with four surrounding brachts, one to three inches long. The rose-red form is identical except for the color tint. Altogether there are about eighty species distributed over the temperate zone. Several representatives of the family are found in Mexico and in Peru. In Europe the Cornus sanguinea, with deep red autumn foliage, was a favorite source of arrow shafts in the Middle ages. Even in our time it is wanted for its firm, hard wood, used in intricate inlay work.

Meaning of Isostasy

Isostasy is the theoretical condition of equilibrium which the earth's surface tends to assume under the action of terrestrial gravitation as affected by the transference of materials from regions of denudation to those of deposition and by differences in density in various portions of the earth's mass near the surface.

LEGION WON PAUL REVERE CROWN

Tansey's Homer Decided Game With Lincoln A. A.

Winchester Legion virtually won the Paul Revere League championship Wednesday evening on Leonard Field, defeating the Lincoln A. A. in a tightly contested game, 3 to 2.

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald put the Legion in the lead when he hit a home run over the fence in center field in the fourth frame, but the visitors came back with two in the fifth and were leading when the locals came to bat in the final frame.

"Nick" Fitzgerald opened the 7th with a clean hit and brother James crossed the opposition by sacrificing him to second. "Muggins" Tansey, a great batter in the pinch, lifted one of Donaldson's fast ones over the fence for a homer to give the Legion the win and championship.

"Nicky-Fitz" saved the game in the fifth with a corking catch of a vicious drive from E. Todd's bat with three men on.

WINCHESTER PLAYERS DOMINATED TEDESCO TENNIS

Sylvia Hatch Singles Winner

Winchester players dominated the girls' singles in the North Shore Junior tennis championships this week at the Tedesco Country Club in Swampscott.

Sylvia Hatch, number two on this year's team at Winchester High, won the championship in the older girls' class yesterday from her pal, Kay Parrot, in two closely contested sets, 7—5, 6—3. The semi-final round was an all-Winchester affair with Sylvia winning from Lucy Fowle, generally favored to win the tournament, while Kay accounted for Ruth Aseltine, also a member of the Winchester High School team.

Ruth Bernard carried Winchester's banner into the final round of the younger girls' singles where she was defeated by Newton's rising young star, Elena Ciccone, 6—3, 6—1.

In the older boys' singles Norman Dalrymple of Winchester and Andover reached the semi-final round before being defeated by Seymour Stearns of Malden, 6—4, 8—6. Paired with Edward Barnes Norman was also a semi-finalist in the boys' doubles.

Ruth Aseltine and Elena Ciccone of Newton are finalists in girls' doubles with Elizabeth Packer and Lucy Fowle, the latter pair dropping Sylvia Hatch and Kay Parrot in the semi-finals.

The Board of Selectmen has been informed by the Town of Framingham that a committee has been appointed to investigate rates now being charged by local gas, electric and telephone companies with the idea of submitting a petition to the Public Utilities Commission requesting a downward revision of rates. The Board replied that it will be interested in any data which may be supplied and if a representative meeting is held in Boston, will be represented.

When Jefferson Retired

Crocodile Tricky With Tail

A crocodile's limbs and claws are not strong enough to do a great deal of aggressive mischief, but one swift, unexpected side stroke of its long, muscular tail is sufficient to sweep a smaller animal into the water and deal a dangerous blow to a man.

Many Kinds of Jumps for Horses at Society Shows

The various jumps featured on horse show programs include brush jump, post and rail, board fence or gate, worm or snake fence, in-and-out, stone wall, chicken coop, water or Liverpool jump, picket fence, pole jump, triple bar, oxer or double oxer, Aiken fence (post and rail with brush at the base).

Why do harness horses have docked tails? So that their tails won't interfere with the reins. The old excuse was that it strengthened their backs.

Why do they use bearing (check) reins on them? To make them carry their heads high.

Doesn't that hurt their mouths? Not if the bearing rein is properly adjusted.

Do people bet on horse shows as they do on races? Apparently not, but there is no reason why they shouldn't, counting the blue ribbon straight, red place and yellow show.

In hunting classes why do men wear bright scarlet and the women dark colors? Because hunting is a sport, and for years it was not shared with women. Male birds wear bright plumage, and fox-hunters are rare birds.

Bullfinch Can Do Damage

The bullfinch, a general favorite as a cage bird because of his sweet singing and his winning ways, is not so popular in the wild state in his native land. Few British birds are accused of doing more damage to the flower buds of fruit trees in winter and spring.

Though the red-winged blackbird often does damage to various grain crops it makes up for this largely by its destruction of caterpillars of the gypsy moth and other agricultural pests.—Detroit News.

VOL. LIII NO. 3 WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1933 PRICE SEVEN CENTS

SELECTMAN DONALD R. WAUGH
To Become Clerk of Selectmen Oct. 1

MISS DOHERTY RESIGNS

Mr. Waugh to Become Selectman's Clerk

Miss Mabel Doherty, clerk of the Board of Selectmen since April 1932, and clerical assistant for several years previous to her election as clerk to succeed the late George S. F. Bartlett, has submitted her resignation to take effect Oct. 1. Miss Doherty is to be married on Aug. 27 to Daniel F. McCarthy of Lowell.

Miss Doherty has served the Board faithfully and efficiently and her loss will be greatly felt.

The Board, after careful consideration, has decided to reorganize its work on a basis similar to the arrangement which prevailed when Mr. Bartlett was clerk and Miss Doherty his clerical assistant. To this end Messrs. Symmes, Maguire, Farnsworth and Merrill voted to request Mr. Donald R. Waugh, now a member of the Board, to serve as clerk. Miss Mary French, now serving by appointment of the Board as clerical assistant, is assigned to duty in the Selectmen's office, which will continue to be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5:30.

Mr. Waugh, with his background of experience in state and town affairs, was a logical choice for clerk of the Board. He was requested by his colleagues to remain as a member of the Board until his term as Selectman expires next March. This means that he will serve as clerk without compensation for the balance of this year.

The work of the Board of Selectmen has increased greatly in recent years and it is imperative that the many technical and important details be in competent hands. With the appointment of Mr. Waugh as clerk, and the assignment of Miss French to the Selectmen's office as clerical assistant, the Board and the Town is certain of a continuance of the high type of service rendered by Miss Doherty and Mr. Bartlett.

Miss Doherty's resignation and Mr. Waugh's appointment will become effective Oct. 1.

WEST SAFE AT PANAMA

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. West of Mason street, whose son Daniel, is accompanying his cousin, William Albert Robinson and the latter's bride on a 4500 mile voyage south to the Gallapagos Islands in the young explorer's famous 32-foot ketch, Svaap, have been informed by Mr. Robinson's publishers in New York that the party arrived safely in Panama last Friday.

This was particularly good news in view of the fact that both Boston and Chicago news dispatches had stated that the Robinsons and West had recently escaped from Cuban authorities at Puerta Vista where they were being held as "revolutionists."

At the West residence the Star was informed that in his last letter, "Dan" had written that his party had been shabbily treated by the Cubans, and the young man intimated that he and the Robinsons might take short leave of the island, in view of the open hostility shown them. Mrs. West stated that she knew nothing definite about her son and his companions being held as "revolutionists" except what had appeared in Boston and Chicago papers, and as a consequence was delighted to learn that the voyagers were safe in Panama.

The Robinsons, who are on a honeymoon journey, did not originally plan to touch at Cuba on the voyage south, but were forced by violent hurricanes to put in at Puerta Vista. Robinson, a former Winchester boy, is going to the Gallapagos Islands to study them and will write a book upon his researches which West, a promising artist, is to illustrate. The young explorer won wide recognition when he completed a round the world cruise in the same Svaap in which he and his bride are now cruising south, accompanied by his Winchester cousin.

WINCHESTER TO MEET WOODBOURNE FOR OLD COLONY TITLE

Winchester Tennis Association and the Woodbourne Club of Forest Hills will settle the 1933 Old Colony Tennis League championship tomorrow afternoon when they meet in a playoff match at the Winchester Country Club courts, commencing at 2:30.

The locals are favored to win, but they are no odds-on favorites. Woodbourne is the league's defending champion and has lost this season only to Winchester in a close 3—4 match two weeks ago.

Winchester is undefeated this season, but because of the point system in vogue in the league finds itself tied for top honors with the Forest Hills Club, despite the fact that it numbers Woodbourne among the year's victims.

The last match between the two clubs brought out some fine tennis and local enthusiasts shouldn't fail to see tomorrow's playoff for the title.

Both clubs will present strong lineups, and Winchester has been working especially with its doubles teams in an effort to polish up this department of its game. With Larry Freehurn, Hall Gamage, "Jim" Riley and Herbert Ross ready for singles competition Winchester will be hard to beat in the individual matches, and with "Bill" Packer, Norman Dalrymple and Wallace Blanchard ready to team up with the singles players in doubles combinations there should be no alibis in the event of a Woodbourne victory.

The Forest Hills Club will probably depend upon its veteran lineup of Drake, Doleman, Dray, MacIntire, Lyons and Kierran to hold its title and this group includes some fine players, well qualified to make the locals attend strictly to their knitting.

ROCHE CLUB HERE TOMORROW

The Roche Club of Malden, just returned from a successful Canadian tour, will oppose the Winchester Legion Baseball team on Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon, game called at 3:30.

The Roche Club is no stranger to Winchester, having appeared here when the Legion had its strong team two years ago. The visitors promise to bring a strong club to town tomorrow and as the series between it and the Legion stands one game each, Saturday's game is in a way a rubber battle.

The locals will field their usual club with Ford at shorstop and big "Jim" Fitzgerald back at the initial cushion. Robinson will be on the mound and the Roche Club swingers will find him a tough man to beat with the sort of support he has been getting in the past two games.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

There will be a meeting of the barbers and the grocers of the town in the general committee room of the Town Hall, Friday evening at 8 o'clock to discuss general conditions of the N. R. A.

Ex-Mayor Gallagher of Woburn will address the meeting and give information in regard to the code as relating to the above trades.

Everyone is invited to attend.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Angelo Giuseppe Arrabino of 10 White street and Edith Tutella of 8 Bay State avenue, Somerville; alo by William Henry Moore of 34 Pond street and Margaret Mary O'Donnell of 56 Prospect street, Woburn.

Winchester's Tax Rate Lower

Winchester's tax rate for the current year is to be $25.60, the figures being made public yesterday afternoon by the Board of Assessors, Messrs. Harry T. Winn, chairman; John F. Cassidy and Frank H. Enman.

The new rate is 80c less than the 1932 rate of $26.40. The 1933 total valuation of $32,698,550 represents a lowering of $301,750 from the preceding year's figures of $33,000,300. Several factors have entered into this year's lower tax rate, county and state taxes being less and town appropriations being lower this year than a year ago.

WILLIAM ALLEN TOWNER

William Allen Towner, aged 89, died Saturday morning, Aug. 12, in the New England Sanitarium and Hospital at Stoneham.

Mr. Towner was born Sept. 14, 1843, at Middletown, Conn., son of Amelia Allen and Reuben Hart Towner. His ancestry dates back to Colonial days and includes many prominent in New England. He is a direct descendent of Maj. William Warner of the Revolutionary Army, the name his grandson, William Warner Towner of Winchester now carries.

His early business career was in the shipping industry in New York City as junior partner of Rudd & Towner. Later he was associated with oil and rubber concerns, retiring about 30 years ago.

Mr. Towner was a Grand Army veteran, serving during the Civil War with the 22nd Regiment of Infantry, N. G. S. N. Y.

He was a charter member of the New York Produce Exchange and was one of the three oldest insurance policy holders in the United States, dating from Jan. 6, 1865.

Mr. Towner's first vote was for Abraham Lincoln. After retiring from business he resided with his daughter, Mrs. John L. Merrill of Park avenue, New York; and later at 435 East 52nd street, New York, before entering the sanitarium about two years ago. He married Miss Annie Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bell Wagner of Budd's Lake, N. J. who passed away several years ago.

Surviving Mr. Towner are his daughter, Mrs. John L. Merrill of New York City and his son, Clifford Towner of 11 Everell road, Winchester; two grandsons, William W. Towner and James Richardson Towner of Winchester; also five other grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Another son, William Allen Towner and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Howard Newman, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y. died several years ago.

The interment was at Rosedale Cemetery, East Orange, N. J., Aug. 14.

WINCHESTER PLAYGROUND NOTES

The Winchester Junior and Midget Leagues were invited through the generosity of Judge Fuchs, President of the Boston Braves, to be his guests at the Thursday afternoon game between Chicago and Boston. Due to inclement weather the attraction was postponed until today when over 150 youngsters are to be taken to the game as a reward for their faithful playground attendance during the year. Those donating cars for the purpose of transportation are as follows: Mrs. Toye, Bonnell Motor Co., Mrs. Bernnard, Messrs. Wm. Guy, A. Clark, Harold Boardley, L. Pooler, Harry Chefalo, Charles Roche, Wm. Murray, Peter Coss and Daniel Kelley. The Park Department is furnishing a bus which will help out tremendously.

The Junior League series for the championship will start next Monday at Leonard Field between the Yankees and Leonard Field. These teams will play a five game series and the winner will play the Eagles in another series which will decide the champion.

In the Midget League it looks as if the Leonard Field have the championship won and will start a playground series with the Loring avenue Pirates.

A tennis match and baseball game are hooked with the Melrose playgrounds for Monday afternoon, Aug. 21. This is our first meeting with the city and our undefeated tennis record is in danger of falling if all reports we hear are true.

Swimming Notes

"Tom" Hendrickson of Cross street who is recovering from a broken arm was agreeably surprised at the Winchester Hospital when he was presented with a basket of fruit by the swimming youngsters at the Leonard Beach. Collections for this token came in so rapidly that Norman Harrold had to stop before he had a sum which would have netted "Tom" a new car.

A set of "play logs" has been furnished the beach through the generosity of Mr. Goodhue of Cross street who donated a pine tree so that the youngsters might enjoy this new water pastime.

A new horseshoe court, together with a water polo course has been set out by Messrs. Murphy and Harrold and have proved big attractions at this popular beach.

SHERADAN—POMEROY

Miss Lillian May Pomeroy of Providence, R. I. and Rev. Gregory A. Sheradan of Dunster lane were married in Boston on Thursday, Aug. 10 by Rev. Charles L. Page, according to reports received at the Town Hall.

Frank Jury and Sherman Dodge have returned from a bicycle trip to Provincetown on the Cape and stopping at New Bedford and Dennisport.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

After an interval of two weeks, caused by inclement weather, volley ball came to the fore again, last Tuesday night. A very good crowd for this time of year was on hand to participate in the sport.

Among those present and playing were "Bill" Locke, "Gus" Pistorino, Lester Gustin, "Ted" Dissel, "Ken" Pratt, "Bobbie" Blackler, Arthur Downer, Dr. "Dick" Clark, "Monk" Russell, Henry Keenan, John Warren, "Bud" Dalrymple, "Jim" Henry and "Andy" Skilling.

Team A made up of Downer, Pratt, Pistorino, Dalrymple, Russell and Skilling took the measure of Team B, three times in a row. Team B was composed of Gustin, Locke, Henry, Blackler, Clark and Dissel. The games were no walk overs, however. The final scores being 15—11, 15—13, 15—14. Other combinations of players followed and all of the games were exceptionally interesting. The yard was full of autos from which the spectators viewed some fast volley ball playing. If the weather stays favorable on Tuesday evenings, more interesting games are in store.

Lester (better known as "Junior") Gustin took a step into the limelight early in the first game and held his place there all evening. When it came to obtaining distance and altitude Junior took all honors. No one was able to touch his returns and serves. Two of his very accurate shots went clean over the clubhouse and landed smack in the Lake. The applause accorded him was thunderous.

"Ted" Dissel unadvertently stopt with his noble brow a long shot from the far corner of the court. He didn't see it arriving. Much concern was shown until it was discovered that his glasses were not smashed, but merely badly bent.

"Andy" Skilling and "Gus" separately and at different moments massaged their own "mugs" with a ball in their own hands. Both receiving quite sufficient jolts on their own chins by way of their own mitts.

"Monk" Russell's flap serve and also John Warren's port side spinner gave the opposition something to handle and return. "Bill" Locke did many a cork screw twist trying to get the above named sharp shooters delivery without "foozleing" it.

"Bobbie" Blackler played a nice net game but found out a lot of times that you can't push the ball up through the net meshes.

The real return shot of the evening is accredited to "Andy" Skilling. Wandering away for a mount on the outskirts of the game while the ball was whizzing back and forth, a fast flung ball came his way. At the moment he was in the act of putting on his blazer. One arm was partly in the sleeve. With one quick sweep of his left hand (the one that was free) he returned the ball so accurately that it took the opposition completely off their feet.

"Bud" Dalrymple made much use of a lateral hunch ball which fooled both the other team as well as his own.

"Monk" Russell found many a hole among his opponents when he played net. Towering up to the edge of it, all he need do, was to slap it down close and no player could ever reach for it.

"Ken" Pratt made several spectacular misses which were so easy to get that they looked foolish even to a beginner.

Capt. "Gus" led many a gallant charge toward the net, but many bounced balls found refuge in the "just" outside zone.

The opposition took great delight in keeping score for the other side and we wouldn't say any cheating was done. No—not much.

"Art" Downer played a very smooth game accepting and sending many a shot which counted for his side.

Long live the "bally ball" bouncers.

News comes that the Labor Day races will be held on Merrimack River at Lowell instead of at Canobie Lake Park.

The Lawrence Canoe Club conducts this regatta. They are co-operating with the Pawtucketville Historical Association of Lowell in the running of the first water sports carnival that has been held at Lowell in 35 years.

It sounds like plenty doing.

Winchesters crew is working hard to place in this regatta.

EFFICIENCY

To the Editor of the Star:

After careful observation in regard to the construction of Highland avenue, I am firmly convinced that the Town of Winchester has an efficient Superintendent of Streets.

In my opinion it requires considerable skill to keep steam shovels, steam rollers, stone drills and large groups of men at work and not prevent the collection of garbage, the deliveries of coal and the necessities of life.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

ROTARY CLUB

At the meeting of Aug. 17, ten absentees were recorded. Three of these have already made up by attending other club meetings.

An unusually large number of our members have been out of town this summer. This has made it very difficult to assemble our committees and get the season's activities under way. This condition will be corrected shortly. In the meantime committee chairmen have an excellent opportunity to plan their campaigns, so that action may begin at the earliest practical moment.

In these times the attention of all citizens is engrossed by the proceedings of the National Industrial Recovery Administration. Within the past week organization has been developed and much has been accomplished in this territory. Ex-Mayor Gallagher of Woburn is prominently identified with this movement. Mr. Gallagher will speak at the regular meeting of this club on Thursday, Aug. 17 when we shall be privileged to obtain up to date information about the work in hand. President Lochman of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce is collating local contributions to aid the Administration and the Lions Club of Winchester is actively behind the National authorities. Both the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club will be adequately represented at the meeting of Aug. 24 at the Calumet Club. This will be an exceptional opportunity to obtain reliable information in regard to those matters which are the chief concern of our people today and we know that it will not be necessary to urge our members to attend this meeting.

Reservation tickets for the Fall Conclave to be held at Poland Spring, Me. are now in the hands of the secretary. May we have the pleasure of caring for your requirements at an early date? Sept. 25 will soon be here.

We are pleased to announce that our attendance record for July 1933 was better than that for July 1932. Let us get together and do a similar job this month of August.

Percentage of Attendance Aug. 10 —76 per cent.

Winchester's second installment of government funds, paid through state agency to cities and town in return for money expended by them for relief and unemployment relief was announced yesterday as $8,959.73. This amount was for the second quarter of the year.

POLICEMEN TO CARRY DUNGAREES

We haven't received this information officially from Chief Rogers, but it seems that the protectors of the peace will have to be equipped with some sort of climbing togs if they are to be called upon to rescue unwilling kitties from tree tops some 50 or more feet above terra firma.

Such a job seemed "in the cards" last Friday evening when Mr. C. B. Swain of Leslie road notified Police Headquarters that a cat had been in a tree on the nearby property of Mr. Harry Angle for two days and could not get down.

Patrol 51, with Sergt. John H. Noonan and Patrolman James P. Donaghey aboard, went to the tree in question and were joined there by Patrolman John Boyle. The cat was in the tree, no denying it! And when the tree was named a tall one, none of the police officers present felt that there was any exaggeration at all!

Mr. Swain offered the police the use of his ladder, but after some discussion, the officers advised calling the Fire Department, feeling that ladder work was rather more in its line. The cat rescuing squad, Firemen J. L. Nowell and John J. O'Melia, responded in the Fire Alarm car.

Not wishing to rob the police of official credit for the rescue of the cat the firemen, as first offered to direct the rescue, indicating the proper procedure was to make use of the ladder kindly offered for the occasion by Mr. Swain.

Getting right to the very crux of the situation, Patrolman Donaghey pointed out that the ladder would not reach within quite a distance of where the cat was located in the uppermost branches of the tree. By way of bridging the difficulty, Fireman Nowell advised "shinnying" the remainder of the way to the feline.

Officer Donaghey demurred and there was reason in his contention that close contact with the rough bark and limbs of the tree would not do his uniform trousers any good. Fireman Nowell, he felt, was much more suitably clad for rough and tumble climbing than was he.

Being a reasonable man, if a bit heavy for aerial work, Fireman Nowell scaled the heights and brought down the cat; the animal, recognizing the master touch, offering no resistance. Once in Mr. Swain's arms and upon the approach of the large Swain dog, tabby "did her stuff," and Mr. Swain was quite badly scratched and bitten about the hands and fact. All in all it was quite a party and when the police hear the last of it, it will be when the firemen, especially "Jack" Flaherty, forget about it.

MRS. ETTA G. SIMPSON

Mrs. Etta G. Simpson, widow of Samuel Wright Simpson, who died at her home, 233 Washington street Wednesday, Aug. 16, had devoted her life to ministering to the sick and shut-ins, through the gift of flowers and fruit. She had resided in Winchester for 16 years and though she had been in failing health since last Christmas she was actively engaged in her chosen work up to last Saturday.

The special agency through which she ministered was the State Flower Mission and Relief Work, and she was in charge of the distribution of baskets of fruit, delicacies and flowers, some eight or nine hundred of which were sent out at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter each year.

For some 20 years this work has been carried on from the headquarters at the Swedenborgian Church in Bowdoin street, Beacon Hill, where the funeral was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Simpson was born in Worcester, daughter of the late William B. and Anna Willard Rogerson. Her father was for 40 years associated with the Forbes Lithograph Manufacturing Company. She had been a widow for many years.

Following her early residence in Worcester Mrs. Simpson for a time lived in Jamaica Plain, and later in Newton, before moving to Winchester. Her nearest survivors are a sister, Mrs. Mabel Poole of Wakefield, and a niece, Mrs. James P. Kelly of Jamaica Plain.

Manager Harry Chefalo of the Winchester Legion baseball team who has been confined to his home on Cedar street with a badly infected leg, the result of a baseball injury, was able to attend the Legion-Waltham City Club game on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon. Dr. Richard W. Sheehy opened the leg Friday evening and drained the infected area, and on the following Wednesday Harry was around the center stating the injured member is coming along nicely.

WINCHESTER YOUNG MEN APPOINTED TO THE STATE CONSTABULARY

Two Winchester young men appear upon the list of new appointments to the Massachusetts State Police, announced Tuesday by Brig.-Gen. Daniel H. Needham, State Commissioner of Public Safety.

Arthur T. O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. O'Leary of 104 Church street, and E. Prescott Randlett, son of Mrs. Mary M. Randlett and the late Elmer P. Randlett of 2 Lagrange street, are the new troopers, and both young men have hosts of friends who will wish them the best of luck in their new field.

O'Leary is not unacquainted with the nature of the duties he will be called upon to perform as he has been in close touch with local and Boston police headquarters as a reporter for the Boston Globe. He was educated in the Winchester schools and joined the Boston Globe in 1926 as Winchester correspondent, later being promoted to the city staff, doing special assignments and covering the waterfront as well as federal and municipal courts. He is an honorary member of the New England Special Agents and Police Association.

Randlett will be recalled by all followers of schoolboy athletics as a stalwart and capable guard on Dana Kelley's Winchester High School championship football team of 1922, which was coached by "Rufe" Bond.

After a year at Worcester Academy he entered Dartmouth, from which he was graduated in 1928. He leaves the insurance business to enter the constabulary.

Both young men left town this week for a three months' training period at the Framingham Barracks of the State Police, after which they will be assigned to regular barracks. The appointment of both Randlett and O'Leary was rather a surprise as it is seldom that two applicants from a single community are appointed. Both young men seem especially well qualified to make good officers and if the remaining appointees are of a like caliber the constabulary is getting some fine recruits.

ARCHITECTS CONDUCT A PERSONAL GUIDE SERVICE AROUND BOSTON

For over a period of three months, the Emergency Planning and Research Bureau, Inc., has successfully conducted Historical, Architectural and other tours in and around Boston.

The guides for these tours are a well-picked group of men from the architectural profession. Their training makes them extremely competent as they know and can clearly explain points of architectural as well as historical interest.

These tours are more interesting and more complete than any conducted by regular tourist guides. They cover points taken in by no other tours, are individual, and varied enough to give each person a chance to pick a tour to his liking.

There are eight different tours, namely—"Points of Historical Interest," "Gems of Architecture," "Museums," "Schools and Colleges," "Libraries," "Social Welfare," "Churches," and a "Combination Tour" which might combine any of the other tours.

Another feature of these tours is that each man is a personal guide and is available at anytime and will chauffeur, if the party desires.

The Boston Tours are sponsored by the Emergency Planning and Research Bureau, Inc., which is in turn sponsored by the Boston Society of Architects and the Engineering Societies of Boston. This Bureau is to aid unemployed draftsmen of Greater Boston.

In being guided about Boston, the Boston Tours will assure you a most pleasant, interesting, and educational trip.

Camp Fellsland Given High Rating by State Board of Health

The annual inspection of Camp Fellsland in Amesbury was held last week with Doctor Archibald inspecting, assisted by a representative of the Amesbury Board of Health.

Every element affecting the health of the camp was inspected and approved by the inspectors. Doctor Archibald was very enthusiastic over the condition of the kitchen. He complimented Mrs. Casey, camp chef, to whom he said "The kitchen floor is clean enough to serve as a dining table."

The antiseptic foot bath which all swimmers must pass through before and after swimming also met with the inspector's approval and commendation.

The new addition to the infirmary, installed by the Medford and Winchester Posts, American Legion, providing toilet facilities, brings the camp infirmary up to a 100 per cent rating. In view of the fine condition of the camp the inspectors made no recommendations with reference to the equipment or program for the health at Camp Fellsland. Few camps can boast of a higher health rating than Camp Fellsland.

Recall Weeks

Oldtimers, former campers, and many new Scouts who have been saving up their spending money during the early part of the camp season have been signing up for recall weeks which began on Saturday, Aug. 12.

The camp staff is now making plans for the program for these weeks, which, in addition to a Mt. Washington trip for the all summer campers, will include the annual closing banquet to be held on Thursday, Aug. 24.

Dedication of Seascout Ship and Infirmary

On Sunday, Aug. 13, the Drum and Bugle Corps of Medford Post, No. 15, American Legion, as well as the American Legion delegates from Winchester, Stoneham, and Woburn, were at Camp Fellsland for the formal dedication of the Camp Fellsland Infirmary, and the commissioning of the Seascout ship "Mystic." The Drum and Bugle Corps put on a special drill on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the benefit of the boys. Mr. John Walsh of Waltham, vice county commander of the Middlesex County American Legion was the speaker of the afternoon.

Yacht Trip Again

Twenty-five Scouts at Camp Fellsland sailed from Haverhill on last Thursday, for an all day cruise on the Merrimac River to Plum Island. The Scouts enjoyed open sea fishing, catching enough fish to supply all of the Scouts and the staff with their evening meal. This trip, a new feature this year, is being held each of the remaining weeks of the camp season, and is one of the most enjoyable trips yet developed at the camp.

FRANCIS C. DERBY

Francis C. Derby, certified public accountant who died Saturday, Aug. 12, at his home in Burlington, Vt., was the brother of Mrs. Wendell M. Weston of Pine street and of Elmer Derby of Church street.

The deceased was born July 4, 1886, in Somerville, was greduated from Fisher Business College in Boston and for a time was employed by the American Audit Company in that city.

In 1917 he became manager of the New Sherwood Hotel in Burlington, Vt., later opening a public accountant's office there. At the time of his death he was head of the firm of Francis C. Derby & Company. He was a Mason and a member of the American Institute of Accountants.

Besides Mrs. Weston and Mr. Derby, he leaves his wife, a daughter, two sisters and a brother.

Funeral services were held on Monday in the Unitarian Church in Burlington, Vt. Interment was in Newton Center.

Forty-five Winchester Odd Fellows enjoyed last Sunday's deep sea fishing trip, taking the boat from Warren's Bridge. Elmer Ripley reports a fine time and a perfect day, but not so many fish. Blake predominated in the catch though there were some cod and haddock. "Gus" Hakanson was the local prize winner, pulling in the second largest fish of the day. Another party is planned for early in September, at which time the Waterfield boys expect better luck.

ON EUROPEAN TRIP

Miss Carolyn D. Smiley, daughter of Mrs. James D. Smiley of 9 Symmes road, sailed Wednesday, Aug. 16 on the Holland American steamship, "Statendam" for Holland. From there she will go to Semigrad, Russia via Germany and Finland.

Her trip also takes her to Geneva, Switzerland, where she will meet some of the Child Welfare Committee who are especially interested in promoting moving pictures for children.

She hopes to take moving pictures in all of the countries she visits and will return to Boston Oct 15.

Mr. W. S. Simonds, formerly of Winchester, visited the Star on Wednesday stating that his son, Ronald, severely injured in an automobile accident on July 6, is getting along nicely, but will in all probability have to remain in the Methodist Hospital at Kalamazoo, Mich., for two months longer. "Ronnie" wishes through the Star to express his thanks to his many friends for their kindness in writing him and in sending him flowers and other gifts while he has been at the hospital. It is impossible for him to thank each one individually, but he has appreciated the kindness shown him as only one ill and a long way from home can.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION WON SERIES OPENER

"Bill" Gibbons' new Immaculate Conception baseball team won the opening game of its series with the Winchester Town Team Monday evening on Leonard Field, 8—3.

Donlon and Rotundi engaged in a pitchers' battle for three innings, but in the fourth the Conception batters fell upon the latter for hits enough to score eight runs and drive him from the mound.

The Town Team put over two in its half and added another in the sixth, but were held well in check by Donlon. MacDonnell, "Townie" third baseman was the only batter to find Donlon. MacDonnell, "Townie" third baseman was the only batter to find "Shunk" for more than one hit.

LEGION TOO GOOD FOR WALTHAM CITY CLUB

Locals Hit Hard for 11 to 5 Win

Winchester Legion proved too good for the Waltham City Club last Saturday afternoon, winning 11 to 5, in an uninteresting ball game on Manchester Field.

The City Club was a big disappointment to the local fans who remembered the fine teams which this organization has brought here in past seasons. It should be said at once that the visitors were not at full strength as their pitcher and catcher were injured in an automobile accident while on the way to Winchester, forcing Hanney, a first baseman, to pitch and sending Teletcher, shortstop behind the bat.

By comparison with the North Cambridge game of the previous Saturday, last week's contest was very slow and uninteresting. There was plenty of hard hitting, the locals especially taking very kindly to Hanney's left handed offerings, and now and then a fielding gem was tossed into the going.

Robinson, on the hill for Winchester, was nicked for nine safeties including a home run, and seemed to lack some of his usual effectiveness. With a 10 to 3 lead starting the fifth, however, it was but natural to ease up and just what the dusky underhand artist might have done under pressure is another story.

Winchester belted out 15 safeties during the game, including doubles by Colucci and Joe Tansey, triples by Ford and N. Fitzgerald and a home run by "General" Lee. The locals continued their effective fielding while the Waltham hurlers at times got none too good support.

The City Club started away in high, scoring three runs in the first on a lucky break. Collins singled past Ford for a starter, but Robinson fanned Leary and "Nick" Fitzgerald, playing first in place of his big brother, James, made a great one hand catch of Hanney's high foul off the first base stands. Natalie singled sharply into left, Collins reaching second. DePali drove a grounder at Ford and just as "Hod" got set to gobble up the ball it took a sharp high bounce completely over his head, despite a lightning shift. Collins scored on the hit and Natalie reached third. DePali going down to second on the throw in. Teletcher's single past Ford scored both runners. Ford took Cleaves fly to retire the side.

Winchester got two back in its half. Walsh singled to center to start and went to third when Colucci hit past Natalie. A short passed ball sent "Tony" to second. Ford rapped to Leary and Walsh was an easy out at the plate, Colucci reaching third. Another short passed ball sent Horace to second. N. Fitzgerald brought Colucci in with a line drive to DePali, and Tansey's single to right sent in Ford. Lee fanned to end the frame.

With one away in the second Kendrick walked, went to second as Robinson hit to center, reached third on the throw in to the diamond and scored when Meher, in attempting to flag Robinson at second let the ball slip out of his hand and roll into short left field. Collins threw out Walsh and Cleaves took Colucci's fly.

Ford opened the third with a triple into right field, a ball which Cleaves misjudged, and scored when Fitzgerald sliced out to Cleaves. Tansey singled past short and reached third on Lee's hit into right. Both boys were in on Frank Tansey's single past third and Kendrick sent Tansey around on another one-shot past Meher. Hanney, however threw out Robinson and Leary tossed out Walsh to end it all.

Colucci doubled to center to start the fourth and Ford hit a neatly placed single into right field to score "Tony." Fitzgerald rapped to Hanney who got Ford at second, but the double went "bluie" when Natalie dropped Collins' throw. "Fitzy" stole and came in on Joe Tansey's double to left. Lee hit a home run into the river, scoring Tansey ahead of him. Collins' bobble gave F. Tansey a life and Francis stole. Teletcher took Kendrick's foul and Collins threw out Robinson.

Neither team scored in the fifth, but in the 6th the City Club got one back when Natalie hit one hard to far right field for a home run.

In the Legion's half Fitzgerald drove a triple into deep left field and scored on J. Tansey's fly to Brock. Teletcher made a corking running catch of Lee's foul in front of the first base stands. F. Tansey got another life when Hanney fumbled his roller. Kendrick drove one to DePali in center.

Tansey dropped Teletcher's fly in short left to start the 7th and the little catcher stole second, went to third on O'Donnell's hit past Colucci, which Tansey fielded very fast in left field, held up while Breck skied to Ford, and scored as Meher hit into right field. Robinson struck out Collins and on Leary's long hop bouncer to Walsh, Meher was forced at second, Ford making the putout.

This ended the scoring though only a great running catch by DePali of Fitzgerald's drive to center with Colucci and Ford on base in the 7th kept the Legion's tally down. Breck worked the seventh and eighth innings for Waltham and managed to keep the locals from counting. Breck reached third in the Waltham 9th but "Robbie" tightened and got Meher's tap I mself to end the game.

Notes

No one was sorry when the game was over and some of the fans went home early. The only kind of a slugfest worth watching is one in which the hitting is even Stephen.

Large James Fitzgerald had a Saturday afternoon off and brother Nick performed at first in his stead, doing well enough around the bag and scoring two runs while driving in a couple more.

Ford continued to delight the fans with the flossy way in which he handled the fielding chances that came his way. He ran almost into foul territory to take DePali's fly near the post in left field in the sixth and started a fast double play after taking DePali's batshily hit grounder in the 8th with Walsh pivoting.

In completing this double play "Tweet" Walsh did about his only fast moving of the entire afternoon. Ford got the ball away toward second lightning fast and the former Holy Cross star had to hump himself to get to the bag in time to take the throw. Walsh failed to slide coming into home in the first and ran out his hits in listless fashion, something very unusual for him. Perhaps had the score been closer, "Tweet" would have gone to work.

Walsh looked very good, however, when he fielded Leary's drive in the 7th. The ball handed on the grass toward second and "Tweet" had to play a difficult short hop going back and to his right. It was a hard play well made.

Neither team had much life, though Ford as usual was all over the lot. In the third the locals didn't have a coacher at either base when the inning started and it wasn't until Ford got on that some one went out to see about things.

The snappiest player on the field was a huge shaggy English sheep dog who took great delight in chasing all the runners who got on the bases. He had a picnic running around with "Ollie" Lee when the latter hit his homer.

Frank Tansey made a slick running back catch of O'Donnell's drive in the 9th, taking the ball off the left field river hanking. Few players have played that difficult left field any better than Francis, not excepting the great "Ad" Blowers.

For an inexperienced backstop Teletcher certainly did a great job on fouls, making several fine running catches.

Ford's triple was a hard hit ball that curved away from Cleaves. The latter misjudged the drive, but recovered in time to get the ball if it hadn't sliced away from him.

Natalie, visiting first sacker, didn't look too slick around the cushion, but surely hit the ball hard. His homer was a real drive for he was going into third when Kendrick, by no means slow, picked up the ball in far right field. Ford went to the running track to take the relay throw.

Another hard hitter was O'Donnell who replaced Cleaves in right. His drive past Colucci was a sizzler and his long fly in the 9th just missed being a home run.

Several little children played gayly about the first base and right field foul lines, their parents utterly oblivious of the fact that they were flirting with certain severe injury and possible death from hard driven foul balls.

The Girl Scout Council is to be congratulated upon the success of its newest venture, the day camp, which closed its season at the cabin in Brooks Woods last week. Not only has it afforded pleasure for the youngsters who have attended its sessions, but it has also provided a most satisfactory solution of the vacation problem for parents unable to send their children out of town this summer. Several factors have contributed to the camp's success. First of all the cabin is attractive and pleasantly situated, yet accessible. But in addition to physical attractiveness, the camp has offered a well rounded program of activities that has combined games with worth-while instruction in a pleasing ratio. Credit for this program and for the campers' interest, which increased throughout the season, must go to the camp director, Miss Katherine Carlisle, whose knowledge of sports and teaching ability have proved most valuable. She is to be commended, along with those who induced her to accept the responsibility of inaugurating the camp.

The new tax rate with its saving of 80c per thousand, while no great reduction, is nevertheless good news to those who would have been absolutely unable to meet even the slightest increase in their taxes. The Assessors have been faced with quite a problem in arriving at this year's figures, and have overlooked nothing which would safely permit them to keep the current rate within last year's figures. There has been no wholesale revision of valuations which most of those in close touch with local municipal affairs believe would have been unwise. The town fathers have attempted to spend wisely, refusing to trim appropriations beyond a limit which they believe consistent with an adequate administration of the town's business, and of course, it has been necessary to spend large sums for community relief. The banding together of taxpayers in the interest of economy during the last annual town meeting, while productive of no startling results, at least indicated a strong trend of public opinion away from extravagance in municipal expenditures and its influence is reflected to a great degree in the $25.60 rate announced yesterday. We congratulate the Assessors and those other town officials who have aided them in obtaining the lower figures.

To those who know anything about baseball, and particularly to those who from playing the game know how hard a baseball can hit, the spectacle of little children playing about the baselines of a diamond while a game is in progress is one hard to laugh off. How parents can be so careless of their youngsters safety as to permit them to risk certain injury and possible death from a hard hit foul ball is difficult to understand, yet they do it week after week at the games on Manchester Field. Thus far fortune has smiled upon the innocents and there have been no fatalities, yet last Saturday, had a ball driven with considerable force into the first base stands gone only 50 feet or so further along the line, it might easily have struck and perhaps seriously injured one of a little group of children who were playing gaily about in front of the bleachers. As a matter of fact a baseball game, or any other athletic event, is no place to take little children. They are not interested in the sport and soon become restive. If they are permitted to play about on the ground near the diamond, they are in real danger of injury or worse; and if they are kept in the stands and permitted to climb about and jounce on the loose seats at will, they spoil much of the pleasure for those who are really interested in the game. Better leave the little tots at home until they get big enough to know what it all is about, and when that time arrives you won't have to take them! They will be there anyhow!

SONS OF ITALY TO PARADE

Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee in charge of Saturday's celebration of the Feast of the Assumption by Italian residents of the town announced last night that Winchester Lodge, Order of the Sons of Italy in America, will march in the religious parade which will be a feature of the afternoon program.

The parade will form at St. Mary's Church at 2:30 o'clock and will cover the principal streets of the Italian section. The Napoli Band of Boston will head the line of march and will also play a concert program from the bandstand on Manchester Field during Saturday evening from 7:30 until 10 o'clock.

The band will arrive in Winchester at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning and after parading about the Italian section will give a concert on Swanton street at Florence street, commencing about 10:30.

LEGION WON FROM NORTH WOBURN INDEPENDENTS

Winchester Legion won a 13—4 victory over the North Woburn Independents Wednesday evening on Leonard Field, Lee holding the visitors to five hits.

The locals knocked Melinsky from the hill in the first inning when four hits and three bases on balls netted six runs. In the fourth, two singles and home runs by "Jim" Fitzgerald and "Tony" Chefalo, coupled with a brace of errors, added a large seven to the Legion total. Lee eased up after the fourth and the visitors put over three of their four runs in the sixth.

"SPEAKING OF VACATIONS

Winchester Writer Won Essay Contest

Following is the essay, submitted by Miss Bertha Kelley of Dix street, which was awarded first prize in the recent contest held in Marjorie Mills' column in the Boston Herald.

A second essay, submitted by a Winchester writer, whose name is not known, follows that of Miss Kelley.

"When I think of lovely vacations I have had, my mind goes first to the summer I spent in the British Isles three years go. A friend and I hired a car in Cambridge, Eng., and set out to see the countryside and all the points of interest we could. We took our time and went where we pleased.

"We had no difficulty in renting a car, a Morris-Cowley, four-seater sedan, 1930 model, from a garage in Cambridge. A license is easily obtained by paying $1.50 and swearing that one is over 17. We paid the money and I, being the driver, swore that 17 was a long-forgotten age with me. The nice gentleman to whom we talked seemed to have no doubt that I was telling the truth and we had our license in short order. When I first drove out into the crooked, narrow, bicycle-filled streets, I breathed a prayer that we should arrive home again with all our legs and arms intact. We named our car 'Pilgrim' in honor of the tercentenary; so we felt that we owed it to Pilgrim to go first to Bedford, the home of the author of Pilgrim's Progress. Just beyond Bedford we ate our first picnic lunch in England in the grass alongside a hawthorne hedge, with nothing to be seen anywhere but great fields of hay. Our route to Stratford took us through Buckingham, Sulgrave and Banbury. No American should miss Sulgrave Manor. It is the ancestral home of the Washington family and has been equipped as a Washington Museum. It is of gray stone and surrounded by a very lovely garden. The interior is very interesting, with high beamed ceilings, old fireplaces and many unusual pieces of furniture, pictures, relics of Washington, etc.

"We entered Stratford-on-Avon over Clopton Bridge and went to the Red Horse Hotel, made famous by Hawthorne. After dinner, as the sun was setting, we walked to Shottery over the path Shakespeare used to travel when he called on Anne. The garden at Anne's cottage was a mass of bloom, with roses, peonies, lupin and lavender, mint and poppies of all hues. Of course we visited Trinity Church and New Place the next day, and then started south. We were soon among the Cotswold Hills, and one would have to try hard to find anything lovelier than those hills, the roads climbing up, sometimes very steeply, to display marvelous views across valleys to more distant hills, smoky blue in the distance. Chipping Camden was an especially lovely old town.

"As we drove along leisurely, expecting to spend the night in Oxford, we did not count on the bank holiday (not like ours of last March, but a long week-end which they have in England rather often) and when we reached Oxford, there were no accommedations in any of the inns. We were fortunate enough finally, to find a private hotel in Wallingford, Bucklands, about a mile out of Oxford. The atmosphere was very English. Early in the morning we were awakened by a low, sweet call outside our window and were delighted to learn that we had heard a nightingale. After a breakfast of cold smoked haddock—a bit too English for my appetite—we started on our way to Winchester along a most delightful road. Much of the time we drove by masses of rhododendrons of every imaginable shade of pink, red and orchid. I was amazed to see them growing wild there, just as blueberry bushes do here in New England. Fern and forgetmenots grew in profusion among the shrubs and as we ate our lunch, we heard often the cry of the cuckoo.

"The countryside through Devonshire in June almost defies description, with its green fields neatly manicured in appearance, the hawthorn hedges, both pink and white, all in bloom, the red horse chestnut trees forming avenues of color. We stopped for tea in delightful little gardens where we could eat our fill of strawberries and clotted cream. The hills of Devon almost take one's breath away, at least that of a poor little four-cylinder 'Pilgrim,' but we pushed on toward Exeter. We spent some time in the cathedral there and went into the old coffee house, now a picture shop, where the old sea-dogs used to gather, Raleigh, Hawkins, and their contemporaries. And then on over more interminable hills, through Dawlish, Teignmouth, Newton Abbot and Torquay, getting marvelous views all the time of the ocean. I can't help saying a word about the little village of Cockington, the most picturesque village in England, and it is just a picture-book place. Great hedges, with exquisite wild roses in bloom, all along the roads, with the quaintest imaginable cottages tucked in cozily here and there. It was quiet and lovely. Now and then a man and dog would come along herding cows. We wandered about and looked over hedges into gardens full of flowers and loved every inch of it.

"Of course our trip finally took us to Boston but we were disappointed. Somehow, our own Boston seemed to be a great improvement on that in the old world. We spent a few days in Wales. We drove along with smiling faces, just for the sheer joy of being alive in such a beautiful country and of doing the things which we had planned in just the way we liked best.

"I must hurry on to Scotland. We reached Edinburgh at 9 o'clock at night, but it was like late afternoon, it was so light. The spell of the city fell upon us at once; somehow we didn't seem to be in a strange city at all; it was as if we had been there before and she were smiling upon our return. I had read so often of Princes street and pictured it in my imagination and there it was with the huge castle on its rock looking down over it like a tender guardian. I must mention the wonderful building which Scotland has erected to her sons who have died in the war. To go into it is an experience one can never forget. It is as if one were surrounded on the one hand by thousands of shining faces of those who have made the last great sacrifice and on the other hand by sorrowing wives and mothers who have lost their all.

"Our trip through the Highlands took us through Dunfermline, Carnegie's home town. It was Carnegie day and there was a big celebration for the children, given for them each year by Carnegie's daughter. We went to Pitlochry, Braemer and Balmoral, climbing all the way and surrounded by lovely mountains, some snow-capped, with heather blooming in the sheltered sections. And always and always the lovely white clouds, so much prettier than a clear blue sky.

"We closed our trip with a visit to the lake country in England and I'm almost tempted to say that we kept the best until last. We hated to leave after our wonderful summer but, strange as it may seem, one of the nicest things about going away is coming home again. There is always a thrill about sailing for home, and I was reminded of the words of an unknown author:

"'Into the west of the waters on the living ocean's foam,
Into the west of the sunset where the young adventurers roam,
Into the west of the shining star, I'm sailing, sailing home.
'Tis home to be on the waters, 'tis home already here
Through the weird red following sunset into the west to steer,,
To fall asleep in the rocking dark with home a day more near.'"

Vacation in Hospital

"'What vacation I enjoyed most,' you ask? Memories of motorboats and splashing water, of high waves under a blistering sun. Of laughter. Or of quiet trees that spoke of beauty and poetry. But pushing them all aside there came memories of my vacation of five years ago. No boats, no car trips, no woods or train that summer for any of us. Instead of it a sickroom in the hospital. Anxiety and pain and long, sleepness nights, when life outside went on as usual, gay and always hurrying.

"There were days when the thermometer rose high till the heat was almost unbearable, inside, and out on the streets. But friends came just the same . . . and well I remember the terrific heat of one afternoon when all youngsters would go to the beach and when I didn't dare to expect mine. Then came that crashing thunderstorm, and I was wishing they were safe at home now. But here they came, drenched—the ones I can't live without and whose love I never felt so strong as in those days when I looked into their anxious eyes from the bed in a hospital.

"And always there were flowers. Neighbors I hardly knew came and brought them with cheer and good wishes. That summer I found friends!

"And there was the home-coming, when our white dog went crazy with joy and almost threw me off my trembling feet! Flowers again . . . and the lovely, helping hands of dear friends. To me it shall always be my most perfect vacation."

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Many boys and girls who want an education need help, especially during these years when their parents are having a hard time to provide even the necessities for their families. And so an unparalleled opportunity for service has come to the Student Loans and Scholarship Committees of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

In all sorts of forms, assistance has been given to keep children and youth in school and college. It has ranged all the way from gifts of clothing and car fares to money given outright and loans to be paid back when the young people have secured positions. Sometimes students are so weakened by lack of food that the most important thing to provide is nourishing lunches so that school work may be continued. One girl was dropping out of a teachers college because her father was out of work and her mother was able to earn but little on account of having several young children to care for. A loan from a state parent-teacher fund helped this girl to continue her training for teaching music. An outside job made it possible for her to help her family while she was completing her course. So fine was her record as a student that even before graduation this young woman had received flattering offers of positions to teach. It was well worth while to help such a talented girl to fit herself for a chosen vocation.

In 1915 the Colorado Congress of Parents and Teachers was a pioneer in establishing a Boys' Loan Fund. The idea of a fruitful means of building up the fund came suddenly to Mrs. Bertha B. Porter, a former president of the organization. She observed the immediate destruction of hundreds of dollars worth of beautiful flowers which were laid on a grave one perishingly cold day in winter. The thought came: would that the amount of money expended for those flowers might have gone to help some struggling boy to get an education!

From this thought eventually grew a loan fund of many thousands of dollars which up to the present time has been helping boys. The plan is this: In cases of death, members of parent-teacher associations in Colorado send a card to the bereaved friends saying that in memory of the one who has passed away, a sum of money has been deposited in the Boys' Loan Fund of the Colorado Congress, that some boy may be helped to go on in college. This plan has been so successful that it is followed with great profit in Missouri and other states.

In Kentucky, the parent-teacher council of Louisville has been spending from $5000 to $6500 a year to keep students in school. This sum is raised principally by the sale of pencils to school children.

In Iowa, the Des Moines Council of Parents and Teachers insists on outright gifts of money from its fund. It does not think that it is fair to burden young people with debt. It makes no discrimination because of race, creed, or color, but helps only senior high school students.

Of course, cases of needy boys and girls are carefully investigated in all states, there are duly appointed trustees of the fund, and there are restrictions as to who may profit by the funds, and where they shall attend school.

At present 40 state congresses have a state committee on Student Loans and Scholarships. There are also many councils and many local parent-teacher associations which are engaged in this fine work of assisting young people to get an education and become self-supporting citizens. Until jobs are more numerous than at present it is a good thing to give them an opportunity to get ready for a future of efficient life service and happiness.

JOIN THE ANTI-FIRE ARMY

The greatest tragedy of fire is seldom seen. It doesn't lie in destroyed homes and industries and farms—tragic as these are. It is in their results—in the long chain of misfortunes that follow every fire, great or small.

It is in lost jobs and opportunities—things you can't measure in dollars and cents. It is in destroyed purchasing power—something you can't see in the smoldering embers. It is in higher insurance rates, which are an unnecessary burden on every resident of the community.

For the indirect costs of fire are always infinitely greater than the direct costs. If we destroy half a billion dollars a year directly, we destroy twice or thrice that indirectly. Those are the costs that no insurance policy can cover. Insurance, vital as it is, must necessarily deal with the concrete, the tangible—there is no form of protection that will compensate for the intangible values that are still more important.

During the past three years the tragedy of fire has become even more intense than it was before. During those years there has been a crying need for jobs, payrolls, operating industries. And fire was always their enemy. It robbed the nation of thousands of jobs. It destroyed immeasurable opportunities. It stole the livelihood of families. It was the friend of hard times, the enemy of recovery.

It is never too late to enlist in a good cause. There is a growing army which is determined to stamp out the causes of fire, so far as that is possible. Its duties are not onerous—they consist simply of inspecting one's property, of constantly keeping at it to make sure that hazards are eliminated and do not reappear. You, as an individual and a member of society, are needed in that army.

Church Service and Sunday School at 10:45 Sunday, Aug 20 Subject, "Mind."

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 20.

The Golden Text is: "It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (Philippians 2:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever" (Romans 11:33, 34, 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mind is the grand creator, and there can be no power except that which is derived from Mind. If Mind was first chronologically, is first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlastingly due its holy name" (p. 143).

WINCHESTER ON LIST

Massachusetts cities and towns produced the best record of the year in checking automobile fatalities compared with communities throughout the country, according to reports received today by the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety for the nation-wide traffic safety contest. Eighteen communities went through the month without a single motor vehicle death, while six of them thus completed a total of six consecutive months with a spotless record.

The six which have survived half the year without a highway death were Woburn, Gardner, Amesbury, Stoneham, Winchester and Swampscott. The others were Fall River, Somerville, Quincy, Medford, Pittsfield, Revere, Chelsea, Salem, Fitchburg, Chicopee, Beverly and Newburyport.

In only three cities throughout the state did the June fatalities exceed more than two each. There were five in Worcester and only three each in Springfield and Boston. The latter city moved up from fourth to third place in the competition, being outranked now only by Milwaukee and New York City. Boston's fatality total, however, is still far worse than last year. The figures are for the six-month period: 51 in 1933 and 39 in 1932.

New Bedford lost its top position in the group of cities between 100,000 and 250,000, which it had held all year. Grand Rapids, Fall River and New Bedford have had only two fatalities apiece to July, but rank in that order, as when the death totals are equal the larger cities rank ahead of smaller ones. Quincy achieved third place in its group of communities.

For the country as a whole there were 2470 automobile deaths in June, an appreciable increase over June a year ago and over May of this year. The six-month figure for the United States is still lower than at the same point in 1932, but the unfavorable June experience has brought the advantage down to only about two per cent.

The slightly favorable comparison still existing between 1933 and 1932, nationally, at the end of June is entirely the result of accident prevention efforts in the cities, as contrasted with towns and villages. States as a whole have had more deaths this year than last, while the death rate in cities shows a distinct drop.

Smallest Measurements

Measurements as small as one-billionth of an inch can be made by an ultra-micrometer. Since the dotting of an "i" in a signature has actually been measured it is reasonable to believe that the mark of a pencil could be noticed in the weight of a sheet of paper.

BUDAPEST, TWIN CITY OF THE DANUBE

The eyes of boyhood in every part of the world are focussed on Hungary this month, where the Fourth World Boy Scout Jamboree opened on Aug. 2. Over 30,000 Scouts, representing practically every nation on the globe, are camped in the beautiful park surrounding a royal castle near Budapest.

Budapest with its lights, bright colors, and gypsy music, makes a gay setting for the pageants and parades of enthusiastic youth, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Lines Both Banks of River

The capital of Hungary, situated on both banks of the Danube, is really not one, but two cities. The old fortress of Buda on the right bank, and the town of Pest on the left, remained separate units for centuries before they were politically welded.

A riverside window from the Pest bank frames a nightly glare as brilliant as a magnified Luna Park, dignified by the background of a thousand years of vivid history. In the immediate foreground is the Francis-Joseph Quay, famed promenade, where a nightly parade passes the scores of sidewalk cafes.

The waters of the Danube, which are chalkly or chocolate by day—never blue—have an inky shellac sheen by night, reflecting thousands of dancing lights. On the Buda bank rise ghostly cliffs to support a fairylike curtain of starry lights, with occasional splotches of gleaming flood lights etching in bold relief the headline places of 10 centuries.

Once Port for Roman Galleys

One white splash marks the modern Citadel, mounted on the hill beneath which Roman galleys found a port. Another bright spot is the imposing Royal Palace of 860 rooms, built by Maria Theresa. Most beautiful high light of all, perhaps, is the Gothic spire of the Coronation Church, dating back to the great and good King Matthias, the Louis XIV of Hungary. In no other city in the world does night let down a curtain which, electrically lighted, becomes a pageant of such amazing history.

Six ghostly bridges span the river that once split venerable, rocky Buda from modern Pest, low-lying and flat, as becomes the commercial focus of the vast plain that pours its grains and wines, its cattle and wool, into the warehouses and factories to be shipped or fabricated for the Danube trade.

Neat quays extend for more than three miles along the Pest shores. Unloading platforms are concealed from the riverside promenade by overhanging sheds with entrances beneath the sidewalks. In spite of an enormous volume of shipping there are no piles of crates or boxes, coils of tarry rope or other maritime paraphernalia along the water front.

A Great Milling Center

The water-front view of Pest extends from the complicated Gothic pile, which is the Parliament Building, to the huge grain elevators, reminders that in its busiest years Budapest ranked second only to Minneapolis as premier milling city of the world. By night the long portico of Parliament House is a lively outdoor cafe, where hundreds dine, sip their coffee, or drink beers and wines from the vast cellars under Hungary's legislative halls.

All Budapest swims, and on Sundays the shores of the Danube are crowded with bathers. Those who find the river current too swift, may choose one of the city's many baths or pools. Most fashionable is the outdoor pool at one of the larger hotels. It is flanked on three sides by rock-garden terraces; the fourth is half an acre or so of tea tables. Every 15 minutes a whistle gives the signal for artificial waves; and one may syncopate one's strokes to the tune of a gypsy band.

THE MOTORISTS WHO TAKE CHANCES

You see them on streets and highways every day—motorists who take chances.

You see them turning corners at high speeds. Or stealing another car's right of way. Or passing on hills and curves. Or driving on the wrong side of the road. Or cutting in and out of thick traffic. Or coming roaring into intersections and road junctions without looking to either side. Or operating at speeds which are obviously higher than are safe under driving conditions of the moment. And every once in a while, you see such a motorist cause an accident. Perhaps there is little damage done. Or perhaps a life is lost and valuable property is needlessly destroyed.

The reckless motorist comprises 10 per cent or less of the driving population. But he causes ninety per cent of the accidents. If the reckless drivers simply injured each other it wouldn't be particularly important to the rest of us. But they seldom do that—they maim and kill the careful, the competent, the prudent. And you never know who's going to be next.

This year about 30,000 people are going to be killed because someone was careless, reckless, discouteous. Not one of a thousand of those deaths is really due to an unavoidable accident—an occurrence which is almost as rare as the dodo. They can all be prevented. And they will be when there is a concerted public drive against those who make places of carnage out of public highways.

Burying Tears With the Dead

Burying tears with the dead was once a romantic expression of sympathy. An evidence of this custom was found a few years ago in a small vessel taken from a 2,000-year-old grave near the city of Luxembourg. Chemical analysis proved that it originally contained human tears.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY AFTER SLOT MACHINES

Editor:

The following letter has been sent to the Chief of Police of each city and town in Middlesex County and I am going to insist on immediate and vigorous action. I shall be very glad to give you any further information I can.

Cordially yours,
Warren L. Bishop,
District Attorney

Aug. 8, 1933

Dear Chief:

The "Slot Machine" racket has become an ugly sore in Massachusetts and while perhaps not so prevalent here in Middlesex County as in some other places, it nevertheless prevails, and from the numerous complaints I am daily receiving I am convinced it is a growing menace. It must be stamped out and kept out. I am determined upon drastic action and now, not only as against those immediately in charge but those higher up who sponsor the racket by placing the machines.

I have complaints wherein it is alleged that little children go into stores and play these machines, not only wasting their parents' hard earned money but acquiring a gambling instinct which may blight their whole lives. I received one letter from a mother who tells me she has been giving nickels to her children to buy ice cream cones only to learn later that no cones were bought, but that the money went to the racketeers through the medium of these machines.

This racket is as bad as fictitious lottery because for the most part these machines are so fixed that those playing have scarcely a fighting chance to win. The public are the victims and the racketeers are growing rich in the game.

I want every money machine ordered out of every store and if not immediately removed, seized, proceedings instituted and convictions obtained. If you need assistance, let me know and I will see that you have it. I know I can rely upon your hearty co-operation in this matter.

I would appreciate it very much if you would submit to me a report of action taken, giving names and places involved.

With kind personal regards, I am
Sincerely yours,
Warren L. Bishop,
District Attorney

SPOTTED ALLEGED BICYCLE THIEF IN CENTER

Through the watchfulness of Traffic Officer Joseph Derro and Patrolman John Boyle of the Police Department the Metropolitan District Police were able to get on the track of an alleged bicycle thief last Sunday evening.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Headquarters was notified by radio that a bicycle had been stolen in Revere, but there was so much static that a clear description of the machine could not be obtained.

Later when it was possible to learn the make of the machine, Officer Derro stated that he and Patrolman Boyle had been talking to two boys in the center, one of whom had a bicycle answering to the description of the missing machine. One of the youngsters, the police say, had previously stolen a bike in Winchester.

The boys had given the officers a plausible story in the center and had been allowed to go after telling where they were going and naming a house in Woburn.

The Woburn police were notified and went to the house named by the boys finding the bicycle there. Meanwhile local Headquarters notified the Metropolitan Police who took charge of the case.

GEORGE BATTEN WHITEHORNE

George Batten Whitehorne, a former resident of Winchester and a building contractor here for many years, died Tuesday morning, Aug. 15 in Southboro, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Helen W. Webster, after several weeks' illness.

Mr. Whitehorne was born in New York City June 15, 1856, and before coming to Winchester was a building contractor in Malden.

He came to Winchester in 1912 and during his active business here developed Wedgemere avenue and built many fine homes on Oxford street and in other sections of the west side.

Forced by ill health to retire from business, he left Winchester and for the past six years had made his home with his daughter in Southboro. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., also of the Royal Arch Chapter, Commandery and of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine.

Besides his daughter who is the wife of Dr. Arthur G. Webster, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha (Wilson) Whitehorne, and by one grandson.

Private funeral services were held in the late residence on Thursday afternoon with Rev. Robert M. Cheney, rector of St. Mark's (Episcopal) Church in Southboro officiating. Representatives of William Parkman Lodge attended the services. Interment was in Southboro.

SEVERAL INJURED IN CRASH ON MAIN STREET

Four persons were injured Monday afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock when a Chevrolet coach, driven by Stephanos Serbos of 8 Hovey street, Woburn, was in collision on Main street at Lake street with a Ford sedan, operated by Albert F. Cullen of 16 Bartlett street, Somerville.

According to the police, the accident occurred when Serbos, who was driving north on Main street, swerved his car sharply to the left to avoid striking William Flynn, 71, of 17 Linden street, who stepped into the street from behind a parked machine.

As the Chevrolet swerved it collided with the Ford, which was headed south, both machines being damaged.

Flynn was knocked down by the rear end of the Chevrolet and was badly injured. He was taken by Serbos to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy. Dr. Sheehy also took eight stitches to close a cut in the arm of Cullen, driver of the Ford, who was taken to the hospital by Patrolman John Murray in the police car.

Mrs. John Newman and Mrs. Julia Newman, both of Boston road, Billerica, who were riding in the Ford, were badly shaken up, but stated that they would go to a physician without assistance.

WINCHESTER GIRLS IN MAINE TOURNEY

Mary Cutter and Sylvia Hatch are representing Winchester in the Southern Maine tennis championships at York, Me. Play starts tomorrow and both girls will play singles, doubles and mixed doubles, teaming together in doubles. In mixed doubles Mary will pair with Lieutenant Fearin of the Navy while Sylvia will probably choose a partner from among the players at the tourney.

Both "Susie" and "Syl" are experienced tournament players and should give a good account of themselves at York. The former is women's intercollegiate champion and a member of the Jackson College team, having won several important tournaments around Boston in past seasons. "Syl" is the present North Shore junior champion in singles and mixed doubles and was No. 2 on the unbeaten Winchester High team of the past season.

Work upon the development of the former Robinson estate on Cambridge street is going ahead rapidly and permits have already been issued for the erection of dwellings there. The site is an attractive one, and most of the lots will front on the lake.

WINCHESTER TEAM WON TEDESCO MIXED DOUBLES CROWN

The all Winchester mixed double team of Sylvia Hatch and Norman Dalrymple, several times finalists in tournaments around Boston, moved into the championship class last Friday when they annexed the mixed doubles crown in the North Shore junior tennis tournament at the Tedesco Country Club in Swampscott.

Sylvia, who played No. 2 on this year's high school team, won her second North Shore title at the expense of her No. 1 team mate, Lucy Fowle, whom she had previously defeated in the girls' singles.

Lucy, paired with Robert Ashley, won her way into the mixed doubles final by defeating Kay Parrot of Winchester, singles finalist, and Seymour Stearns of Malden, 6—3, 6—2; while Sylvia and Dalrymple, Andover captain-elect, were accounting for the Newton team of Elena Ciccone and Westland Babcock, 6—1, 11—9.

The final round match was well contested but the Hatch-Dalrymple win, 6—3, 6—2, was convincing.

There was plenty of local interest in the final round of girls' doubles where one all-Winchester team, Elizabeth Packer and Lucy Fowle, was meeting the Winchester-Newton combination of Ruth Aseltine, hard hitting youngster and Elena Ciccone, a seasoned tournament performer and one of the best younger players around Boston.

The Packer-Fowle team made a stubborn fight for honors, particularly in the second set, but were defeated by Ruth and Elena in straight sets, 6—4, 8—6.

All in all Winchester has reason to be proud of its representatives at Tedesco. Three titles, won by Sylvia Hatch, Ruth Aseltine and Donald Dalrymple, and runners-up in four events shared by Kathleen Parrot, Ruth Bernnard, Lucy Fowle and Elizabeth Packer, is not a bad tournament showing, to which must be added semi-finalists in girls' singles, boys' singles, doubles in both classes, and mixed doubles. The fact that most of Winchester's winners in the tournament have at least one year more of prep school makes their showing doubly commendable.

CAMP BLAZING TRAIL

Aug. 12, 1933

My Dear ——:

Well, during this lapse of time since I departed from the town of Winchester and my friends, for my favorite camp, Blazing Trail, which, you probably know, is situated in the picturesque town of Denmark, Me., you no doubt feel that I have neglected my duty as a correspondent. But I am fortunate in having quite a few of Winchester's representatives and friends of mine here with me, with whom I have been sharing the advantages and activities of this delightful camp, and as I couldn't do this half so well without their help, I want to introduce them as my faithful associates: Lois Barnard, Nancy England, Betty and Kathie Gilbert, Norma Godfrey, Jean Huckins, Rebecca Jackson, Marjorie Kidder, Gene MacDonald, Annette McCormick and Hope Tuck. I also sincerely wish I had room here to introduce all the other girls from various parts, but space forbidding, I heartily suggest that you come here some time and get acquainted and form new, interesting, friendships in the future.

So altogether with a most enthusiastic spirit we have had, and expect to have for a few more weeks, the grandest, most exciting times, such as a canoe trip down the Saco, and an exploratory one down the Ossipee river, where we met with much new adventure among its enticing rapids. And on this occasion, as well as many others, we were conscious all the while of much good fun and humorous entertainment contributed by each other and our jolly guide, Mr. Harry Jordan.

Then in between times when we weren't on either a mountain trip to New Hampshire, or on a hike to one of the nearby hills, we improved our tennis, or our aim in archery, and sometimes we just played! And in one of the most fascinating shops because it is so skillfully and humorously supervised by Mr. Jordan, we learned the art of making paddles, bows and arrows, weaving small birch bark baskets, and the most unusual thing of all—snowshoes! Also in addition to all these things we enlarged our appreciation, and ability in making, of the more representatively feminine things, such as the unusually becoming and smart suede jackets to add to our already attractive costume. And we just couldn't resist the advantage of learning the new process of etching taught by the Craft Councilor an art student from Boston. But now my mind is wandering back to the snowshoes and the fun I shall have with them this winter; so goodbye and good luck until the snowflakes unite us in the winter sports!

Sincerely yours,
A Happy Camper

HALL GAMAGE IN EASTERN YACHT CLUB WIN WITH HELEN BOEHM

Mary Cutter, Winner in Women's Doubles

Hall Gamage, one of Winchester's leading men tennis players, paired with Helen Boehm, one of the famous Malden athletic twins, to win the mixed doubles championship in the Eastern Yacht Club tennis tournament at Marblehead last Sunday, defeating Priscilla Damon and Julius Appleton in straight sets, but after a hard fight, 6—3, 10—8.

Winchester's Mary Cutter, women's intercollegiate champion, paired with Virginia Arnold of Brighton to take the women's doubles title from Isabel Lawrence and Serita Bartlett in straight sets, 6—3, 6—1.

This match was played on Saturday and was not too hard for the Arnold-Cutter team, both girls being veteran tournament players.

On the same day Gamage lost his chance for the men's singles crown when he was defeated by Appleton in three hard fought sets, 10—8, 6—3, 6—2. The winner was successful in keeping the ball away from Hall's fore-hand and seldom was the Winchester player able to work his way to the net. Appleton was as steady as the proverbial clock, and continued his good work on Sunday, winning the singles championship at the expense of Winchester's "Bill" Packer, Jr., after dropping the first set.

Packer, a finalist last year, looked good winning the first set, 6—1, but Appleton rallied to even things by taking the second set, 6—3, and then ran out the match, 6—1, 6—1.

Early Sunday morning shortly after 1:20 the police were called to rid the chamber of a Winslow road dwelling of a bat which dropped in for an unbidden call. Sergt. Noonan and Patrolman Donaghey answered the call in Patrol 51, but found that the bat had gone out while they were on the way to the house.

One reason, and perhaps the real reason for the Winchester Legion's success in the Paul Revere Baseball League this summer has been the punch the club has had at bat. With four men batting better than .370 the club has naturally scored plenty of runs to offset defensive weakness which have been very apparent. Big "Jim" Fitzgerald, giant first sacker, leads the club batters with a fine .469, including many drives for extra bases. "Joe" Tansey, hulky backstop, has a .407 rating, while those husky outfielders, "Ollie" Lee and "Nicky" Fitzgerald, have smacked the apple for .375 and .373 repectively.

Gray Morning of the Year

Terrible things—for those to whom terrible things occur in their lives—happen in the last days of January, writes Ford Madox Ford in the Atlantic Monthly. The heavy drag of winter is then at its most dire, and your courage at its lowest, as if in a long four o'clock in the morning of the year. You seem to pass as if you yourself were invisible in the owl light of the deep streets. . . . Between dog and wolf, they say in Paris. It is a good phrase.

Plans for this bridge were begun in 1846, but it was not completed until 1866. A suspension bridge which antedates this one, however, spans the Allegheny river between Pittsburgh and Allegheny, Pa. This bridge was begun in 1857 and completed in 1860. The Cincinnati bridge is a single span, while the one at Pittsburgh is a double span.

THROWN FROM CAR AND BEATEN ON WEST SIDE

Thrown from a car and beaten up by three men with whom he had been playing poker in a house in Cambridge is the story told the Cambridge Police Sunday morning by Gerard Mann of 479 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, it being finally established that the alleged assault took place on the West Side of Winchester at the junction of Cambridge street and Glen road.

According to the police Mann went to a house in Cambridge and won $30 playing poker. He had $80 besides his winnings, and becoming suspicious of the party, attempted to get out of the house in which the game was in progress, from a second story window.

He was heard attempting to escape and was seized by the men with whom he had been playing, placed in an automobile and driven to the corner of Cambridge street and Glen road where he was thrown from the machine and badly beaten.

After lying on the grass for some time, Mann succeeded in getting up and finally was able to get a ride to Boston where he took a taxi to Station 2 in Cambridge. After hearing his story, Patrolmen James Russell, Dennis E. Cremmins and Raymond E. Patten went to the house mentioned by Mann and arrested Joseph A. Sobolewsky, alias Joseph Silbey, and his brother, Frank Sobolewsky, alias Frank Silbey, both of 170 Vassel street, Cambridge; and William Hill of 27 Pleasant street, that city.

All three were held as suspicious persons while the Cambridge authorities communicated with Police Chief William H. Rogers here.

After considerable difficulty, Chief Rogers, succeeded in locating the spot where the alleged assault took place, neighbors in the vicinity of Cambridge street and Glen road telling him that they had heard a disturbance shortly after 4:30 Sunday morning, the time when the affair was said to have taken place.

Seeing the place by daylight, Mann identified it as where the assault took place. He presented a battered appearance.

Convinced that the assault took place in Winchester, Chief Rogers went to Cambridge and brought the Sobolewskys and Hill to local Headquarters where after a conference with Clerk Loring of the Woburn Court, they were charged with assault with intent to rob. A robbery complaint was denied when Mann stated that he found his money in the lining of his coat.

In Court Monday morning, Attorney William Kane appeared for the defendants. Judge Maguire found probable cause and held all three men in bonds of $1600 each for appearance the following Monday. Chief Rogers created something of a stir in Court when he asked to have Mann, the complainant, held in bonds of $500 for appearance at the trial. His request was granted. In lieu of bonds the Sobolewskys and Hill were remanded to jail in East Cambridge.

WINCHESTER MAN TAKES FINAL VOWS

Bro. Howard C.F.X. (formerly Norman Noonan) the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Noonan of 27 Sheridan circle, Winchester, pronounced his final vows on Aug. 15 at Mt. St. Joseph's College, Baltimore, the Motherhouse of the Congregation of the Brothers of St. Francis Xavier in America. The Congregation is better known as the Xaverian Brothers.

Va., and for the past two years at St. Matthews' School, Brooklyn, N. Y. He will return to this school on Aug. 31.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The "bally ball bouncers" began bunching for business at 8:30 last Tuesday night. By 9 o'clock two teams were in full swing:

Team A—"Bill" Locke, "Doc" Richard Clark, Geo. Lenfest, Junior Gustin, "Ken" Pratt, "Charlie" Rogers vs. Team B—Arthur Downer, "Dave" Downer, "Ted" Dissel, Henry Keenan, "Al" Bigley, "Gus" Pistorino.

Much fooling was manifest but action reached a high pitch so all the games were good.

"Aggregation A" at first, ran through "Bunch B" almost at will to scores of 15—6, 15—8, 15—10. However the wind up game of the evening, a 50 point match was quite "even Steven" although "Bunch B" managed always to be a point or two ahead and that is just the way the game ended, 50—47.

All boating interest is now centered in the Labor Day Regatta at Lawrence. Capt. "Gus" is working the four man boat hard, and two tandem crews are in the making, which are counted on to win points.

Two other water meets fall directly on the heels of the Labor Day one so much opportunity is offered for a showing of skilled blade work.

The first fall dance will be held on Saturday evening, Sept. 9. A regular club dance. That afternoon there will be a splash regatta at which time the long announced war canoe race will take place.

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 10, the Shuh Shuh Gar Trophy contest is scheduled. The trial of canoe handling skill is for boys and girls of high school age. (Not necessarily Boat Club members) and is namely for the purpose of improving the knowledge of youth in managing a canoe in the case of an upset with or without a passenger. The hope is that many will enter this contest. Entries should be turned in to "Charlie" Rogers at Winchester Boat Club at least one week prior to Sept. 10. Two substantial prizes are offered for this contest.

DEAN PEABODY

Dean Peabody, a former resident of Winchester who had been living in West Roxbury since the death of his wife on Sept. 20 of last year, died Saturday evening, Aug. 19, in the Winchester Hospital after a ten days' illness.

Mr. Peabody was born in Lowell March 3, 1853. He received his education in that city and as a young man went into the shoe business there as a salesman. Later he was in the employ of R. H. White and Tuttle in Boston, and 30 years ago joined the Thayer, McNeil Co., remaining with this firm until his death.

Mr. Peabody was twice married. In 1887 he married Sarah Pearson, who died some years before his marriage to Bertha Holton of this town in 1909. For a time before coming to Winchester he lived in Somerville, but previous to the death of his second wife he had made his home for about ten years on Norwood street.

Two daughters and a son by his first wife survive; Mrs. Ruth Douglas of Attleboro, Mrs. Anna Hubbard of Boston and Prof. Dean Peabody, a member of the faculty at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. There are also four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon in Reading where the interment was made in the family lot in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

ROTARY CLUB

Seven absentees were recorded at the meeting of Aug. 24. This was a joint meeting open to members of the Rotary Club of Winchester, the Lions Club of Winchester and the Winchester Chamber of Commerce.

More vacationists have returned to the fold since our last session. We anticipate a meeting of normal proportions in the near future. Many individual Rotarians have enjoyed an outing this summer. Why should not a Rotary Club do likewise? Evidently the Arlington Club believes that it should. They have arranged an event of this sort for Wednesday, Sept. 13 and are inviting the Concord, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn Clubs to join with them. Our Club has already voted to do so. Further details will be announced as they develop. Make your plans to go, Sept. 13.

Our regular entertainment hour last Thursday was devoted to consideration of the National Recovery Act. President George Lochman of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, who is in charge of the administration of the Act in this town, addressed the meeting briefly and recommended the appointment of a committee to take charge of local proceedings. Our President, Allen McLatchy, will represent Rotary on this committee.

Ex-Mayor Gallagher of Woburn, regional director of N. I. R. A. was also present and spoke before the meeting, describing the causes which are responsible for the existence of the Recovery Act, and telling the objectives sought and the methods to be employed in attaining these objectives. Evidently the success of this tremendous undertaking will depend on the patriotic co-operation of every loyal citizen.

The watchword is "We must not fail." Do you do your part?

We have one more meeting scheduled for August. Probably most of our members who have been away, will be back again on the 31st. Let us make it the best meeting of the month.

Percentage of Attendance, Aug. 17—80 per cent.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Lifeguard Norman Harrold took a group of senior and junior Red Cross guards to Foley Beach in Woburn yesterday to witness a demonstration of the diving helmet recently purchased by that city. Lifeguard Ken Schofield demonstrated the use of the helmet and permitted all the Winchester boys to put it on and go down to the bottom of the pond, showing them how to transfer the helmet while under water and how to retrieve objects. The boys got a great thrill out of the experience and were most appreciative.

Miss Mabel A. Doherty of Canal street, retiring clerk of the Board of Selectmen, was tendered a novelty shower Wednesday evening in her home by a large group of friends from both Winchester and Woburn in honor of her approaching marriage to Daniel F. McCarthy of Lowell.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The trip which the playground youngsters were given to Braves Field after the cancellation on Wednesday was made possible through the generosity of the following people whose names did not appear in last weeks' issue: Bates Motor Co., McLeester Motor Co., Mr. Salice, Mr. Stevenson, Mr. J. Hevey, Mr. D. Kelley and Mr. B. LeDuc. We also extend our appreciation to Officer Farrell for his valuable work in securing transportation.

Tentative plans have been drawn for the seventh annual field day which is to be held at the Loring avenue playground on Thursday, Aug. 31. Awards will be made to the winning baseball teams of both leagues—these awards having been donated by the Draper & Maynard Sporting Good Co. of Boston. Races for boys and girls of all ages will be part of the program together with a few new features which should help to keep competition at high pitch.

A tennis tournament will start at Loring avenue on Monday morning and will be open to all playground contestants. Entries can be made through "Bob" Bernnard, field instructor.

The Leonard Field Juniors won the championship of the Midget League by playing a schedule of 13 games without defeat—an enviable record in any league. The lineup of this team is as follows: "Hennie" O'Neil, left field; "Tom" Kempton, shortstop; "Babe" Saunders, pitcher; "Bobby" Humphrey, third base; "Sonny" Larson, catcher; "Bobby" Wyman, centerfield; "Ernie" Doherty, second base; "Jim" Murphy, first base; "Al", McCarron, right field. This team was capably managed by "Sonny" Larson, whose heavy stocking was a potent factor in the team's success.

In the Senior League, the playoffs are in full swing with the Eagles, the Yankees and Leonard Field as the competing teams. Leonard Field, under the direction of genial "Charlie" Shea, field instructor, seems to have the edge. If they win, the other teams are sure to yell for "Charlie's" guidance in another year; as he has already put across the Midgets as winners in the Junior League.

The opening game between the Yankees and Leonard Field ended under a protest which was accepted and the eruption which followed was reported on the Georgetown seismograph.

The Leonard Field team had a 7—2 lead in the first of the ninth and in the final half sent in a substitute who was registered as a member of another team. The eagle eye of "Sandy" MacKenzie, Jr., noted this breach of the league rules and registered an immediate protest in no uncertain terms. The protest was allowed to prevail and these two teams will play this game on Friday afternoon.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

There was one case of Whooping Cough reported to Maurice Dinneen, Agent of the Board of Health for the week ending Aug. 24.

Mrs. Florence Seales of Fenwick road is spending this week-end at Orange.

The St. Joseph's team of the Woburn Amateur League won a 9—4 victory over the Winchester Cubs of the local Amateur League last Friday evening on Leonard Field, hitting Barry hard.

Barnard, twirling for the visitors, held the Cubs to four safeties and while the locals played better ball afield, their weakness with the stick decided the issue.

In order for a child to be admitted to the kindergarten, he must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1934. If a child is not of this age and the parent desires earlier entrance, he may arrange for a mental examination at the office of the Superintendent of Schools on one of the dates submitted below.

A child to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1934. If he is not of age, however, and the parent desires earlier entrance, he may be examined at the office of the Superintendent of Schools on the dates below:

ANTON WITEK

Famous Musician Died in Winchester

Anton Witek, widely known in musical circles as a violin virtuoso, and concert master of the Boston Symphony Orchestra from 1910 to 1916, died Friday night at 19 Rangeley road in the house formerly occupied by the Misses Grebe. He had been in Winchester only a short time, having come here from his home in New York in a effort to regain his health.

Mr. Witek was 63 and a native of Saaz, Bohemia. He spent much of his life in Germany before coming to America in 1910 with his wife, Vita, who was an accomplished pianist and with whom he often appeared in concert programs. His wife died in Germany early in the century.

Mr. Witek studied under Bennewitz in Prague, and was named concert master of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra in 1894. In 1910, upon coming to America, he accepted the position of concert master of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which position he held up to the time of the war.

Returning to this country after the war, Mr. Witek taught music in Boston and New York. In 1920 he married his former pupil, Miss Alma Rosengren of Lindsborg, Kan., who had studied under him in Boston.

Following the war Mr. and Mrs. Witek lived in Boston for several years and in 1923 moved to New York where he had been teaching since that time.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Crematory Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, where the interment was made.

ATTENDED SKATING CARNIVAL AT LAKE PLACID

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Russell of Wolcott road were members of the party of Boston skating enthusiasts who went up to Lake Placid last week for the summer skating carnival staged in the big Olympic arena there. Included in the party were Joan Tozier, Polly Blodgett, Suzanne Davis, Mrs. Theresa Weld Blanchard, former holder of the doubles skating championship with Nat W. Niles; Roger Turner, United States singles champion; Richard Hapgood and Frederick Goodridge.

The carnival introduced some of the country's finest skaters, including 20 stellar performers from Toronto who put on a ballet of 16 girl skaters arousing the admiration of all. "Bud" Wilson, North American champion from Montreal, was among the headliners present with two members of the famous Minto Club of Ottawa.

Mrs. Frederick Secord of New York, skating with Mr. Hunt, won the ten-step competition and Mrs. Blanchard paired with Mr. Hapgood to win the waltzing. Miss Davis and Mr. Goodridge were second.

LUCY FOWLE WINNER IN VERMONT STATE TENNIS TOURNEY

Lucy Fowle, former captain and number one singles star of the Winchester High School girls' tennis team, won the Vermont State mixed doubles championship with Roger Brackett of Brattleboro last Sunday on the closing day of the open tournament which ran at Brattleboro last week.

Miss Fowle and Brackett won their title at the expense of Helen Wolfe of Searsdale, N. Y., and Howard Loomis of Greenfield whom they defeated in convincing fashion, 6—1, 6—0.

Elizabeth Huling of Larchmont Manor, N. Y., deprived Lucy of the chance to retain her Vermont women's singles title by defeating her in the semi-finals. Miss Huling was ultimate winner of the singles crown, defeating Mrs. Frederick Fisher of New Canaan, Conn.

WINCHESTER IN THREE CORNERED MEET WITH WOBURN AND ARLINGTON

Saturday afternoon a joint meet was held at the Arlington beach at Spy Pond. This beach is not yet finished and it was quite hard arranging the different courses.

The program was run off in record time and the showing made by the Winchester contestants was remarkable. It should be remembered that all, with the exception of one boy, are inexperienced in water sports and have been taught to crawl and dive this season.

Arlington had experienced men from Cambridge and Somerville and one swimmer who was a champion 100 yard dash man.

Very few competed from Woburn and there were no rivals in diving to match with the Winchester girls.

Winchester won two events in the meet and Arlington took the remainder, but in every race the winners were pushed so hard that it was difficult for the judges to render a decision. "Bill" Russell, the husky racer from Winchester, competed in three 100 yard races during the day and made a wonderful showing.

If the Winchester boys and girls continue to improve in water sports, their instructor, Norman Harrold, predicts that another season will place them second to none in the state.

Mr. Harrold wishes to express his thanks to those named at the conclusion of this article for their wonderful co-operation and for supplying transportation during the day: "Joe" Tansey, "Bill" Russell, Mrs. Goodhue, "Ollie" Clark, Donald Pooler, Mr. Barren, Phil Morroco.

The children were very quiet and orderly and were always ready and easy to move when the occasion required.

WINCHESTER IN SWIMMING MEET WITH WOBURN

Supt. Harrold of Leonard Field Supervised and Arranged Events

A swimming meet was held Saturday morning at Foley Beach, Woburn for the purpose of showing the instructors of Leonard and Foley Beaches just what their pupils have accomplished this season. The meet was a decided success for Winchester.

Owing to the fact that many of the Woburn swimmers were unable to compete they were considerably handicapped and it was necessary for Winchester to allow Marjorie Stevenson, one of its leading swimmers, to represent Woburn in two events. She very easily won her races.

The star of the meet was a lad from Woburn, who entered the diving although he could not swim. It was necessary for a guard to tow him in after each dive, but he was not in the least frightened and placed among the winners.

Each event was run in a competent and businesslike manner and the guards and instructors of the beach are to be complimented on their ability and sportsmanship.

Announcement of a one-family baseball team, eight sons and their father, which is to play the Arlington Legion this week to raise funds for the Legion band's trip to the World's Fair, creates interest in Winchester through the fact that the boys' mother Mrs. Herbert Hurd, was a former Wincester girl and well known before her marriage as Miss Kate Foley. The Hurds are well known in their home town and the game this week has created great interest.

ARRESTED AFTER CRASH ON PARKWAY

Two men were arrested Monday afternoon shortly before 4:30, following an automobile accident on the Parkway near the entrance to Wedgemere Station of the Boston & Maine Railroad, in which three cars were involved.

According to the police a Hupmobile sedan, driven by James E. Simpson of 26 Chestnut street, Salem, in making a left turn onto the Parkway from Bacon street to go south was in collision with a Ford coupe, coming from a southerly direction along the Parkway and about to enter Bacon street. This machine was driven by Thomas Burke of 19 Burke's Lane, Wellesley Hills, who was accompanied by William McCarthy of 15 Haviland street, Boston.

The third machine involved was a Chevrolet sedan, driven by Robert J. Houston of 43 Beach street, Lowell, which collided with the rear of the Hupmobile as the latter came to a stop. All three cars were damaged, but no injuries were reported.

Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department, who investigated the accident arrested Burke on the charge of drunkenness and driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. McCarthy was arrested, charged with drunkenness.

In the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning, both men were found guilty. When it was learned that Burke was supporting his sister and three children, a fine of $20 was imposed. McCarthy's case was filed.

ITALIANS HAVE RAIN AGAIN

Once again rain interferred considerably with the Winchester Italians' celebration of the Feast of the Assumption last Saturday. The program of events for the day went off as scheduled and included a band concert on Swanton street by the Napoli Band of Boston during the forenoon, and parades through the Italian section during both morning and afternoon.

The afternoon parade was the more elaborate. It was headed by a police escort and the band, the membership of the Sons of Italy Lodge being in line with members of the committee in charge of arrangements.

During the evening the Napoli Band played a concert program from the bandstand on Manchester Field where there was also a refreshment booth erected. Because of the unfavorable weather conditions the crowd was much smaller than usual, though late in the afternoon, automobiles began lining up opposite the bandstand.

The committee in charge of arragements was headed by Frank Dattilo and included Ugo Rolli, John Gattineri, Anthony Maggio, Pasquale Fiore and Alphonso Cuccolo.

SWIMMING MEET AT PALMER STREET

The second annual swimming meet under the auspices of the Park Department, to be held at the Palmer street beach on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 9 and a fine program of events has been arranged by Lifeguard "Joe" Flaherty.

Last year's meet proved most successful, despite unfavorable weather conditions, and it is expected that this season some great competition will be provided. Entries must be in by Sept. 5 and should be given to "Joe" Flaherty or George Carney at Palmer street or to Norman Harrold or Whitelaw Wright at the Leonard Field Beach. Further information concerning the meet will appear in a later issue of the Star.

PONTIAC SALES LARGER

Retail demand, continuing strongly into August, has raised Pontiac straight eight sales during the first 10 days of this month to the highest point for any corresponding period since 1929, according to figures released by Sales Manager R. K. White.

"Pontiac's 1933 sales through Aug. 10 exceed the same period of 1932 by 23,018 units," said Mr. White. "Pontiac, the largest selling straight eight in the world, has accounted to date for approximately 42 per cent of all sales made during 1933 in the entire straight eight field.

"The remarkable manner in which sales are holding up offers the best proof of the strong backlog of demand underlying the market. In July, Pontiac sold 7069 more cars than in July of 1932. And now, completely reversing the normal trend, the first 10 days of August continue that sales pace, bringing retail deliveries of almost identical the volume obtained in the same period of last month, and which exceed the first 10 days of August, 1932, by nearly 1800 units."

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Richburg and family spent Sunday with friends at Lake Lovell, N. H.

WINCHESTER SET BACK ROCHE CLUB

Winchester Legion won 8—1 from the Roche Club of Everett last Saturday afternoon, a six run seventh inning breaking up what had been up to that time a nice tight ball game.

Three errors, coupled with five hits, one very lucky, led to Shea's downfall after the visiting pitcher had hurled fine ball for six frames. He should have gotten by the seventh scoreless and was evidently discouraged at his lack of support, retiring to right field in the eighth and letting the veteran Perigney finish up.

Winchester's two runs previous to the seventh came as the result of home runs by "Tweet" Walsh, who was on a real batting spree, clouting drives for the circuit in the first and sixth, and missing another when his drive to left in the seventh hit a tree on the river bank.

Robinson, the Legion's dusky right hander, kept the visiting hits well scattered except for the second inning when two hits and a stolen base gave the Roche Club its only tally.

The visitors threatened in the fifth when they had men on second and third with no one out, and again in the eighth when the bases were loaded with two away, but in each case, "Robbie" tightened up and, aided by nice support, pulled out of the well known hole.

"Tweet" Walsh greeted Shea by smacking the very first ball pitched to him along the left field foul line into the river for a homer. Thereafter the locals went out in order until the fifth when "Olio" Lee tripled to centerfield with two away. Kendrick popped up to Noonan so nothing came of it, but with one out in the sixth, "Tweet" smacked another Shea fast one to center where Sparks badly misjudged the drive and then permitted Mortenson to chase it, Walsh again making the circuit.

Opening the seventh, "Nick" Fitzgerald sent out a long fly to Sparks. J. Tansey doubled to right and went to third as Kranetz threw out Lee. Kendrick drove out a grounder between first and second, on which Kranetz made a nice running play. With plenty of time to make his throw the Roche Club second sacker pegged wide of first where Norton managed to stop the ball with his bare hand, but couldn't hold it. Tansey scored on the error and Kendrick got a life. Robinson's grounder was foozled by Noonan and Kendrick went all the way around, scoring when Newman threw away over Frassica's head. "Robbie" was sent back to third on a ground rule, but was over a minute later when Walsh doubled to left. A passed ball sent "Tweet" to third and Colucci brought him in with a one shot past Perigney. Ford singled to right and both he and Colucci scored when Noonan misjudged "Jim" Fitzgerald's towering fly in short left field, the blow going for a flukey double. "Nick" Fitzgerald ended the inning as he begun it by sending up a sky scraper, this time to Norton.

The Roche Club's lone tally was scored by Sparks, who was robbed of a home run when Francis Tansey made a beautiful running play of his vicious drive off the left field river bank near the foul post. Sparks stole and held on while Mortenson flied to Lee and Colucci took Newman's foul. Kranetz brought in the run with a clean single to left, Tansey again making a fine play on the ball. Frassica fanned to end the frame.

Newman singled past Ford to start the fifth and Kranetz's sacrifice was messed up when Colucci threw wildly to first, both runners advancing. "Joe" Tansey made a nice catch of Frassica's high foul and "Tony" made amends for his "bobble" by coming in fast and scooping up Shea's slow hopper to get Newman at the plate, Tansey blocking nicely. Walsh threw out Noonan to end the inning.

Frassica beat out a high bounding hit to Walsh to start the eighth, but Ford took Shea's hard grounder near second, touched the bag and threw to "Jim" Fitzgerald to complete a fast double play. Noonan's grounder went through Colucci and he advanced as Norton singled to right. Both men moved up as J. Tansey pegged wildly in an attempt to get Norton on first and Perigney drew a walk to fill the sacks. Sparks sent up a fly to Ford for the third out.

The visitors failed to get a man to first in the ninth, Ford ending the inning when he ran in, speared Kranetz's mean hopper with his gloved hand and tossed out the runner while on the run.

Notes

"Tweet" Walsh narrowly missed establishing some sort of record when his drive in the seventh hit a tree in left field and was thus prevented from going into the river for his third home run of the game. "Harpy" Fitzgerald has hit two homers in a game on Manchester Field before this and there may have been others, but no one so far as we could learn has smacked out three circuit drives in an afternoon.

"Tony" Colucci had a real 50-50 batting average for the afternoon, fanning twice on his first two times at bat, and belting out his hits last two times up.

Ford flied out to the outfield three times before hitting safely in the seventh. His drive in the sixth was a hard hit ball which Sparks pulled down right in front of the field hockey goal. The Roche Club center fielder was playing away back for Horace.

Kranetz, visiting second sacker, made two corking plays early in the game, robbing big "Jim" Fitzgerald of a hit when he snared his whistling bounder on the short hop near second base in the first inning, and repeating his larceny in the third when he caught Frank Tansey's bid for a Texas Leaguer with a great running back-to-the-plate clutch in right center.

It seemed funny to see Sparks playing centerfield for the Rochers, he having caught for the Everett team on their previous appearances in Winchester. He put in a busy time of it in the middle garden, and except for misjudging the Walsh homer number two, looked mighty good out there.

Sparks is a hard working, hustler of the type the fans like to see in action. He reminds one of Walter McQuinn, capable backstopper in the days of Tift and George LeDuc.

Ford showed good judgment in making that eighth inning double play unassisted as he was within a stride of the bag and nearer to the cushion than Walsh who would have had to turn and throw after making the catch on the pivot. "Tweet's" arm has lost some of its zip, but he gets the ball away so fast it doesn't matter so much.

"Nick" Fitzgerald was again victimized by the pitcher and robbed of a hit in the second when Shea knocked down his drive and got him by a whisker at first. The bag was again too far from home. Better measure it next week "Nick!"

"Olio" Lee pitched the last frame and held the Rochers scoreless. It was a tough afternoon to play ball and both "Robbie" and Shea were clearly tired during the late innings. Until the seventh, Shea looked like about as good a pitcher as the Legion has faced this season.

WOODBOURNE REFUSED TO FINISH MATCH

Deciding Doubles Match Not Played As Higgins Collapsed

The Old Colony League championship tennis match, played last Saturday afternoon by the Winchester Tennis Association and the Woodbourne Club of Forest Hills came to an unsatisfactory ending about 7:45 in the evening when the visitors refused to play the number one doubles which would have decided the tournament.

Each club had taken two singles matches and each annexed a match in doubles. The number one doubles, postponed because of Higgins' collapse at the close of his singles match with Winchester's "Jim" Riley, was to be the deciding factor. Riley and his partner, Norman Dalrymple were ready, but the Woodbourne team refused to take the court, claiming that Higgins was in no shape to play.

League rules stipulate that matches shall be played upon the afternoon scheduled or defaulted, but Winchester, in view of Higgins' condition, did not wish to press its advantage and offered to postpone the match until Sunday.

To this Dray, who seemed the principle objector, demurred, asking for a week's postponement. The Winchester players were not willing to put off the tournament for a week, feeling that they could not hold their game that long and also having other tennis engagements which they are desirous of keeping.

After a long discussion, in which the Woodbourne team repeatedly refused, either to substitute one of two fresh players, whom they had in reserve, for Higgins or to play the match on Sunday, both teams left the court, the Winchester players claiming the match and title by default.

Previous to the argument which brought the tournament to an unsatisfactory ending the two clubs had battled on even terms, thrilling the gallery with the most exciting tennis, seen locally this season.

Winchester's top bracket singles stars, Larry Freeburn and Hall Gamage, did not fare so well as in the previous match with Woodbourne. Drake, Old Colony singles champion, defeated Freeburn in the number one match, 8—6, 6—2, the local man being clearly off his game, a fatal condition when facing a player of Drake's ability. Larry appeared a bit stale, his southpaw service lacking its usual zip while there was little or no sting to his drives. He had taken a page from the ladies' book and appeared for the match clad in shorts, but even the chopped off trousers failed against the sort of game Drake was playing.

The number two singles played by Winchester's Hall Gamage and Doleman of Woodbourne was easily the feature of the tournament, bristling with long rallies and sharp accurate driving. Gamage played brilliant tennis in winning the first set, 10—8, and looked nearly as good dropping the second, 3—6. Again flashing to the heights at the start of the third set, Hall led the Woodbourne star 5—2, but the long drawn match had taken toll of his stamina and the steady Doleman deuced the set and went into the lead. Pulling himself together, Gamage drew up even, but the Woodbourne player wouldn't be denied and continuing his steady pace, ran out the next two games and the match, 8—6.

"Herb" Ross played his best tennis of the year to turn the tables on Dray who had beaten him the previous inter-club match. Both men elected to slug and drove away during the entire match, discarding the softer game. After winning the first set, Ross had a 5—4 lead in the second, but Dray staged a fine rally to win out 8—6, only to have Ross outscore him in the deciding set, by the same score.

The veteran "Jim" Riley gave Winchester a bad case of jitters when he dropped his first set to Higgins and was trailing 3—4 in the second. Rallying sharply, Riley broke through the Woodbourne man's service and took three straight games to win the set. Throughout the match, Riley kept Higgins on the run and the Woodbourne player was very tired in the third set. With Riley leading 5—1 and 40—15, Higgins was siezed with cramps in the legs and fell to the court, dropping the match point.

Freeburn and Gamage won the first set of their number two doubles match with Drake and McIntire, but his three hour match with Doleman had taken too much from Hall's reserve and he faded badly in the last two sets, which went to the Woodbourne team by close scores.

With the visitors leading, Ross and Wallace Blanchard kept Winchester in the running by defeating Doleman and Kieran, 6—1, 5—7, 6—3. Excitement was at fever pitch as the visitors deuced the match, but Ross and Blanchard proved just a bit better all the way in the deciding set. Then came the blow-off as described above.

Following is the summary:

Singles

Drake (Wood) beat Freeburn, (Win) 8—6, 6—2.

Doleman (Wood) beat Gamage, (Win) 8—10, 6—3, 8—6.

Ross (Win) beat Dray (Wood) 6—3, 6—8, 8—6.

Riley (Win) beat Higgins (Wood) 4—6, 6—4, 6—1.

Doubles

Riley and Dalrymple (Win) vs Dray and Higgins (Wood) unplayed.

Drake and McIntire (Wood) beat Freeburn and Gamage (Win) 3—6, 6—3, 6—4.

Blanchard and Ross (Win) beat Doleman and Kieran (Wood) 6—4, 5—7, 6—3.

WHY YOUR STAR IS LATE

Post Office Deliveries Cut Three Days Weekly

In accordance with the Government's economy program, mail deliveries are now cut for three days each week, there being no delivery during the afternoon each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This naturally results in the piling up of mail at the Post Office, and as the carriers are limited to a seven hour period of delivery, it may readily be seen that much mail, especially outside the first class, is seriously delayed.

The act is commonly known as the nine day furlough, and the saving thus effected is taken from the carrier's pay. It was put in effect during July, August and September, and it is estimated that the Government will save some nine millions of dollars. This nine million will be available for the purchase of hogs and other relief measures.

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN MANAGING NRA MOVIE CAMPAIGN

Mr. John C. Flinn, formerly of Winchester and brother of Mrs. Lucius Smith of this town, has been borrowed by the Government to manage the motion picture intelligence campaign to assist in the drive for NRA publicity. He will divide his time between Paramount, of which he is the exploitation head, and the administration in Washington.

His duties will in no sense be novel to Mr. Flinn, who previously served the Government in a similar capacity during the well remembered liberty loan drives. He has already begun operations and has outlined the campaign in a letter to 15,000 motion picture theatres.

The campaign is to be made without cost to the Government. Stars of the large producing companies will appear in a series of short dramas on recovery themes, production and distribution of these pictures, as well as "trailers," to be donated by the industry. Each producer is contributing 1000 prints of the featurettes and paying all charges to put them in the film theatres. J. E. Brulatour has donated 600,000 feet of raw film stock.

FRUIT AND FLOWER MISSION

Let's send some of our gardens to Boston. The hamper goes in every Tuesday morning on the 9 a. m. train. The hamper is sent to the South Bay Union and from there the flowers are distributed among the people of Boston who need a bit of garden brightness.

THREE GREAT ELEVENS

The Star is reproducing this week three of the finest football teams Winchester High School has ever produced, the elevens of 1916, 1922 and 1927. Each won the championship of the Mystic Valley League and each has plenty of supporters who will contend that it would defeat any other local team in mortal combat.

What the outcome of games between these clubs would have been no one can say. It is our personal opinion that the team of 1922 had more all around strength than any other eleven Winchester has had, enjoying its edge over the 1927 team chiefly in the overhead game and in ability to score goals after touchdowns.

Winchester has never had a passer to compare with Glen Kendrick. In fact not many colleges have boasted passers possessing more speed and accuracy. Capt. Dana Kelley as "Jim" Fitzgerald could be depended upon to kick nine out of ten goals after touchdown via the dropkick route, while about 50 per cent would be a fair goal average for the 1927 team, using the placement.

Aside from passing and kicking, the clubs were not so far apart. Rushline strength would be about equal with the two Amicos to throw against Melly and Fitzgerald. At the ends, Mason, McNeilly and Swymer would have an edge on Murphy, McNeil and Ross. Behind the line, the 1922 team was probably better all around though it had no single back as good all around as "Hennie" Knowlton. In the matter of generalship, it is safe to say that not since the days of "Doc" Hurd has a high school team been run as well as led by directed that 1922 gang. Stopping to recall that French, Kelley, Mason, Fitzgerald, Melly and O'Donnell made college football letters it is apparent that Mr. Bond had some great natural material with which to work, possibly the best when you add to those named, the great Aby Winer, the best all around man on the club; the O'Connors, "Pecky" Randlett and "Stan" McNeilly.

That 1916 team would have been hard to fix either the 1922 or 1927 clubs. Big "Yapper" Cullen was one of Winchester's greatest football players and a rushline including "Pat" Murphy, Frank Black, "Fat" Locke and Bradley was no crepe paper affair. In the backfield, Ledwidge was a smart quarterback and "Honey" Shaughnessy, a fine defensive player. This team did not have the varied attack possessed by either of the other elevens but when it came to man power, it averaged up rather well with either.

All three elevens were well coached by the three men who stand out in Winchester's football history. All have their supporters, each was a different type and all got results.

The 1919 team is replaced chiefly because it shows, besides Aby Winer, two boys who rank with Winchester's football heroes, "Joe" Tansey and Van French. The first was as good a lineman as Winchester ever had, the latter perhaps the best running back to play locally and also a fine tackler and left footed kicker. The Hart twins and "Steve" Ryan were other standouts on this team.

With the co-operation of Police Chief William H. Reggio, Lifeguard Norman Harrold was able to show the fathers at Leonard Field Beach an inhalator in operation Wednesday afternoon. Fireman Alexander MacKenzie, who is well versed in the use of this important first aid instrument, operated the inhalator and carefully explained its proper use; good naturedly answering the many questions asked him by his interested audience. He was assisted by Patrolman John Murray, who kept the crowd from interfering with the demonstration which it is hoped to make annual at the beach.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Objectionable radio programs for children sponsored by commercial concerns are being protested by parents and teachers everywhere. Resolutions have been adopted by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and by several state congresses, and definite steps are being taken to have the blood and thunder, fear-creating type of program taken off the air.

Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, First Vice President of the National Congress, analyzes the situation as follows:

"The folk tale with its dragons breathing fire, its child-eating ogre, and its bloody conflicts is as old as language. Children and childish adults have been frightened into being good by threats of the bogey man and the policeman. These tales have served, in ancient times, to stimulate and energize many a flagging spirit; the main difference between those times and ours is that not by the greatest stretch of the imagination could our children be said to need stimulation. They are a constant prey to an over-intense living, whether from dodging street cars and automobiles, from moving pictures, or from the constant pounding of a crowded community life. Many discriminating mothers who would not allow their children to go to a blood-curdling play or picture make no obvious protest when the same kind of program invades the quiet of the home. Into the life of every child comes inevitable horrors; even Robert Louis Stevenson's child going to bed, presumably in a quiet English village home, cries out:

'Now my little heart goes beating like a drum
With the breath of the Bogie in my hair.'

"Knowing this, why should parents supinely permit a heavier load of terror to be thrown over their children's so-called quiet hour, on the air? The easiest thing in the world is to turn the dial in search of a good program, or to turn it off if none is offered. In response to this I hear distracted mothers say, 'But the children won't turn it off; they want to hear the murder;' to which I reply, 'You have no difficulty in making your child understand that tea and coffee or highly spiced sausage or adult foods are not for him, or that children must go to bed earlier than grown-ups because they need more sleep. Why can't you make him see that these programs are not good for children and then help him to find something on the dial that is good and at the same time interesting to a little child?'

"What, as parents, can we do about this? May I suggest (1) that we listen to the so-called Children's Hour programs with the children, laughing with them, and if necessary, laughing at the absurdities in the situation; (2) that we try to find out through casual conversation why they like or dislike them; (3) that we unite for conference with other parents in the community, evaluating all continued programs and making the record available to other parents; (4) that we write to the broadcasting station when we enjoy programs; (5) that we write to the station when we disapprove of the program, stating plainly what is objectionable, either as to the program content or the advertising material sent in response to childish requests; (6) (and this seems to me the most important) use discretion about what we allow in our home circle. There is no more reason why we should allow our children to be frightened or their vocabulary degraded over the air, than that we should allow undesirable members of the community to spend their days in our home. It is certainly in our own hands to manage, for nothing will so quickly reflect our disapproval as the fact that we do not listen."

TWO SMASH HITS AT THE CAPITOL, ARLINGTON

A thoroughly pleasing program is promised for local patrons of the Capitol Theatre, Arlington, in the two pictures starting there next Thursday. "I Cover the Waterfront" with Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon and Ernest Torrence, based on the personal experiences of a waterfront reporter in a Pacific Coast City, makes no attempt to follow the form of the popular book. But it has all the thrill, color, drama, romance, novelty, human interest and excitement.

For the lovers of musical comedy, a new technique in pictures is disclosed in "Be Mine Tonight" the international music comedy sensation which completes the stupendous program being presented the last half of next week. This picture achieves what every film producer has been attempting to do since the advent of sound—to weld music and movement on the screen. It's totally different. Delightfully different. It's more than a motion picture . . . . It's a grand experience!

Patrons are urged to make reservations early for this tremendous show starting next Thursday, to be sure of complete enjoyment.

Do you know that delightful dinners are served at Dutchland Farms, Four Corners, Woburn?

Sunday, Aug. 27. Subject, "Christ Jesus."

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 27.

The Golden Text is: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased" (II Peter 1:16,17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ expresses God's spiritual, eternal nature. The name is synonymous with Messiah, and alludes to the spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment . . . Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness" (pp. 333, 332).

CREATIVE EXPRESSIONAL ACTIVITIES!

What Do These Words Mean?

Words, words, words! Talk to any modern, progressive schoolmaster and such words drip from his tongue in every conceivable combination. Soon we have lost a sense of any past meaning, not to mention the modern interpretation.

Take a long breath. Try once more to get the modern point of view. What do we mean by "Creative Expressional Activities?"

Mrs. John L. Lobingier of Winchester gives a course on this subject at the Community School for church school workers to be held at the First Baptist Church in Winchester, ten Monday evenings, beginning Oct. 2.

If you are bewildered at the astonishing artistic efforts your child brings home from school, if you yearn to know the value of dramatization, if sand-table work is a closed book to you, or if your Sunday School class yawns, looks bored, and can't remember last week's lesson, come to Mrs. Lobingier's course and learn the answers to these and many kindred questions.

"This course will include such activities as drawing, modeling, bookmaking, lettering, mounting, the making of posters and charts, dramatization, sand-table representation, and the working out of many other creative projects.

"No matter what course of study is being used or what type of project is being developed, it is essential that the leader have a reasonable degree of skill in these techniques. Members of the class will not merely discuss these questions, but their time will be spent in actual practice in these types of expressional activity."

This course has been given for the past two years at Northfield as one of the Standard Training Courses, with between 50 and 60 in the class each year. It has also been given in several other Training Schools and at Newton Theological Institution.

Mrs. Lobingier, besides being an inspiring and gifted teacher, is a writer of reputation and ability. In our public library, are several well worn copies of her book, "How Children Learn to Draw," a fascinating study of the drawing classes in a progressive school, proving that every child can learn to express himself in drawing as well as in literature or music.

Other books by Mrs. Lobingier that bear upon this course are "The Dramatization of Bible Stories," "Dramatization in the Church School," "Stories of Shepherd Life," "Hebrew Home Life."

Police Chief William H. Rogers, with Traffic Officer John E. Hanlon and retired Patrolman Daniel P. Kelley attended the funeral of Boston Superintendent of Police, Michael H. Crowley.

SELECTMEN HONOR RETIRING CLERK

In an atmosphere of good fellowship, at a delightfully informal dinner party in the Winchester Country Club last evening, the Board of Selectmen said their "au revoir" to their retiring clerk, Miss Mabel A. Doherty, who has resigned and is to be married on Sunday.

The occasion was doubly significant, marking as it did the first appearance of the entire Board in public since the recent severe illness of Chairman Irving L. Symmes. Mr. Symmes, looking surprisingly fit, even though he was accompanied by his nurse, Miss Emerson, occupied a place at the table on the left of Mr. Maguire, who was host for the evening, the honor place at the host's right being accorded Miss Doherty. Town Counsel Addison R. Pike, Edward P. McKenzie, representing the Woburn Daily Times, and James H. Penaligan of the Star were invited guests.

Entertaining and witty as ever, Mr. Maguire ably discharged his duties and the dinner, with broiled live lobster as the central dish, was greatly enjoyed, despite the fact that Mr. Merrill, ordering "pie a la mode" was disappointed in getting cheese instead of ice cream.

After dinner Mr. Waugh escorted Miss Doherty to the club lounge where in a quiet cozy corner the Selectmen, in a manner which left no doubt of their sincerity, expressed to Miss Doherty their appreciation of the service she has rendered them and the town, their regret at her resignation and their best wishes for her future happiness. Mr. Pike paid high tribute to the quality of her service and the newspapermen praised her friendliness as they have come in contact with her in their daily quest for news.

There was much good natured banter, each giving and taking in high good humor. As a climax to the party, Mr. Merrill presented the Board's gift to Miss Doherty, a handsome electric chime clock, which was soon running under the skillful manipulation of Mr. Farnsworth.

Miss Doherty graciously thanked the Board, not only for their gift, but also for their kindness and for a most pleasant evening.

MARY CUTTER AND SYLVIA HATCH WON AT YORK

Winchester's veteran tennis player, Mary Cutter, and its youthful star, Sylvia Hatch, yesterday won the women's doubles title in the Southern Maine championships being played this week at York Harbor.

Sylvia was defeated in the semi-final round of women's singles in a well played match by Miss J. Merrick but "Susie" is still in the singles championship running by virtue of her quarter final win over Mrs. N. C. Wyeth. Winchester's third entrant in the tourney, Kay Parrott was defeated in an earlier round.

In mixed doubles, Miss Cutter playing with Arthur Noble of Newton, Dartmouth player, has won her matches in both the first and second rounds.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

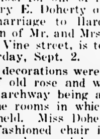
Miss Agnes Murphy is cruising on the Great Lakes aboard the Steamship Tionesta, of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation.

Fred Scholl wishes to notify those who stole the Hubbard squash at the Calumet Club this week that if they had asked him he would gladly have given them the vegetables so that they could have enjoyed them without the necessity for thieving.

GAVE SHOWER FOR FORMER CLASSMATE

Miss Margaret Dinneen opened her home last evening for a shower, given by the Class of 1932 at St. Mary's High School for one of its members, Miss Mary E. Doherty of Arlington, whose marriage to Harold F. Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ambrose of Vine street, is to take place on Saturday, Sept. 2.

House decorations were in the class colors of old rose and white, an attractive archway being arranged between the rooms in which the shower was held. Miss Doherty occupied an old fashioned chair in the place of honor and opened her gifts which were suspended in clever fashion on colored streamers. She received many beautiful presents and expressed her thanks in a way that could leave no doubt of her appreciation.



BOY SCOUT NEWS

Camp Infirmary Dedicated—Seascout Ship "Mystic" Commissioned

Sunday, Aug. 13 was a big day at Camp Fellsland, summer camp of the Fellsland Council Boy Scouts of America, when with appropriate ceremonies, the camp infirmary and the Seascout Ship "Mystic" were formally dedicated and commissioned.

The ceremonies began at 3 p. m. All the Scouts and Scouters of the camp assembled on the parade grounds and with the Drum and Bugle Corps of Medford Post 45, American Legion, at the lead of the column, marched to the Camp Infirmary. A large number of parents and friends of the boys were present to witness the ceremony. Scout Executive Harry T. French told the audience how the American Legion Posts of Medford, Stoneham, Winchester and Woburn had become interested in the Camp Infirmary through the efforts of Dr. J. F. Roberts, Chairman of the Troop Committee of Troop 14 Medford, sponsored by the Medford Post 45, American Legion. Continuing he said: "Today we gather here to dedicate this Infirmary which means so much to the camp. On behalf of the Scouts who come here, and the Fellsland Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, allow me to say that we are deeply grateful to the American Legion for their interest in Scouting, which has resulted in the construction of this splendid Infirmary."

Dr. J. F. Roberts, Chairman of the Infirmary Committee was then introduced by Mr. French. Dr. Roberts pointed out that the American Legion Posts of the several communities of the Council had found real pleasure in erecting the Infirmary, and that it is today dedicated to the memory of the men who served their country in its hour of need, and paid the supreme price of service. Dr. Roberts then presented the key of the Infirmary to Scout Executive Harry T. French.

John Walsh of Waltham, Vice County Commander, Middlesex County, American Legion, was the speaker of the afternoon, and introduced by Dr. J. F. Roberts. Mr. Walsh commended the various American Legion Posts which had co-operated in the construction of the Infirmary. He spoke in glaring terms on the value of Scouting and the need of such a movement in these times. His remarks were well received by the audience as indicated by the applause as he concluded.

With the Camp Infirmary formally dedicated, its official title from now on is "The American Legion Memorial Infirmary at Camp Fellsland." To the Scouts who go to Camp Fellsland in the years to come it will stand as a memorial to the men who went out from the territory served by the Fellsland Council in the troubled period of the World War and did not return.

At the conclusion of the dedication ceremonies at the Infirmary, the group again headed by the Drum and Bugle Corps, marched down to the Seascout Ship where with due ceremony the commission pennant was hoisted and as it was the colors were honored. The procession then proceeded to the camp parade grounds where the regular retreat ceremonies were held. Those in charge of the ceremonies of the day are deeply indebted to the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Medford Post 45, American Legion for their services. The Corps was in charge of Percy Lagemer, Commander; and Sam Farry, Drum Major.

Several of the Legionnaires with their families remained at the Camp for supper.

WINCHESTER CHORISTER TO STUDY ABROAD

Winchester music lovers were interested in last week's Boston news report which stated that J. Raymond Graham, tenor soloist in the choir at the First Congregational Church, is to spend next year studying voice with Mme. Amy Sherwin, concert and opera singer, who has a studio in London.

Mr. Graham is a Woburn boy and it is a former Woburn clergyman, Rev. Luther L. Weller, now rector of Christ Church in Somerville, who is sponsoring his study abroad. Hugo Gorlitz, named as the world's oldest impressario and first manager of Paderewski, heard Mr. Graham sing a short time ago and predicts that within the year, Greater Boston will rise to do honor to its own son as an outstanding figure in the musical world.

The opinion of Mr. Gorlitz is not to be taken lightly since he is credited with persuading Paderewski to come to America and also with introducing the great Jan Kubelik to American music lovers. He also conducted the European tour of Eleanor Duse.

It was in the choir of the Church of the Epiphany as a boy soprano that Raymond Graham first showed vocal promise and it was J. Albert Wilson, for more than 20 years organist and choirmaster there, who first trained and developed his voice.

Later when Mr. Wilson left the Epiphany and accepted the position of organist and choir director at the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church, Mr. Graham, then a tenor, went with him and appeared in that church as soloist with that splendid bass-baritone, Walter Kidder, in a presentation of "The Crucifixion."

When Mr. Wilson became organist and choirmaster at the First Congregational Church several years ago, Mr. Graham again joined his choir and has several times since then appeared with this group as soloist. He has also been one of the leading tenors of the Winchester Choral Society, directed by Mr. Wilson, since its inception four years ago.

The young tenor is 25 years old and possesses a voice of wide range and much natural beauty. He has an impressive physique and a pleasing personality which should carry him far along the road to success. His many friends and those who have enjoyed his singing in Winchester will wish him the best of fortune in his studies abroad.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The garden party last week at the home of Mrs. Frank O'Neil on Albert street, was a most joyous occasion. With our usual good luck, we picked out an ideal day for an out-of-door party and our genial hostess made everyone welcome to spread herself all over the house and prettily decorated lawn. "Neath the shade of the old apple tree" we played whist and [illegible] had a fine assortment of prizes to select from. Sister Mae Sullivan was back from Washington, D. C., in time to win a prize. Also Sister Anna W. Lochman returned from Maine in time to pile up a heavy score. But Sister Anna Little fooled them both and got away with the first prize—as usual.

Ice cold tea and home made cake were served and a substantial sum was realized and turned into the general fund of the club. Best of all, everybody had a good time—thanks to the efforts of Sister O'Neil.

Supreme President, Mrs. Carlton A. Newton, announces the next Supreme meeting at which plans for the Supreme Convention will be completed. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Westminster, Boston, on Thursday, Sept. 7 at 1:30 sharp.

The date of the Massachusetts State Association outing is Sept. 9. Members are requested to make reservations for dinner as early as possible. As Bass Point, Nahant, the scene of the outing is convenient for Winchester Emblem Club members, no plans for transportation are contemplated. "Auto or bus, or any old way" is the slogan. Just get there and join the gang at dinner time and the festivities will be on. We may not get home till morning, but what's the odds. With State President Mary Smythe at the steering wheel, it's going to be one big jamboree. And perhaps we'll get our pictures "tooken."

A propos of pictures, we are informed by Sister Myrtle, of camera fame, that the pictures taken at Hampton Beach were a fizzle. Some had their heads taken, and some were all feet, and some who fondly believed they were in the pictures were in Timbuckto or someplace else—as far as the camera was concerned. She claims that we wrecked her camera—we were too active. But then we thought it was a moving picture camera.

According to recent reports, three new Clubs have joined the order; namely, Salem, Mass.; Greenfield, Mass. and Milwaukee, Wis., making seven new clubs thus far this year.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Gold Diggers of 1933" the Entire Week

"Gold Diggers of 1933" the all-star, dramatic musical spectacle, said to be even greater than "42nd Street" as the most lavish entertainment of the decade, opens Sunday for an entire week's showing at the University. A fitting sequel to the sensationally popular picture "42nd Street," which started new styles in screen fare, "Gold Diggers of 1933" according to advance information excells its predecessor in beauty, in catchy tunes and "whistling" music, in comedy and in its story values. Its list of stars is even more imposing; the chorus ensembles are more spectacular; its songs will appeal to even wider audiences. The names of Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbie, Ginger Rogers and Ned Sparks head the cast.

"Gold Diggers of 1933" is a "back of the back-stage" story, a dramatic and amusing insight into the lives and loves of the people primarily responsible for the staging of a great New York show. It is, furthermore, the story of three gold digging girls into whose capable hands is entrusted the problem of finding an "angel" for the show that will give them employment and opportunity. The tricks and trades behind many a Broadway success, are disclosed in a whirlwind of exciting incidents and amusing situations.

The chorus featured throughout is a galaxy of beauty gathered from the whole nation. Dances and ensembles are said to be the most lavish and ornate ever produced in a motion picture. For "The Forgotten Man" number, the girls romp over gigantic tread mills on which they keep ever going but never arriving. A background of silver coins as large as the proscenium arch of a theatre, silver coins for wings and silver coins for costumes form the elaborate setting for "We're in the Money," another of the unusual numbers in this unusual picture.

"Mail Pilot," a Mickey Mouse cartoon and the latest News of the world will complete the program.

The University Theatre has been selected for the first showing in greater Boston.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins are co-starred in "The Stranger's Return," which opens at the big Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. "The Stranger's Return" is a picturization of Phil Strong's popular novel of rural life, which follows his recent best-seller, "State Fair." As the 85 year-old patriarch of the farm founded and pioneered by his family, Lionel Barrymore is said to have one of the most interesting characterizations of his brilliant career. Miss Hopkins, is afforded the best opportunity she has had in her role of the city girl who goes to her grandfather's farm and finds there the peace and contentment she couldn't get in the city. The film presents Barrymore as a wealthy farmer who is suspicious of the relatives who visit him. As a test he pretends insanity and the greedy relatives seek to have him put in the insane asylum. His granddaughter, Miss Hopkins, is the only relative who sticks by the old man.

"Disgraced," starring Helen Twelvetrees, is the second attraction on the Granada bill for Saturday. "Disgraced," is the story of a girl who, in the modern manner, gives everything for love, only to find that the man she trusted has betrayed her heartlessly, and is about to marry another woman. Miss Twelvetrees, as the girl, is the daughter of a police captain. When she confronts her betrayer with a gun and demands that he fulfill his promises, he calls for the police. It is her own father who is sent to the scene. What happens when the father discovers that his daughter has been involved in this situation and that the man who betrayed her is here, on hand, brings the film to its daring climax. Miss Twelvetrees' support includes Bruce Cabot, William Harrigan, Adrienne Ames and Ken Murray.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN ATTRACTIONS

A picture so out of the beaten path so extraordinary in its conception and portrayal that it will shock the spectators with its grim revelations, will be the feature picture at the Strand Theatre, Malden, starting Friday, Aug. 25, under the startling title of "The Mayor of Hell" with James Cagney in the stellar role. The story is a burning indictment of a certain class of so-called Reform Schools in which boys of tender years are subjected to almost unbelievable cruelties.

In contrast to the stark tragedy and drama of "The Mayor of Hell" you'll roar at "Out All Night" the second feature on the Strand's double bill. Never has the Strand presented a more hilarious comedy than the Universal farce, "Out All Night." This, as the saying goes, is the sort of a picture that will have the audience "rolling in the aisles" from sheer merriment. Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts, the screen's funniest team, are starred in this side-splitting comedy gem, in parts that were just made for them.

Due to the fact that "The Mayor of Hell" is not approved for Sunday showing in this state, the Strand will present on Sunday only in its place "Emergency Call" starring Bill Boyd and William Gargan. This is a story of an ambulance driver and a young interne of a hospital trying to keep grasping racketeers from corrupting the affairs of a big city hospital.

STATE TAX $30,060

Winchester pays a State tax this year of $30,060, as against $42,315 which was its share of the State tax for 1932.

At first glance it would seem that the State budget in 1933 had been greatly reduced over that in 1932, that Winchester's share of the State tax in 1933 was $12,255 less than in 1932, and that this reduction in the State tax helped to reduce the Town tax for this year.

In 1932 the State distributed to the municipalities from the moneys which it collected from the gasoline tax approximately $8,000,000 and Winchester received from the State $24,962.34. This year, after a long controversy in the Legislature, it voted not to distribute any moneys received from the gasoline tax to the municipalities, and approximately $8,000,000 received from the gasoline tax was turned over to the General Fund and used by the State in reducing the State tax.

When it is taken into consideration that Winchester received nothing this year from the gasoline tax, as against $24,962.34 in 1932, in reality Winchester's share of the State tax was increased this year, over 1932, by the sum of $12,707.34.

CHILD INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Little John Gambino, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gambino of 77 Holland street, was painfully injured Saturday morning, about 10:30 when he was struck by an automobile driven by Jeannette R. Asaro of 75 Harvard street.

Miss Asaro told the police that the little boy was sitting in the gutter and that she did not see him as she was backing the machine from the driveway of her home. She took the child to the hospital where he was treated by Dr. James Mayne for a fractured rib.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

With August nearly over, the harvest of fruits and vegetables is at its height. Most vegetables are both plentiful and low in price. All over the country excellent western peas are available. Peas are especially good with poultry, lamb and with fish, all of which are good choices at the present time.

The root vegetables, green and wax beans and summer squash are all abundant and low in price. Tomatoes are ripe, sweet and juicy—at their best either raw or cooked. They are delicious stuffed with a macaroni and cheese mixture.

Peaches and cantaloupe are plentiful and of excellent quality. Bartlett pears are delicious eaten out-of-hand or in salads. Nectarines are in market but their season is brief.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The following notice was received from Mr. John P. Buckley, of the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission, requesting that the Board ask the local papers to print the article as a news item:

"The State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission wishes to notify all holders of licenses of any sort, whether granted by the State Commission or the local licensing authorities to be on their guard against anyone who purports to be an agent of the State Commission. Those supposed agents may try to solicit funds for some purpose or other or to make inspections for some reason. The State Commission has authorized no one to do either of these things and license holders are warned not to give anyone any money but to notify the police immediately in case they are approached for that purpose. The only persons so far authorized to do anything by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission are members of the State Patrol who are checking up on truck drivers and also on truck loads of alcoholic beverages being imported into the Commonwealth."

A letter was received from Warren L. Bishop, District Attorney, requesting the Board's support in his drive to stamp out gambling machines—so-called slot machines. He stated that upon receipt of evidence of the existence of slot machines in places doing business under a license issued by this municipality, he would request immediate cancellation of said license. The Board has pledged its co-operation.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration at Washington has issued the following Rule and Regulation No. 6—

"On and after Aug. 11, 1933 you are advised that purchases of supplies with Federal funds shall be made only with stores that have compiled with all the provisions of an applicable approved code or, if there be no approved code of fair competition for such store then with the provisions of the President's Reemployment Agreement. The same regulation applies to all orders given to relief cases."

The perambulation of the Winchester—Woburn town lines will take place on Sept. 18 at 2:30 p. m., starting at the Winning Farm bound.

As a result of the Board's application for refund for a portion of the tax paid on gasoline, a check for $308.89 was received from the Tide Water Oil Sales Corporation which represents a rebate of 1c per gallon covering the Federal Tax paid on all deliveries of gasoline made from June 21, 1932 to April 30, 1933.

SERGT. THOMAS F. CASSIDY WITH PATROLMAN MURRAY CAPTURED ARMED HOLD-UP MEN

Police Get Men Wanted for Store Holdup in Melrose

Listening to a radio announcement of the crime for which they were captured Monday morning by Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman John Murray of the Police Department was the novel and unpleasant experience of three young men who the police say committed an armed robbery in Melrose shortly before their arrest.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Monday morning the Stoneham Police phoned local Headquarters stating that a holdup had been made in that town and that the men wanted for the crime might be headed for Winchester.

Chief William H. Rogers detailed Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy to investigate and the latter left Headquarters in one of the department's cruising cars with Patrolman John Murray at the wheel.

The police car had just arrived at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Washington streets when the officers spotted the number for which they were looking on an Essex sedan, following another machine in leisurely fashion along Washington street, headed south.

Knowing the occupants of the fugitive car to be armed, Sergeant Cassidy ordered Officer Murray to follow it along Washington street. As the Essex slowed down approaching Main street, Officer Murray speeded up and passed the car. Sergeant Cassidy leaped from the cruising car and with drawn revolver ordered the driver of the Essex to stop.

The young man at the wheel hastened to obey and with his two companions threw up his hands as commanded by Sergeant Cassidy, who kept the trio covered while Patrolman Murray stopped the police car and got out to assist him.

Ordering the youths from their car the officers searched them and placed them in the police machine, in which they were driven to Headquarters by Officer Murray with Sergeant Cassidy on guard.

On their way to the station the trio listened to a radio account of the crime they were accused of committing as it came in over the set in the Police cruising car, the announcer at WPED in Arlington warning all Police Departments to be on the lookout for the parties who had committed the holdup.

At Headquarters the fugitives gave their names as Vincent E. Murtha, 23 of 270 Parkway, Chelsea; Malcolm E. Vars, 16, of 55 Garland street, Chelsea; and Gerald F. Richard, 19, of 121 Walnut street, Everett. Murtha was driving the car in which the three were riding, the machine being registered to Michael E. Murtha of 270 Parkway, Chelsea.

Questioned by Chief Rogers, the trio refused to talk and after being finger printed, were locked up, charged with robbery while armed. The Essex sedan was driven to the station and searched, several cartons of cigarettes and some chocolate being found with Savage and Colt .32 caliber automatics and a .32 caliber revolver. There were also colored glasses, clothing and adhesive tape in the car.

When personally searched, Vars had $8.55 in change in a bag which the authorities claim was stolen from Philip Bacon of 5 Cherry street, Medford, manager of an Economy Store at 1158 Franklin street, Melrose, near the Stoneham line.

Under the impression that the holdup occurred in Stoneham, the Stoneham Police were notified of the capture and Bacon came to Winchester with Sergeant Nelson and Officer Johnson. The Economy Store manager identified Vars and Richard as the two who threatened him with guns and forced him into the cellar of the store while they robbed the till and took several articles of merchandise.

According to the police, Bacon got out of the cellar as soon as the yeggs left the store and sent a friend after the fleeing car, securing the number for the Stoneham Police.

Murtha, Vars and Richard were turned over the Stoneham authorities, and later in turn to the police of Melrose. They appeared in the Malden District Court Tuesday morning, at which time they were held in bonds of $10,000 each for appearance before the Grand Jury.

Meanwhile Chief Rogers sent in the finger prints and other data to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation. From subsequent information received it soon became apparent that the arrest was an important one.

Moday night Inspector O'Neil of the Back Bay Station visited a Boston apartment which police say was hired by Richard, under the name of Thomas McCann, and there found a money bag with $22 in bills, $1 in change, an empty holster and several rounds of steel jacketed .32 caliber shells. There were also in the room 100 cans of food.

The police say that Murtha is at present out under bonds for appearance in a breaking and entering case which is pending against him. Sergeant Cassidy was informed Tuesday that a Chelsea business man is ready to identify the three youths as those who broke into his warehouse and stole a quantity of matches which they loaded in a stolen truck and sold in Revere. Both the Sergeant and Patrolman Murray have been the recipient of many congratulations, both from brother officers and civilians for their clever capture which is daily becoming more important.

WINCHESTER POST BAND IN OUTDOOR CONCERT

The Winchester Post, 97, American Legion Band under the direction of Charles A. Young, at its concert last Sunday evening, played from the bandstand on Manchester Field, offered the following program: Parker March, "American Legion"; Von Suppe, Overture, "Morning, Noon and Night"; Luders, Selection, "Prince of Pilson"; Lake, Waltz, "Old Timers"; Hufline, March, "Dem Basses"; Young, March, "Winchester Post No. 97"; Myddleton, Characteristic, "Down South"; two selections (a) "The Sweetest Story Ever Told"; (b) Bartlett, "A Dream"; Ketelby, Phantasy, "In a Chinese Temple Garden"; McCoy, March, "Lights Out"; Key, "The Star Spangled Banner."

A good side crowd assembled to hear the concert which was well played, the selections being chosen with a view to offering something for every one's taste. Popular numbers were played as encores and interspersing some of the regularly listed selections. Hufline's unusual march, "Dem Basses," was especially popular and showed to advantage the band's fine trombone section. The numbers by Von Suppe, Ketelby and Myddleton were well done and it was a pleasure to hear "The Prince of Pilson" again. Automobiles lined from the Unitarian Church to Manchester Field voiced their appreciation of the music with a raucous chorus of horns at the conclusion of each selection.

For a time it looked as though the concert would not be given. Up to Thursday afternoon it had not definitely been decided who would pay the $5 necessary to have the electric lights connected for Sunday evening. The Metropolitan District Commission stated that it was up to the Winchester Park Department to pay the bill while Chairman Davidson of the Park Board contended that the town can not spend money for the bandstand which is directly under the jurisdiction of the M. D. C.

Manager E. J. LaRue of the band was naturally disappointed. His organization was giving its services, and he did not feel like paying for the privilege of giving Winchester a free concert. Finnally the difficulty was brought to the attention of Comdr. Kenneth Hall of the Winchester Post and through his efforts it was arranged to have the Legionnaires pay for the electric connections.

The concert was a good one and enjoyed by a good sized gathering. Manager LaRue and his musicians deserve the thanks of the community for their generosity which made it possible.

WINCHESTER'S PART IN THE NRA PROGRAM

The N. R. A. plan is designed to put five million men back on payrolls in a short time.

When this is done, 20,000,000 people (assuming four to each wage earner's family) will suddenly be placed in position to buy the normal necessities of life. That means that the total trade volume of the nation will, upon the complete acceptance of this plan, be lifted by from 10 to 20 per cent.

Winchester will have a definite share in this increased prosperity to the extent that it participates in the plan, so there is a responsibility on every citizen here to co-operate to the utmost to make this gigantic national plan a complete success. Every employer and every consumer has a definite responsibility to assume.

The Employer's Responsibility

N. R. A. call upon every employer to shorten hours of labor, so as to make room for more employees.

Each industry will before long adopt its own code which will fix the increased labor obligations to be assumed by all firms associated with that particular industry. Until that time all employers are asked to sign the President's agreement and to meet the hours and wages established in that agreement. This agreement is sometimes referred to as the Blanket Code.

The success of N. R. A. therefore calls for the co-operation of every employer.

It is to the employers self-interest to do this. Why? Because more people working, with bigger payrolls, will increase the market for his goods. Every dollar spent by an employer now for increased payroll will return many fold as business flows from a consuming public, once more able to buy to supply its unfilled needs.

So every employer should sign the President's agreement at once.

The Consumer's Responsibility

Every individual, man and woman, why buys anything, owes it to himself and his community and to the nation, to buy only from those employers who have taken the increased burden of increasing payrolls to bring back prosperity. This is to the self-interest of the consumer because no citizen can fail to share in this added prosperity. It will reflect itself in increased values for everything he owns. It will make his present position more secure by reversing the process of deflation.

So every consumer should sign the consumer's pledge, which commits him to do his part in this great national economic experiment.

The duty of every citizen of Winchester is therefore plain. The President has said:

"On the basis of this simple principle of everybody doing things together, we are starting out on this nation-wide attack on unemployment. It will succeed if our people understand it—in the big industries, in the little shops, in the great cities and in the small villages. There is nothing complicated about it and there is nothing particularly new in the principle. It goes back to the basic idea of society and of the Nation itself that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could even hope to bring about."

Winchester must do its part in this great plan. It has never failed when the nation called and it will no fail now.

Sign your card and drop it in the mail or leave it at the Post Office.

WINCHESTER BOY RIDING WITH ROCKEFELLER WHEN HE RAN OUT OF GAS

Bowen Carleton Tufts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Tufts of Stratford road, was riding with Winthrop Rockefeller Monday night when the latter's automobile ran out of the commodity which has poured millions into the treasury of the companies founded by his grandfather, John D. Rockefeller. It was a bit ironical to have the automobile of a Rockefeller run out of gasoline, and Boston papers made much of the incident which in the life of any one else might well have passed unnoticed.

The lack of gas was especially unfortunate because of the fact that young Rockefeller, who is a classmate of Bowen Tufts at Yale, had wagered with associates in the office of the Beacon Oil Company that he could swim in Hull, dine in Cohasset and catch the 8:35 train for Rochester, N. Y., all after a full day's work.

The young man swam with Tufts at Hull and kept his dinner engagement at Cohasset, but on the run up to Boston his machine went dead in Hingham and after a heart breaking pause, had to be pushed along to a gas tank to refuel.

Rockefeller made his train by exactly 35 seconds and his friend Tufts wants it understood that he filled up his tank with Standard gas, though privately he isn't sure of the brand, he and his friend being too excited over the wager to notice.

During the evening, Miss Peggy Hannon presented the guest of honor with a beautiful shower bouquet of roses which concealed a substantial purse. There were also many other fine gifts.

Miss Sullivan is widely known among the town's young people. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan of 63 Nelson street and granddaughter of Lieut. John A. Harrold of the Winchester Police Department.

OFFICER FARRELL CHASED STOLEN CAR

Last Sunday night, shortly after 11 o'clock Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department attempted to stop an automobile which was approaching him along upper Main street at a high rate of speed, swerving from one side of the road to the other.

Commandeering a car, Officer Farrell gave chase, and pulling up beside the fleeing machine which was headed for Woburn, ordered the driver to stop. Instead of doing so the operator attempted to ditch the car in which Officer Farrell was riding and continued along Main street through Woburn at a high rate of speed.

The car which Officer Farrell had commandeered had engine trouble along at Cross street in Woburn and he was obliged to change to another machine, losing valuable time.

The fugitive machine went through the red lights in Woburn center and into Winn street where it was lost sight of by the pursuers.

Returning to Woburn Headquarters, Officer Farrell notified Sergt. John H. Noonan at Winchester of his whereabouts and while at the station a call came in stating that an abandoned car had been found on Elijah street in that city. With Woburn officers, Patrolman Farrell went to the spot indicated and found that the abandoned machine was the one he had been chasing.

Further investigation disclosed the fact that the car was the property of Ellis M. Mason of 476 Prospect street Revere and had been stolen from the yard of the Boston Elevated Company in Somerville. One of the tires was damaged and it is thought that one of the shots fired at the machine by Officer Farrell may have taken effect and forced the operator to abandon the machine.

TWO INJURED AS TRUCKS COLLIDE

Two men were injured shortly after 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon when two Ford trucks were in collision at the junction of Washington and Forest streets.

According to the police one of the trucks, owned by Daniel J. Quinn of 280 Salem street, Woburn and driven by Gerald F. Quinn of the same address, was headed north on Washington street while the other, the property of the Clover Laundry Company of 7 Maple street, Stoneham, was going west on Forest street.

The force of the impact turned the laundry truck around and tipped it over, the machine being badly damaged. Its driver, John W. Jones of 258 Main street, Stoneham and Ben Epstein, who was riding with him, were cut and bruised about the shoulders and arms. Quinn was unhurt, and his truck, while damaged about the front end, was able to proceed under its own power. The Central Garage wrecker removed the laundry truck.

Mrs. Cleora B. Cleworth of Church street, who died July 15, has willed the sum of $5000 to the First Congregational Church according to published bequests. The will was drawn Dec. 2, 1931 and states that the bequest to the church shall be known as the "John Cleworth Fund."

Mrs. Cleworth was the widow of John Cleworth. She leaves to her son, Harold B. Cleworth, now of 36 Pilgrim road, Melrose, $25,000, real estate here in Winchester, household effects and the rest and residue of the estate, the value of which is not indicated. To an adopted daughter, Mildred W. Davis of 179 Glenwood street, Malden, she leaves $1000. Among other bequests $1000 is given the Manchester, N. H. Boys Club.

A contest of the will is indicated by the filing of an appearance in the Middlesex Probate Court by a law firm on behalf of Mildred W. Davis to frame issues for a jury to determine the usual grounds whether the will was executed according to law, whether Mrs. Cleworth was of sound mind, and whether execution of the will was procured by fraud or undue influence on the part of Harold B. Cleworth. No date has yet been assigned for a hearing on the matter.

NORTH CAMBRIDGE HERE TOMORROW

The strong North Cambridge Knights of Columbus team will play a return game on Manchester Field with the Winchester Legion nine tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 3:30.

The "Caseys" were here earlier in the summer and were defeated by the Legion in as good a game as Winchester has seen for years. Since then their manager, Frank McCrehan, has been after a return game, and is coming up tomorrow looking for revenge.

If the Legion plays against North Cambridge as they did last Saturday, the locals are in for a real shellacking, but with "Tony" Colucci back in the lineup Winchester will be stronger than was the case against the Arlington Pros. Except for the former Holy Cross star the Legion will line up as it did a week ago.

Friday evening Sept. 8, the Legion will journey to Woburn to play the strong Lord Tanning nine on Library Park commencing at 5:45.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Woman's Christian Temperance Union Co-operates With N. R. A.

The Publicity Department of the National W. C. T. U. has issued the following statement:

The Publishing House of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union displays the Blue Eagle of the N. R. A. The Union co-operates with the Roosevelt Administration in this respect. We make this statement so that none can accuse the W. C. T. U. of destructive criticism when we analyze the recent statement from the White House—that of Col. Louis McHenry Howe, the President's secretary, quoted as promising law enforcement under a limp prohibition unit—but perfect law enforcement when and if liquor pays a Federal tax! There is almost no enforcement of the prohibition law now. Many of the politicians who nominated and elected the present Administration are openly in favor of bootleg liquor and opposed to enforcement.

Liquor is flowing in and around Chicago under the O. K. of Mayor Kelly. One does not have to go further than some of the steel and other large plants south and west of that city to find saloons selling more whisky than beer—with men going to work under the N. R. A. and going home drunk under the banner of repeal. The several hundred million dollars in Federal taxes which Uncle Sam is counting on, according to Col. Howe's recent statement to the newspapers, means a tremendous increase in the amount of intoxicating liquor. This means a great increase in drunkenness; and drunkenness today with automobiles crowding the roads, means killing and maiming.

Gravestones and crushed bodies would be part of the cost of a Federal tax on liquor. The Government cannot afford to act as liquor's shopkeeper! It must not adopt the worn-out idea that a liquor tax is anything but a burden. When the previous internal revenue tax on liquor was adopted in 1862, Lincoln signed the act with reluctance; the best forces of the country were opposed to the Federal Government hooking up with and depending upon liquor, which takes more from a country than it returns in taxes.

ARLINGTON PROS WIN FROM LEGION

The Arlington Pros won their return game with the Winchester Legion baseball team on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon, 5 to 2, making it two wins in a row from the local club.

Few gave Winchester a chance to defeat the invaders with the team the Legion fielded last Saturday, the local lineup being weakened by the loss of Horace Ford, "Tweet" Walsh and "Tony" Colucci.

Manager Harry Chefalo, who has been out of the game for about a month with a bad leg, was back at second, "Skin" Kendrick was at third and "Donnie" Cross, ex-Lynn English star, at short. Large James Fitzgerald was the sole member of the infield which has performed so acceptably for the past few games left in action.

Neither the Legion nor the Pros hustled, the latter perhaps because they felt they didn't have to, and the locals because they felt they didn't have a chance. The fans were openly disgusted with the listless ball shown by the home team and at times booed the local players roundly.

The Pros got to "Robbie" Robinson for 9 hits, including two home runs, but the Legion can thank its capable pitcher that the score was not much larger. Several times he twirled his way out of bad holes.

"Herb" Rawding, veteran right hander of the Pros, limited Winchester to 7 hits and fanned 8 batters. A pickup right fielder in "civies" didn't help any on two occasions, and toward the end of the game "Herb" wasn't hearing down too hard.

The Pros drew first blood in the third. Dunnigan rolled a hit between Chefalo and "Jim" Fitzgerald, held on while Cartullo fanned and rode all the way home on Rawding's home run into the river to the right of the bandstand. "Bob" Walsh walked but was erased a moment later when B. Coates rolled to Cross, Chefalo making the put-out. Harry lost Tansey's perfect throw on Coates attempted steal of second and the runner was safe. A moment later "Brad" was caught in a hot box off second but went to third when Kendrick heaned him with the ball as he scrambled back to the bag. "Joe" Tansey took "Tweet" Walsh's high foul to end the frame.

With two down in the 4th, Hederman hit a home run into the river to the left of the bandstand, and Dunnigan singled past Fitzgerald. Cartullo again fanned for the third out.

Winchester scored in its half of the 4th. Cross drew a pass, went to second as "Nick" Fitzgerald hit through short-stop and came in as "Jim" Fitzgerald drove one a mile a minute just out of Coates' reach into center field. "Bob" Walsh made a great catch of "Joe" Tansey's foul near the Pro stand and Lee fanned. Chefalo worked Rawding for a pass to fill the bases, but Kendrick nopped up to T. Walsh to end the rally.

The locals added a flukey run in the 5th. With one away "Jim" Fitzgerald drove out a fly to right which the Pros pickup right fielder didn't even get his hands on the blow going for a double. A clean hit to right from the bat of "Joe" Tansey sent in Fitzgerald. Lee fanned again. Chefalo was hit by Rawding and again there were two on. Kendrick fanned to close the inning.

Two more runs were added to the Pro total in the 8th. B. Walsh walked and went all the way in on B. Coates' double to left, scoring when no one took Frank Tansey's throw in. "Brad" moving up to third. Chefalo held Coates at third as he threw out T. Walsh, but Murray singled past second and the run was in. Tansey and Chefalo got Murray stealing. Cross took T. Coates fly for the third out.

Winchester threw away a good scoring chance in the 8th when "Joe" Tansey drove out a fine triple to far right field. There was no coacher at third and big "Muggins" hearing only the roaring of the crowd kept right on for home and found Hederman waiting him with the ball which arrived back in the infield as the runner reached third. With only one away at the time someting might have come of "Joe's" belt, but as it was Lee popped up to T. Walsh and it was all over.

Notes

While the game on the whole was not so hot it wasn't without features. "Neddo" Murray of the Pros showed some mighty nifty fielding out in center field, particularly when he fielded cleanly "Jim" Fitzgerald's wicked drive off the running track cinders in the fourth. Had the ball gotten by him it would have travelled far, if not wide and handsome. That apple was smacked!

Rawding's homer was also a mighty hard hit ball of the line drive variety. A team has another hitter in the lineup when this boy is hurling.

"Joe" Tansey was pegging last Saturday, flagging two of the three runners who tried to steal on him, and losing the other when Harry Chefalo dropped his throw. Harry was naturally a little gun shy after being laid up about a month with a spike wound.

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald hit one at "Brad" Coates in the 8th that the Woburn shortstop picked up nicely. It was a viciously belted ball.

The boys didn't like some of Umpire Roche's decisions, being particularly critical of his calling balls and strikes. They got nowhere at all with their squawking. "Chucker" is boss out there.

Coates must have a durable cranium. The ball that hit him as he ran toward second in the third rolled clear to the stands as it caromed from his head.

"Joe" Tansey was responsible for the appearance of Cross in the Winchester lineup. The Lynn boy is better known as a pitcher, but was an all-scholastic shortstop while playing for "Tom" Whelan at Lynn English. He lardled everything that came his way last Saturday acceptably.

Aside from Tansey's pegging, the best defensive play from a Winchester angle was "Ollie" Lee's throw from right field to third base, nipping Dunnigan who tried to go from first to the hot corner on Whiting's single. The General's throw was fast and right on the button.

Blooded Colt Tailless

With plenty of blue blood but without a tail, a colt was born recently in a racing stable in Newmarket, England. His sire was Coronach, winner of the Derby in 1926, and his dam Fair Aberdonian, who won the Singleton handicap at Goodwood in 1928.

MISS CURLEY SHOWERED

Miss Josephine Curley of Woburn was pleasantly surprised Monday evening when she was tendered a shower at the home of her uncle, Mr. Maurice Dinneen, 407 Highland avenue.

Talented guests provided an excellent entertainment program which included recitations by Miss Marion Bancroft and Miss Edith Dinneen of Winchester, vocal selections by Miss Evelyn Cornett of East Woburn, and dance numbers by Miss Marguerite Cannaff of Woburn. Luncheon was served shortly before midnight.

Miss Curley, who is the daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Curley of 47 Harrison avenue, is to be married on Sunday, Sept. 3, in St. Joseph's Church, East Woburn, to Everett H. Davis of Woburn.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

It was the "old men" versus the "boys" in volley ball last Tuesday night. "Little Bill" Little, headed a team composed of Messrs. "Grayheads" Pratt, Locke, Pistorino and Clark (the latter isn't greyhaired yet, but if he misses any more close ones at the net he will be that way). The kids were Junior Gustin, the little Downer twinses, Harry Gardner, "Henny" Keenan and "Kid" Rogers. Much as the difference in ages of the two battling contingents was, yet the scores never belied this wide margin. The "ancients" took an early lead to win the first game 15—11. The second encounter found them at the finish with a point total of 15 to the younger aggregation's 13. In the third tug-of-war for totals, the silver headed gents slipped a bit. In fact, they finished up on the short end. The boys banged their way through that session and finished 15—12 in their own favor. Spurred on and chagrined by this set-back the ancient-but-still honorables found many an unguarded area and placed the ball right "where they weren't" and sailed cleanly through to almost a love match. "Bill" Locke single-handed ran up eight points while the youngsters failed to connect once. "Little Bill" Little continued the good work and found the foundlings frontier for four more. The infants now grew up and broke up the streak of straight points. The sides retired for rest at the finish up of 15—5 for the old timers.

After a good rest a 25 point game was played. Here again those old-time birds showed their skill and cunning. With great accuracy the "silver threads" drove that leather sphere right at the feet of their younger opponents or just out of their reach. Occasionally the youngsters would show burst of speed in passing and placing, but it proved only short-lived. In this melee of masterful manoeuvrings, "Dave" Downer, in an unguarded moment stopped a fast ball coming from behind, with his cranium. As he made a grasp for the side of the tennis court, a loose wire from the fence gave him a nasty jab on the hand. Much blood was spilt, but after first aid treatment, navy style, "Dave" was able to continue. This and other things put the youths entirely out of the running and the "old men" won handily to the tune of 25—12.

A fall tennis tournament starting after Labor Day is now in the making. See "Doc" Blackler for particulars.

Don't fail to save Saturday, Sept. 9. Splash regatta at Winchester in the afternoon and the first fall dance in the evening. The best of music is promised for the evening party and plenty of peppy races are scheduled for the regatta that afternoon. It's going to be something to see nine men in that war canoe.

Also Sunday, Sept. 10 in the afternoon, the Shuh Shuh Gar Trophy contest. Try your skill at managing a caoe when overboard. It's good practice too.

BASEBALL ON MANCHESTER FIELD IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"!

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Your boy and your girl probably go to movies often, occasionally, or semi-occasionally. You may select an admirable picture for them to enjoy, but it has often happened, hasn't it, that along with a good picture is shown one which is highly objectionable, or unsuited to their years.

This is the result of block or blind booking which means that the exhibitor has been forced by the motion picture industry to accept pictures in blocks which he has never seen. These he must show or lose money.

Parent-Teacher Associations which are units of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers are not primarily interested in legislation, but when it comes to the protection of children from commercialism and low standards of living, they are deeply concerned and very active. For several years the National Congress has approved of federal legislation to supervise and regulate the production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures. There are at present two pending measures before the United States Congress.

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas introduced on May 15, 1933, House Resolution 144. The resolution requests the Attorney-General of the United States "to investigate activities, practices, methods, and operations of individuals, partnerships, associations, and corporations engaged in the production, distribution, or exhibition of motion and sound pictures."

On June 12, 1933, Congressman Patman also introduced House Resolution 6097, which provides for a Federal Motion Picture Commission with authority to supervise motion picture production and regulate distribution. It provides for supervision of the selection and treatment of subject material at the source and during the process of production. The bill further provides for inspecting, classifying and cataloguing motion pictures as they are produced so that exhibitors and the public may know the audience suitability of films before purchasing and before exhibition. Under its provisions pictures for juveniles and for families will have special designations.

An association which wishes to study these bills may secure copies by writing to the Clerk of the House of Representatives, House Office Building, Washington, D. C. Parental interest, more than anything else, is needed to advance the interests of the home and civilization in general.

MRS. LEWIS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis, popular Winchester pianoforte teacher, entertained a group of her former advanced pupils, who are vacationing in this vicinity, last week Thursday evening in her home on Washington street. After an informal discussion of events which have taken place in their homes during the past two seasons, the young people enjoyed playing on the two pianos the selections they had played in former years at Mrs. Lewis' annual June recitals. All expressed the wish that they might get together often to profit by the unusual experience of playing together on two instruments and enjoy the good fellowship which comes with the reuniting of old friends.

OBSERVATIONS

(By Observer)

"Silence is golden"—that's a fact but a Winchesterite has to talk or at least open his mouth to show his gold tooth, don't he?

There is nothing in or out of Winchester so bad that it is not good for something.

Some fellows here in Winchester remind us of automobiles. The cheaper they are the more noise they make.

We have the word of a Winchester man who usually knows what he is talking about, that bridge party luncheons only spoil a fellow's appetite—certainly don't satisfy it.

Less than a dozen miles from fair Winchester is a sign which reads: "Cafeteria, Meals Served Here." It don't make much difference because anyone reading it knows what it means.

Winchester girls have changed their style of dressing, have shortened all their hair,
And where their eyebrows used to be, there aren't any there;
They wear furs in the Summer though they don't wear many clothes,
And then go out in Winter with low shoes and silken hose.

Once Winchester's ardent swain sat in the parlor to wait for her; now he stops in the street and honks.

Another definition for a pessimist has been heard recently in Winchester as a man who puts out a light to see how dark it is.

Distrust all who love you extremely upon a very slight acquaintance and without any visible reason.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

By Eugene Bertram Willard

In our intercourse one with another we are too prone to neglect the exercise of that good will and sincerity of manner which we are fain to acknowledge is the light and beauty of life. We are delighted to see it in others and we are ready to declaim against those of our fellow citizens who do not possess it; but how very next to nil, perhaps, we give evidence of the laxity and flatulence of our profession, by petulance, harshness, arrogance, occasioned by some trivial heedless mess on the part of others, some little cross or aggravation which should rather be the occasion of examing the strength of our predilections. But so it is in Winchester and so it is out of Winchester. And expatiate much as we may upon the beauty and philosophy of the social and Christian virtues, of which kindness is surely a cardinal one—and plead ever so eloquently in their praise we shall betray our weakness by some unguarded expression, some inconsiderate action, unless we subject ourselves to the most self-denying discipline.

Necessity is the spring to recourse. So should trial be the mould and guide of our passions. If it were only when the stream of life runs placid among the sylvan bowers of plenty and quiet and the genial influences of sunny rays and balmy dew and joy distilling zephyrs—that we were to exhibit the kindlier graces, it were absolutely no credit to us. But it is otherwise. It is under adverse circumstances and conflicting events that character shines most conspicuous; and it is in the hour of affliction, temptation, adversity and disappointment that we are to show forth what is in us of good and evil.

There is hardly an hour—certainly not a day elapses but we are placed in some one or another situation which affords opportunity to benefit our fellows; either in a kind and benignant look, a cheering word, some little attention, or a self-denying deed. And if we do no more than regard the mere conventional rules of courtesy which obtain in good society we shall better subserve the end of peace and mutual love than by evincing a morose and uttractable spirit in our speech, our address and treatment of our fellows.

GORMAN—FALAPPA

American Beauty and Talisman roses decorated the altar of St. Anthony's Church in Revere Tuesday evening for the marriage of Miss Josephine Marie Falappa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Falappa of Fernwood avenue, Revere, and John Clifford Gorman of Warwick terrace, son of Deputy Chief John Joseph Gorman of the Winchester Fire Department and the late Bernice Gorman. The wedding music was played by the church organist and a soloist sang preceding the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Fr. Ernest Ravia.

Miss Falappa was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Theresa Falappa. Mr. Gorman had for his best man his cousin, John Joseph Couhig, Jr. of Beverly.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white crinkle crepe with the conventional veil and carried gardenias with lilies of the valley. Her attendant wore pink crinkle crepe with matching hat and carried Talisman roses.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a reception from 8 until 1 o'clock. Mrs. Martin McMahon and Mrs. Mae Quinlan assisted the bridal party in receiving.

Upon their return from a wedding journey through Maine and Canada Mr. Gorman and his bride are to make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Revere High School and of Burdette College. Mr. Gorman, a graduate of Winchester High School, is associated as cashier with the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company.

LYNCH—O'DONNELL

The marriage of Miss Margaret Agnes O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Donnell of 48 Swanton street, and H. Albert Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch of 46 Swanton street, took place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 27, at 3 o'clock in St. Mary's Rectory with Rev. Fr. James Lynch officiating.

Miss O'Donnell, wearing pale blue satin with a turban of white tulle, was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel O'Donnell, who wore pink satin with turban to match. W. Ernest Lynch of Winchester was his brother's best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents who assisted the bridal party in receiving. Upon their return from a wedding journey through Canada Mr. Lynch and his bride are to make their home in Cambridge.

Both young people are graduates of Winchester High School and well known locally. Mr. Lynch is employed by the Hathaway Company as a salesman.

McCARTHY—DOHERTY

Wearing brown velvet with matching turban and a corsage of white roses, Miss Mabel Agnes Doherty, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James K. Doherty of Canal street, was married last Sunday evening, Aug. 27, to Daniel Francis McCarthy of Crowley street, Lowell. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of the Immaculate Conception Church by the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. James Fitzsimons.

Miss Doherty was attended by her sister, Miss Ellen G. Doherty, who wore Bedini velvet with turban of black and a corsage of pink roses. Charles McCarthy of Lowell attended his brother as best man.

A reception for members of the immediate families was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride where the wedding supper was served by a caterer. Upon their return from a wedding journey which is to be spent motoring in Canada Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy are to make their home in Lowell.

The bride is widely known in Winchester, having been employed by the town in a clerical capacity since June of 1925. She was for a time clerical assistant in the office of the Town Clerk, later assistant Town Clerk and April 1, 1932, was appointed clerk of the Selectmen to succeed the late George S. F. Bartlett. Announcement of her resignation was made public two weeks ago. She is a graduate of Winter Hill Business College.

Mr. McCarthy, who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McCarthy of Lowell, is engaged in business in that city.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The seventh annual playground field day will take place on Loring avenue Labor Day morning at 9 a. m. As an added attraction, the American Legion and the Immaculate Conception teams have consented to play a ball game which is to start at 10 a. m. The proceeds from this game will be turned over towards the purchase of cups for the tennis tournament winners.

The field day inces which are open to all girls and boys under 16 years of age are as follows:

25 yard dash, girls under 8.
25 yard dash, boys under 8.
50 yard dash, girls under 12.
50 yard dash, boys under 12.
100 yard dash, girls under 16.
100 yard dash, boys under 16.
Girls sack race, boys' sack race, girls' three-legged race, boys' three-legged race, potato race, obstacle race, baseball throw for girls, basketball throw for boys and girls.

The finals of the tennis tournament which is now in progress will be played at 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

In the Junior League baseball series the Leonard Field senior team took the title for the third successive year defeating the Eagles 14—5 in a playoff game. This team capably managed by "Albie" MacDonnell has been a real leader throughout the year. Prizes donated by the Draper & Maynard Co. through the courtesy of Mr. Frank Holland will be given to each member of this team.

In the Midget League the Leonard Field Juniors took the title giving "Charlie" Shea, field instructor, a record of two winners on the same field.

The All-Stars of Woburn, winners of the playground series in Class A, defeated the Leonard Field team yesterday afternoon in a hard fought game 9—7. With the score deadlocked at seven all, Peter Doherty stepped up and delivered a single which netted the Woburn boys two runs and the game.

The Junior tennis team of Loring avenue provided a surprising upset at the Palmer street courts on Saturday afternoon when they defeated the youngsters there 5—0. The Loring avenue team is composed of the following boys—all of whom won their matches as the score indicates: "Bill" MacDonald, Jr., Paul Connors, Timothy Connors, James Doherty and Fred Donovan.

"Bill" MacDonald and David Riley, captains of their respective teams, provided the best match of the day with the latter entering as the favorite through his fast performances on the court. Young MacDonald, however, waded through his opponent in two out of three sets, displaying a powerful serve, which would do credit to a far more experienced player. A return match between these teams is to be played at Loring avenue and the Palmer street youngsters are unanimous in stating that it will be a different story this time.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

There was one case of Dog Bite reported to Maurice Dinneen, Agent of the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, Aug. 31.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for alterations and the erection of buildings on the property owned by the following for week ending Thursday, Aug. 31:

F. Ferro, Winchester—addition to present dwelling at 82 Harvard street.

E. C. Sanderson, Winchester—repair roof of Lyceum Building.

George Pierce, Winchester—addition to present dwelling at 9 Lawson road.

Police Headquarters was notified shortly before 8:30 last night that two motorists were engaged in an altercation on Wildwood street. Patrol 51 with Sergt. John H. Noonan and Patrolman James P. Donaghey aboard went to the place mentioned and found two automobiles, one in charge of Edward F. O'Connell of North Billerica and the other in charge of Edward Maduris of 26 Bolton street, Somerville. Maduris accused O'Connell of striking his machine twice, once in Somerville and again at Cambridge, Church and High streets in Winchester. Patrolman Donaghey arrested O'Connell on the charge of drunkenness, and he appeared in court this morning to answer to that complaint, with additional charges pending.

1901 BASEBALL TEAM FINE CLUB

Old timers will get a thrill out of the picture of the baseball team that represented Winchester High School in 1901, one of the best nines in the school's history.

Eighteen games won in a schedule of 20 played is a record of which any baseball team can well be proud, and when such a record is rolled up in competition with the best high school nine throughout the district, it becomes doubly commendable.

Only Medford High succeeded in taking a legitimate fall out of the 1901 team, though Winchester is charged with two losses at the hands of this school. The second game, played at Winchester was won fairly by Medford, after extra innings, by a single run margin, but the first battle played at Medford was never satisfactory from a local standpoint.

Medford scored its winning run in that game when the crowd surged across the baselines and prevented Chauncey Heath, Winchester catcher from catching a throw from the infield which would have retired the Medford runner attempting to score from third.

The Winchester boys and Coach LeDuc protested, but the umpire refused to call interference and the run stood, giving Medford the game.

On the 1901 team was one of the outstanding batteries of Winchester High history, Frank Sullivan, pitcher and "Chauncey" Heath, catcher. The former had plenty of speed, a good curve and plenty of competitive spirit, while Heath was a fine backstop, who could throw and get the goals. "Sheppie" Pond was a hard hitting left handed first baseman, one of the finest Winchester's history, and perhaps no one has played a better high school second base locally than Paul Badger, also a great batter and base runner par excellence. "Tat" Badger was a capable all around shortstop and "Doc" O'Connor, as good a third baseman (if not the best at this position) as Winchester ever had.

In the outfield the outstanding performer was "Buster" Barta, diminutive left fielder, who did everything well and was a very difficult man to pitch to. George Cumings in centerfield and "Marty" Caulfield and "Charlie" Morse in right were good all around performers. Caulfield was the club's change pitcher and after Sullivan's time became a star, pitching several seasons of high grade ball for Winchester in the semi-pro ranks.

The club was coached by George LeDuc whose name has always been associated with the best in Winchester interscholastic circles, but "George" handled played poor baseball and the 1904 team was, on his own admission the best high school team he ever saw. That means something in Winchester.

While its record is not so impressive as that of the older club, the high school nine of 1925 was a good one, built as it was around the great battery of Francis Tansey, Winchester's greatest southpaw, and Frank Melly, one of the best catchers ever to wear the Red and Black. Modern fans will back this combination against all comers, and the edge that any Winchester battery could have over this pair would be very slight. Sullivan and Heath were great, so were Colin and Flaherty and in the old days they thought a lot of "Ed" Smalley and George Paine. Tansey and Melly were in a class with any of them.

Other standouts on this club were "Jomma" Dolan at shortstop and "Shonk" Dolan in centerfield.

Reproduced with these two high school teams are two pictures which will strike a responsive chord in the memories of Town Team baseball fans of long standing.

The panorama shows Manchester Field on a Saturday afternoon when the whole town looked forward to seeing the Town Team play each weekend. Big crowds saw the games in those days, and they saw great games, week after week, with Winchester usually on the winning end.

Th 1915 Town Team, which appears this week, wns perhaps not quite so good as the team of 1914, but Tift and McQuinn were a corking battery and Wingate and Bangs as good as any mid-diamond pair to play on Manchester Field. No better left fielder than "Ad" Blowers ever picked them off the banking by the river and all the other men were fine players. They had to be to work for George LeDuc, who never permitted friendship to enter into his estimate of a man's baseball ability.

JOSEPH MACLELLAN

Joseph MacLellan, a resident of Winchester for more than 50 years, died early this moring at his home, 189 Cross street.

Mr. MacLellan was the son of John and Catherine (McKay) MacLellan and was born 90 years ago in Hopewell, N. S. He came to this country as a young man of 21, and for 59 years had made his home in Winchester. He was a widower, and is survived by two daughters, Miss Jean MacLellan, with whom he made his home, and Mrs. M. G. Day of Temple, N. H.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the late residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating.

LEGION VS. IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

The Winchester Legion baseball team will play "Bill" Gibbons' Immaculate Conception nine Labor Day morning at 10 o'clock on the Loring avenue playground in connection with the playground field day being held there under the direction of Supervisor "Joe" Tansey.

School 1200 Years Old

The high school in the quaint Rhine river town of Emmerick, Germany, is about 1,200 years old. From its beginning until 1788 it was a religious school. Then it was taken over by the Knights of Malta until closed in 1811 by Napoleon. The government opened it as a public school in 1833.

ROTARY CLUB

We noted eight absentees from the meeting of Aug. 31. Seven guests and visitors were present.

Next week we shall resume the entertainment features of our meetings. We understand that the committee in charge has some choice presentations on the schedule and propose to maintain this service at the high level attained last year. The committee will feel amply repaid for their efforts if the club scores the improved attendance rating which is so earnestly desired.

How many members have been considering service activities which will be feasible for the club during the coming season? Committees (each member belongs to at least one committee) will soon be convened and they can be successful only as the individuals of whom they are composed, are efficient. Nor should we fall into the common error of leaving it all to the chairman. Each man should cultivate views of his own and all worthy ideas should be discussed at committee meetings. If this is done the club is bound to find much that is worth while for the season's work. Remember that the secretary has literature readily available which will furnish a guide to the best methods of achieving results. Earnestness of purpose will surely bear fruit and once that pet idea of yours is properly presented, it is not to doubt that it will be advantageously developed Please be ready when the call is sounded.

The September "Rotarian!" Watch out for it! Gen. Hugh Johnson, N. R. A. chief, Henry Ford, Irvin S. Cobb, all have compelling thoughts for your consideration.

Australia and Atchison, Kansas—each can give illuminating advice on traveling the road from "Bad to Good." So don't miss the current issue of the "Rotarian."

We bespeak for all good citizens, a pleasant season of rest and recreation during the present holiday week-end. And so shall we be prepared to give the N. R. A. the vigorous push which will carry it "over the top."

Percentage of Attendance, Aug. 24—88 per cent.

Sunday, Sept. 3. Subject, "Man."

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 3.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast out devils. And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down unto him, and saying unto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him, and saith unto him, I will; be thou clean. And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed" (Mark 1:39-42).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man, the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick" (p. 476).

RAILROAD CAPITALIZATION

Those who have been opposed to a change in our policy of transport regulation that would give the railroads a better break, commonly make the charge that much of the lines' troubles arose because they are overcapitalized—because the value of bonds and stock outstanding is greater than the honest value of the properties they were issued against.

This ancient criticism should be laid by the heels now. That good deed was recently done by Joseph Eastman, Federal railroad co-ordinator, and long the most prominent member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, when he said: "Taking the roads in the aggregate, the Commission's figures indicate that the net outstanding capitalization in bonds and stocks is less than the amount of money actually invested in the properties." It should be remembered, too, that Mr. Eastman has never been a blind admirer of the railroads—he has frequently been a staunch critic of some of their policies.

There are not many industries of which it can be said that actual money invested in them exceeds the outstanding securities. At this time, of course, with the values below any point we have known in decades, money invested is not an arbiter of what a property would bring at a forced sale. But values are going to come back—for the railroads as for any other business. And the railroads never capitalized themselves on post-war inflationary prices—they did most of their expanding and buying when costs were at a reasonable level.

REMEMBER AN OLD TRUTH

There is a rather curious attitude abroad now in the kingdom of politics. Members of the political courts admit that the trend of legislation in all forms of government is toward higher taxes—but insist that these additional costs will be taken care of by new sources of revenue.

The potential tax on liquor is a good example of this. At this writing 20 states have ratified repeal, and none have turned it down. And at Washington and in two score state capitals, public men chirp gleefully to the effect that a liquor tax will produce millions in revenue, and make possible more bond issues, more governmental ventures into strange and attractive realms.

Apparently no one in public office has taken the trouble to point out that there is only so much money in the country. It can buy only so much—it can pay only so much in taxes. A new tax, whether on liquor or on anything else, doesn't create more national income. It simply takes its money from a different place—which leaves less money in another place.

Tax juggling has been the curse of modern governmental economy. It's the old dodge of spending out of the citizen's right-hand pocket instead of his left. For 10 years we have listened to speeches on tax reduction and have permitted the national expense account to soar. And it's time we remembered a fact of the utmost simplicity—the only way lower taxes can be had is for government to spend less money.

THE RETURN OF SILVER

Silver: 38⅞ cents per ounce.

That quotation probably doesn't explain much to you. But it means that the poor man's gold recently touched its highest level since May, 1930.

During three long years of depression silver has been on the bargain counter—it's been offered at fire-sale prices. And that statement, too, explains little until cause and effect are related, until it is expressed in the terms of purchasing power, trade among nations, jobs. The collapse of silver was the principal economic cause of the decline in world trade—a decline which finally became a rout. More than half the world's people saw their purchasing power drop to less than half of former levels, and factories all over the world, here and in England and Germany and elsewhere, closed because cheap silver had taken their markets from them.

Silver is coming back. And that means that prosperity is coming back in a dozen states and in a score of great industries. It means that men are going to work, and that great markets are again going to open up.

ESKIMO'S DIGESTION THREATENED BY COOKERY GUIDE

Dyspepsia and finicky appetites are probably in store for Greenland Eskimos. Late news dispatches from Copenhagen state that a cook book of 450 recipes has been compiled to inject novelty into the simple Eskimo diet. The volume will be translated into the native Greenland dialect.

Igloo cookery presents few problems, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The Eskimo wife has never known the strivings of her white sister to excel as a "fancy cook." Her husband has never regaled her with tales of the pies his mother used to bake, for he has never tasted pastry or candy of any sort in his life. Meat is his almost unvarying food. The meat of the polar bear, seal, walrus, caribou, white whale, narwhal, and musk oxen are all palatable to him.

Housekeeping Equipment Simple

The average Eskimo bride starting housekeeping in a new igloo needs only four things in the way of furnishings: a meat knife, lamp, cooking pot and sewing kit. The blubber-burning lamp, which also serves as a stove, is usually near the entrance to the hut. Suspended from the ceiling above it hangs a large soapstone cooking pot from which comes the aroma of boiling seal-meat. At the sound of the sleds returning from the day's hunting expedition, the Eskimo wife, crouching over the stove, stirs the pot of simmering seal-meat for her husband's supper.

Dropping in for an evening meal with an Eskimo family, one would see old and young squatting on their heels, and each ready with a knife. Each member of the group takes a piece of juicy, cooked seal or walrus meat in his left hand, shoves it into his mouth, and seizes a strip between his teeth. With a deft stroke of the knife, he cuts off a mouthful, just at the lips. Often-times liver and blubber are held in each hand, and eaten alternately. The meat is washed down with draughts of ice-cold water.

Fruits and Vegetables Absent from Menu

Fruits and vegetables are unknown items in the diet of the Eskimo. When the meat supply is exhausted, the Greenland Eskimos gather rockweed and kelp, and dig the bark of willow bush out of the frozen soil. This is cooked into a jelly in the soapstone pot. This food, however, is not pleasing to the Eskimo palate, and is eaten only to stave off starvation when more desirable food is unobtainable. The nearest approach to ordinary vegetable matter consumed by the Eskimo is the semi-digested moss found in the stomachs of the caribou. This material becomes the Eskimo's "greens."

Fish eaten either boiled or raw, offer variety to the menu. Clams are also included in the seafood dishes of the Greenland Eskimo. He obtains them via the stomach of some freshly-killed walrus who has just feasted upon the mollusks. Stuffed head of walrus is undoubtedly the subject of at least one of the new recipes designed for the Greenlanders. They are fond of the unadorned head and could possibly cultivate a taste for an elaborate preparation of it.

Spring Brings Dietary Changes

In the Greeland spring, the dovekie, or little auk, appears. This means another dietary change for the natives. Through the summer hundreds of these birds are netted and stored for food during the long winter months. The eggs of the eider duck, the brant goose and the gull are the object of an intense search near the end of June each year. The family egg supply for the coming winter is stored in stone caches, where the eggs become chilled first, and then frozen. They remain in this condition until eaten in the winter. Not all of the eggs collected are stored, however, for the Eskimo wife prepares an egg sausage, sometimes using as many as 300 eggs to one sausage. The eggs are broken and poured into a washed seal intestine, and in this state are eaten from time to time throughout the winter.

Cowbird Leaves Eggs for Another Bird to Hatch

The cowbirds are birds of doubtful character, gypsies of the winged world, whose women folk have not the home-making instinct, but thoughtlessly drop their eggs in any little cottage bed they discover in the wildwood, leaving them for foster mothers to hatch and bring up. Like the people of Rom, descendants of Sumar, the goldsmith who cast the golden calf for the children of Israel in the wilderness, they wander erratically about the country in spring, associating with cattle in the pastures for the insects their feeding stirs from pasture grass, appearing friendly with English sparrows, but shunned by most native birds.

In shade the cowbirds are not attractive in dress, but when perched on a pasture fence the sun full upon them, they look like ladies and gentlemen. The males are clothed in shiny black, with an iridescent sheen over the upper back. The breast, neck and head are a rich coffee brown. The females are demurely dressed in dark slate-brown above, fading into a lighter shade below, which enables them to steal into the nest of temporarily absent vireos, warblers and sparrows and leave their eggs.

AMERICANS DEVELOPING CHARACTERISTICS OF THRIFT

In a recent month sales of ordinary life insurance were but 10 per cent below the same month last year—an experience representing the smallest monthly decrease for a year and a half. It likewise is a very favorable record in comparison with other basic industries.

Now that recovery has really started—that men are going back to work—that the wheels of industry are turning steadily faster—the life insurance industry has every right to expect a bright future. Mr. Average Citizen has learned much in three years. He has learned that to look for quick and gigantic profits on a small investment is to court bankruptcy. He has learned that security and safety are the true arbiters of any investment. Life insurance offers these—plus benefits nothing else can offer.

Every time another life insurance policy is sold, another American has demontrated a growing national characteristic of thrift, foresight and wisdom.

What is probably the largest sun dial in the world is in Lafayette, Tenn. It weighs ten tons.

Tears an Antiseptic

Tears are a natural antiseptic; if they were not, the human race would be in for many more troubles. When a woman has "a good cry," it not only relieves her pent-up feelings but it also washes her eyes, and she sees things more clearly.

Monument as Sun Dial

Airmen flying near the Washington monument don't have to look at their clocks or consult their appetites in order to tell what time of day it is. That is, if it's daytime and the sun is shining. The monument casts a huge, sharply marked shadow, and this shadow makes nearly two thirds of a complete circle from sunrise to sunset. After a little experience in noting where the shadow strikes, a person can tell the time very closely, as the "dial" of this record-breaking clock is in a general way a thousand feet in diameter. Hence an hour causes a movement of some 150 to 200 feet, and even a minute will make a change of something like 3 feet.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Clue to Epidemics in Bible

It was in the later Middle Ages that physicians, acting on promptings from the book of Leviticus, came to realize that epidemics are simply outbreaks of disease of a peculiarly infectious type.

MARY CUTTER WINNER OF THREE SOUTHERN MAINE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Mary Cutter, Winchester's leading girl tennis player, added appreciably to her laurels last week when she won three Southern Maine championships in the tournament which closed last week-end at York.

Sweeping through the early rounds of the tournament "Susie" served notice that she would be a serious contender for championship honors in singles when she disposed of Mrs. N. C. Wyeth of Washington, D. C., in the quarter finals in two straight sets with the loss of but one game.

In the finals the Winchester girl faced last year's champion, Josephine Merrick of Upper Montclair, N. J., who eliminated Sylvia Hatch of this town in the semi-final round, 6—3, 6—2, the local player putting up a stubborn fight against her more experienced opponents.

The championship battle was hard fought, Miss Cutter taking the first set, 6—2; and Miss Merrick coming back to take the second, 9—7. "Susie" proved the stronger in the deciding set and ran out the match, 6—4, to win her second title, she having paired previously with Sylvia Hatch to win the women's doubles from Mrs. C. W. Browne and Mrs. W. L. Ross, 6—1, 6—8, 6—2.

Miss Cutter's third title was won in mixed doubles with Arthur Noble of Newton and Dartmouth, their victory in the championship round coming at the expense of Mrs. Wyeth and Vaughan Pipes of Haverhill whom they defeated in straight sets, but not without a battle 7—5, 6—3. The Wyeth-Pipes team won its way to the final round by defeating Sylvia Hatch of Winchester and Paul Guiboard of Melrose in the semi-finals.

"HOLD YOUR MAN" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are reunited as co-stars in "Hold Your Man" which comes to the University on Sunday for four days. The smashing success of "Red Dust," in which they were teamed romantically brought such a response from the public that Anita Loos, famous "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" author, was assigned to provide a new vehicle for the screen lovers. "Hold Your Man" has an underworld flavor and is a rapid-moving story of timely tempo. In it Miss Harlow plays the part of a gaudy creature who is willing to allow herself to become the lure in a "love racket" for the sake of her man. Gable, as the man in the case, is a chap who finds his real worth when the girl is sent to jail because of the trouble his racket gets her into.

Described as a glittering panorama of New York life from Battery Park to Harlem, the companion feature "Made on Broadway" co-stars Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers, two of the screen's most popular younger players.

Short cuts to the primrose path and some of the detours of that glittering trail are traversed by Constance Bennett, with a notable cast including Joel McCrea and John Halliday, in "Bed of Roses," a romantic drama which starts Thursday. With picturesque New Orleans as its locale, "Bed of Roses" presents Miss Bennett as a girl who sets out to barter beauty for luxury.

One of the largest casts of the year went into the making of the companion feature, "The Mayor of Hell" starring James Cagney. Some 500 men, women and children, all playing bits and principal roles, were used in this stirring story. The leading feminine role was given to Madge Evans, who appears for the first time opposite James Cagney. Allen Jenkins is given an opportunity in another prominent part. Other screen favorites who have roles of importance include Dudley Digges, Sheila Terry, Arthur Byron and Dorothy Burgess.

STRAND THEATER, MALDEN, ATTRACTIONS

Crammed chock full of tuneful melodies, beautiful girls, and the best talent of the stage, screen and radio, "Moonlight and Pretzels," which will be the headline attraction at the Strand Malden this coming week, is one of the most cleverly mounted, fast-moving, and refreshing screen musicals made to date. "Moonlight and Pretzels" is a backstage romance with Broadway as the setting, yet contains none of the stereotyped hokum that has characterized and ruined so many of the film musicals. In straightforward fashion it tells the story of an energetic song writer whose ambition is to become Broadway's leading writer. Stranded in a small town in New York State, he is given a job plugging songs by the pretty proprietress of a local music store. After many failures he finally receives a check from one of Broadway's leading producers for one of his songs. He leaves for the bright lights at once, leaving a broken hearted girl behind him. In a year's time he achieves his ambition as New York's ace writer of song hits, Sally Upton, the girl, decides to seek a job in one of his shows. What happens from this point on forms one of the most unusual and exciting story ever told on the screen. Roger Prior, youthful hero of many stage hits, as the writer, and Mary Brian as the girl are ideally cast as the young lovers, and Leo Carrillo and Herbert Rawlinson head the supporting cast of screen and radio favorites.

"The Man Who Dared" is the title of the second attraction at the Strand this week, and is based on some colorful and romantic incidents in the life of Chicago's late mayor, Anton Cermak. "The Man Who Dared" is brimful with drama, action, dynamic excitement and a good supply of human comedy. It takes us through the life of a youthful immigrant, and sets him off on a career that will always stand as one of the most remarkable in American life. Surrounded on all sides by political corruption and crime that acts at the drop of a hat, this strong young man carves a career of which the world is destined to take deep notice. His characteristics are primarily a fighting heart and ready fists, but back of these are an outlook toward righteousness that will not be downed. Preston Foster has the leading role. While he has appeared in a number of motion pictures, it is this one that will thrust him forward as one of the foremost of our young actors. Zita Johann has the leading role opposite him and makes a believable person of the woman that such a man would love. Both of these young actors show unlimited powers of portrayal, and not once do they swerve from the characters they depict.

"ED" WINN WINS SHOOT AT ARLINGTON RANGE

The Arlington Rifle Club conducted a shoot Sunday on its new range, with more than 100 participating.

In the scratch match, with 10 shots at 50 yards, "Ed" Winn of Winchester was the winner, his best three strings being 96, 94 and 93. Capt. Richards of the United States Marine Corps took second prize, with 95, 93, and 93, while Leroy S. Nickerson of Arlington was third, with 90, 89 and 89.

In the handicap event, 10 shots at 50 yards, Chesley Elroy of Belmont, president of the club, took first prize, with 100, 99 and 99. Roger Butties of Arlington was second, with strings of 100, 99 and 98, and Wilmarth of Belmont was third, with strings of 99, 99 and 98.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

If you have ever had family troubles you will want to see "Another Language," which opens at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday, with Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery as the featured players. The picture, adapted from the famous play by Rose Franken, is truly an epic of American middle class family and mothers-in-law in particular. "Another Language" proved to be the most popular comedy-drama to reach Broadway in several years. Miss Hayes plays the role of Stella, a girl who marries into a family, a complete stranger to the customs of the household. Miss Hayes is more interested in art than in washing dishes and this fact does not help her any with her new relatives. Robert Montgomery plays the husband who loves his bride but fails to see where his mother can ever be wrong. The film moves on to a dramatic climax, lightened by humorous dialogue and amusing incident. Both Miss Hayes and Robert Montgomery are said to do excellent work in their respective roles.

"Mama Loves Papa," one of the better screen comedy hits, with Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland starred, will be the second attraction on the Granada bill staring on Saturday. Ruggles and Mary Boland are a middle-aged married couple. Ruggles is a hesitant chap, afraid of his own footsteps and more especially those of his brow-beating boss. His wife has spent her life telling him and her friends what a genius he is—until Ruggles almost believes it himself. But Ruggles has a flair for moth-eaten gags and persists in telling them to everybody and laughing at them himself. Following his wife's advice he goes to work in a cutaway and bowler hat. The boss gets a look at Ruggles in this outfit, decides that a death must have occured in the family and orders him to take the day off. Having nothing to do, Ruggles strolls through the park where he is mistaken for the speaker of the day. His stuff goes over so well he is appointed Park Commissioner. His wife is tickled pink but Charlie manages to get in a wrong with the political bosses and loses his job. Things look pretty bad when Lady Luck steps in and places Ruggles in a soft spot. The pictures is all comedy with Ruggles and Mary Boland making a perfect screen team.

"Stranger's Return" with Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins starred, heads the double bill that ends its run at the Granada today. "Disgraced" with Helen Twelvetrees is the second attraction on the current bill.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT AT THE CAPITOL, ARLINGTON NEXT WEEK

For the week starting with Labor Day, there are four excellent pictures booked into the Capitol Theater, Arlington, that Sake the prospect of capacity houses during the entire week very evident. Reservations are already pouring in to the box office which proves the popularity of the pictures.

Sylvia Sidney and Wheeler and Woolsey hold sway in the first part of the week in "Jennie Gerhardt" and "Diplomaniacs" respectively. "Jennie Gerhardt" is the first picture in which Miss Sidney achieves the goal of all film players, star billing, and her splendid performance in the title role undoubtedly won for her this right. Her sad wistful manner is genuinely a part of the character itself, bringing to it all that Drieser might have ever intended. Rarely, in fact, has any character of fiction ever been so deftly transplanted to the stage or screen.

Wheeler and Woolsey in "Diplomaniacs" is the companion feature with "Jennie" Gerhardt" and bids fair to keep the audience roaring with their antics and witty remarks. "Diplomaniacs" even exceeds this comedy pair's last picture, and that is really exceeding something!

For the last part of the week starting Thursday, Ann Harding and William Powell are cast together in Double" Harness," as modern as tomorrow, as sparkling as champagne and as human as life itself. Miss Harding and Powell are sure-fire audience pleasing favorites. Their talents ease comfortably and enteratingly into their "Double Harness" stellar roles, forming a perfect team.

The very popular couple, James Dunn and Sally Eilers will be seen on the same program in "Hold Me Tight" and patrons of the popular Capitol are urged to make reservations now, as seats certainly will be at a premium at the box office.

RENOVIZE THE UNITED STATES

Eighty-five per cent of Americans are inadequately housed. Seventy-five per cent live in hand-me-down quarters bare of modern comforts and conveniences. Where our annual building expenditure in 1928 was $6,500,000,000 it was only two billion last year.

These facts appear in an editorial in the St Clairsville, Ohio, Chronicle-And, as the editorial further points out, there are sound indications that a major building revival is on its way. Every American desires better living conditions; millions of Americans have been prevented from achieving them the past few years either because of financial stress or fear of the future. That fear is now being allayed—recovery has started, and it can be seen in all parts of the country. Men are going back to work, factory chimneys are smoking—and dollars are finding their way into pockets from where they will go to buy the necessities of life. A good part of those dollars will either be used to build new homes, or rebuild and modernize old ones.

It's time for a national campaign to "Renovize the United States." That would speed recovery and be the most potent influence that could be brought to play in stabilizing price levels and providing employment.

Remember that employment and investment are better and cheaper than charity. Remember, too, that in a few months, when the building boom gets underway, prices are going up and are going to stay up. Get in on the "building bargains" while they are still being offered.

AND THEY THOUGHT TAXES WERE HIGH 25 YEARS AGO

A tax story in two chapters.

Chapter 1—San Francisco Chronicle in its "25 Years Ago Today" column: "The Board of Supervisors today recommended a tax rate of $1.48, which, with the estimated state rate of 47 cents, will make the total tax rate for the year $1.95."

Chapter 2—In the same edition of the Chronicle: "The Board of Supervisors is enforcing the strictest economy in its budget this year (1933). Nevertheless the tax rate will be $3.75."

San Francisco isn't in a class by itself. Virtually every community has had the same experience—some a great deal worse. If government keeps loading up with new propositions which continually require more tax funds, how will industry and the private citizen pay the bill ten years hence? Think this over when you vote for schemes that require the raising of public funds through taxations or otherwise.

POWER IN THE RESTAURANT

One of the most interesting of the electrical exhibits at the Chicago World's Fair is that showing power at work in the modern restaurant.

The restaurant, which is shown in a one-quarter size model, has a 50-seat capacity, the chairs being arranged about a U-shaped counter, precisely as in the average sandwich shop of today. But it is very different from that shop in its equipment. In the center are food storage cabinets—refrigerating units with glass fronts through which foods, temptingly arranged, may be seen, and electric warming ovens. Above this equipment is a concealed lighting system that represents months of patient work by electrical experts and artists. It casts an even white light upon the counter so that each guest has abundant shadowless illumination without the slightest glare. From the same source light rises to play in restful, changing colors on the entire ceiling of the room.

At the rear of the restaurant is a model electric grill where food is prepared in full view of the diners. Due to scientific design and electric air-conditioning, guests are cool and comfortable and unbothered by cooking odors.

This restaurant is emblematic of two of the principal features electricity offers the merchant—increased efficiency and a more attractive display from the cutsomer's standpoint. The prosperous shop and restaurant and store of the future will be the one where most is done to present goods in a tempting manner. The electricity at work exhibit at the World's Fair gives us an insight into the commercial establishments of tomorrow.

THE MAIN PURPOSE OF FARM LEGISLATION

In speaking of New York's Milk Control Board, of which he is chairman, Charles H. Baldwin said: "The Board will make no real or permanent success unless its work has the effect of bettering and strengthening the co-operative marketing movement."

That statement could be taken as a motto for all governmental farm relief activities, whether by the state or the national government. Legislation which simply makes the farmer lean on an official bureau and look to it as the solution of all his problems, would be the enemy, not the friend, of agricultural progress and stability. Legislation which helps the farmer to help himself and shows him how he can build for the future through his own organizations, is the only kind that will produce beneficial results.

The new farm legislation takes notice of that. Farm leaders and executives of co-operative associations had voices in its preparation. Many suggestions which they offered before the first draft of the bill was made, are incorporated in it. Its successful administration will depend to a great degree on their efforts.

The old, well-supported co-operatives have done wonders in meeting the problems of depression—now they are preparing for the achievements of recovery. And they will be the most important single factor in building and maintaining the agricultural civilization of tomorrow.

Bible Verses and Chapters

For many years the division of the Bible into chapters and verses was attributed to a priest, Lanfranc, archbishop of Canterbury, in the reign of William I of England, about 1085. This is considered to be erroneous, and the division is attributed to Cardinal Hugo de Sancto-Caro, in 1236.

PAYROLLS VS. TAXES

The time has arrived when the people — laboring man and capitalist — feel the pinch of taxation with equal force. Take the specific case of the man with $10,000 invested, the widow with $100 invested, or the laboring man with a job, in the Pacific Gas & Electric Company of San Francisco.

This company had its taxes raised by the last California Legislature, $1,150,000. Congress placed a 3 per cent tax on the production of electricity used for domestic and commercial purposes, which added another million a year. Congress also levied a tax on the company's stock which amounted to another $200,000. On top of this Congress placed a tax of 5 per cent on all dividends to stockholders, which meant another million, and ordered the company to deduct the 5 per cent before sending out dividend checks. Leaving out the $1,000,000 to be collected from stockholders, this company's total tax bill for a year will now exceed $10,000,000.

Compare this sum with the wages and salaries paid by the company for 1933, which amount to $15,000,000. For each $1.50 paid in wages the company must pay $1 to tax collectors—state, federal and municipal.

What becomes of savings, and earnings on the same, for thousands of stockholders who have worked and slaved to accumulate a few dollars to put into an industry which would pay them a reasonable annual return? What is the future prospect for additional jobs for thousands of laboring men, clerks, and other employes of a company that has to pay out a dollar in taxes for each dollar and one-half of wages and salaries?

Another five or ten years of proportionate tax increases and there will be no money for jobs.

Think it over. When you break a private company with taxation, who will furnish the revenue for government, which the tax-exempt government-owned enterprise now escapes?

An attractive billfold, with your name or initials in either gold or silver for only a dollar at the Star Office. Attractive designs and real leather.

THE TRADEMARK COUNTS

What do you see when you look at a fire engine?

You see steel and brass and wood and paint. You see an object that is very similar to a large motor truck, with the addition of a number of interesting and unusual gadgets. And, believe it or not, you are not seeing the real fire engine at all.

The real fire engine is under the paint and brass. It's inside the motor and the differential and transmission. It's at the heart of the pump. You'll never see it only the makers, and perhaps the mechanics who keep it in condition, ever do. And if you could see it you probably wouldn't know whether it is good or bad—that's a job for the engineer and the expert.

This being true, the average citizen naturally asks how a good fire engine can be told from one that isn't quite so good. That isn't a difficult question to answer. He can tell from the name on the radiator precisely as his only test of a good watch is the name on the dial. In the case of many products, we take quality for granted—because the makers have been making quality articles, with never a deviation, for decades. That is true of the pioneer standard fire apparatus makers—quality comes first with them, and all other considerations run a poor second.

When your community buys fire apparatus, see that it looks at the trademark.

The outing of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs will be held at Nantasket Beach instead of Bass Point. This matter was decided after the first notifications were sent out. Also, the grand reunion will take place at a supper instead of a dinner. The date of the outing is the same—Saturday, Sept. 9. Tickets may be obtained from the president of Winchester Emblem Club, Mrs. T. F. Fallon, tel. Win. 0728.

The recent order from Washington to decommission the prison ship, which has been known as the U. S. S. Southery and stationed for some years now at the Charlestown Navy Yard, will be interesting to those who remember the crack baseball team from this ship that played in Winchester along about the end of the World War. The team was composed largely of Marines and was a snappy, well uniformed outfit that could play ball. Together with the order to decommission the Southery came a second, ordering the Navy Yard Band to sea duty with the U. S. S. Indianapolis, aboard which Secretary Swanson is going cruising in Pacific waters.

Two of Winchester High's football dependables, Capt. "Joe" Flaherty of the 1931 eleven and his team mate, "Johnny" Lynch, leave town this week end to enroll at Montpelier Seminary in Vermont. Both should gladden the heart of the football coach, for "Gegan" is a very fine guard indeed and Lynch a rugged fullback who can stand plenty of banging.

Playground Supervisor "Joe" Tansey, earlier in the season, announced that he would try to get "Ben" Cantwell, Braves pitcher, to visit the Winchester playgrounds and show the local youngsters some of the fine points of pitching, also asking Horace Ford, local big leaguer to explain the intricacies of infield play. "Joe" wrote to Cantwell, who is a fraternity brother of his and yesterday received a reply from the pitcher who stated that since the receipt of the letter he has been vainly trying to arrange a visit to Winchester when it would be possible for him to work with the youngsters. It now appears that the first opportunity for such a visit will be upon the Braves' return from their western trip about Sept. 26, which will be after the closing of the playgrounds. This has been a bad summer to cut in on the time of Braves' players who have been pretty much taken up with the championship race.

N. R. A. CLUB FORMED IN TOWN

At a meeting called by Messrs. George H. Lochman, of the Chamber of Commerce, A. H. McLatchey of the Rotary Club and Fred H. Scholl of the Lions Club, preliminary steps were taken Wednesday night for the formation of an N. R. A. Club in Winchester.

Mr. Lochman, acting chairman, explained in a very able manner the object of the club and the steps he, as President of the Chamber of Commerce, had taken to carry out the instructions issued to all such local organizations. He emphasized the nonpartisan aims of the National Recovery Act and stated that each and every citizen, regardless of political affiliations, should support President Roosevelt in his effort to bring back prosperity to our country.

Forty cards had been sent out notifying the clergy, the Selectmen and representatives of different organizations of the town to attend the meeting. Owing to the severe storm, there was not a full attendance.

Nevertheless, much progress was made by those present. Mr. Lochman was elected permanent chairman, despite his evident reluctance to assume further responsibility. Mrs. Frances Sullivan was elected secretary, and plans were discussed to canvass the town for business-code pledges, and consumers' signatures. Mr. A. H. McLatchey and Dr. J. Churchill Hindes were appointed a committee of two to draft plans. An executive committee of five is to be appointed by the chairman to receive and adjust complaints, and the drive is now on to put Winchester in the 100 per cent N. R. A. class before the end of the month.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 15 at 8 o'clock in the general committee room of the Town Hall.

The game opens at 3:30 on Manchester Field and a good match is anticipated.

Mr. K. P. Moore is a guest at the New Weston Hotel, New York City.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Volley ball becomes increasingly popular each week now. Last Tuesday's games showed this fact quite plainly. A good crowd was on hand to witness the playing and full teams were used in most every game. A brilliant moon beamed down through the trees onto the playing area and it was "A" night.

In the early warming up games, an outfit composed of "Ted" Dissel, Chester Adams, "Dave" Downer and "Weenie" Pratt took two out of three from Junior Gustin, "Bill" Locke, "Bill" Little and "Jack" Stoddard.

With the arrival of more recruits six-man teams with spares went onto the courts. Action soon became fast. A game went to 15 points all too quickly, so that they let 'er run to 25. This also seemed too short so 35 was the next choice. This also waxed too brief and soon 50 points was the deciding figure.

Seldom has such a nip and tuck game been played. The score seesawed back and forth, first one side gaining and then the other. Finally after several brilliant individual plays by "Bill" Locke and "Ted" Dissel the set point was arrived at. It was a good hour's encounter full of threats and promises with the outcome always in doubt.

The aggregation of Henry Keenan, "Doc" Clark, "Ted" Dissel, "Dave" Downer, "Jack" Stoddard and "Will" Brown towered over Team 2 composed of "Bill" Locke, "Bill" Little, "Charlie" Rogers, Chester Adams, "Weenie" Pratt and Junior Gustin, winning by the score of 50 to 48.

Notes

"Bill" Locke had one of his slippery, roving nights, placing himself all over the playing area. His service was very effective at all times and he worried the opposition considerably with his low fast cut.

"Bill" Little did yeoman service at the net, spoiling many a point that the opponents counted as sure.

Junior Gustin exhorted his cohorts to poosh-em-up constantly but his shining example was dimmed by the bright moonlight.

Henry Keenan on a net play, got his facial map in the way of a hard shot ball from Little "Bill" Little. It was a close-up play and the kind it's well to duck away from. "Bing" nursed a bruised proboscis for the remainder of the evening.

"Charlie" Rogers is fast developing into a volleyer. His chief admonition is for his team mates to name their shot, and also to call their locality. Too much politeness in allowing another player to take your shot, makes for a losing game. "Charlie's" ruling was to try and do away with any "fielder's choice."

O. C. Willie Blush. That is not a person's name. It merely calls attention to the fact that a girl in black, and she ain't his sister neither, is capable of making a crimson hue appear on the cheeks of a certain party. Ask one of the crew!

Captain "Gus" was not among those present last Tuesday. We wonder if he went away to look up that girl in black. And "Monk" Russell, why wasn't he on the lined courts? We think this all bears investigating.

Having a girl in the line-up of a he-male volley ball game kinda slows things up. We trust if the girls are anxious to play, that they get up a team among themselves, and challenge the guys to a left handed match.

Things are to hum at Winchester Boat Club this week-end. The crew is hard at work for the Worcester races of the 16th and 17th of September. A splash or novelty regatta is on the program for Saturday, Sept. 9 at 2:30 p. m. A number of new and tricky events are to be run off. All interested are invited to enter.

A fall tennis tournament is also scheduled for that afternoon. "Doc" Blackler is in charge and entries should be made with him.

In the evening comes the first fall dance. All friends of the club are welcome at this party and wait until you hear the music we have. This is a free dance to members.

And then Sunday afternoon there's the Shuh Shuh Gah contest.

What a week-end for those who seek diversion and excitement.

SHUH SHUH GAR TROPHY CONTEST AT WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The first annual Shuh Shuh Gar Trophy contest will be held at Winchester Boat Club on Sunday, Sept. 10 at 2:30 p. m.

This trophy is to be awarded for greatest competence and skill in the safe use of a general purpose canoe. The score to be based on the following points:

	Points
For embarking with passenger	10
For paddling with passenger	10
For landing with passenger	10
For general watermanship in the use of a canoe alone	10
For upsetting and coming ashore alone with canoe and paddle	30
For upsetting and coming ashore with canoe and passenger	30
Total	100

The contest is open to residents of Winchester not over high school age (not necessarily members of Winchester Boat Club) and either a boy or girl.

It would seem at this time of year that there should be many youths who have had a full summer of camping experience which should fit them for just such a trial of skill.

Among the judges will be H. Dudley Murphy, one of the three surviving active members o fthe Shuh Shuh Gar Club and a close follower of canoeing all of his life.

Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne of Main street returned this week with Mrs. Burgoyne after a motor trip through Maine and New Hampshire.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Preservation of Antiques—Amherst-Northampton

Wednesday, Sept. 20, 8:25 a. m., Unitarian Church. Kerrigan's bus, Mr. Kerrigan, driving, 30 passengers. Co-chairmen: Mrs. Walter T. Gleason, Mrs. Roger M. Burgoyne. One of the most important and interesting trips ever planned by this committee. Stops at Wiggins Tavern at Hotel Northampton, Northampton, for lunch, Dickinson Tavern at Amherst, and Johnson's Museum at Hadley, if time permits.

Wiggins Tavern, of national renown, contains tap rooms, old kitchens, and an old ordinary; all completely furnished in early American antiques, many rarities. The old kitchen is said to be the most complete of its kind in the country. The buttery and old store are also appropriately furnished. The Hotel Northampton, of which Wiggins Tavern is one feature, is also furnished in American antiques.

In short, there are so many things to see at Wiggins that it would take days to do it justice.

Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball of Federation fame, owns the fine old Dickinson Tavern at Amherst, which helps to support the Mothercraft Maintenance Fund. She personally has invited the Fortnightly members to see this inn, furnished in early American pieces; the Tom Thumb room; Napoleon Room; Washington Room; Animal Lover's Room; Shaker Room. The collections here, as at Wiggins, are too numerous to mention; yet, outstanding, are her collections of keys and mugs; believed to be the largest and most notable collection in the country. There is a ball-room, tap-room, both filled with interesting antiques, many for sale. The proceeds go to the Mothercraft Fund, which is endorsed by both General Federation and State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Johnson's Farm Museum, containing thousands of items once used on farms and in farm houses, is one of the most important museums of its kind. Women shudder now days when they view the old cheese press, butter churn, and the crude utensils for cooking, the simple weaving and spinning contrivances of a century or two ago.

All reservations for this pilgrimage must be made before Saturday, Sept. 16, to a member of Transportation Committee. Avoid the disappointment of the Plymouth trip, when persons called too late to be included. Party limited to 30 members, and reservations will be made in the order received.

DANCE PLANNED FOR NOV. 10th

Plans for the Community Armistice Eve Dance, under the auspices of Winchester Post, No. 97, The American Legion, to be held in the Town Hall on Friday, Nov. 10, are already under way. Commander Hall has appointed the following committee to handle the arrangements:

Richard Parkhurst, chairman; Patrick T. Foley, Theodore Godwin, Harry C. Goodwin, Kenneth Hall, Gerald Hills, John H. McCarthy, Geoffrey Neiley.

A meeting of this committee was held at the Legion House on Tuesday evening, and plans outlined in a preliminary way. Commander Hall and the Committee expect that while the dance will be under the immediate charge of the Legion, the co-operation of other organizations in town can be secured to the end that the dance may be patronized and enjoyed, not only by Legion membership, but by a representative assemblage of the townspeople as a whole. The Legion believes that on this occasion the opportunity is afforded for a real community get together and good time and proposes to bend every effort to make the affair as attractive a party as has ever been held in the Town Hall. Tickets will shortly be available and will be sold at 75 cents each. One of the finest orchestras in this vicinity is about to be engaged. Proceeds from the dance will go to the Post Welfare Fund.

WATERFIELD LODGE TO NOMINATE OFFICERS

The nomination of officers of Waterfield Lodge, 231, will take place on Monday evening, Sept. 11 in Association Hall. Nomination and election will be held on Monday evening, Sept. 25.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION TO WELCOME TEACHERS

CHURCHES OPEN SUNDAY

Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Quinn returned Monday from a vacation in the West.

ROTARY CLUB

Six absentees were recorded at the meeting of Sept. 7.

The writer finds that he must apologize for annoucing a speaker to be present at this meeting. On account of a misunderstanding of dates, it was necessary to omit this feature.

We have received a copy of the schedule of official visits from District Governor Lester Merritt and note that he will come to Winchester at noon on Wednesday, Nov. 16. We assure the Governor that a cordial welcome awaits him and we shall be glad to co-operate in making the success which it deserves for his administration.

It was with genuine regret that we felt obliged to decline the kind invitation of the Stoneham Club to participate with them in a joint meeting at the New England Sanatorium, but our schedule would hardly permit it at this time. We hope that a similar event may be arranged in the not too distant future.

And while we are on the subject of joint meetings it will be well to give further details of the gathering at the Stow Country Club to be assembled on Wednesday, Sept. 13 under the management of the Rotary Club of Arlington and beside this club, including the Concord, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn Clubs. Members will be welcomed at any time during the day and those who plan to enter the 36 hole golf match should be there in the forenoon. Various competitive events have been arranged by the Committee and suitable prizes will be awarded. By all means be at the lunch which will be served at 7 p. m. standard time. Those who were present at the Rye Beach affair some two or three years ago will need no further urging. Food and fun in the Rotary style will combine to give a most convincing explanation as to why life is worth the living.

Route for automobiles—to Concord Center; then via Route 62 through Maynard to Stow Center, straight ahead for $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles to sign which directs a right turn to the Stow Country Club. Arrangements are being made to have this route marked with arrows. There will be no other meeting of our club during next week and members who do not go to Stow should make up attendance at other club meetings. But why omit the Stow affair?

Next meeting at home quarters, Thursday, Sept. 21. Attendance percentage for Aug. 31—81 per cent.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

"Prohibition Reformers" Liquor Laws

A great deal is being said in regard to having the "Drys" join with the "Prohibition Reformers" in trying to pass a law in Massachusetts that would take the place of the 18th Amendment. This suggestion has appealed to some drys, but there are others who feel that there is very little choice between the various types of liquor laws that are being suggested.

The increase in drunkenness in the Province of Quebec since a government control form of liquor legislation was adopted there is a formidable warning in regard to what not to do. If liquor is sold openly in Massachusetts, a vigorous campaign of liquor advertising will start.

As radios are on a national hookup, radio advertising cannot be forbidden by state law and millions of radios will be proclaiming the wonders of various brands of hard drinks right in the heart of our American homes. Newspapers from neighboring states reach each other so easily that no attempt will be made at a state law forbidding liquor advertising in newspapers. Already the greed of speculators is leading to vicious speculating in "wet" issues, and the liquor dealers and the government are so eager for revenue that a vigorous campaign urging people to drink is about to be launched. All believers in temperance whether they believe in the 18th amendment or not, should unite in teaching the infinite advantages of total abstinence. The only way that the powerful liquor interests, who, before the 18th amendment controlled this country, can be thwarted is by the uniting of all good citizens in giving liquor a boycott.

RAIN! RAIN! RAIN!

After the summer drought, Winchester has had its full share of rain during the past few weeks. Following the heavy downpour of the holiday Monday, causing postponement of all out-door activities, a heavy rain, preceded by a thunder shower, drenched the town Wednesday night. Two especially heavy claps of thunder marked the conclusion of the pyrotechnics around 9 o'clock, the final bolt striking the top cross arm of the lofty Western Union pole at the southerly end of the railroad crossing. This bolt alarmed many people, especially those about the center.

The flash and thunder was followed by smoke in the telegraph office in the Star Building, and the fire department was notified. Deputy Chief Gorman visited the building and found that no damage had been done. No reports of damage were recorded elsewhere about town.

TWO FIRES YESTERDAY

Two fires occurred in town yesterday headed by a blaze at the residence of police officer James E. Farrell on Middlesex street. For this blaze Box 41 was rung in by Mrs. Farrell at 3:45 in the afternoon, a blaze in the attic having gained much headway before she discovered it. Two beds and the top rooms of the house with their furnishings were badly damaged. Children and matches were reported as probably responsible for the fire, the news of which was considerable of a shock to the officer upon his return home.

Later in the day, at 6:35, a telephone call from the home of Mrs. Sarah M. White at 25 Foxcroft road took apparatus to that place. Ignition of a steak in the gas stove had given indication of starting a lively fire, but the blaze was extinguished by the time the apparatus arrived. The kitchen was badly smoked up, but the material damage was small.

HOUSE BROKEN INTO

The police were notified last evening of a break in the house at 18 Hillside avenue occupied by Charles F. Sheldon. The family left the house at 8:45 and drove to Wilmington, returning at 9:45, when the break was discovered. Money and jewelry was stolen.

The house is occupied also by Mr. Henry B. Harris, who has the lower apartment. Members of his family heard someone walking about upstairs within five minutes after the Sheldons left. Entrance was effected by placing some sort of a ladder against the house, raising a second story screen and forcing the window.

Many similar breaks have occurred in this vicinity and this one is attributed to the same thief.

PUBLIC CALENDAR HOLDS MANY DATES

More than 50 entries have already been made in the public calendar for dates of general interest which is sponsored by the Winchester Mothers' Association and the Winchester College Club. The calendar hangs in Mary Spaulding's Bookshop, Thompson street, where it may be consulted at any time during business hours. Secretaries of organizations and chairmen of committees are urged to put their chosen dates on record as soon as possible. It is hoped that by this means, unfortunate conflicts may be avoided.

GOODWILL TALE

It all happened with such sickening swiftness that your natural inclination was to shake yourself, hoping against hope that you were dreaming.

A scream of warning, the grinding of brakes, the whistling of escaping steam, the thundering roar of the passing train, the policeman's whistle and the the clanging bell of the ambulance—and the accident had happened and the poor young fellow was being rushed to the emergency hospital. Another case of a man stepping in front of a train, his mind set on other things.

They had to take his legs off. There was no other way of saving him. A platform was built for him with roller bearing casters so that he might get about. He wanted desperately to live. He had to live and make a living at something too.

His insurance and Railroad Compensation took care of his long seige at the hospital, but after that—what? He would not beg even though he was what other beggars called a "natural" in that regard. He tried writing, show card painting, and innumerable other lines, but the income just wasn't large enough. He had a fine set of tools, and wanted to get into the manufacturing jewelers business.

Finally, hopelessly discouraged, on the verge of selling his kit of jewelers tools, he came into the Goodwill Industries in San Diego and there after an hour spent with the kindly secretary he was given temporary employment while every effort was being made to contact the Rehabilitation Department of the state.

And so, another human derelict was snatched from the streets and through the genius of the Goodwill Industries which save the waste in men and things, a new hope was born and a new opportunity given for self-respecting wages rather than begging.

The above Goodwill Tale gives the reader a graphic picture which plays up the two extremes of help. First: the beggar and the bebasing effects in terms of the loss of self-respect and character—undoubtedly, the easier way, and second: the Goodwill Method of supplying the unfortunate person with a chance to work and thus win self-respect. If you will now make every effort to fill your Goodwill Bag and notify us that it is ready for collection, we can continue in this unselfish work. The need is great, get in touch with your nearest Goodwill and they will gladly call for your bag or supply you with one in which to place your cast-off clothing and household goods.

Of our trust, thy gift in fee.

SUMMER CONFERENCES ATTRACT MANY CHURCH SCHOOL TEACHERS OF WINCHESTER

Enthusiasm for and interest in one's job leads one far afield at times. Witness the devotion of the Sunday School teachers who gladly leave their pleasant summer homes and leisurely vacation days to study at one or another of the many summer conferences for Religious Education.

At most of these schools, standard credits in leadership training are given for satisfactory completion of work. Our Community School for training Church School workers, which opens in Winchester, Oct. 2, gives the same standard credits. Dr. Forrest L. Knapp, Director of Leadership Training for the International Council of Religious Education, says, in regard to this standard diploma:

"Its value lies chiefly in the fact that it is a mark of progress and indicates to the student and to his church that he has taken the trouble to carry through a definite and systematic program of training. Also, its value lies in the fact that it indicates that the person is prepared to do further training."

The First Baptist Church sent the following delegates;

Mrs. Brooks Jakeman to the Missionary Conference at Northfield, Mass.

To the Ocean Park, Me., School of Methods—Walter Josephson, Herbert MacDonald, Hazel Nagle, Elizabeth Winchester, Gladys Woodford, Robert Woodford.

From the First Congregational Church to the Northfield Conference of Religious Education went Mrs. James S. Allen, Miss Virginia Dolloff, Miss Doris McElwain, Miss Mary Wright, Mr. Kirby Thwing.

Attending the Young People's Camp at the same conference and securing standard credits for their work were Miss Rosamond Robb, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, Judson B. Cross, Harrie W. Miller.

Star Island, one of the Isles of Shoals, off the coast of New Hampshire, is the unsurpassed location of the Unitarian Conference. The delegates from that parish were Mrs. John P. Carr, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Daniel F. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Miller.

MARRIED SATURDAY EVENING

Miss Catherine Celia Harrigan of 21 Glenwood avenue, daughter of Mr. John C. Harrigan, was married on Saturday evening last at the parish of the Immaculate Conception Church to Mr. Harrison W. Harrison, sister of the bride, and Mr. Lewis F. Marshall of Woburn.

LEGION DEFEATED CAMBRIDGE RED SOX

"Ollie" Lee's single in the ninth inning, scoring "Robbie" Robinson from third base, gave the Winchester Legion a 3 to 4 win over the Cambridge Red Sox on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon.

Only a handful of fans saw the game which was a ding dong battle all the way. The Red Sox substituted for the North Cambridge K. of C. nine, the "Caseys" having cancelled all games following the tragic death of one of their members who was struck by a pitched ball in a game played the night before their scheduled visit to Winchester.

The Red Sox proved a fast fielding, snappy outfit, but couldn't seem to hit when hits meant much of anything, despite the fact that Robinson was only throwing them up there during the last two of the four innings he was on the mound while Lee, who relieved him, never had the appearance of really bearing down.

The visitors claimed several of their best players were playing on the Cape over the holiday, and this may have accounted for their lack of punch. Enright, their pitcher, weakened perceptibly toward the end of the route, and was in trouble nearly every inning after the half-way mark.

Winchester might have run up a larger score than was the case, if the locals hadn't blazed into three twin killings that just about saved Enright's life each time.

The Legion scored first in the third. Chefalo hit a liner into centerfield on which LaRond attempted to make a shoestring catch. The Red Sox fielder started slowly for the ball, and threw himself forward in a diving attempt to catch the apple. He slid along the ground on his stomach and came up with the ball, but Umpire Roche ruled he had trapped it and permitted Chefalo to stay on first, incidentally presenting the local manager with his team's first hit.

Kendrick sacrificed, Enright to Deluise, and Robinson flied out to Enright. Lee, however, drove out a single to center to bring in the run. Coluci sent up a sky-scraper to Loud.

The Red Sox tied it in the fourth. Terolito bounced a single off Coluci's thigh and advanced as Robinson passed Casey. Tansey picked Terolito away off second, but Chefalo lost his sharp peg and the Red Sox second sacker scored for third. "Nick" Fitzgerald's throw to Kendrick was wild, and the run was over, the ball striking Loud on the side of the head as he coached at third, laying him flat. He recovered quickly, the game went on, D. McAuliffe flying to F. Tansey and Deluise rapping to Robinson.

With two out in the 5th the visitors scored again. LaRond working Lee, who had relieved Robinson, for a walk and riding all the way in on Loud's triple to center. Gough ended things with a fly to Robinson in right.

The Legion scored in its half. Two were out when Kendrick singled past Loud, but "Skin" reached third when Casey lost his drive and then took his time in going after the ball. Robinson's single past Deluise sent in Kendrick, but Casey took Lee's fly to end the rally.

Coluci singled over second to start the 6th, and advanced as "Nick" Fitzgerald singled into centerfield. "Jim" Fitzgerald hit into a double play, Gough taking his roller and stepping on third to force Coluci and then pegging out big "Harpy" at first. "Joe" Tansey, however, came through with a pretty single into left center to score N. Fitzgerald, and went to third as brother Francis drove out a hit to right. Chefalo hit to deep short where Loud made a nice catch of his drive on the short hop and flipped the ball to Terolito in time to force F. Tansey.

With two out in the 8th the Red Sox finally started a batting rally. Casey singled to right, and went to second when J. Tansey pegged wildly trying to pick him off first. D. McAuliffe doubled to center, sending in the runner, and the Red Sox catcher scored himself when Coluci and Chefalo let Deluise's Texas leaguer fall between them. Robinson made a great running catch of Hourihan's fly, the latter batting for E. McAuliffe.

Winchester pulled up on even terms in the 8th. With two away J. Fitzgerald bounced a single off Gough's shins and went to second as Enright uncorked a wild pitch. J. Tansey walked and F. Tansey was safe when Terolito fumbled his harshly hit grounder. With the bases full Chefalo singled past Loud to score J. Fitzgerald, but Kendrick's roller to Gough forced F. Tansey at third.

Lee set the Red Sox down in order in the 9th, and the locals won in their half with no one out.

Enright, who was fading rapidly, hit Robinson, the first batter to face him, and seeing second base open and nobody paying much attention to the game, "Robbie" stole the keystone cushion. He went to third when Enright pegged wildly trying to catch him off second and scored when Lee bounced one high over second into center field.

Notes

"Robbie" acted as though the heat bothered him last Saturday. He simply went through the motions while he was in the box, and why the supposedly strong Red Sox batters didn't murder his offerings was a puzzler for the fans.

"Tony" Coluci strengthened the Legion both in the field and at the bat. His play on that grounder of D. McAuliffe's in deep short in the second was a pip. So too was his long accurate throw to "Fitzy" at first for the putout.

LaRond might have had a homer on his drive to centerfield in the 3rd if the ball hadn't hit the hockey goal. "Robbie" just lobbed one up to the Cambridge centerfielder and he smacked it—right on the nose.

All hands gathered at the pitching rubber in the 5th when Francis Tansey took exceptions to the way Enright was pitching. Francis contended that the visiting hurler was not pitching from the rubber according to Hoyle, and his style did look a bit unorthodox from the bleachers.

Each team earned two runs, so the game wasn't exactly without defensive flaws. Poor throwing costs teams more runs than any other form of misplay, yet there are few clubs in the semi-pro ranks who peg accurately more than half the time. In practice the boys do not seem to take their throwing seriously, yet the peg is fully as important as getting the ball off the ground or through the air.

The Legion got one of its two earned runs as the result of Kendrick's sacrifice. Once before and twice after, the locals blazed away and hit into double plays.

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald had a busy afternoon of it at first with 13 putouts, one more than Deluise had for the Red Sox. Terolito, visiting second sacker accepted 11 of 12 chances and looked very good out there. His error was on a hard hit grounder from Francis Tansey's bat that bounced none too well off the dirt.

"Joe" Tansey continues to be the most reliable batter on the local club. He was up four times Saturday, got two walks and a nice single, the latter coming when it meant a run. Those are the kind that count.

Lee and Chefalo both came through with hits when they were needed. Both got two singles and each was robbed of another hit when first Loud and then Gough tossed in fine plays on their good bids for safeties. Gough's play of Lee's slow bouncer in the seventh was a honey, the Red Sox third sacker coming in fast to get the ball and throwing it accurately to first while on the dead run.

This great play was matched by Loud who faded back rapidly in the sixth to make a fine catch of Chefalo's bounder in deep short field and toss to Terolito to force Francis Tansey. With no runner on first, the blow would have probably been a hit, though Loud has a good whip and might have gotten Harry.

MALDEN STRAND ATTRACTIONS

Skip Sommerville and Zasu Pitts are co-starred together in "Her First Mate" and be say that they have outdone their previous efforts is to put it mildly. The picture is a positive riot of merriment. This delightful comedy pair are presented as a married couple living in a "chick" town on the shore of Long Island Sound, with the husband dreaming of a career as captain of an ocean-going freighter—and working in a menial position on an Albany night boat. The fun begin in real earnest when his wife, in an attempt to satisfy his longing, secretly spends their entire joint savings to buy for him the little ferry boat which operates out of their town, notwithstanding the fact that the ambitious Slim regards the ram shackle tub with lofty contempt. Never before have Sommerville and Miss Pitts been so aptly cast as in "Her First Mate" and never before have they appeared together in a picture so plentifully supplied with funny situations and dialogue. The same degree of excellence is noticeable in the cast which has made the most of every situation. The supporting cast includes Una Merkel, Warren Hymer and Henry Armetta.

"The Man Who Dared" is the title of the second attraction at the Strand Malden starting Friday and is based on some colorful and romantic incidents in the life of Chicago's late mayor, Anton Cermak. "The Man Who Dared" is brimful with drama, action, dynamic excitement and a good supply of human comedy.

GRANADA THEATRE, MALDEN

All roads will lead to the big Granada Theatre in Malden starting Saturday when "Tugboat Annie," starring Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery opens a seven day engagement. This new Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery film has been the biggest drawing card the screen has known in the past three years, breaking the records established by this great duo in their sensational hit, "Min and Bill." "Tugboat Annie" is adapted from the celebrated stories by Norman Reilly Raine. Marie Dressler plays the title role of "Tugboat Annie," with Wallace Beery as her husband, Terry. Frankie Darro plays their son when a youth, with Robert Young portraying the younger grown to manhood. The son studies navigation, becomes the captain of a liner, marries the daughter of a shipping magnate and seeks to remove his parents from the tug which is their livlihood, home and the means by which the parents were able to give him an education. Beery, the father, lapses into his old alcoholic ways and the son disowns him—but when, in rescuing the son's liner, the father makes an astounding sacrifice, their difficulties are smoothed out. Beery's scenes, plunging the leaking boiler tubes in a flaming firebox at sea, is the dramatic highlight of the film. Miss Dressler and Beery battle and make up to the delight of the audience. To become the outstanding box office film of recent years a picture has to have that certain something that every screen fan enjoys and whatever this may be, "Tugboat Annie" has it.

"Mary Stevens, M.D." will be the second attraction on the Granada bill for Saturday. Kay Francis and Lyle Talbot have the leads, with Glenda Farrell, Thelma Todd and George Cooper appearing in support. Miss Francis portrays a woman who studies medicine and falls in love with a doctor in her class. After they both receive their degree, the man thinks a social marriage with Thelma Todd will help his career. Miss Francis steps aside and it is not until the man gets entangled in a domestic scandal that financial difficulties first arise, his arrest, that she goes to him and gives him her love. By this time Miss Francis is a famous baby specialist, and about to become an unwed mother. During an epidemic on shipboard, Miss Francis saves the lives of a number of children, but all her skill fails to save her own child. "Mary Stevens, M.D." is one of Miss Francis' finest pictures.

Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery in "Another Language" heads the bill that ends its run at the Granada on Friday. "Mama Loves Papa" with Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland starred is the second attraction on the current bill.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A well balanced program of comedy and drama will greet the patron of the Capitol Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. For sheer, grim, revealing drama, James Cagney in "The Mayor of Hell" follows closely on the heels of "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang." The story of Islin Auster is a burning indictment of a certain class of so-called Reform Schools in which boys of tender age are subjected to almost unbelievable cruelties. Ably assisting Cagney is a splendid cast containing such stars as Madge Evans, Dudley Digges, Frankie Darro, Mickey Bennett and many others.

For a round of joy, romance and gayety, "Best of Enemies" is the companion picture marking the triumphant return of Buddy Rogers to the screen. The story is timely and the romance set against a background of recent news is highly original. The cast in support of Buddy Rogers includes Marian Nixon, Frank Morgan, Joseph Cawthorn and Greta Nissen.

For the last three days of the week starting Thursday, the screen will resound with rhythmic continuity in "Melody Cruise," featuring Charlie Ruggles, Phil Harris and 10 maddening maidens on a maiden cruise. "Melody Cruise" is a story entirely set to music.

On the same program is Paramount's "Disgraced!" a beautifully told story of a woman's fight for love featuring Helen Twelvetrees and Bruce Cabot. Included in the cast are Adrienne Ames, William Harrigan and Ken Murray.

"STORM AT DAYBREAK" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATER

The triangular conflict of a man who falls in love with the wife of his best friend is treated from a new angle in "Storm at Daybreak" which opens Sunday at the University with Kay Francis and Nils Asther starred, and with the brilliant character actor, Walter Huston, and Phillips Holmes heading a large supporting cast. The picture, a romance laid in the Balkans at the outbreak of the World War, is based on the play, "Black Stemmed Cherries," by the Hungarian playwright, Sandor Hunyady. The story opens with the assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand and his wife in Sarajevo, (which event precipitated the World War) and then centers on the lives of three persons who become engulfed in the bitter strife between Hungarians and Serbs.

"I Loved You Wednesday," the screen presentation of the successful Broadway play of the same name, is the companion feature. The cast includes Wallace Baxter, Elissa Landi, Miriam Jordan, Victory Jory and Laura Hope Crews.

"Mama Loves Papa" first co-starring picture for that ideally-mated pair of comedians, Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles, starts Thursday. Miss Boland and Ruggles are a middle-aged couple whose troubles begin when Miss Boland, filled with ideas of "culture" learned from popular lecturers, decides that her husband must wear formal dress on every possible occasion. When he goes to his office in a cutaway and striped pants, he starts a series of fateful events that cost him his job, cinch his selection to an important civic post, get him fired again, and generally upset his and his wife's well ordered life.

"Mary Stevens, M. D." the companion feature starring Kay Francis, carries a glowing love story of love between two school pals, both of whom select medicine as their career. It is based on the novel by Virginia Kellogg. In the cast with Miss Francis are Lyle Talbot, Glenda Farrell, Thelma Todd, Hobart Cavanaugh and Harold Huber.

Bedrock Economies

A student attending the Utah State Agricultural college drove to the institution in an automobile on which he had built a shelter offering some of the comforts of home. The craft was anchored on the campus and he saves room rent by using it for sleeping quarters. In this manner he managed to live at the minimum rate through the aid of weekly "remittances" of fruit and vegetables from the home farm.

[illegible] Subject "[illegible]stance."

[illegible] the subject of the Lesson-Sermon [illegible] read in all Churches [illegible] Sept. 10.

[illegible] "Thy name, O Lord, endureth [illegible] O Lord throughout [illegible] generations" (Psalms 135: 13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matthew 6:19-21).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christianity causes men to turn naturally from matter to Spirit, as the flower turns from darkness to light. Man then appropriates those things which 'eye hath not seen nor ear heard.' Paul and John had a clear apprehension that, as mortal man achieves no worldly honors except by sacrifice, so he must gain heavenly riches by forsaking all worldliness. Then he will have nothing in common with the worldling's affections, motives, and aims" (p. 239).

ACHIEVING AMBITION TO BE STATE TROOPERS, YOUNG MEN IN TRAINING

Three weeks ago 22 young men reported at the muster field in Framingham and began a training course which will convert them into patrolmen of the Massachusetts State Police. There was a soldier, a marine sergeant, a teacher, an athlete, a newspaper reporter, an insurance man, a minister, a policeman, an engineer, and a piccolo player (amateur).

When they are graduated at the end of October and given their badges and sky-blue uniforms, every one will be a State patrolman ready to cope with any emergency, members of a disciplined co-ordinated body of men ready to preserve and protect the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. They are not romantic youths attracted by the glitter of the badge, the snappy uniforms, and a desire for a few years of adventurous life. They are alert, intelligent young men who want to become policemen and who are aiming at executive posts in the years to come. Some of them are married. Five of them hold college degrees. They are the pick of 7000 young men of Massachusetts who applied.

Arthur T. O'Leary of Winchester, who was a reporter for a Boston paper wrote many columns of news about the State police when he covered the trial of Capt. Charles T. Beaupre, former executive officer of the department, related the method by which the men were selected. Mr. O'Leary is one of the 22 men now in training.

"I've always wanted to be a policeman. Like all kids, I had the desire to be a policeman when I grew up, but where most kids get over it, the desire seemed to grow on me. Seven years ago I went into the newspaper business and that threw me in contact with policemen and kept my desire appeased for a while, but the urge was still there. I have always had my eye on a job as a state detective, and that's what I hope to land eventually. My folks aren't keen about the idea, but I made up my mind that I was going to get on the State Police, so a few months ago I filed an application for enlistment. I find now that I was one of 7000 others that filed a similar application.

"The first thing was the physical examination and that was a terror. They did everything but operate on us to make sure we were healthy. Only 1017 out of 7000 got beyond the physical examination. The next thing was the mental examination. It started off with an intelligence test, one of those psychological examinations in which they put in some tricky questions in an effort to confuse you. We had half an hour to complete this. Next there was a written examination. There were five questions. Let's see if I can remember them. The first was, 'Name the states bordering Massachusetts and give their direction in the compass.' The second was, 'Who are the highest civil officers in the state, county, city, and town?' The third was a problem in arithmetic and the fourth was a whole list of words in which we had to pick out the ones that were mis-spelled. The last problem was to write a letter addressed to the commissioner and tell in 100 words what qualifications we had that would make us fit to be state policemen.

"Only 410 out of 1017 passed these tests," said Mr. O'Leary. "After that we had to go and be interviewed by the commissioner." The outstanding comment of the men on their selection for the training is one of surprise. As Mr. O'Leary put it, "There isn't a political appointee here. Everyone of the men was chosen on merit, and that's what makes us all feel so good about it. I don't think there is a man here who really expected that he had a chance of getting on, because they figured political influence was essential."

The training camp, a group of army tents set far back from the turnpike on the muster field, is in charge of Lieut. James E. Hughes, commander of Troop D and for many years commander of the department's training school. With him are Sergt. Andrew J. Byrne of Troop A at Framingham and Corp. Joseph E. Phillips of Troop C, who is commander of the Grafton barracks. Corp. Phillip's home is in Worcester.

The class is composed of Daniel J. Collins of Mattapan, who has just completed an enlistment in the army air service and was stationed in Hawaii; James F. Conniff of Newtonville, who serenades the camp on his piccolo; James L. Concannon of Dorchester; George E. Grady of Brockton; Ralph M. Hall of Winthrop; James H. Hayes of Wollaston, a graduate of New Hampshire State University; Joseph B. Hurley of Somerville; James Howarth, Jr., of New Bedford; Melvin V. Moore of Mattapan. Edward P. Neziolek of Ware is the only Worcester County man in the class. Mr. Neziolek is a graduate of Colby College and was a teacher in Vermont last year; Gilbert Orth of Westfield; Ernest Peabody of Georgetown, Harold Peloquin of West Roxbury, Thomas J. Qualters of Somerville, a graduate of Notre Dame University and a member of the backfield of one of Knute Rockne's famous football teams; George A. Ralls of Lowell, Prescott Randlett of Winchester, a Dartmouth graduate and Boston insurance man; Roland Savage of Everett, who resigned last winter from the Asbury Park, N. J. police force after three years' service; Harold Searles of New Bedford, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; E. Barton Thomas, Jr., of Newtonville, Rev. Ernest A. Thorsall of South Foxboro, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, an ordained Baptist minister and pastor of the Union Church of South Foxboro; Donald P. Tullock of Boston, and Earl W. Tobin of Medford, a sergeant in the United States Marine corps, who is now in Washington seeking a discharge to go ahead with his training with the class.

"This has got it all over Hawaii," commented Mr. Collins, as he stood in the entrance to his tent. That was too much of the Oriental for me, and then the monotony of it nearly drove me crazy. You could take a drive around the island if you wanted to, 90 miles, and then you were back right where you started. Maybe this job will mean winter patrols in deep snow and pretty tough work at times, but it looks a lot more attractive to me than Hawaii. I'm keen for it and can't wait until I get out as a full-fledged patrolman."

To Mr. Savage it was just a new treatment of an old job. Mr. Neziolek is also thriving on the new duties which he has taken on. True, part of it means cleaning off the tables after meals, but that is preferable to teaching in his opinion.

Rev. Mr. Thorsall finds that the training is "a lot of fun" and is in no way impairing his ability to get up Sunday mornings and preach a good sermon to his growing congregation. Right now he is at a loss to discuss his new field, "because I haven't gone far enough in it" but he cannot see that it will conflict with his present pastorate, "at least for a few weeks." "When I came to the church, there were only 18 in the congregation. I've built it up to 135 and I'm very proud of it." But the remuneration is small, he confesses, and his congregation understands his necessity for amplifying his income. "I've had several of the congregation up to see me," he reports with a smile. One of his principal reasons for joining the force Rev. Mr. Thorsall comments on very sparingly, and that is loneliness. He'll soon overcome this, as he is already "Bishop" to the men in his class. About a year ago he lost his wife and infant son. His new duties will fill his long hours and it is possible, he indicates, that in a few years he may seek a post as a chaplain in the U. S. Navy. The state police training will stand him in good stead in such a position, he believes.

Lieutenant Hughes has with him two officers as assistant instructors, who have many years of service in the State Police behind them. Sergeant Byrne, who spent several years in Texas, and has the appearance of a regular army sergeant, puts the men through the training in arms and horsemanship. Corporal Phillips is the physical instructor and coaches the recruits on motorcycle riding and the care of the machines.

Law plays a large part in their training and Lieut. Michael J. Barrett of Boston, one of the state detective force, teaches this course. Lieutenant Barrett has instructed State Policemen in law and legal procedure since the first class went through in 1921. Another man who plays an important part in this training period is Thomas Gould of Boston. Mr. Gould is the chef and three times a day has to laden the tables for 22 keen appetites.

The class is outfitted with the olive-green uniforms which the department discarded a few months ago. Some of these bear the black shoulder-straps and double braid of a lieutenant and others the single wide strip of braid which designated the sergeant. Now they are all just recruits. At 6 o'clock in the morning they are aroused and at 6:15 go through calesthenics. Breakfast is at 7 o'clock and formal inspection at 8:15. This is followed by dismounted drill until 9 o'clock, when they have an hour's instruction in the art of jiu jitsu. From 10 until 12 o'clock Lieutenant Barrett has the student policemen in his law class. Following dinner they are taught to use revolvers and rifles. This is followed by motorcycle riding and instructions in the care and repair of these machines. Later in the course they will be taught horsemanship. These courses end at 3:30 o'clock and from then until 5:30, there is volleyball, baseball or soccer. After supper there is a rest period until 7 o'clock when they go to their tents to do their "homework" in the law course. From 9 until 10 o'clock they are free.

Every Saturday examinations are conducted in the various courses. These are concluded by 4:30 and the recruits are permitted to go to their homes. They must report back by 10 p. m. Sunday night.

The camp is furnished with electric light supplied from the portable plant which the State Police purchased during the Beckett flood a few years ago.

Few Active Volcanoes

Few volcanoes are active in the United States. Mount Lassen, in California, shows occasional small outbreaks. Mount Hood, in Oregon, exhales vapor, as also does Mount Rainier in Washington. The Mono valley craters and Mount Shasta are extinct, like most of the many volcanic peaks in the Cascade range. Mount St. Helens in Washington was in eruption in 1841 and 1842, and Mount Baker in the same state was active in the following year. An eruption occurred in 1857 at Tres Virgenes, in the south of California.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

The seventh annual field day of the Winchester Playgrounds held on Tuesday, Sept. 5 brought the playground season to a very successful close. The attendance at the playgrounds this year amply repaid all effort put into their maintenance. The average daily attendance was between 100 and 150 children on both Leonard Field and Loring Avenue. One hundred and twenty boys took part in the baseball league, both of which were won by Leonard Field. This year competition was held with Lexington, Arlington and Melrose—transportation to those respective towns being furnished by the playground supervisors, and return matches were held in Winchester. Each year the efficiency of the playgrounds, under the directorship of Mr. George Davidson, increases and it is hoped that in ensuing years better equipment may be purchased in order to facilitate the activities at the playgrounds.

The field day which was to have been held on Labor Day morning was postponed to Tuesday morning and the following were the winners of the races:

100 yard dash for girls—1st, J. Luongo; 2nd, C. Moran.

50 yard dash for girls—1st, V. Moran; 2nd, D. Murray.

Sack Race—1st, J. Luongo; 2nd, E. Luongo.

Three-Legged Race, Girls—1st, M. M. McDonald, M. Kelley.

Obstacle Race for Girls—1st, M. Horn; 2nd, M. Stevenson.

100 yard dash for boys—1st, D. Coss; 2nd, F. Murray.

50 yard dash for boys—1st, B. McDonald; 2nd, B. Doherty.

25 yard dash for boys—1st, B. Doherty; 2nd, B. Callahan.

Sack Race for boys—1st, D. Coss; B. McDonald.

Three-Legged Race for boys—D. Coss, P. Hession.

Wheelbarrow Race—1st, J. Doherty, B. Callahan.

Prizes were awarded to James McClellan, Jr. and Margaret Mary Connors for being the best all around boy and girl on the playgrounds.

The finals of the tennis tournament were held Tuesday afternoon and the winners were as follows:

Boys Over 12

Fred McCormick defeated James Doherty, 3—6, 11—9, 6—3.

Girls Over 12

Mara McDonald defeated Rose Russo, 9—7, 6—3.

Boys Under 12

"Billy" McDonald defeated Fred Donovan, 6—0, 6—1.

Beginners' Girls

Gertrude Kelley defeated Margaret Mary McDonald, 6—2.

Beginners' Boys

Paul Kelley defeated James McClellan, 6—4.

It is interestig to note that for the four years that these tournaments have been held at the Loring avenue courts, Mara McDonald and "Billy" McDonald have been winners in their respective classes. The most interesting match of the afternoon was that between Fred McCormick and James Doherty. James has shown a great improvement and Fred had to use all his skill to defeat him. These boys and girls have all developed wonderfully under the able guidance of "Bob" Bernnard, their playground instructor, and wish also to express their appreciation to Mr. Riley, who gave them instruction on several occasions.

Therefore, with the taking down of the swings, see-saws, sand boxes, basketball courts and merry-go-round, we may all feel that the playgrounds have served a three-fold purpose: 1. Keeping the boys and girls out of doors taking part in healthful recreation. 2. Giving them instruction in the playing of games. 3. Competing with others to bring out the best ideals of sportsmanship and leadership.

SUGGESTS RETAIL STORES CO-OPERATE

Secretary Wallace, concerned over the difficult situation of the dairy farmers upon whom the enormous surplus of butter is especially burdensome, has suggested that retail stores co-operate with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration by moving butter into consumption as quickly as possible, reducing the price of butter to make it attractive to the consumer on the basis of two cents per pound above local wholesale market.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company announces that its co-operation is immediately effective, and that, beginning today, butter will be sold in all its stores throughout the country without profit. For example, if butter is selling at 23 cents per pound in the wholesale market, A. & P. has set the retail price of 25 cents per pound. This two cents only partially covers the retail stores expense. The 23 cents goes to the dairy farmer.

Deputy Fire Chief John Gorman and Fireman Alexander W. MacKenzie left on their vacation yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie will spend much of their leisure on a trip to Buffalo.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

"What can we do in September?" some parent-teacher associations are already asking.

The far-seeing P. T. A's did much of their initial work for the coming year in the early summer, but there are still some associations which have not gained a running start. To them be it said, there are plenty of things to do to make September a busy month for their members.

Of greatest importance there are committee meetings to be held, especially committees which have been appointed to deal with programs, membership, hospitality, and finance. All of these committees must "make hay while the sun shines," that is, early in the parent-teacher year.

It is most important that the monthly programs for the year be planned, and a printed program ready to give or send to members at the time of the first meeting. And that first meeting, by the way, often takes the form of a reception, so that the year may start with John's father and mother meeting John's teachers, and Mary's teacher knowing Mary's parents, and everybody getting acquainted with superintendent, principal, and assistant teachers. Once these relationships are happily established, many misunderstandings and foreboding fears stand a good chance of being permanently eliminated. So by all means this social get-together in September, for the sake of the ultimate school success of the children, is enthusiastically recommended. The Program Committee may safely start here.

This is a busy time for the Membership Committee. New families have come to town and their children are to be pupils in the school. There is danger of losing some members who have moved to outlying sections of the school community. And there are those whose interest in children must not be allowed to flag even though their own boys and girls have entered business or other institutions. The Membership committee will be very busy in September—and it must have a large personnel.

Without the Hospitality Committee a meeting can become a "tinkling cymbal." No matter how delectable the sandwiches, and how aromatic the coffee, the shy parent can be quite miserable if no welcoming hand is outstretched to him at the door and no friendly voice welcomes him to his first parent-teacher meeting. So let this committee be large and never failing in its primary job of making a hospitable place of the schoolhouse—a place which parents will want to go to.

The Finance Committee will be responsible for devising ways and means to make possible the projects which the association decides will best promote the welfare of the children in its school community. One large money-making event early in the year is much more rewarding, as well as less diverting and devastating, than several small affairs. It may well be planned in September.

Then there are many other committees, corresponding to national and state congress committees, which have been chosen to work for special objectives. All may get a good start for the year by organizing early and getting under way in September.

For the elementary school P. T. A., an important feature of work in September is the completion of the summer round-up. Children who were examined in May and who are now entering school for the first time must be re-examined in order to find out if remediable defects discovered in the spring have been removed. It is most important that every child shall begin his school life without physical or mental handicap.

These are some of the more important duties of a P. T. A. in September.

A CHILD ENTERING SCHOOL SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Tell his own name, address, and answer a simple question.
2. Speak plainly so as to be understood easily.
3. Be willing to stay in school without mother.
4. Keep from crying if he falls unless really hurt.
5. Play with a small group.
6. Be willing to share playthings with others and wait his turn.
7. Feel himself.
8. Show awakening responsibility toward caring for his personal belongings.
9. Put on his own rubbers and outer garments.
10. Have control of his bladder and bowels and give voluntary care to bodily functions.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS

(By the Observer)

Winchester fellow who has a creditor wonders why it is that he is bound to meet him every time he takes a walk up and down the town.

NRA is a religion of economic joy and hope. That is one of the great assurances of its final triumph over any system ever devised to end unemployment.

Beyond any question the most futile thing in the world for anybody to say is this: But don't tell anybody.

Civic leadership with true genious rather than ingenious civic leadership is what Winchester needs more than anything else.

A question for every good Winchesterite to ask frequently is: How do I treat my neighbors?

Every man here in Winchester is supposed to know his own business, but it is often mighty hard to convince his friends of the fact.

Lots of people in and out of fair Winchester have found that a rule may work both ways and still be a poor one.

Joy is standing in a Winchester road
Waiting for you. Come on!
And merry laughter helps you lift your load
As you travel onward to the dawn.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

By Eugene Bertram Willard

The common creed of mankind seems to be to measure happiness by what they can get and hang on to. But the true happiness in the business of living comes in imparting. It may be a glass of water; a word of comfort; a kindly judgment in place of criticism; friendly sympathy; a cheering song. Or it may be the sacrifice of ease, profit, life. In any case, so the giving be sincere and unselfish, it is accepted of the Almighty and blessed to the giver.

Human life is too valuable a thing, too essential a thing, too irrecoverable a thing once it is lost, not to be safeguarded to the utmost limit. "Safety first," says a sign not far from Winchester, "death is so permanent." No greater indictment has been made against the present age than that it has been so careless about life. We have been vastly more concerned about other things, which have only material values and which can be replaced. But safety measures to reduce the number of deaths to the minimum have been much too slow in coming. The preservation of life, our own and that of others, should have precedence over everything else. Everything else should make way for that. Even after taking all the precautions we can think of, there will still be lives snuffed out by accidental causes.

The church should be supremely concerned in the preservation of life. That is a part of religion. It is part of the creed taught all through the Bible. So all of the movements, great and small, which aim at making life safer as well as happier have their fullest sanction and their greatest inspiration in the Christian religion. Ever since our Lord came life has taken on a vaster significance and been increasingly regarded as a sacred possession. Every true Christian will help to make life safer, as well as better.

Every individual in and out of Winchester, even the humblest, has a distinct mission of his own, and the Almighty bestows just the gifts each one needs for the work allotted. He wants humble servants to go and sit down by the poor sick woman in her shabby home and tell her of the Savior's love; to visit institutions; to do the thousand little things of Christian service which must every day be done. If we diligently use our own gifts, however small they may be, and fill faithfully our own places, however lowly they may be, we shall be noble and shall meet God's approval.

Mohammedan Calendar

The Mohammedan calendar is the lunar calendar employed in all Mohammedan countries since July 16, A. D. 622. The era began with the Hejira, or flight, of Mohammed, the prophet, and his disciples from Mecca to Medina, following religious persecution. The years consist of 354 or 355 days. The beginning of the year thus retrogrades through different seasons, completing the circuit in about thirty three years. The thirteen hundredth year began Sunday, November 12, 1882. The year comprises 12 months of 29 and 30 days, supplemented by the addition of a day each to 11 years out of every 30 years.

RECEPTION TO WINCHESTER SCHOOL FACULTY

Monday afternoon, Sept. 11, the Winchester Mothers' Association gave an informal reception to the teachers of all the schools in the Wyman School kindergarten. Guests included Mr. James J. Quinn, Superintendent; Miss Blanche Pratt, Supervisor; Mr. Wade L. Grindle, High School Principal; and Mr. Raymond J. Dickman, Junior High Principal. Mothers were also invited and there were about 200 in attendance.

Although originally planned as an out-door reception, the cool weather made it more comfortable indoors. A crackling wood fire in the kindergarten fireplace proved a most welcome and cheery feature.

Mrs. Thomas Conlon, president of the Association received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Thomas McPartlin, 1st vice president; and Mrs. Lucius Smith, past President.

Mrs. Robert Drake and Mrs. James Quinn poured, while refreshments were served by a committee from the various school chapters under the direction of Mrs. Walter Keyes and Mrs. Richard Wyman, social chairmen of the Mothers' Association and much credit is due these ladies for a very pleasant afternoon.

Kelso Sutton of Allston was best man and there were no other attendants and no guests. Mr. and Mrs. Connor left for Marshfield where they will make their home.

The bridegroom is a 1930 graduate of Harvard College, where he was soloist for the Glee Club, and a member of the Instrumental Club and of D. U. Fraternity. He is now associated with Jordan Marsh Company. The bride was graduated this year from Miss Amy Sacker's School of Design.

Roger Bennett, of St. Mark's School, Southboro, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white lace with veil of white tulle and carried a bridal bouquet of bouvardia and orchids, and was attended by Mrs. Paul Millholland of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., who wore linen blue velvet and carried talisman roses. Mr. Robert G. Abbott of West Medford was best man. NRA CLUB NOTES

The next meeting of the Winchester NRA Club will be held in the general committee room of the Town Hall on Friday evening, Sept. 15, at 8 o'clock.

To deal with code pledges and complaints, an executive committee will be appointed at this meeting by Chairman George H. Lochman.

Naturally, representatives of industry, labor and business, as well as civic and welfare organizations will have to be considered, and Mr. Lochman is well qualified to carry out the instructions received from headquarters in regard to this matter.

The main purpose of forming local clubs is to obtain the consumers' signatures. Many have signed outside of their own localities, but this will not prevent them from signing cards presented by the local NRA Club's representatives, and helping town merchants.

It is conceded that the logical way to cover the Town is through the precincts. Therefore efforts are being made to have every precinct fairly represented in the Club, regardless of political, club, or other affiliations, in order to obtain the best results.

The NRA is essentially a patriotic movement, with no emolument or patronage strings attached. Harmony is the keynote of the present regime, and all should unite to preserve it in backing up the recovery plans which already have turned the nation towards the trail that means renewed prosperity.

Of course, steps will be taken to enlist the children as volunteer workers and a supply of buttons and "stickers" will be supplied to the heads of every precinct.

SHUH-SHUH-GAH TROPHY COMPETITION

To be Held Saturday, Sept. 23, at 3 P. M.

Winchester Boat Club will hold the First Annual Shuh-Shuh-Gah Trophy Competition on Mystic Lakes Saturday, Sept. 23, at 3 p. m. All boys and girls of Winchester, not over the age of 17 are eligible to compete. Contestants are notified that especial speed or skill is not necessary in this competition.

Ratings will be based on the following:

1. Embarking with passenger.
2. Paddling with passenger.
3. Landing with passenger.
4. General watermanship in the use of the canoe alone.
5. Upsetting and coming ashore alone with canoe and paddle.
6. Upsetting and coming ashore with canoe and passenger.

It is sincerely hoped that parents will encourage their children to participate in this event. Whereas the Mystic Lakes play such an important part in the recreation of the young people of Winchester, this annual event will prove to be of major importance in the safeguarding and protection of children.

By the above means, watermanship, caution and safety will be developed amongst those who seek the water as their recreation. This annual contest will bring skill and knowledge to many, who, in an emergency will have reason to thank the things they have acquired. The general public is cordially invited.

BASEBALL SATURDAY

The Immaculate Conception team will meet the St. Anthony team of Woburn, Saturday on Loring avenue.

There will be no game on Manchester Field as the seats have been put in place for football.

The game tomorrow will start at 3:15.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

Vacation is over for the Emblem Club. The first business session of the season is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Sept. 27 in Lyceum Hall and a full attendance is expected.

On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 20, Mrs. Fred H. Scholl will open her home at 51 Vine street for a bridge and whist party. Prizes are solicited and the whole-hearted support of the members is needed to make the affair a success.

As "Big Sister" of the Club, Mrs. Scholl has charge of all welfare work and her plans for the season include raising money for local relief work. Of course she has the substantial backing of "Big Brother Fred," newly appointed District Deputy of B. P. O. E., to encourage her in her efforts. Nevertheless, it is a big responsibility and very few of us would be able to undertake it. All last winter she distributed food, fuel and clothing to the needy of the town. Let us hope that this winter, through the efforts of the N.R.A., the needs of the unemployed will be less.

And speaking of the coming winter, it is already beginning to feel like fall. The little "yaller bird" in the tree in front of our door has a rather shivery look and carols no more in the early morning hours. Soon he'll be winging his way southward to sunshine and warmth—and we are going to miss him. Let us hope that "Old Man Depression" will take a hint and wing his way to the hottest climate—we are not saying just where—before winter comes. And we won't miss him!

The Supreme Convention of Emblem Clubs will be held this year at Swampscott, Oct. 1, 2 and 3. Delegates from Winchester Emblem Club include the President and all past Presidents. A list of the delegates has been sent to the Supreme Secretary. If any member does not receive her credentials before our regular meeting, it would be well for her to consult the secretary of the local Club. Experience has taught us that mistakes are liable to occur, and that we all still need erasers on our pencils.

The Convention will finish with a banquet, tickets for which may be obtained from our President, Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon, 14 Highland avenue. A program of events will be available at our next meeting.

COMMEND TREE PLANTING AT RESERVOIRS

Mr. E. C. Sanderson, chairman of the Water Board, with Mr. Edward F. Shea. Forrester for the Water Board, made a trip this week to the reservoir and water shed at Cochituate, Framingham, Sudbury, and Wachusette to inspect the forestry as carried on by the Metropolitan Water Board. Mr. Sanderson has recently had Dr. Faull, professor of Forest Pathology, at the Arnold Arboretum, and Dr. Fisher, director of the Harvard Forest at Petersham, inspect our forestry work at the reservoirs, both these specialists advise that the mixed growth of pine and hardwood trees be maintained and that the care given the plantation over the next 10 years will determine how successful the forestation work will be.

The reservoirs are very full for this time of year and unless we have a very dry period the town has ample supply for some years.

The eldest of the three, Vincent E. Murtha, 23, of Chelsea, was given from seven to nine years in State Prison.

These men were taken at the point of a gun by the Sergeant at the corner of Main and Washington streets after radio information concerning them had been received at police headquarters. The men were wanted in connection with other hold-ups.

The two police officers were publicly commended by the Selectmen and Chief Rogers for their efficient work in capturing the crooks.

(4) Leadership of Youth. Dr. Harry Thomas Stock, Instructor.—This course will deal with the materials and methods of work with young people; it will be so conducted that each member of the class may concentrate his study upon work with intermediate or seniors or young people, according to the age in which he is most interested.

Four combinations of these courses may be made: 1 and 3, 1 and 4, or 2 and 3 or 2 and 4.

Teachers of Kindergarten, Primary and Junior grades in Sunday School will, no doubt, choose 1 and 3 or 2 and 3. Mrs. Lobengier's Progressive Laboratory course and the Cultural course on the Life of Christ, or Mrs. Powell's Worship course and Professor Wildman's Life of Christ.

The leaders of the adolescent groups will probably prefer 1 and 4, better fitting the older point of view.

Parents of young children seeking suggestions in teaching religion in the home, will doubtless elect 1 and 3 as most helpful.

Thinking people, desirous of enriching their store of knowledge and inspiration would also choose 1 and 3.

Any officer of your Church School or any member of the Committee in charge of arrangements, will gladly furnish detailed information and registration cards.

Committee in charge of arrangements follows:

Mr. John L. Lobengier, Dean First Congregational Church.
Mrs. John F. Carr, Secretary, Unitarian.
Mr. Jack Hawkins, Treasurer, Crawford Memorial.
Mrs. Arthur N. Ball, Second Congregational.
Miss Ethel B. Davis, Church of the Epiphany.
Mrs. Daniel F. Huggins, Unitarian.
Miss Eda A. Knowlton, First Baptist.
Miss Alice G. Reynolds, First Congregational.
Mrs. Thomas Richardson, New Hope Baptist.
Mrs. John E. Whitley, Second Congregational.
Mr. Arthur L. Winn, First Baptist.

MAYOR CURLEY GUEST SPEAKER AT LEGION

On Thursday evening, Sept. 14 at the Legion Headquarters of the Winchester Post, 97 of the American Legion, Mayor James J. Curley of Boston delivered an inspiring address to almost 100 Legionnaires who filled the Legion house to capacity in honor of the distinguished guest speaker.

The keynote of Mr. Curley's address was a challenge to all Legionnaires for a high level of real Americanism during a period in which possibly no other organization in the nation can approach the Legion as an important factor in determining the progress of American civilization. Mr. Curley paid a fine tribute to the American Legion as a patriotic organization and expressed himself fervently and convincingly on the opportunity of the Legion to cherish its birthright—an obligation of leadership in shaping a national program of 100 per cent Americanism.

In the course of his address, Mr. Curley touched graphically upon pertinent local and national political questions. He sounded an inspiring call for loyal support of the President in his great program of reconstruction. His pungent representation of the contrast between European and American ideals of preparedness against war; his keen analysis of the origin and development of a spirit of dangerous pacifism in America; his insistence upon the maintenance of citizens' military training camps, were sincere and convincing.

Mr. Curley closed his address with a solemn plea for an awakening spirit of Americanism which should express itself in a determination to prepare, not for aggression nor necessarily for defense against invaders, but for holding fast to the standards for which Americans have fought and sacrificed their lives.

Mr. Curley's sincere earnestness reacted upon his audience as a spark upon tinder and was rewarded by a spontaneous applause no less sincere from the roomful of Legionnaires who deeply appreciated the fact that a man whose public demands are countless, could find time to address a group of representative citizens in a small suburban town.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

We take no pride in announcing that but six of our members went to Stow on the 13th. After making due allowance for those who found it impossible to get out of town on that date—but figure it for yourselves! It is now in order for delinquents to be diligent in making up attendance.

But it was good to go to Stow. There is an air of restfulness about the grounds of the Country Club which makes an instant appeal. The buildings nestled in a grove of stately shade trees, the fairway rolling on to the setting sun and the tasty viands to crown the well-spent day—all these beckon one to come again. To be sure President "Doc" Lawley appeared somewhat perturbed in the course of that unique game, "Watch! Watch! Who's got the Watch" but even that problem was finally solved. And then there was Elliott Smith and his other voice "Charlie," both in their best form. And "Eddie" McHugh, fresh from Germany or Ireland or Russia or Scotland or "what have you?" but always fresh. Need we mention "Church" Hindes and his "Alouette gang?" Surely a district Rotary meeting would be a bit pale without them. And over all wavered the dulcet tones of that German Band. And—but there is an end to everything and so to the cares of another day and a firm resolve to "be there" when playday comes again.

By-the-way, why not loosen that pen-finger a bit and sign your reservation card for accommodations at the Poland Spring House Sept. 24 to 27? Winchester should have a reasonably large representation at the Conclave. Surely this is a case where the exhortation "Do your part!" should be respected.

We are going to have a meeting of this club at home quarters on Thursday, Sept. 21. Let there be no "pussyfooting." Be there. And keep your eye on Clarence! He has his sleeves rolled up and vigorous action is forthcoming. But he will need your help just the same. Let's go.

Percentage of attendance Sept. 7—81 per cent.

CONGRESSWOMAN ROGERS HERE THURSDAY

A cordial invitation is extended to all Winchester people to call upon her, especially those desiring information or help in Federal problems or questions.

Mrs. Rogers, who has ably represented this district and who, although a Republican, received a most flattering vote last fall, will meet her friends in the Town Hall. The committee room on the second floor, formerly a part of the public library, has been set aside for the reception. She will be at the Town Hall from 3 to 5:30 and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Notice of Mrs. Rogers' visit will be mailed to all registered voters, but if your name is not on the list and you do not receive an invitation, you will be very welcome to meet her and are cordially invited to call.

CHILD INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Marie Circolo, 10 years old, of Tremont street, was struck by an automobile Wednesday afternoon on Washington street near Hancock street. According to report of the accident the child, standing on the sidewalk with other children, ran into the side of the car. She was taken to the Winchester Hospital, where examination revealed that she had suffered injuries to her right side, both legs and arms, and cuts about the face. She was later taken to her home. The automobile figuring in the accident was driven by Ruby B. Parker of Reading, who had neither her license nor registration with her.

Mrs. Gordan Mann of Euclid avenue is leaving Saturday to spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Douglass of Rogers Park, Chicago, Ill. She will be accompanied by her son, Douglass.

CHURCH BELLS

The Church bells sound again today,
Upon the quiet air,
Just as they sounded long ago
When life was fresh and fair.

They bring a balm to troubled souls,
A solace to the sad,
And bid the young heart pause to thank
The Power that makes it glad.

Long may they sound their message clear,
Upon New England's air,
To bid the Generation's pause
For worship and for prayer.

Even as our Father's prayer of old.
May our petition be,
For strength to do the will divine
That rules on land and sea.

FLIES BY PLANE TO VISIT OLD WINCHESTER FRIEND

Boston papers featured this week the flight by airplane from Salt Lake City, Utah, of Lorin M. Morrison, 80-year old miner and president of the "Silver Horn" and "King David" mines, to Boston to visit his old friend and comrade, D. W. Kimball of Wildwood street. Mr. Kimball, just 93 years old and a former well known Boston real estate and insurance broker, has made his home here during his life and is widely known to old-time residents. He is still hale and active.

His visitor, Mr. Morrison, makes his first airplane flight, during which, tempted by a charming young lady, he smoked his first cigarette.

Winchester and Woburn sportsmen are much interested in the fancy rifle and shot gun shooting to be featured at the Middlesex County League outing which is to be held at Hudson on Sunday, Sept. 17. A major attraction will be the presence of "Billy" Hill, who will give an exhibition of fancy shooting. His stunts include hitting marbles, small washers and 22 calibre shells thrown in the air. With the shot gun five eggs, thrown in the air, will be hit before they reach the ground. Nineteen sportsmen's clubs in Middlesex County are working together to make this field day one of the largest of its kind. If rainy the affair will be held the following Sunday.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Regional Scout Executives Conference

The annual conference of the Scout Executives of New England was held at the Connecticut State College, Storrs, Conn., Sept. 5 to 9.

While at this conference, Scout Executive Harry T. French of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, was awarded the third degree, the highest award of the National Council to Scout Executives. This award is made under the supervision of the Commission on the growth of the Scout Executive. The Commission was established in 1926, and Mr. French has been working steadily on the requirements since that date, having been awarded the second degree at Cornell University in 1928.

The requirements include a theses for each degree which must be prepared as a result of original research. The theses prepared by Mr. French were on "Character Education in the Summer Camp," "Economic and Racial Backgrounds of the Scouts of Connecticut," and "Character Values of Scouting."

The third degree has been awarded to only three Executives in New England, namely: John Roberts, Meridan, Conn.; Carl Northrup, New Haven, Conn; and Harry T. French, Fellsland Council. About 30 men in the United States have qualified for this degree.

Exposition Plans Developing

Scouts and Scouters throughout the Council will be interested to know that work on the 1933 Exposition has already begun. Plans now formulated will make this years' Exposition far superior to last years' show. All who saw last years' Exposition will realize that the Committee will have some job to make a better show. But a better show has been ordered, so a better show it will have to be.

Troops Start Fall Work

From all sections of the Council come reports indicating that the troops of the Council are getting under way early this year.

As a result of the Seascout training at camp this summer, it is expected that by the end of this year five or six Seascout ships will be under way.

A Seascout Leader Training course will soon be announced.

FORESIGHT FOR COLD SNAP

More people than ever before have had the foresight this year to put in a supply of fuel oil in advance of the first real cold snap, according to local officials of the Metropolitan Ice Company.

"This practice," company officials say, "means a great deal in comfort and peace of mind to every family whose home is heated by an oil burner. With oil in the tank, you know that no matter how unexpected or severe the first cold spell is, you will be ready for it. Particularly if there are small children in your family, you will be glad to have prepared in advance for the first rush of wintry weather."

This year, for the first time, the Metropolitan Ice Company is selling two of the best makes of oil burners for house heating, as well as range oil burners.

"As distributors of the famous 'Nasco' fuel oil," company officials say, "we have been in an especially favorable position for the past few years to study the comparative merit of various types of oil burning equipment. We have frequently been called on to give impartial advice in regard to oil burners. We are now able to be of further service to our customers by supplying them with oil burners, of the two most satisfactory types, which in our opinion represent the best values on the market."

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

The most important gathering of National Congress members in the state is the annual convention of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association. This year it will be held in Springfield, Oct. 19-20. Last fall extension meetings in other parts of the state were held following the state convention in Boston, and this year the same plan has been adopted. After the Springfield convention there will be afternoon and evening conferences in Fall River, Oct. 23; in Newton, Oct. 24; and in Haverhill, Oct. 25. This plan enables many who cannot travel to a rather distant city, to have some of the benefits of the convention at a place easy of access.

The fall meeting of the Board of Managers of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will be held at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., Sept. 18-21. The board consists of the officers and the chairmen of the Congress, and the president of the State Congresses. The number of board members is approximately 100, almost enough for a "young convention."

Before and after the board meeting there will be meetings of the Executive Committee, of special committees, of state presidents, and of national chairmen.

Mrs. George Hodgue, of Brookline, president of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association; Mrs. E. C. Mason, of Winchester; editor of Child Welfare, the official magazine of the Congress; and Mr. E. C. Mason, chairman of the trustees of the Endowment Fund of the Congress, will attend the meeting of the Board of Managers.

The presidents of the State Congresses in New England are extending to the board an invitation to hold the 1935 convention of the Congress in Boston. Many other invitations are being given, but New England hopes that the preference will be given to Boston.

In May, 1934, the annual convention will be held at Des Moines, Iowa.

GEORGE McNEILL PRESENTED WITH GIFTS

Winchester friends of George C. McNeill, head of the Northern Division of the Distribution Department of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, will be interested to learn that he fittingly observed his 35th anniversary with the company on Friday. He was presented with a red leather chair and smoking stand by the 66 men under him at a surprise party at the old station on Lake street, the presentation being followed by a gift of flowers to Mrs. McNeill and an entertainment and refreshments. Mr. McNeill entered the employ of the Woburn Light, Heat & Power Company 35 years ago and ascended the ladder of responsibility step by step until the company was absorbed by the Edison Company and he was made foreman. He knows every inch of the system under his jurisdiction and has given prompt and efficient service to hundreds of Winchester subscribers.

LEGION LOST TO RAMBLERS

The Winchester Legion got quite a surprise Saturday on Manchester Field when the Woburn Ramblers, the champions of that city, defeated them 7 to 6 in 11 innings before a good crowd.

Robinson, the star of the Legion pitching staff, had no terrors for the Ramblers, and they started right after him from the first inning, and kept hitting all the afternoon.

The Ramblers scored one run each in the second and third innings and the Legion came back to tie it up in its half of the third. The Ramblers took the lead again in the fifth by scoring two runs, and then the Legion went them one better by getting three.

Neither side scored again until the eighth when the Ramblers went into the lead again by one run and then the Legion tied it up in its half.

The game then went along until the 11th when the Ramblers scored a run, and with the tieing run on second base "Bobby" Callahan was taken out, and "Lefty" Flaherty replaced him. He fanned "Nick Fitz" to start with, and then brother "Jim" lined to "Joe" Duran who caught Colucci off second and the game was over.

There were three long hits during the game, all three baggers.

The game was a good one to watch and many of the crowd present would like to see the visitors back here for another game, but this will probably be impossible as the field is to be made ready for football although there is no game here for some time yet.

STAR FIELD HOCKEY TEAMS

The Star is reproducing this week the two field hockey elevens that brought Suburban League championships to Winchester High, with an eleven that was runner-up for titular honors and another good club of an earlier date.

Winchester's team of 1928, captained by that sterling little winger, "Dot" MacKenzie, twice chosen for all Boston honors in her position, is to date the only unbeaten, untied team in the history of the school. This club won the Suburban League championship from Arlington in a thrilling battle, won twice from the Spy Ponders in a single season and was credited by no less a person than Harold Darrell, donor of the championship cup bearing his name, with having the finest forward line of any high school team he had ever seen.

Captain MacKenzie and Nancy Bradlee, wings; Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettingell, inners and Muriel Carr and Ruth Humphrey, who alternated at center forward, were a wonderful offensive combination, good enough to more than offset any slight defensive weakness the club may have had outside of goal. "Pug" Mercer, goaler, was one of Winchester's two best players at this all important position.

Whether the 1928 team could have beaten its immediate predecessor, the team of 1927, will always be a moot question. Four of the six forwards played on both teams, which would have been a standoff at goal with Anna Dolan to match "Puggy" Mercer. The 1927 club would have the edge defensively. Whether the greater smoothness of the forward line in 1928 would have offset the stronger defense of the 1927 outfit can't be said. Perhaps it would. The 1928 eleven hung up the better record and must be accorded the laurel as Winchester's outstanding field hockey team.

The team of 1929 was another fine eleven, winning the championship of the northern division of the Suburban League and losing the title to Lexington High in a blizzard at Lexington by the score of 1—0. Standouts on this club were Captain Mercer, the Nichols sisters; Carolyn, halfback and Janet, wing; and Muriel Carr, center forward. The club won eight out of ten games played, and Captain Mercer had the distinction of being chosen all Boston goaler, an honor richly deserved.

In 1924, Capt. Lucille Skilling's team did not roll up so impressive a record as the clubs before mentioned winning six and losing four games. Its lineup, however, included several who number with the best all time players. Winchester has produced "Kay" Carlisle, perhaps Winchester's best all around girl athlete, stands at the top of the local wingers and Captain Skilling was also a fine wing. "Dot" Bond was a great fullback and could swat a hockey ball harder than any local player we have happened to see. Wilhelmina Simmons ranks with the school's best inners and was a player whose worth was seldom recognized except by close followers of the sport.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN ATTRACTIONS

How Richard Dix drives and wavers between two women and plays the public for suckers as head of an advertising company, is briskly and daringly recounted in "No Marriage Ties" his latest success coming to the Strand Theatre, Malden, for a week's run starting Friday. The picture provides Dix with opportunities to display subtle humor and dramatic power, plus the romanticism reminded of his early starring roles. Dix's leading lady, Elizabeth Allan, striking young British actress, has the role of Peggy Wilson, while Doris Kenyon returns to the screen in the part of Adrienne Deane. Alan Dinehart and David Landau head the list of supporting players.

The lowdown on the precarious lives of "customers' girls" used in the dress trade will be shown as the second feature at the Strand, Malden, starting Friday, when the First National production "She Had To Say Yes," which has a sparkling cast headed by Loretta Young, Lyle Talbot, Regis Toomey and Wynnie Lightner opens there. The movies have often continued a plot in which a pretty girl was used as a lure to attain an end, but this picture steps to the fore with the turbulent drama of the girls who eke out their small wages by entertaining out-of-town buyers, depending upon a commission from the orders landed through their coquettish efforts.

LIEUT. FOGG TRANSFERRED

Lieut. Clarence H. Fogg, U. S. N., 1 Myrtle street, has received a change of duty. He is now assigned to duty as Captain of the 371st C. C. C. veteran company at Charlemont, on the Mohawk Trail.

Capt. Fogg was invited to speak at the dinner of the Greenfield Rotary Club last week. The following is part of his talk on the aim of the Civilian Conservation Camps:

Local Club Is Told Government Seeks to Restore Morale of Jobless

Conservation of men is more important than conservation of forests and this is the chief aim of the civilian conservation camps, Capt. C. H. Fogg, head of the Charlemont unit of the C. C. C. told the Greenfield Rotary Club at its regular meeting last evening at the Hotel Weldon.

While the government seeks to save the vanishing timber supply of the country by such measures as are now being taken, the reforestation program is much more intended to restore the morale of the young men who are being given employment by it. This is being accomplished, the speaker said, partly by the life in the open, which the members of the camps enjoy, and also by the vigorous outdoor employment which is a part of the daily camp routine.

Capt. Fogg who has been at the Charlemont Camp only a short time, coming here from Leominster is highly impressed by the possibilities of the place. The location is ideal and when the buildings now under way are completed the unit will be well housed and equipped. He voiced a need of the unit for a piano and other musical instruments which will help the men to become contented.

The government plans very soon to replace the present ford with a cement and steel bridge. The men in the meanwhile will be kept busy building roads and bridle paths, which will greatly improve the forest and reduce the fire menace. There is a strong possibility that the camp will be kept in operation through the winter, the speaker declared.

Capt. Fogg anticipated no difficulties in maintaining order in the camp. He said that hereafter there would be no district court action. If the men misbehave they will be dealt with in camp by such disciplinary action as is provided by rules of the conservation camps such as discharge and loss of pay. So far he has had no trouble and does not expect any. He said that when men feel that they are being fairly treated they will recipcreate by behaving themselves, and this he plans to make the rule at Charlemont Camp.

Some Acorns Edible

The general use of the acorn as an article of food has long since ceased, but back in ancient days it was an important article of food. In fact, it was considered that eating the acorn added years to a man's life and great strength to his muscles. Indians of the New England regions formerly ate the acorn of certain types of white oaks, while the sweet acorn of the California white oak is still ground into a coarse flour used in bread. Over in England the people of the rural communities bordering on the royal forests have the right every fall to turn their pigs loose in the woodlands in order that they may grow fat on the fallen acorns.—Washington Star.

Meteorology

The science of the weather, called meteorology, is of ancient origin, but of very new foundations scientifically. In fact, it is one of the youngest of the sciences and at the same time one of the oldest. Back in Benjamin Franklin's time, when he played with the lightning on a kite string, the weather was almost an unexplored realm. It was not until the days following the Civil war that our present science of meteorology really took its first uncertain baby steps.

MAGALLANES THRIVES DESPITE SERIOUS SETBACKS

Chile has declared Magallanes (formerly Punta Arenas) southernmost port on the South American mainland, a free port.

When Magellan, after whom the city is named, passed through the never before navigated Magellan Strait on his famous world-girdling voyage, the site of Magallanes was an uninhabited sandy point, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Was Penal Colony

Magallanes overlooks the strait from the north bank. It is about 100 miles north of Cape Horn. Between the city and the Cape there is a mass of islands inhabited by native Indians and only a few white men.

Like many other cities of the New World that sprang up along the trails blazed by Old World mariners, Magallanes got its start as a penal colony. When trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the Western Hemisphere developed, however, it became an important supply and coaling station. It was composed largely of rambling galvanized and wooden structures flanking streets that in the rainy season were rivers of mud with tree stumps offering the only dry spots.

Panama Canal Strikes Blow

The opening of the Panama Canal struck a blow to Magallanes that would have forced many cities into obscurity. Ships operating between Europe and Australia continued to stop at the port and shipping from Atlantic to Pacific ports of the southern part of the continent continued to pass through the strait; but keen business men of Magallanes, whose eyes had been focused on sea trade since the city's birth, began to turn to the land to offset their losses.

Magallanes owes its recent rejuvenation to sheep. The first of the wolly creatures had been introduced in 1879. These and later imported sheep thrived on the grass on the mainland as well as on the near-by islands. The cool climate (it is like that of southeastern Alaska) caused the sheep to develop thick coats of wool which became famous for their whiteness and fine texture.

Thrives Despite Isolation

One company which uses Magallanes as its commercial outlet is capitalized at several million dollars. It owns more than two million acres of land where graze more than a million sheep, 25,000 cattle and 9000 horses. It shears more than a million sheep each year and many of the world's dinner tables have been furnished with choice cuts of beef and mutton from this region.

Another company owns more than 1,500,000 sheep besides cattle and horses, and maintains its own meat-canning factory and tallow plant. The sheep and cattle industry supports a tremendous trade in hides.

The Andes Mountains rise like a wall to the northwest of the city to shut it off from the remainder of South America. No railroad crosses this barrier. The nearest large city is more than 1000 miles away.

But despite isolation and the setback it received with the completion of the Panama Canal, Magallanes has become a modern city of some 20,000 inhabitants. Splendid buildings have taken the places of many of the unsightly shacks, and wide well-paved streets have obliterated the "rivers of mud."

Back of the city, in country which not long ago was almost untrod by man, paved roads wind through fertile farmlands and vast grazing areas to villages and towns that seem to have sprung up overnight.

Badgers Will Fight

Although the badger prefers retreat to what appears to be unequal combat it shows no lack of courage or physical endurance when cornered and thus forced to fight in self-defense.

Church Service and Sunday School at 10:45.

Sunday, Sept. 17. Subject, "Matter."

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 17.

The Golden Text is: "In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me" (Psalms 56:4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (II Peter 3:11-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, in order that sin and mortality may be put off. This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (p. 265).

Height of Man Increasing

It has been estimated that the height of man is increasing. An official of the Institute of Juvenile Research, in Chicago, says: "The American boys of today are at least two inches taller than their grandpas were when they were boys." Measurements of the heights of over 1,000 boys of American-born parents were compared with the heights of boys measured over fifty years ago by another scientist. The increase in height may be attributed to the increasing knowledge of health and disease control, it is said.—Washington Star.

THE THREE "MEXICOS": NATION, STATE AND CITY

At the request of the Mexican Government, the United States Government has ruled that all official mail addressed to the capital of Mexico shall be marked "Mexico, D. F." instead of "Mexico City."

The initials "D. F." stand for "Distrito Federal," the equivalent in Mexico of our own "D. C." or "District of Columbia," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The new ruling calls attention to the fact that there are three "Mexicos." The entire Nation uses the name; the Mexican State partly surrounding the Federal District is also known as Mexico, as is also the capital city itself.

From Name of Indian War God

The name Mexico was derived from the war god of the tribe of Indians who conquered the beautiful valley in which the present city of Mexico lies. These Indians called the region and its chief city Tenochtitlan. The name, which signifies "stone on cactus" (an allusion to the miraculous origin of the city), proved too much of a mouthful for the Spaniards, who chose instead a derivation of the name of the tribal god of the Aztecs, Mexitl.

Today Mexico, the nation, is a federal republic composed, like our own, of States and Territories. Los Estados Unidos Mexicanos, or the United Mexican States, is made up of 28 States, two Territories and one Federal District. In all they spread over 767,198 square miles, the equivalent of more than a quarter of the land area of continental United States. The States of Mexico were originally laid out to coincide roughly with the areas occupied by the Indian tribes which the Spaniards conquered.

The United States has one smaller State than Mexico's smallest. Rhode Island is 300 square miles smaller than Tlaxcala, which lies 50 miles east of Mexico City. But the largest State in Mexico, Chihuahua, across the border from New Mexico, is much smaller than the American giant, Texas. Chihuahua is about as large as Oregon, or Illinois and Indiana taken together.

Almost Encircles Federal District

The State of Mexico, with an area of 9230 square miles (about that of our State of New Jersey), embraces both plains and mountains. Almost surrounding the Federal District, as Maryland does the District of Columbia, the State absorbs much of the overflow population of the capital, and it benefits from the heavy volume of trade by rail and highway that pours into the Federal District from the east, north, and west. Containing a population of 934,463, it is one of the most important of Mexican States.

With both plains and mountains the State of Mexico possesses much beautiful scenery. In addition to the "Valley of Toluca," it includes the famous "Valley of Mexico," the heart of the Republic. Here spread the haciendas of wealthy Mexican planters and ranchers, and the sparkling lakes that encircle the Federal District like a necklace of sapphires. In the mountainous western part of the State are rich gold, silver, and lead mines. The Republic's most important river, the Lerma, rises in the State of Mexico and flows westward to Lake Chapala, finally emptying into the Pacific under the name of Rio Santiago.

The Federal District (Distrito Federal, in Mexico) has an area of about 578 square miles, or more than eight times that of our own District of Columbia. But unlike the District of Columbia, which consists of a single governmental unit, the Mexican Federal District is divided into six prefectures and one municipality, the latter being the capital city of Mexico. The city itself has a population of over 600,000, but with its suburbs in the Federal District, the capital of the Republic boasts nearly a million inhabitants.

Oldest Metropolis in North America

As North America's oldest metropolis the city of Mexico presents an astonishing blend of modernism and antiquity. Here are movies, paved boulevards, high buildings, golf, tennis, stock tickers, and newspapers. But flat, three-cornered Aztec faces still move stolidly through the street crowds. Dig below the surface of the city, and, as in Rome, you will find the remains of a civilization that flourished four to five centuries ago.

The Federal District rests in the bottom of a huge basin that looks like the greatest volcanic crater in the world. One of the strangest aspects of the city of Mexico is that, though perched a mile or more above sea level near a continental divide, it long diked and drained itself like a seaside town in Holland. It was not until 1900, after centuries of study and work, that the city was made safe from lake overflows. Then the great 30-mile Canal del Desague was completed. On it thousands of men worked for years, with teams, trams and steam shovels. It is probably the most spectacular modern engineering feat between the Boulder Dam and the Panama Canal.

RAYAK, SYRIAN RAIL JUNCTION IS TERMINUS OF LONGEST FLIGHT

Rayak, which found itself suddenly in the headlines of the world as the terminus of the longest non-stop flight, is an important Syrian railroad junction situated in a highland valley between the Liban (Lebanon) and Anti Liban mountains, 30 miles from Damascus, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Rayak is approximately 5630 miles by direct air line from New York City. The previous record was 5341 miles, held by the English flyers who last February flew from London to Walfish Bay, Africa.

End of Broad-Gauge Line

Before Rossi and Codos brought their broad-winged, silver monoplane down on the landing field at Rayak, the town already possessed the distinction of being the southern terminus of the standard-gauge railroad line connecting Syria with Turkey and Europe. Here both tourists and freight change cars to a narrow-gauge, cog-wheel line to continue by rail to Damascus and Palestine, or to the port of Beyrouth on the Mediterranean.

Outside of its railroad yards and station, and the French military landing field, the humble town of Rayak has little to distinguish it from other communities in the broad valley anciently called Coelesyria, or the "hollow of Syria." The Anti Liban, whose peaks are often capped with snow during the winter months separate Rayak from the age-old city of Damascus, also an important aviation center. From there eastward to Baghdad the desert, until 1923 a barrier, but now a highway for motor cars and air lines, is one vast landing field.

Ruins of Baalbek Near-By

To the tourist Rayak is chiefly memorable as the changing point for Baalbek, whose sun-kissed ruins lie about 16 miles north. The French flyers, spanning 3000 years of history in 56 hours, probably passed over the massive remains of this important center of Greco-Roman civilizations, where Caracalla completed the vast temple of the sun, and a Temple to Bacchus is still preserved in almost its original grandeur.

Constantine the Great, early Christian emperor, was so shocked at the worship of Venus, as practiced in Baalbek, that he suppressed the sun temple and its priesthood. Half a century later Theodosius the Great destroyed what earthquakes had left of this magnificent temple group, and built a church on the site of the pagan ruins of the sun temple. Neither earthquake nor Christian zealots, however, could overturn the titanic substructures of the temple, single stones of which are as large as a Pullman car.

South of Rayak rises Mount Hermon, loftiest peak in the Holy Land. Its hoary dome is covered with perpetual snow. Mount Hermon closes the lower end of the valley, once one of Rome's greatest granaries.

Two famous rivers of history have their sources near Rayak. One branch of the Litany, chief river of Syro-Phoenicia, whose ports were Tyre and Sidon, flows through Rayak; and the Orontes, known to every student of early Christian culture in Antioch, rises in the highland valley a few miles to the north. Its course was followed by the French flyers.

Some Important "Firsts"

The first coal mined in North America was at Minto, N. B., and was shipped to Boston. The first wood paper was made at Upper Sackville, N. B. The first compound steam engine was invented by Benjamin Tibbets of New Brunswick and used in a boat on the St. Johns river. The first submarine cable was laid between New Brunswick and Prince Edward island in 1852; the first wireless message sent across the Atlantic was from Glace Bay, N. S., in 1902, and the first steam foghorn was invented by Robert Foulis of St. John, N. B., and placed in the St. John harbor in 1859.

Ulster

Six of the nine counties of Ulster constitute northern Ireland, together with the parliamentary boroughs of Belfast and Londonderry. The counties are Antrim, Armagh, Down, Londonderry, Fermanagh and Tyrone.

"VOLTAIRE" AT THE UNIVERSITY

George Arliss in "The Affairs of Voltaire" said to excel over his memorable "Disraeli" in magnificence, interest and dramatic appeal, opens Sunday for four days at the University Theater. The story of "The Affairs of Voltaire" is based on a single dramatic incident in Voltaire's career during the long reign of King Louis XV of France. A stellar cast including Doris Keyon, Margaret Lindsey, Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray, David Torrence and Ivan Simpson support the star.

How Richard Dix drives and wavers between two women and plays the public for suckers as head of an advertising agency is briskly and daringly recounted in "No Marriage Ties," the companion feature.

Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins are co-starred in "The Stranger's Return" which opens Thursday as a picturization of the currently popular Phil Strong novel of rural life. As the 85-year-old patriarch of a farm founded and pioneered by his family, Lionel Barrymore is said to have one of the most interesting characterizations of his brilliant career. Miss Hopkins is afforded the best opportunity she has had in her role of the city girl who goes to her grandfather's farm and finds there the peace and contentment she couldn't get in the city. In the supporting cast are Franchot Tone, Stuart Erwin and Grant Mitchell.

"The Man Who Dared," based on the colorful incidents in the life of the late Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago is the companion feature. The cast includes Preston Foster, Zita Johann and Joan Marsh.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Voltaire," starring Mr. George Arliss in his greatest contribution to the cinema, and "Her Bodyguard," with Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson, is the double feature bill that opens a seven day engagement at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. In "Voltaire," Mr. George Arliss gives a performance which is said to eclipse his wonderful work in "Disraeli" and "The Millionaire." Doris Kenyon, Margaret Lindsay, Alan Mowbray, Theodore Newton and Doris Lloyd head the supporting company. Voltaire's well known friendship and influence with Madame Pompadour, the King's mistress, a role played by beautiful Doris Kenyon, plays a vital part in the story. The story moves swiftly from Voltaire's Paris apartments to the palace of the French king, into the boudoir of Mme. Pompadour and then to the unrivaled extravagances of Versailles. All of these settings were been produced with lavish and spectacular hand to make the film a perfect screen attraction.

"Her Bodyguard" is the amusing story of the love affair between a beautiful stage star and a private detective assigned by a jealous "sugar-daddy" to keep her away from other men. How the girl and the bodyguard outwit everyone else and find happiness together provides a highly funny tale. Edmund Lowe plays the private detective, and Miss Gibson is the stage star. Edward Arnold is the "sugar-daddy" who hires Lowe to keep all men, and especially Alan Dinhart, away from Miss Gibson.

CAPITOL THEATER

A new vibrant, flaming Elissa Landi comes to the Capitol Theater screen next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when she makes her screen debut as a ballet dancer in "I Loved You Wednesday." The story of the film adapted from the stage play of the same name concerns an exotic ballet artist who becomes the world's most famous dancer. With her are Warner Baxter, Miriam Jordan and Victor Jory.

The companion picture on this program features James Dunn with a new leading lady, Joan Bennett, in an hilarious comedy, "Arizona to Broadway." It is a picture tailored to your order from a pattern of laughs.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday brings Constance Bennett to the screen with a notable cast including Joel MacCrea, John Halliday and Pert Kelton in "Bed of Roses." With picturesque New Orleans as the locale "Bed of Roses" presents Miss Bennett as a reform school graduate who sets out to barter beauty for luxury. Her plan works well until Joel MacCrea, a poor tug-boat captain crosses her path.

On the same program is a thrill-packed melodrama of life aboard a floating gambling palace. "Gambling Ship" featuring Cary Grant, Jack Larue and Benita Hume has all the excitement, the hazard, and the suspense that rule events on board the nautical casinos, which float just beyond the reach of the law at the three-mile limit.

Suwannee River Rises in Southern Georgia Swamp

The Suwannee river rises in the Okefinokee swamp of southern Georgia, and starts its journey in a small way by being the outlet for Billy's loake. But it increases in size rapidly, since it is fed by underground springs and rivers. It flows through Florida and empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

The towns along the shore of the Suwannee are few and far between, and those that do repose on its banks are small. The river seems to turn out of its course, on several occasions, to avoid passing the larger towns.

The general impression, notes a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, seems to be that the Suwannee flows through swamp land, but an explorer who made a canoe trip the whole length of the river, in his report to the American Museum of Natural History, describes the stream as appearing to flow through solid rock. The "swamp" impression is received because of the semi-tropical vegetation lining its banks. Live oak and cypress, from which are suspended long streamers of Spanish moss, rise from the very edge of the water, on banks of porous limestone. But the black water does give it a gruesome look.

Boulder Canyon Dam

The location of the Boulder Canyon dam is a few miles east of the town of Las Vegas, Nev., where the Colorado river forms the boundary line between the states of Arizona and Nevada.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Coach "Weenie's" squad car is being carefully nursed along. No chances this time! The boys had to push the car half way down to the Harmony, R. I. meet. For the Lowell meet it wouldn't even start. This is the last chance, the great moment. If it doesn't percolate this time, "Bill" Locke is pledged to drape a certain hombre by the name of "Weenie" (Silver, Platinum, Ken, Peanut, Kiss and Tell, Blondie) Pratt around the steering post and push chariot and passenger over a precipice. Boys will be boys!

This is the last meet of the year for the crew. The place will be Drake Island on Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, this week-end, Sept. 16 and 17. The members going down to represent Winchester are "Ted" (Punk) Dissel, Lester (Punker) Gustin, "Bill" (Burp!) Locke, "Weenie" (etc.) Pratt, and "Gus" (Guzzle) Pistorino. Wotta a bunch!

WBC will have two boats in both the Junior and Intermediate Double Blade Tandem, two boats in the Junior and Intermediate D. B. Singles, and an Intermediate and Senior Four D. B. In the Single Blade Tandem the club will be represented by "Bill" Locke and "Weenie" Pratt. Winchester will also have an entry in the Single Blade Four.

This is a hard program for a five-man crew. Nevertheless, "Nothing ventured, nothing gained," so why not try?

For some of the old timers, this meet will have a twinge of sadness. Louis Stoughton Drake, the donor of Drake Island to the American Canoe Association died but a short time ago. Every year Mr. Drake was on hand to join in the doings. In spite of extremely poor health during the last few years, he was always an outstanding figure at these meets. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock memorial services will be held for Mr. Drake.

Of course, no meet is complete unless a campfire is held, with each club contributing some form of entertainment. Coach "Weenie" has devised an elaborate program for the Winchesterites to present. The boys all wear funny masks as part of the act, excepting Junior Gustin, who doesn't need the mask! If the act goes over, we'll tell you about it later. Otherwise just forget it.

If you plan to drive down Sunday, don't forget that the races start at 2 p. m.

Shuh-Shuh-Gah Trophy Competition

This event has been postponed until Saturday, Sept. 23, so as to allow the high school students an opportunity to participate. Contestants are notified that no especial skill or speed is needed, but only a knowledge of swimming. Place entries at once.

The next club dance will be Saturday, the 23rd, and is a subscription affair. Good music assured.

Burial of Pottery

The burial of pottery and statuary of ancient cities has resulted from various circumstances. In many cases the city has merely decayed from age and collapsed. Destruction by war has been a frequent cause. Natural events, such as earthquakes and storms, etc., have also played an important part.

CUBA, ISLE OF SUGAR AND TOBACCO

Turbulent political conditions in Cuba during the past 10 days have directed attention to the resources and outstanding natural features of the largest and most populous of West Indian islands.

Next to Mexico, Cuba is our nearest Latin-American neighbor, but to the rank and file of Americans it is perhaps not as well known as parts of Europe, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Would Span Five States

Few People outside of Cuba appreciate either the dimensions or the area of the big island. Place the eastern tip of Cuba on a map of the United States at Atlantic City, N. J., and the western end would touch the Illinois-Indiana border, spanning the five states of New Jersey, Delaware Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana.

It may also be a surprise to learn that the width of the island averages 60 miles. No place in Cuba is more than 40 miles from the open sea. In area it is a Pennsylvania, and it has a population numerically equivalent to that of Missouri.

As the United States is divided into states, Cuba is divided into Provinces, six of them: Havana, Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, Santa Clara, Camaguey, and Oriente. Nearly every section of the island is connected with the principal cities and seaports by railroad and highway, while many of the larger sugar estates have private railroad lines.

Modern Central Highway

In all, Cuba possesses more than 3000 miles of railroad, and nearly 2000 miles of government highways, including the modern Central Highway, a $120,000,000-ribbon of pavement that extends for 706 miles from Pinar del Rio to Santiago. Cuba also possesses a modern and efficient network of telephone lines which boasted of automatic dial telephones several years before New York or Chicago had them.

During normal times Cuba is the largest producer of raw sugar in the world, and it has facilities for maintaining this status. In 1928-29 this "sugar bowl of Antilles" poured into the stream of commerce more than 5,700,000 short tons of raw sugar, but in 1933 the crop was limited by presidential decree to 2,000,000 tons. The world also turns to the Vuelta-Abajo district, in western Cuba, for the choices cigar tobacco, although, due to labor troubles in recent years, many of the finest brands of cigars are now manufactured from Cuban tobacco in the United States.

Cuba is also an important producer of mahogany, cedar and dyewoods. Cedar is used locally for cigar boxes, but the other woods are exported. Coffee, cacao, tropical fruits, rum, sponges, cigarettes, coconuts, iron ore and copper are other sources of income. The island, however, does not raise enough foodstuffs to meet the ordinary demands of its inhabitants.

No other land in the New World possesses proportionately such numerous and wonderful bays. Most of them are distinguished for their bottle-necked entrances and vast areas of water entirely surrounded by land, except for narrow channels to the sea. Examples of these splendidly-sheltered harbors are Havana, Santiago, Cienfuegos, Guantanamo Bay, another huge roadstead, is leased by the United States as a naval base.

Havana, a Little Paris

If New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington were consolidated, the resulting metropolis would bear about the same relation to the United States that Havana bears to Cuba. The capital city, a "little Paris" as it is known to thousands of tourists annually, has a greater population than is embraced in the combined populations of all the other cities and towns of the Republic having more than 4000 inhabitants. Its closest rivals are Camaguey and Santiago, but these cities each have less than a tenth of Havana's half million total.

All the large business houses have their headquarters in Havana, and skyscrapers have made their appearance against the Havana skyline. The city once handled a greater foreign shipping tonnage than any other port in the Western Hemisphere except New York. Wide boulevards cut through the heart of Havana and reach its suburbs. A new Capitol, recently completed, covers within half an acre the area of the Capitol in Washington, D. C.

Mexican City Yields Ruins

The old Mexican city of Achiutla yields a variety of ruins. The center is said to be connected by tunnel with distant Mt. Alban.

FORTNIGHTLY PILGRIMAGE TO WORCESTER SEPT. 29

Mrs. Walter T. Gleason, chairman. Directions—Cars will leave Unitarian Church promptly at 8:30, Winchester to Weston. Turn left at Weston Route 20-A1, then right onto South avenue which connects with the Worcester super highway just outside of Framingham. Before entering the thickly settled part of Worcester, take the road at the right which is called Belmont street and leads over Belmont Hill to Lincoln square.

Here is the home of the Worcester Historical Society, built in 1875, and containing a valuable museum and library. Mr. Cutler, the curator, will tell us about the most interesting exhibits in this collection. At this same square is Worcester's beautiful new auditorium which is to be dedicated Sept. 26.

Our next visit will be at "The Oaks" on Lincoln street, opposite Foresdale road. Lincoln street was the first highway to Boston and is just above the square on the left. "The Oaks" was built by Judge Paine, a staunch Loyalist, about the time of the American Revolution. This estate with its spacious grounds and beautiful gardens was once one of the show places of Worcester. It is now owned by the D. A. R. and furnished in period furniture.

We continue on Lincoln street and Route 70 to Old Boylston Center. On the left we pass the sight of the first house built in Worcester in 1673. A boulder with a bronze tablet marks the spot. Lunch will be served in "The Red Barn" in Old Boylston. There are many things to interest us here as the names suggest.

We return by way of Lincoln street to North Park. Pass just north of the Park (Davidson road) and continue west to Barber's Crossing. Here we see a tall structure of steel and glass, considered one of the most modern industrial buildings in the country. This contains the Higgins Museum. The History of Armor—from the 7th to the 16th century. The exhibit is unique and well displayed.

Then we retrace our steps to Lincoln street and continue out Lincoln street to Shrewsbury. Beyond the center on the main highway (Boston Post Road) we come to the General Artemas Ward house. This not only has been well preserved from early Colonial days but is filled with furniture which belonged to the Ward family. Here one breathes the atmosphere of pioneer days and the quaintness and sereneness of it all is most pleasing.

Return by way of Boston Post road, Worcester. "The Heart of the Commonwealth," is also the heart of New England distribution. It has the largest population of any manufacturing city in the country not on a waterway. It is also an educational center —the home of Clark University, Holy Cross College, Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Worcester Academy.

Please could not later than Wednesday noon, Sept. 27, a member of the Transportation Committee for luncheon reservation or transportation. Drivers having extra seats in their cars please communicate with Committee Chairman, Mrs. R. Burgoyne, Win. 0092-M; Mrs. Walter T. Gleason, Win. 0551-J; or Mrs. G. D. Cabot, Win. 1957-M.

FORTNIGHTLY GLEE CLUB PLANNING SEASON

The Fortnightly Glee Club which has enjoyed several successful years under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, is looking ahead to its coming season and already plans are under way for a Gypsy Bridge which is to benefit the organization.

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the bridge which is to be held at the Calumet Club Friday afternoon, Oct. 6. Mrs. Betty Davis is to be in charge of the duplicate tables and there is also to be contract and auction.

Gypsy music will predominate the vocal solos which are to be sung by Idabelle H. Winship, soprano, and the violin numbers, played by Helena Studzinska Sibley. Mary Ranton Witham will be the pianist, and there is to be a dance recital by Dorita Ferguson, a member of the Hans Wiener Dance group who has recently returned from Europe where she studied with Mr. Wiener in Vienna and with Harold Kreutzberg in Salzburg. Miss Ferguson, a graduate of Skidmore College, has appeared several times in Boston, including appearances at last season's Pops under Arthur Fiedler.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Dramatics

Mrs. Robert Reynolds, chairman, reports that rehearsals are underway for a three-act comedy, "The Constant Wife," to be presented in the High School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday evenings, Oct. 27 and 28. This comedy is by the well known playwright, W. Somerset Maugham, author of "Rain."

With an all-star cast, this play promises a treat for all lovers of the drama, and the entire proceeds will be used for philanthropies.

The Misses Louise and Eleanor Bancroft of Glen road are motoring to Chicago to attend the Century of Progress Exposition.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

There is a popular song entitled, "Let It Rain." Of this you may be sure, the composer was never a crewman. Neither did he ever see Drake Island. Nor was he ever two days in the open attired in bathing suit and sneakers, with a cold, driving deluge pouring down his ears.

It is entirely unnecessary to review for the reader the rain of this last week-end. No doubt this same reader was safely entrenched in a dry, warm home. Ah! For the comforts of home!

Between sneezes and dodging pneumonia germs, attacks of mists and fogs, and knocking icicles from their noses, the W. B. C. outfit managed to garner a few points.

"Bill" Locke and "Gus" Pistorino, working in tandem, placed second in two events, the junior double blade and the intermediate double blade.

In the single blade tandem, none other than our old friend "Weenie" Pratt and "Bill" Locke came through in third place. Give the boys credit for the fine showing, their entry in this event was impromptu with no previous training.

Captain "Gus" and Ted Dissel fought hard to place in the double blade single. The best "Gus" could do was a fourth place, with Ted slightly behind.

The intermediate double blade quad included Locke, Pistorino, Dissel and Pratt, managing a hard fought third place.

Such is a brief story of Drake Island.

It was decided, so as to allow proper notification to the school children to postpone the Suh-Suh Gah Trophy competition until Saturday, Sept. 23 at 3 p. m.

The trophy has been on display at Randall's this past week. The splendid appearance and fine quality of the cup has evoked favorable comment.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Volley ball of course, continues to occupy the throne of popularity. In the very near future a group of volley ballers from the Samoset Canoe Club will pay us a visit.

This Saturday, Sept. 23 will be our next dance, music by Ray McKittrick's boys. You'll enjoy their pep.

Bring a few guests along and treat the bunch to a good time.

Look out for the shadow!

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS DOLLOFF ANNOUNCED

At a bridge party held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dolloff, 13 Norwood street, the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Virginia to Mr. Edward B. Woodbury of Winchester was announced. There were about 40 guests present when the announcement was made in a unique manner over the radio at 11 o'clock.

Miss Dolloff is a graduate of Somerville High School, Class of 1928 and also attended the Mary Brooks School in Brookline. She is a Past Worthy Advisor of Somerville Assembly, No. 17, Order of Rainbow for Girls, and is a member of Ermine Rebekah Lodge of Somerville.

Mr. Woodbury graduated from the Winchester High School in 1928 and was graduated from Lawrence Academy in Groton the following year. He also attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

No date for the wedding has been announced.

J. ALBERT WILSON TO TRAIN HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS

Announcement was made this week of the appointment by the School Committee of Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist and choirmaster of the First Congregational Church, to train the chorus at the Winchester High School during the coming year.

Mr. Wilson is a Harvard man with wide experience in the field of vocal and instrumental music. In addition to his duties at the First Congregational Church he is director of the Winchester Choral Society which has been highly praised by competent critics for the excellence of its singing. He is particularly competent to train young voices, having been previously for more than 20 years choirmaster at the Church of the Epiphany where his boy choirs ranked with the finest in this part of the country.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Bernhard Alexander Larson of 30 Russell road and Helen E. Rodwell of 23 Summer road, Brookline.

Jerome H. Bishop, Jr. of 1280 Shenandoah road, Pasadena, Calif., and Louise Pierce DeCamp of 241 Highland avenue.

Robert Alexander LeNorman of 7 Central street and Ellen Alexandra Ojala of 94 Town Hill street, Quincy.

Ray Herman Kreutzer of Park Ridge, Illinois and Mary Alice Speedie of 33 Oxford street.

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

The harvest season is here. The Home for the Aged would greatly appreciate contributions of vegetables and fruit, fresh or canned. Also we need pieces, large or small, of old soft cotton cloth, bath toweling or outing flannel.

If you cannot carry your contribution to 110 Mt. Vernon street, please call Winchester 1419 and we will be very glad to call for them. 822-06

Stevenson Corey of 5 Governors avenue is to be one of the officers on Admiral Byrd's supply ship when it leaves Boston on the noted explorer's second Antarctic expedition.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY CANDIDATES OUT

Only four letter players are numbered among the big squad of field hockey players reporting this fall to Coach Adele Loysen at Winchester High, and with the championship Arlington eleven coming to Manchester Field for the first league game of the season on Oct. 6 there is none too much time in which to develop a combination capable of holding its own with the Spy Ponders who always have a formidable club.

Jane Pettingrell, wing; Sylvia Hatch and Betty Gilbert, inners; and Martha Johnson, halfback are the members of last year's first eleven available for duty this season; Priscilla Chamberlin, wing; Virginia Besse, center forward; Margery Little, halfback; Captain Grace Cutter and Marjorie Mountain, fullbacks; and Lucy Fowle, goaler; having been graduated last June. To further complicate matters, Ellen Kemery, outstanding halfback last season and the scrappiest player on the club, has not returned to school, but most of last season's capable second team are available to fill the gaps that yawn on the varsity frontier and there seems to be no reason why Winchester should not enjoy another successful season, its second under Miss Loysen's direction.

One hundred and twenty-eight girls are included in the squad, 20 seniors, 38 juniors, 30 sophomore and 40 freshmen. Jane Brophy, Dorothy Waters, Harriet Cooper, Ruth Cutter, Catherine Gilbert, Barbara Berry, Dorothy Glidden, Peggy Kenerson, Gene MacDonald, Virginia Shaw, Nathalie Stevens and Dorothy Rallo are the members of last year's second team who are after varsity berths this season.

Last year's eleven was as good as any in greater Boston, and but for an inexplicable letdown soon after its schedule opened might well have attained championship honors. Among its victims was the heralded Hingham High team, previously undefeated through several seasons of interscholastic play.

Melrose will open Winchester's 1933 schedule on Oct. 4 in a non-league practice game.

Following is the complete list:

WEDNESDAY EVENING CONCERTS

A fascinating series of Wednesday evening concerts under the direction of the Activities Committee of The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church will begin in November and be presented at the Winchester Country Club.

Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge, chairman, announces that the first concert on Nov. 22 will be a joint musicale presenting Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, well known soprano of Metropolitan Boston, and Mr. Heinrich Gebbard, pianist. Mr. Gebbard will play a considerable number of compositions including some by Chopin, and will also accompany Miss Ehrhart as she sings a group of his compositions.

The second concert will occur Jan. 24 and marks the appearance of Mr. Alex Thiede, violinist, member and concertmaster of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra for 10 years, and late assistant concertmaster of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

On March 14, the final concert will be given. At that time Mr. John Percival, bass-baritone, will be the soloist. He is a familiar figure upon the concert stage in Winchester and his appearance once more will gratify many.

Mrs. von Rosenvinge, Win. 2003; Mrs. William Clark, Win. 0834, and Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, Win. 1237-M, will be glad to give information regarding purchase of season tickets, limited in number and moderate in price ($3 for the three concerts).

Patrons of fine music have evinced such real interest in this unusual series of musical programs that success is evident from the start.

Daylight saving ends this Saturday night, when all clocks in this State will be set back one hour. Sunday will start the winter, or standard, time.

With the change in time the fall and winter schedule will go into effect on the steam railroad. New timetables are now out. There are few changes over the summer time this year, the outward daily and Sunday trains being unaffected and the inward trains being affected only late at night.

Franklin E. Barnes & Co.—Dry-goods.

E. H. Butterworth—Jeweler.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

We record but one absentee from the meeting of Sept. 21, and we know that Irving would have been there had it been physically possible for him to attend.

This gathering proved to be one of those characteristically Rotarian affairs such as we have been accustomed to believe to be in the ordinary course of events for our club. There have been times during this heart-breaking depression when we were fearful that the standard was wavering a bit. It is therefore most gratifying to observe ample evidence Rotary is indeed a live influence in this community. This condition will endure just so long as each member makes it incumbent upon himself to come to our meetings regularly, and come with the idea of doing all he possibly can to make that meeting a success. If you are for Rotary, Rotary will be for you without fail.

We were honored by several distinguished guests and visitors last Thursday, among whom we noted "Herb" Taylor of Framingham, District Councillor in charge of this section of the district. "Herb" had a long journey to our meeting but we assure him that, from our point of view, at least, it was very much worth while.

And then there was President George Lochman of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, an always welcome guest who came to advise us about the activities of the local N. R. A. administration. Furthermore our esteemed Representative in the National Congress, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell graciously accepted the hospitality of our club at this time. Mrs. Rogers has wisely made it her custom to meet her constituents in every municipality in this district as frequently as practical. It is distinctly complimentary to our club that she finds it a suitable medium through which she can familiarize herself with the legislative requirements of our town, and we feel that these contacts are bound to be mutually valuable. Mrs. Rogers favored us with one of her delightful informal talks and several of our members and visitors spoke from the floor, the remarks in the main having to do with various aspects of the National Industrial Recovery Act. We shall look forward with pleasure to a future meeting when our popular Congresswoman can visit us.

Our meeting of the second week in October would naturally fall on the 12th, a legal holiday. Therefore it has been voted to change the meeting day for that week only, to Wednesday Oct. 11. And mark this! The Rotary Club of Stoneham will meet with us on that date in joint session. Furthermore, the Stoneham Club will furnish an entertainment of outstanding merit for that occasion, the full details of which have not yet been worked out. So make a note of the date, Wednesday, Oct. 11.

On Thursday, Sept. 28, we are going to hear all about the Poland Spring Conclave from President Allen. Come one! Come all!

Percentage of Attendance, Sept. 13—84 per cent.

WINCHESTER AT SAUGUS TOMORROW

Winchester High School's football team will open its 1933 campaign tomorrow afternoon at Saugus with the Saugus High School eleven that passed its way to a victory over the Red and Black in a late season game a year ago.

The locals, with their squad riddled by graduation and also minus several boys who had been depended on to fill some of the larger gaps, should not be too formidable tomorrow, though they will have their heads up and be in there fighting.

The loss of "Red" Noble, drop kicking back and Mario Lentine, scrappy lineman, didn't help the local cause, but Noble has decided not to play football this fall and Lentine did not return to school. The inability of "Tommy" Donahey also hurt as he is a big boy with plenty of fight.

Coach Mansfield was uncertain about his starting lineup last night, but thought Winchester might take the field with Godfrey and Blaine, ends; Wilson and Buckley, tackles; Woodford and LeRoy, guards; Captain Lentine, center; and Hannon, Gaffney, McGaragle and either Provizano or Tremberth in the backfield. This group has had experience and does not look too bad. Tomorrow will tell the story. Kickoff at 3 o'clock.

LUNCHEON GIVEN FOR ELIZABETH PROCTOR

Mrs. George N. Proctor of this town and Marblehead Neck gave one of the season's very attractive luncheons for her debutante daughter, Miss Elizabeth Proctor. About 100 guests were at the party at the Proctor Marblehead residence.

Seated at the head table with Miss Proctor were seven prominent members of the younger set, Miss Barbara Eaton, Miss Eileen Williams, Miss Marion Leeson, Miss Elizabeth MacBeth, Miss Peggy Lawson, Miss Rosamond Emerson and Miss Catherine DuBois of Washington, D. C.

Miss Proctor wore brown velvet on the smartest lines with a corsage of green and yellow orchids and her mother was charming in rust brown crepe. Early autumn flowers in yellow and browns were attractively arranged throughout the house.

GEORGE WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER NOTES

George Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association will hold a reception to the teachers and mothers, Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 2:45 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Earle Andrews, 196 Highland avenue.

In case of rain it will be held Thursday, Sept. 28.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS HERE YESTERDAY

Met Many Constituents—Charmed With Town

Edith Nourse Rogers, Winchester's representative in the Congress of the United States, visited town yesterday for the purpose of meeting her local constituents, chatting with them, hearing their problems, advising them and informing herself first hand of matters which may need her personal attention at Washington. Though it was her first official visit to Winchester since the town was placed in her district, it has been Mrs. Rogers' practice to visit regularly the cities and towns she represents, continuing the practice of her late husband, John Jacob Rogers, who preceded her in office.

Arriving in Winchester shortly before noon yesterday, Mrs. Rogers was met by members of the Republican Town Committee and Women's Republican Club and warmly welcomed, before lunching with the Rotary at the Calumet Club.

During the afternoon more than 100 citizens of the town, including many friends of Mrs. Rogers, met and talked with her in the small town hall, filing past a table loaded with beautiful flowers to the Congresswoman, seated at a second table placed just outside the small hall under the south balcony, where a sufficient degree of privacy for the discussion of personal business was easily obtained. Friends of Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Harold L. Gale, Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, Mrs. Louis K. Snyder and the Rotary sent the flowers which were much admired and of which Mrs. Rogers was most appreciative.

Leaving the town hall, the Congressman went on to the Country Club where she was entertained at dinner by members of the Republican Town Committee. The affair was most informal and served as a bit of relaxation for Mrs. Rogers after a busy afternoon. In the absence of Chairman Thomas R. Bateman, who is recovering from a serious operation, Vice Chairman Harris S. Richardson acted as host. Invited guests were Rep. William E. Ramsdell, Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden, president of the Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, district committeewoman of the Mass-achusetts Republican Club; Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, founder and first president of the Women's Republican Club and Mrs. Louis K. Snyder, a member of the State Republican Committee. Others present were Mrs. Joseph Fessenden, Mrs. Harper Blaisdell, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. Frank Carpenter, Kingman P. Cass and Mrs. Dwight Hill.

Before leaving the Country Club Mrs. Rogers was introduced to the town officers, departmental heads and members of the Finance Committee who were dining there preceding an informal discussion of town affairs. Vice Chairman Richardson of the Town Committee making the introduction.

Returning to the town hall, the Congressman was kept busy during the entire evening, well beyond the hour set for the close of her visit, greeting constituents, interesting herself in their problems and chatting pleasantly with those who came only to meet her and pay their respects. Each one left with the conviction that he had met a charming gentlewoman who is interested in the district and people she represents and who is entirely competent to represent her district ably in the Nation's Congress.

Mrs. Rogers, in turn, was delighted with her visit, commenting upon the beauty of the town, the friendliness of its citizens and expressing her appreciation of the warmth of the greeting extended her.

She told the Star that she does not draw party lines in her desire to be of assistance to the people of her district and that she is as sincerely interested to serve her Democratic constituents, or those of other political beliefs, as she is to assist her Republican supporters. Many Democrats were noted among those at the town hall during the afternoon and evening.

Laughingly Mrs. Rogers told the Star reporter that she had been told at the time when the national redistricting placed Winchester in her district that she had been given a jewel. "You may quote me" she added, as saying that I quite agree with those who made this statement."

The following members of the Republican Town Committee were in charge of arrangements for Mrs. Rogers' visit and assisted during the day: Thomas R. Bateman, chairman; Harris S. Richardson, vice chairman; Mrs. Lucius Smith, secretary; Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, treasurer; George M. Bryne, Mrs. Frank Carpenter, Miss Martha W. Greene, Arthur S. Harris, Mrs. Dwight B. Hill, Stanley W. Mobbs, Mrs. Jesse R. Wilson, Mrs. Joseph Fessenden, Robert H. Sibley and Kingman P. Cass.

N. R. A. "CLEAN-UP" WEEK SEPT. 25 TO 30

During the week specified a representative of the N. R. A. Committee will call on every consumer who has not already signed and request them to sign the consumer's pledge. If no one is at home, a card will be left for you to sign and return to the Post Office as soon as possible.

The Committee asks and urge your hearty co-operation irrespective of your personal opinion as to the feasability of this plan, for it was instituted by the President of the United States and therefore should be supported by all loyal citizens without regard to politics or party affiliations and given a fair and just trial.

No doubt many changes in this code or plan may be made later, but in the meantime let's "clean-up" this good old Town of Winchester. One hundred and eighty business concerns have signed the code, and at the end of the coming week let your committee be able to state that the consumers have come across 100 per cent.

THREE ACCIDENTS LAST SATURDAY

The first of three automobile accidents reported to the police last Saturday took place at 1:50 in the morning and involved a Studebaker sedan, driven by Angelo Giffune of 23 Wright street, Woburn, and an Essex terraplane, operated by William H. Mitchell, Jr. of 102 Brooks street, Medford. The collision took place on Main street at Everell road, the Studebaker heading north on that street while the Essex was crossing Main street to enter Everell road. It was raining hard at the time of the accident which caused damage to both machines but resulted in no personal injuries. The Essex was so badly smashed that it had to be towed to Medford by the Central Garage wrecker.

A Franklin truck, owned by the Franklin Motor Car Company of 720 Beacon street, Boston, was in collision Saturday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock on Highland avenue at Prospect street extension with a Dodge sedan, owned by Don Lutes of 60 Reuter street, Pittsfield, and driven by his brother, John A. Lutes of 207 Washington street, this town. The truck was headed east on Prospect street and the Dodge going north on Highland avenue. Both machines were damaged but again no personal injuries were reported.

The third accident was reported at Headquarters by Ormsby L. Court of 16 George street, Stoneham, who stated that at 6:45 Saturday afternoon as he was driving north on Forest street his Pontiac sedan was in collision with a Ford sedan, driven by Winthrop H. Andrews of 7 Chisholm road, who drove out of that roadway onto Forest street just as Court's car arrived at the intersection. Both cars were damaged and Court's two children, Barbara Anne, 6, and Donald Fisk Court, 4, who were riding with him, sustained cuts and abrasions.

PINE TREES AT RESERVOIRS ATTACKED BY INSECTS

To the Editor of the Star:

I have been asked by a number of people "what is the matter with some of the Scotch pine trees at the reservoir plantation-."

In May this matter was brought to my attention by our reservoir foreste, Mr. Edward F. Shea. I conferred with the State Department of Forestry and they sent one of their foresters to make an examination of the trees. They consulted with the U. S. Department of Agriculture which reported that:—"The trees were infested with two kinds of insects, the one doing the most damage is the European pine-shoot moth and the insect which makes the masses of pitch and bores into the twigs is the pitch-twig moth. Experiments are being conducted for the control of these insects but no satisfactory control has yet been found."

After receiving this report I took up the matter directly with the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Melrose. They very gladly consented to carry on some experiments on our trees and in June and July the trees were sprayed. In the latter part of July colonies of three species of parasites imported from Europe were put out among the infested pines. The department is taking much interest in these experiments. Their work is done without cost to the town.

In Connecticut, where the pine-shoot moth was first discovered 16 years ago, it has become a serious problem. On the Bridgeport water-shed large areas of trees have had to be removed.

On account of the prompt discovery of this trouble in its early stages we hope to be able to control the further spread of the insect before more damage is done.

The moth apparently prefers the Scotch and red pines as these varieties seem to be attacked first. It badly disfigures, and if not checked, will eventually kill the tree.

Ornamental pine trees have been attacked on private estates. The best method of treating individual trees is by pruning and burning the infested limb.

If anyone is interested to have further details I shall be glad to furnish other information.

The reservoir plantations have been very free from the brown-tail and gypsy moth. Spraying for these insects has not been done since 1923.

Constant watch is kept for the pine blister rust and wild currants, on which the blister rust travels, the currants are promptly destroyed when found.

The pine weevil which attacks the leaders of the white pine and does no other damage is always with us. Pruning and burning is done to destroy it.

We are fortunate to have a well balanced mixture of trees on our water shed. It is a well known fact that insects and disease do not attack a mixed growth of trees as severely as a pure stand of trees.

Consultations are frequently held with the best tree authorities in regard to the treatment of the trees on the water-shed.

Yours truly,

Edmund C. Sanderson, Chairman
Winchester Water and Sewer Board

BENEDICT TROPHY DOUBLES TOURNEY OPENS SATURDAY

The annual men's doubles tennis tournament for the Benedict Club trophy opens on the Palmer street courts this Saturday afternoon.

This tournament is open to all residents of Winchester and the first of the week eight teams had signed on the dotted line. The draw will take place Saturday at 2 p. m. and entries will be received up to that time by either Wallace Blanchard, Win. 1178, or "Jim" Riley, Win. 0823-M.

A mixed doubles tournament is being planned to commence Saturday, Sept. 30, and as this sort of tennis has been very popular in Winchester it is expected that a good sized entry list will be forthcoming. Either Mr. Riley or Mr. Blanchard will welcome your entry.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

At the very beginning of the school year comes the thought: Are we doing all we can to safeguard the children from preventable accidents?

This is a question which all parents and teachers are seriously considering, and it is a pertinent one for discussion at a Parent-Teacher meeting. In fact, it is one of paramount importance in these days of increasing speed and freedom and lawlessness. Active local Safety chairmen who are working out the plans of national and state Safety chairmen, are suggesting the study of safety in all its ramifications.

The chairman of Safety of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Miss Marion Telford, who is also field secretary of the National Safety Council, lists some excellent subjects to be studied and discussed by local P. T. A.'s. Here are some of the topics which are carried over from the national convention:

Are High School Students Good Drivers?; Methods of Treating Youthful Violators; When Is a School Bus System Safe and Efficient?; What Are Accidents Costing Us?; Child Accidents in the Home.

A good project for a Parent-Teacher Association is to find out how safe the pupils of its own school are. The actual number of recorded accidents is high.

"In 1931-32," Miss Telford reports, "out of a group of nearly half a million school children, approximately 7000 suffered injuries sufficiently serious to keep them out of school. About one-third of the total number occurred while children were on school property. Of those occurring on school property 1409 happened on playgrounds and 1040 occurred within school buildings." In terms of boys and girls the percentages are much too high.

Playground accidents come from four general causes, we are told:

1. Faulty equipment.
2. Improper use of good equipment.
3. Wrong grouping of pupils for use of apparatus.
4. Inadequate social education.

Miss Telford says it is a good plan to test each piece of playground equipment at least once each week, and to inspect it twice each month.

In the school buildings children are most likely to be injured in corridors, gymnasiums, vocational shops, and on stairs and stairways, and largely from crowding, tripping, slipping and carelessness in use of tools. Sometimes failure to follow directions leads to accidents, and sometimes, lack of self-control and self-direction.

The home and the school together can develop in children positive attitudes toward safety which will help reduce accidents and develop safety habits and skills.

The chairman of the Committee on Safety of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association, a branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is Mr. Lewis E. MacBrayne, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Safety Council. The Parent-Teacher Associations of Winchester, the Wadleigh P. T. A., and the High School P. T. A., may apply to Mr. MacBrayne, 6 Beacon street, Boston, for assistance in planning their safety work for the year.

WINCHESTER MAN DONS UNIFORM OF MARINES

An ambition to wear the uniform of the U. S. Marines has been realized by William James Elliott, son of Mrs. Sarah Elliott, 35 Water street, who is now undergoing training in the drills, duties and customs of the soldiers of the sea at Parris Island, S. C.

Attracted by the prospect of serving aboard a battleship or cruiser, or by an opportunity to see some of the foreign lands visited by the marines, Elliott enlisted at Boston, Sept. 6, and was sent to the South Carolina camp for his preliminary training.

This period of instruction will be completed about Nov. 15, and he will then be available for service in Haiti, Cuba, Hawaii, China, or at one of the various naval stations along the Atlantic or Pacific seaboards. Elliott, who is 22 years old, was born in Winchester.

GOOD CATCH BY OFFICER BOYLE

Medford Youth Accused of Entering Highland Avenue Home

Patrolman John H. Boyle is receiving the congratulations of his brother and superior officers in the Winchester Police Department for the capture last Friday night of a young man whom the authorities charge with breaking and entering the home of Mr. Hubert W. Godfrey at 372 Highland avenue.

Officer Boyle arrested the alleged burglar within a few hundred yards of the Godfrey home and shortly after Police Headquarters was notified of the affair by telephone.

According to the police the Godfreys were entertaining company when through a doorway commanding a view of the rear of the house the shadow of a man was seen projected by a light upon the wall of a hallway.

Mr. Godfrey hastened to the kitchen followed by members of his party and there surprised a young man, who, however, succeeded in making good his escape. A good description of the intruder was furnished Lieut. John A. Harrold at Headquarters, to which Mr. Godfrey sent in an emergency call immediately.

Lieutenant Harrold dispatched Patrol 51, in charge of Sergt. Edward W. O'Connell, to the Godfrey home, also sending Patrolman Boyle to the same place when he called from his box on the Symmes Corner route.

Patrolman Boyle succeeded in getting the operator of an automobile to drive him from Everell road to the Godfrey home, and after getting the details of the attempted burglary from Sergeant O'Connell, started to scour the neighborhood in the same machine.

As he approached Pierrepont road he noticed a Ford sedan approaching on Highland avenue suddenly turn around and start south toward Medford.

Giving chase, Officer Boyle came up with the machine at Sargent road and as he questioned the two young men in it he saw that the operator answered the description of the intruder at the Godfrey home.

Returning to the Godfrey residence, the young man was identified by Mr. Godfrey and others of his guests as the one whom they had surprised in the kitchen of the house. With Mr. Godfrey, Officer Boyle drove his prisoners to Headquarters where they gave their names as Ralph D'Ovido, 18, of 63 Poole street Medford and Frank Zarella, 18, of 98 Lawrence street, Medford. Both were locked up on the charge of breaking and entering in the night time with intent to commit larceny. Both denied having been in the Godfrey home.

In the car in which the youths were driving, Patrolman Boyle found a screw driver and a pair of pliers. When searched by the Officer, neither D'Ovido or Zarella was armed.

In court at Woburn Saturday morning Justice Jesse W. Morton found no probable cause on the charge against Zarella and discharged him. D'Ovido was held in bonds of $1000 for appearance before the Grand Jury.

Police say that D'Ovido is at present out on parole and that he is one of a group which the police of Medford hold responsible for numerous breaks in that city. At the time of his arrest he was driving a Ford sedan, owned by his brother, in which Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy found after a careful search on Saturday a white gold wrist watch which was identified by Mrs. John H. Rhodes of 93 Stratford road, Melrose, as having been stolen from her home on Thursday night, Sept. 14, while she was entertaining a party at bridge. The Police of Melrose will attempt to indict D'Ovido as participating in this theft.

Chief Rogers, in commenting upon the capture of D'Ovido, stated that he believes the young man may have been implicated in the break which occurred at the residence of Mr. Charles F. Sheldon at 18 Hillside avenue on the evening of Sept. 7. Two breaks occurred in Medford near the Winchester line earlier in the evening of last Friday and the local authorities believe that these may have a connection with the attempted one at the Godfrey home.

Meanwhile Patrolman Boyle has been warmly commended by Chief Rogers and has been granted two days vacation with pay for his clever capture.

CONNORS—HAMILTON

Miss Dolly Hamilton of Sylvester avenue, daughter of Mr. George Hamilton, and Wilbur Connors, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Connors of Warren avenue, Woburn, were married Sunday evening, Sept. 17 at 6 o'clock in the rectory of the Immaculate Conception Church by Rev. Fr. Charles J. Foley.

The bride wore chalk white satin with matching hat and a shoulder veil of tulle. Her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Hamilton, who wore blue transparent velvet with matching hat and carried blue delphinium with pink roses. George H. Connors of Woburn was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward W. O'Connell of Sylvester avenue, house decorations being freshly cut flowers and ferns. A catered wedding supper was served by Randall and music was furnished during the reception by the Columbians of Woburn, of which the bridegroom is a member.

Upon their return from a wedding journey which is to take them to Atlantic City, Mr. Connors and his bride are to make their home in Woburn at 9 Warren avenue.

REFRIGERATION FOR 20 CENTS DAILY

A complete refrigeration service, in which a payment of as little as 20 cents a day provides the buyer with a brand-new, modern ice refrigerator plus all the ice it uses the whole year round, has been announced by the Metropolitan Ice Company. This service is available locally through the Horn Pond Ice Company, division of the Metropolitan Ice Company.

"By using this plan" officials of the Company say, "the housekeeper can not tell in advance exactly how much her refrigeration will cost, but she is also assured of the finest type of refrigeration and a plentiful supply of ice, at no extra cost, for every emergency.

"The plan offers special advantages to every family that is operating on a budget plan. It means a real economy to every one who is using a cheap, poorly insulated 'ice-box,' which wastes ice, or other, more costly, methods of refrigeration. The refrigerators offered under this plan are modern, efficient and economical, and will in many cases pay for themselves many times over in direct savings in ice consumption. And of course they are a definite assurance against food spoilage, which may result from inadequate refrigeration."

The ice company officials stress the fact that the payments, as low as 20 cents a day, cover not only the cost of the new refrigerator but also the cost for ice used the year 'round. The plan provides, they say, a convenient way of getting not only the best and healthiest refrigeration, but also much the cheapest.

THE FACULTY OF THE COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Mrs. Marie Cole Powell of Newton Center

Mrs. Powell's course on worship is attracting thinking people for all sorts of reasons. She is amply equipped to supply their needs. Educated at Vassar and Chicago University, with practical experience in teaching in many schools in the east and west, she brings to Winchester the background of wide experience with all sorts of people, the holding quality of a charming and delightful personality, so essential in a teacher and the devotion and selflessness of the sincere religious worker.

Early in her teaching career, Mrs. Powell travelled to such widely separated places as Detroit, Washington, D. C., Manchester, N. H., Northfield and other towns, giving courses at different Methodist and interdenominational schools, on Worship, Storytelling and Junior Curriculum and methods. Nowadays, she is swamped with requests to teach in summer conferences and community schools in all parts of the country.

Such training and experience necessarily has resulted in the ability to adapt the course she will give to the needs of her students and their community. She will provide help and ideas on vitally important subjects, typical among which are—

The Nature of God.

The Relation-ship Between God and Man.

Communion With God Through Prayer or a Substitute.

Planning a Worship Service for Children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller Lobingier of Winchester

Mrs. Lobingier needs no introduction to Winchester. Her gifts as artist, author, and teacher are a constant boon to the community. Her long study and use of progressive methods in teaching, bring to religious education the modern, forward-looking note that in many church schools is so sadly lacking. No one who has worked with Mrs. Lobingier can fail to realize the truth of the progressive school adage, "Learn by Doing."

A graduate of the University of Chicago, she taught for eight years in the University of Chicago School of Education (originally the Dewey Laboratory School) and later held the position of supervisor of art in the Oberlin public schools. In connection with her church work in Chicago, she wrote her famous books on "Dramatics in the Church School."

From these beginnings, evolved the invaluable courses that Mrs. Lobingier has given at Newton Theological Seminary, Boston University, Northfield, many other schools and now in Winchester at the Community School.

Prof. Clyde E. Wildman, A.B., S.T.B., D.D., Ph.D., of Belmont

Professor Wildman's lectures on the "Life of Christ," start with a discussion of the moral, religious, and political background for the life of Jesus, and the sources of our knowledge of Him, then take up such elected topics as His education, His aim and method, Jesus as a teacher, His companions, and the forces that lead to his death.

Extended studies at DePauw University, Ind., Denver, Boston University, United Free Church College, Glasgow Scotland, and Basel University, Basel, Switzerland, as well as years of experience in teaching at colleges and universities in the east and west, work with young people and educational work from his college days provide a rich background for the course he gives at the Winchester Community School.

Prof. Wildman is agreeable, approachable and popular. The course will not be conducted on a purely academic basis, but will be a delightfully informative series of lectures.

Dr. Harry Thomas Stock, A.B., D.B., M.A., D.D., of Medford

"What shall we do with our young people?" is the cry of every parent. "How can we hold the young people in church?" is the cry of every pastor and church school leader. Dr. Stock, in his course at the Community School—"Leadership of Youth," tells how to solve many of these problems.

His study, research and field experience have gone into many books, some of which are "Church Work With Young People," "Training Young People in Worship," "Problems of Christian Youth," "How to Improve a Young People's Program," "Social Issues for Young People."

From those, both young and old, who have worked with, and studied under Dr. Stock, comes convincing testimony of the marked and prompt response to his ability and methods. He wastes no time in discussing abstract ideas. He makes, and puts to work definite practical suggestions.

WINCHESTER CIRCLE, FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

To the members of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion, who are now making slips and bringing in home plants, the Bazaar Committee would like to suggest that the Garden Table sponsored by the Winchester Circle Nov. 15 and 16 be kept in mind. A plant, whether of home or hot-house culture, would be much appreciated.

It is hoped that these plants and other suitable articles for the table can be assembled at 4 Lakeview road Monday, Nov. 13, 2-5 so that members of the Circle who find it impossible to visit the Bazaar may do their bit in Winchester.

Telephone Win. 1128 or Win. 0620 if we may enlist your interest to the greater success of the work.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION TO FIELD SOCCER TEAM

The Immaculate Conception soccer team, that finished second in the juvenile division of the Bay State League, will hold its first practice session of the current year on Sunday, Sept. 24 at Fleming Field in Woburn. Notices have been sent to Kelley, Carroll, McFeeters, DeVito, Dulong, McCarron, McHugh, Gurney, Doherty, Calhoun, "Jim" and "Marty" McCauley, Russo and Capone, all of whom played a year ago.

The Immaculates will play this year in the Junior League, but expect to take the step upward in stride and to make a good showing. The club went great guns in the juvenile group in its first year and should be much better this season.

Patrolmen James P. Donaghey and Archie T. O'Connell of the Police Department commenced their annual vacations this week, Traffic Officer John E. Hanlon and Patrolman James E. Farrell returning to duty.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL MEN BUSY

With the opening game of the 1933 campaign scheduled for this Saturday with Saugus High School at Saugus Coach Wendell Mansfield has been working over time with his Winchester High School football charges in an attempt to determine what his starting lineup will be for this first game. Saugus in recent years has been tough for the locals and last season defeated Winchester on a muddy gridiron with one of the best forward passing attacks the Red and Black saw all fall.

What Saugus will show tomorrow is a question, but surely the team Winchester will field will be neither veteran nor especially hefty.

Capt. "Andy" Lentine, demon All-Middlesex center, and "Tommy" Hannon, far kicking halfback, are Winchester's only letter players this season but there are in the good sized squad with which Coach Mansfield is working several boys who saw quite a bit of service a year ago. Godfrey, Bairstow and Wilson, ends; Woodford and Walker, linemen; "Wee Willie" McGarragle, Tremberth and Haulon, backs, all saw much varsity service a year ago and added to them is big Jerry Gaffney who started the Woburn game last year after being kept idle during the remainder of the season by scholastic difficulties. Several members of last year's second team are making strong bids for varsity jobs and two of them, Frank Provinzano and "Sam" Murphy, are rated first string right now. There is a woeful lack of weight apparent in this year's squad, but speed and fight can go a long way toward making up for this handicap.

Coach Mansfield is being assisted with the squad by Robert Freiery of Arlington and Richard Murphy of Winchester. Both are volunteer assistants, working without remuneration for the sake of experience, the reduced school budget making it impossible to hire an assistant football coach this fall.

Murphy, a Winchester boy and graduate of Grinnell College where he was a member of the football team and track captain, is too well known here to need further introduction. Freiery played football at Arlington High School and also at the State Teachers' College at East Stroudsburg, Pa., from which he was recently graduated.

Winchester has no soft early season schedule this year, for after Saugus the Red and Black goes to Arlington and the following Saturday entertains Maynard, one of the best on the Middlesex League roster.

With practically a veteran eleven this year Maynard will be favored to finish at or near the top of the Middlesex heap, and Lexington, with a wealth of rugged material seems also set for a good season. Stoneham is reported to have a light team this year, little is known of Concord, and Belmont is reported to have but a single veteran available. However with the huge squads that report yearly at the latter school Belmont is sure to be formidable though no club can lose men like Ford, Ecker, Higgs, Meehan and White and not feel just a bit depressed.

Maynard seems especially well fortified this season with the Malcolm boys for center and quarterback duty, O'Leary, the fastest running back in the league, Archer, veteran tackle, Ignachuck and Dugan, guards and O'Toole, a rugged end who seems to be playing fullback this year. If we had to pick a winner of the league title right now, we'd pick Maynard. Fortunately we don't have to and after Saturday's game with Melrose we'll know just a bit more about the strength that the Orange seems to have on paper.

Winchester's first football casualty of the season was reported Tuesday afternoon when Leonard Boyle, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Helen V. Boyle of 65 Holland street, sustained a broken left arm and dislocated elbow while playing in the yard of the Wyman School shortly after 3:30. Patrolman Charles J. Harrold took the boy to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

"JIM" FITZGERALD LED WINCHESTER BATTERS IN PAUL REVERE LEAGUE

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald, giant first baseman of the Winchester Legion baseball team led the outfit at bat during the Paul Revere League season, rolling up the impressive average of .469 with that big wagon tongue he swings about so lightly. Bulky "Joe" Tansey, catcher, also finished over .400 with a mark of .407, "Bob" Lee, pitcher and outfielder, and "Nick" Fitzgerald outfielder, following with .375 and .373 respectively. Francis Tansey, pitcher and outfielder, and "Tony" Chefalo, infielder, with .333 and .301 finished in the charmed circle while "Joe" McKee, outfielder, with .291 and Paul Kendrick, infielder, with .287 were close to the .300 mark.

Other averages were Manager Harry Chefalo, infielder, .237; Anthony Tofuri, outfielder, .222; Frank Procopio, infielder, .217; Andrew Lentine, catcher, .187; and William Robinson, pitcher, .116.

Several of the players with low averages took part in only a few league games so that the team average of the regulars would very probably be well above .300. The Legion was far from a good fielding club, but with its strong attack and good pitching from Lee, Frank Tansey and Robinson, was plenty good enough to finish out in front of the other teams few of whom got better than indifferent pitching to go with fair batting and fielding. Poor pitching especially handicapped such teams as the Lincolns and the Wayland Greys, both of whom looked good outside of the box.

TENNIS ASSOCIATION TOURNEY REACHES THIRD ROUND

The winner of the Dalrymple-Gamage match will play "Herb" Ross, who has already won his third round match in one of the semi-final matches, the other being contested by the winners of the Gilpatric-Riley and Freeburn-Blanchard matches.

The 75 turned in by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Badger was the best Winchester net, the best gross for an all-Winchester team being the 88 of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rousseau. Mrs. W. Peterson had an 87 paired with C. E. Eaton of Bear Hill.

LITTLE REAL DAMAGE REPORTED HERE AFTER STORM

Despite the fact that Winchester was drenched with heavy rain last week-end there have been no reports of heavy damage done about town.

Several wires were down and the unusually high water in Wedge Pond caused the collapse of a dam erected to control the height of the water there. Blanchard's lumber yard was flooded and water was reported in several cellars around the center, as well as in private houses. Wedge Pond was at high level and the level of the mill pond rose sufficiently to have the water race over the spillway. Work on the waterways project in town had to be abandoned because of the abnormally high level of the river.

Supt. Harry Dotten of the Water Department reported that a total of nine inches of rain fell in Winchester during the storm. The reservoirs while well filled, are not yet at capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Amerige of Cambridge street are returning home this week from Deer Isle, Me., where they spent the past six weeks.

STAR SPORTS SERIES INTERESTS FORMER HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER

Dear Mr. Wilson:

I have been greatly interested in the athletic photos recently reproduced in the Star, especially perhaps, because many of the earlier prints were from negatives, taken by me with my own camera.

I am enclosing three unmounted pictures printed 25 years or so ago. If they are suitable for reproduction I should very much like to see them in your paper. They were taken in the art room of the then "new high school."

All my negatives were destroyed in the fire which levelled our old homestead in Methuen some years ago, but I still have a large collection of mounted photographs of the school, seniors and athletic teams.

Very truly yours,
Minna B. Noyes

Ed. Note.—Miss Noyes will be remembered by many graduates as modern language teacher at Winchester High School for many years previous to 1909. Her interest in the institution and her former pupils has never diminished, and we wish to express our thanks for the two photographs which are reproduced this week. We know little of the records made by the teams in question, but doubtless the boy's club was a good one as it was composed of fine individual players. Present day followers of prep school basketball will find both teams extremely interesting by comparison with present day groups in this sport.

ENTERTAINED AT BRIDGE

Miss Esther Puffer of 9 Harrison street entertained some friends at a bridge party on Friday evening. SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

The newcomers to the market this week are Idaho baking potatoes, cranberries, and Canadian rutabagas, those sweet yellow turnips. Several of the summer vegetables still linger though their season is growing short. Cauliflower is a popular vegetable as the weather grows cooler and is quickly prepared. A favorite sauce for this vegetable is Mock Hollandaise, a rich white sauce to which the yolk of an egg and some lemon juice has been added. Onions, sweet and white potatoes are economical and of excellent quality.

The early fall fruits include Concord, Malaga and Tokay grapes, Italian plums and pears. Most of these are good for preserving as well as for eating. Honeydew melons are the best of their family at this season. Small Valencia oranges are economical and are a satisfying addition to fruit gelatins.

Here are the menus from the Quaker Maid Kitchen:

Low Cost Dinner

Roast Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb
Browned Potatoes Creamed Onions
Bread and Butter
Chocolate Pudding
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Beef Browned Potatoes
Green Beans
Apple and Celery Salad

Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Errors in Postage Stamps

Errors have been made at various times in the printing of postage stamps. Sometimes they are printed in the wrong color, or wrong paper, or the artist may have made an error in his design, only discovered after the stamps had been put into circulation. Usually when an error of any kind is discovered the stamps are withdrawn from sale and destroyed, and new plates made. In the meantime collectors the world over are busy buying errors.

Resourceful Hairdresser

A letter was delivered on board a liner at Auckland, New Zealand, recently, addressed to "Marjory, with two long plaits, sailing by R. M. S. Mariposa." The address was not a joke. The letter was from a hairdressing parlor in Auckland, where a young lady had left her gold wrist watch. An assistant who had plaited her hair had heard her called Marjorie and was informed that she was to sail on the liner.

The Star is informed that the week of Oct. 1 to 7 is to be observed as National Dog Week. If those in charge of the movement are looking for a community in which to hold special exercises we can strongly recommend Winchester, for we know of no place where there are more dogs to the running foot than are to be found right here in what Mr. Craughwell is pleased to call the "Athens of America, eight miles from the gilded dome."

We met Park Commissioner William S. Packer in the square this week and found him revelling in the fact that six youngsters from the Loring avenue playground are to participate in the fall boys' and girls' tennis tournament at Longwood. "Bill" has been eager to make tennis a strictly town game without the possibility of sectionalism and welcomed the strides made at Loring avenue this summer under the coaching of "Bob" Bernnard. That the youngsters in the North End profited by "Bob's" teaching is apparent in the fact that a team from Loring avenue won from a Palmer street team in a tournament this summer, uncovering several promising players who have learned the game at the former playground. "The more, the merrier" is Mr. Packer's slogan, and operating under this banner he has given Winchester more good tennis players than any other town or city hereabouts of anywhere near our size.

Dr. Marvin Stevens, former head coach at Yale, whose acquaintance with the game includes experience as players and physician, stated recently that between 30 and 40 will be killed playing football this fall. Football men have hastened to explain that Dr. Stevens does not mean by his statement that football, the game, can be held responsible for the death of all those who are fatally injured while playing it this year, because usually lack of competent supervision or by equipment or both that have found to be at the root of a great majority of the gridiron fatalities reported in past seasons. Considering the number who play it, football need not be ashamed of its record, but even its champions must admit that the great fall sport is still a hard rough game in which the possibility of injury is not too remote. Winchester teams are competently supervised, well coached and as well equipped as possible under the present open field system in vogue here. We have few serious injuries, and many of those that develop into troublesome cases would never reach this stage if they were reported at once to the coach. Dread of being forbidden to play or the mistaken idea that one is not playing the man if he mentions his ailment has kept many a boy from receiving the prompt treatment for a small hurt that would have prevented an incapacitating injury. The point of all this is simply report your slight injury to your coach at once. Make no mistake about it, he will not advise your retiring from play unless he feels that to continue would be dangerous to your health and safety. If it is recommended that you visit a physician, do so at once. He too will get you back into the game as soon as possible. It is many times the little bumps and scratches, neglected, that lead to weeks of enforced idleness just when the team may be in need of your services most. We were interested to read a statement attributed to Fritz Crisler, capable Princeton coach, in which he deplored the bare legged fad adopted by many college and most high school football teams. Mr. Crisler stated that his Princeton boys are required to wear stockings to guard against cuts and bruises and the danger of infection, adding that there is no such thing as a "minor infection" in football. We have always felt that it is foolish to play football bare legged and when we see the patched up shins and calves of many of the players we are but strengthened in our belief. It is our opinion that the negligible gain in speed is more than offset in the apparent loss of protection which the stockings provide. On cold days stockings add warmth that is necessary, particularly to those waiting on the sidelines for their chance to get into action. But whether you wear stockings or not, report that sore leg, lame shoulder or sprained finger. Get fixed up at once. Don't add to the "foolish casualties" that have prejudiced many against the game of football.

MISS SAWYER TO BE BRIDE AT CANDE-LIGHT CEREMONY

By candle-light tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church, Miss Helen Elizabeth Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brett Sawyer of Ridgeway, will become the bride of Horace A. Secrist of Walpole, son of Prof. and Mrs. Horace Secrist of Evanston, Ill. The ceremony is to be performed in a setting of white gladioli and talisman roses by the minister of the church, Rev. George Hale Reed, and the wedding music will be played by Edward Sanford Roberts, organist.

Mr. Sawyer is to give his daughter in marriage and Miss Lucy Ann Sawyer, the bride's sister, is to be her only attendant. Everett Gleason of Cambridge is to be Mr. Secrist's best man and the corps of ushers includes Richard R. Higgins of Walpole and Winchester, Wayland A. DuBois of Walpole, Finley T. White of Walpole and William P. Sawyer of Winchester brother of the bride.

The bride is to wear old ivory satin trimmed with seed pearls and a tulle veil arranged with a cap of old Brussels lace. Her flowers will be lilies of the valley and orchids. The maid of honor will be gowned in Nile green chiffon and will carry talisman roses. An informal reception will be held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony.

Mr. Secrist and his bride are to live in Walpole at 640 East street, where they will be at home after Nov. 1. The bride is a graduate of the Buckingham School in Cambridge and of Smith College, Class of 1933. Mr. Secrist, a graduate of Harvard in the Class of 1927, is a member of the Harvard Club of Boston and of the Walpole Country Club. He is associated in business with the Lewis Manufacturing Company in Walpole.

TOWN OFFICERS HELD GET-TOGETHER

About 50 town officers, including the Selectmen, Finance Committee, Planning Board, department heads and members met for dinner last evening at the Winchester Country Club and an informal friendly discussion of municipal problems. Those so minded arrived at the club early enough to get in a round of golf before dinner.

Mr. Albert K. Comins, chairman of the Finance Committee, which organization sponsored the affair, presided at the dinner and round-table discussion which followed. Each department head told something of the condition of, and problems confronting his department and outlined his plans for the future, it being generally agreed that in the immediate future at least every effort should be directed toward reducing the town's bonded indebtedness, confining work to maintenance except where new construction can be shown to be absolutely necessary.

During the dinner Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers, who was herself a dinner guest at the Country Club was introduced by Vice Chairman of the Republican Town Committee, a former chairman of the town's Board of Selectmen.

The Automobile

The automobile was not a one-man invention. Hundreds of persons, in the last half of the last century, worked on schemes for self-propelled vehicles, and others on the internal combustion engine. The discoveries of many of these people are incorporated in every car today. On April 19, 1892, the first gasoline automobile in the United States was operated by its inventor, C. A. Duryea. Another of the first was a gasoline car invented by Elwood Haynes, and first driven at Kokomo, Ind., July 4, 1894. There had been several earlier machines in Europe.

Mr. Henry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brown of Rangeley has returned to Dartmouth College for his senior year. Mr. Brown is a member of the Alpha Chi Rho fraternity and plays in the Dartmouth band.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer was the hostess for a bridge and baby shower for Mrs. Elisha G. Pierce on Wednesday, Sept. 20. Among those present were: Mrs. Morris Kerr, Mrs. Guy Howe, Miss Ruth Caney, Mrs. Clarence Russell, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, Mrs. Benjamin Hill, Miss Eleanor Dow, Mrs. Hugh Fifield, Mrs. Charles Hart, Mrs. Clinton Mason, Mrs. Irving Jennings, Mrs. Roland Fletcher, Mrs. Forrest Pitman, Mrs. Donald Boothby, Mrs. Chandler Symmes, Mrs. A. M. Litchfield and Miss Rhoda Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Avery of this town are at the Mountain View, Whitefield, N. H., for the week-end. Winchester society has been better represented at Whitefield than at any other mountain resort this season, no week having recently passed without several Winchester arrivals. Also at the Mountain View this week is Mr. J. A. Marston and among recent guests here were Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds and their sons who thoroughly enjoyed the golf, riding and other sports.

The Camp Committee of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts, is happy to report that more Winchester Scouts attended Camp Fellsland this year than any season since Winchester became a part of the Council. The attendance gained 18 per cent over the previous year. The gain in the number of boys attending in the entire Council was 3.5 per cent.

Miss Alice Ghirardini has been elected president of the junior class at the Academy of Notre Dame in Tyngsboro.

Among the passengers returning from Europe on the S.S. Ilsenstein last Saturday was Miss Alice Morrison of Church street. During July Miss Morrison studied dancing in Vienna with Hans Wiener, the young Viennese dancer who is now teaching in Boston. Many Winchesterites will recall with pleasure the splendid performances given by Mr. Wiener and his dance group, of which Miss Morrison is a member, at the Pops Concerts in Symphony Hall last May.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

By Eugene Bertram Willard

On to Victory With NRA!

We live in an age of problems, gigantic problems. Today we are distraught as no generation has ever been. But ours is the first generation that has had a social conscience. We have abilities, capacities, resources and opportunities that no other nation ever had. Above everything else there presses down mighty hard the thought that "It is now or never." The National Recovery Act is one solution of the economic crisis that has just about engulfed us. If NRA fails, there are now pretty dark years just ahead of us. But NRA will not fail—the whole American people, not only the people of fair Winchester but the people of every city, town and hamlet in America, have been stirred to their very depths by President Roosevelt's Recovery Plan.

The one hopeful thing in connection with the problems we face today is the fact that man has always been a fighter. In that excellent drama of Edmond Rostand's "Cynaro de Bergerac," he brings the story to a close with the death of the old warrior. The old soldier imagines that even as he dies he is encompassed with foes, and so he draws his sword and thrusts and parries until he falls dead. That has always been the spirit of mankind, of our own people in particular, and that spirit is the hope of the future.

Let us give it today as our candid opinion that NRA is about to work a new wonder in the world. The spirit of a better economic freedom is breathing on the valley of Unemployment's dry bones. With God's help there is no reason why we cannot put these millions of idle men back into gainful work and make it possible to put an end to this long Unemployment. This is no time for any divided opinion—we have got to stand together or fall together. It is your business and my business to call men to the support of NRA.

NRA's challenge to Winchester, State and Nation is this. It is no easy task that faces us; but at this time it seems to be the one and only remedy for the ills of America, since the President's Program seems to be the last hope of our economic order. Weariness? Yes! Criticism? Certainly! Despair? Never! What if tomorrow is the great battle, the day after there will be rest for our glorious Nation on the Hills of Industrial Stability!

The Board voted that a letter of commendation be sent to Chief of Police Rogers regarding the work of Officer Boyle in capturing the man who broke into the home of Mr. Hubert W. Godfrey, 372 Highland avenue, on the night of Sept. 15.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS

(By the Observer)

A Winchester gentleman who has been confined to his home on account of illness tells what a blessed thing it is to hear his wife and daughter singing as they go about their household tasks. So he got some poetic inspiration and this is the result:

Lots of us may think we stand alone,
That the world cares not if we sing,
But all unknown there are kindred souls—
And a song is a precious thing;
For it lightens the load of earth
And binds all men as kin,
For they know what the song is worth
In a world of toil and sin.
So, singer, do thy part;
You will find there are ears to hear.
But let your theme be dear to the heart
And your notes be true and clear.

One Winchester fellow's idea of cutting wood is to whittle a lead pencil.

According to a well known Winchester "pol" some cigars named after men of rank are pretty rank themselves.

Why is it that so many young boys here in Winchester persist in wiggling their ears and whistling through their teeth?

About the bitterest dose for some of the young folks attending Winchester High School is to swallow the very forcible realization eventually that they don't know it all.

Winchester men who live within their incomes and pay their debts may not be very popular with the bill collectors, but they generally have peace of mind, which means a great deal in going to bed each night and enjoying really restful sleep.

Every new-found truth of Nature, every fact revealed by Science, multiplies the evidence of an ordered universe, and does not undermine religious belief in such ordered creation. It is worth the Observer's time to say right here that there isn't a need for rewriting the Bible so much as just re-reading it.

Touching a part of the marriage ceremony, a Winchester serenader lightly chimes:

"With all my goods I thee endow,"
How many men have said it;
While some of us have made the vow,
The others have just read it.
By some the promise may be kept,
It may be easy sharing;
Because some Winchester fellows have naught except
The two-pants suits they are wearing.

Winhceester in common with every community is afflicted with crab dispositions always looking for a scrap. The day's prize of a wheelbarrowful of spinach for the worst crab is pinned on that Senator who walked into the Senate elevator, and the operator said respectfully, "Good morning," whereat the crab spake: "When I desire your comments on the weather I'll let you know."

A Winchester woman who takes a friendly interest in the health of young girls says that girls should sleep ten hours every night. Probably there are some girls who will reply that this woman should try to avoid talking in her sleep.

"Solid" books are the kind people read just enough of to talk about.

Every level headed Winchesterite will agree that one cannot always make a man simply by giving a sheepskin to a calf.

A friend of ours here in Winchester has a book on farm and country life under the title "Harris on the Pig." And hair is on the gorilla, too.

We hate to write this but a Winchester fellow whose subscription to the Star has just been paid five years in advance wants us to and that's all there is to it. What he wants us to say is that a lot of women here in fair Winchester who would make good servants are out trying to hire some.

Ah, good fellow Winchesterites, buy gas cheerfully. Just think of the great philanthropies your money makes possible.

They do tell us that silence can be bought. Well, as to that, there's a man of our acquaintance who says he once bought a lot of it in a parrot.

NRA will yield results of national industrial contentment and the good people of Winchester who weigh and measure carefully will proceed deliberately to back up the President's program.

Discretion is that thing which comes to a Winchesterite who has been acting naturally, and consists of at least ten looks for each desire to leap.

There is an ancient jest about the clothes moth being the most economical of insects, because it lives entirely in holes. But that joke is made for masculine appreciation only; one cannot expect any Winchester housewife worthy of the name to see any humor in such a clumsy jape. For her a clothes moth is a signal for frantic, handclapping pursuit, followed by anxious examination of all closets and shelves to see whether the pesky critter may not have had any brothers and sisters along with him.

How many soot-belching chimneys are there here in fair Winchester?

The Swearless Indian

American Indians possess no swear words in their language. "No way our language to take God's name and throw it at you, so must use white man's words," one Indian is quoted. Religion holds a prominent place in Indian life. American history is filled with dramatic and sympathetic narratives of campfire tribal rites, sacrifice of maidens to appease disfavor of much feared gods, or elaborate preparation of graves for contented life of dead tribesmen in the happy hunting ground.

That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past" (Ecclesiastes 3:14, 15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. . . . The spiritual reality is the scientific fact in all things. The spiritual fact, repeated in the action of man and the whole universe, is harmonious and is the ideal of Truth" (p. 207).

TEXAS ORANGE BELT WHERE HIRRICANE STRUCK

The Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, struck by the hurricane which devastated parts of Cuba and then crossed the Gulf of Mexico, has had a surprising and spectacular transformation in the past few decades, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Region Transformed in Recent Years

The region, says the bulletin, has been virtually made over, from Boca Chica, where the muddy waters of the Rio Grande meet the blue Gulf, to Rio Grande City, a hundred miles up the river. Mexican residents, not yet old, who lived in a land of manana and untroubled leisure; who remember Brownsville's "water works" when it consisted of barrels on wheels drawn by donkeys; who traversed roads that were mere ruts in the sand made by buckboards and ox-wagons—are still bewildered at the influx of restless Americans and the dizzy swirl of modernity they have brought with them.

At the turn of the century this valley section had only a sparse population, largely of Mexican descent. Most of the few American residents outside the one town and few villages were cattlemen. A dense growth of mesquite trees, prickly-pear cactus, and "chaparral"—the inclusive Spanish term for an impenetrable undergrowth of scraggly brush—covered the country. Cattle of none too good blood eked out a living in this jungle, and cowboys pushed their way after them. Thousands of deer, wild pigs, coyotes, and wildcats competed with the cattle for a living.

Citrus Groves Replace Jungle

Since then the changes have been sweeping. Promoters, developers, engineers, farmers, and seekers for homes in a mild climate have poured in an increasing stream. Bond issues, picks, spades, steam-shovels, and cement mixers have been busy. The jungle of mesquite and undergrowth has been ripped from hundreds of thousands of acres. Modern concrete highways—hundreds of miles of them—have replaced the sandy ruts that once served as roads. Long, straight irrigation canals that are virtually cement-lined rivers, cut through the rich delta soil brought down through ages from the Rocky Mountains and the highlands of Mexico, carrying water from the Rio Grande to thousands of farms and orchards.

On the acres on which chaparral and pigs once throve are now growing all the products of a semi-tropical climate: winter vegetables, figs, grapes, even dates. But above all, this reclaimed land has been planted to citrus fruits, becoming the newest major citrus region in the United States. Ordered rows of grapefruit and orange trees stalk across the countryside for miles. Approximately seven million citurs trees are growing in orchards and there are millions more in the valley's nurseries. In five or six years shipment of citrus fruit has increased from a few car loads to more than 5000. If planting continues at the rate of recent years, potential shipments will equal present Florida shipments in less than a decade.

Towns Rub Elbows

So thickly have towns and villages grown up in the irrigated section of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, that a motorist barely leaves one before he enters another. The highways in the most thickly settled sections are veritable Main streets. Within the past few years the improved roads of the section have been connected up with the highway system of the rest of Texas. Not many years ago it was a two-day trip into "the Valley," as Texans call the lower Rio Grande region, from relatively nearby sections. Now one can drive down from San Antonio on excellent highways in four or five hours, or from Austin or Houston in only a few more.

Brownsville, the metropolis of the Valley, was transformed by a railroad and by the subsequent citrus and winter vegetable development, from a sleepy little town to a thriving city. It had its birth in 1846 when General Zachary Taylor, preparing for the war with Mexico that seemed inevitable, established a fort there on the banks of the Rio Grande. For nearly half a century the town was little more than a straggling group of dwellings and a few stores grouped around the fort. For contacts with the outside world, the town was chiefly dependent on ships to a point near the mouth of the Rio Grande. Since 1900 when the population was about 6000, the town has increased approximately fivefold.

Directly across the Rio Grande from Brownsville is Matamoros. It was at one time one of the leading cities of Mexico, but has lost ground in the last half century. An international bridge connects Brownsville and Matamoros, and to the cafes and resorts of the Mexican town in normal times goes a stream of American pleasure seekers.

Point Isabel, 22 miles northeast of Brownsville, and eight miles north of the Rio Grande's mouth, is the salt water outlet for the Valley. After the Mexican War it was a port of importance despite its shallow water, and through it came supplies not only for Brownsville and the surrounding American territory, but also for northeastern Mexico. After a railway reached Brownsville in 1904 the trade of the port dwindled. Six years ago port improvement work was begun by the Federal Government. Jetties have been built, a 16-foot channel has been dredged, and plans are under way to greatly increase this depth.

Near Point Isabel are beaches much frequented for surf bathing. From the port sportsmen go out for tarpon and other big game fish. Opposite the port is the southern end of Padre Island, a narrow unbroken ribbon of sand that skirts the Texas coast for more than 100 miles. Its Gulfward beach forms the longest natural automobile speedway in the United States. Motorists cross to the island by a ferry and drive its length to a point opposite Corpus Christi.

DISPUTED ISLANDS ARE MERE SPECKS ON VAST CHINA SEA

The group of islands in the China Sea, over which it is reported the Japanese may dispute French possession, are so tiny and unimportant that many map makers do not show them according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The group of seven coral islands, reported to include Taitu and Twin Islands, lies appoximately 300 miles nothwest of Palawan Island of the Philippines, and can best be located by drawing a line due east from a point a few miles north of Saigon, French Indo-China and a line due south from Hong Kong, China, continues the bulletin. The lines will intersect close to the islands.

Dangerous to Navigation

Perhaps more attention is given to the islands by the navigation chart makers than world map makers, for these and other islands in the southern part of the China Sea long have been a menace to navigation. Not far east of the group is a vast area of the sea which hydrographic maps show as "dangerous," for it has not been surveyed.

According to the Japanese Government, a colony of Japanese once inhabited some of the islands. Toda ythe islands are deserted except for a few Chinese fishermen who are provided with food by junks which visit this region once or twice a year.

Palawan, the nearest permanently settled area to the islands, belongs to the Philippine Islands group. It is slightly larger than the State of Delaware. The 25,000 inhabitants of Palawan are almost wholly Mohammedan Moros, descended from early Arab adventurers, with a mixture of Malay blood. Puerto Princesa, the chief town of Palawan, is about 377 miles southwest of Manila.

Tie Used Fifty-seven Years

Probably one of the oldest railway cross ties in existence is still in service three miles east of Newton, Miss., on the Vicksburg division of the Illinois Central. This tie was placed in the track in 1875 and has been in continuous use since that date. The tie has borne the weight of five different kinds of rail during its 57 years of service. According to a supervisor on this district the tie is good for 50 years more.—Railway Age.

CAPITOL THEATRE

There is a big treat in store for the patrons of the Capitol Theatre next week as both programs are extraordinarily entertaining. Starting Monday and continuing through Wednesday, the Capitol presents "The Gold Diggers of 1933," a fitting sequel to the sensationally popular, "42nd Street." It excels its predecessor in beauty, in catchy tunes and "whistling" music, in comedy and in story value. Warren Williams, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler (Mrs. Al Jolson), Dick Powell, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Ginger Rogers and Ned Sparks head the superlative cast. The chorus featured throughout, is a collection of beauty gathered from the whole nation.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Capitol is proud to present that greatest of living actors, George Arliss in his newest triumph, "The Affairs of Voltaire." This is a picture in which Mr. Arliss realizes a life-long ambition to bring the character of one of the greatest Frenchmen to life on the screen. A stellar cast of able players support the star in this picture. Doris Kenyon lends her exquisite beauty to the role of Madame Pompadour. Margaret Lindsay plays Nannette. Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray, David Torrence, Doris Lloyd and Ivan Simpson are others featured in the imposing array of talent appearing in "Voltaire."

The companion picture to "Voltaire" is a rollicking comedy featuring Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland. Co-starring in "Mama Loves Papa," Lilyan Tashman is cast as the coquette who tempts "papa." Also in the cast are George Barbier and Walter Catlett who lend their talent to a series of hilarious events.

Prayers on a Rosary

The Christian practice of repeating prayers is traceable to early times. Sozomen mentions the Hermit Paul of the Fourth century, who threw away a pebble as he recited each of his 300 daily prayers. It is not known precisely when the mechanical device of the rosary was first used. William of Malmesbury says that Godiva, who founded a religious house at Coventry in 1043, left a string of jewels, on which she had told her prayers, that it might be hung on the statue of the Blessed Virgin. Thomas of Cantimpre first mentions the word "rosary," using it in a mystical sense as Mary's rose garden.

WINCHESTER NRA CLUB

Chairman George H. Lochman presided at the meeting held last Friday night in the committee room of the Town Hall. The roll-call found 26 of the members or their representatives present. Dr. J. Churchill Hindes was elected vice chairman of the club. The names of 10 new members, representing different organizations, were submitted by the secretary, Mrs. Frances Sullivan. All were accepted.

To comply with instructions issued by NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, a Compliance Committee was appointed as follows: Atty. Joseph W. Worthen, Selectman Edward H. Merrill, Rev. James F. Fitzsimons, Officer James P. Donaghey, Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, Mr. Everett Hambly. This committee will receive and adjust code complaints.

Now that the precincts are checked up they will be canvassed by volunteer workers for consumers signatures. Chairman Lochman is taking care of Precincts 1 and 3. The American Legion, with Kenneth S. Hall at the helm, will take over Precinct 2. The Fortnightly, represented by Mrs. A. Beatrice Thompson and Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan—assisted by Mrs. Frances T. Conlon, is sponsoring Precinct 4. Precinct 5 is going to receive good attention from Fred H. Scholl of the Lions' Club, who has also enlisted the aid of the I. O. O. F. Precinct 6 will be in charge of Arthur E. A. King of the K. of C. who is selecting assistants.

In view of the fact that the work of canvassing should be finished before October, the last week of September, beginning Sept. 25, is designated as Campaign Clean-up Week in Winchester. As there is no "appendange to wag the dog" in this campaign, much good feeling ought to prevail in the efforts of each precinct to "go over the top" first. Naturally, each precinct will want to stage a victory celebration of some kind. There are no funds available for a huge demonstration such as Boston held, yet it is hoped that the precinct captains may plan on some sort of a patriotic feature as a finishing touch.

Chairman George H. Lochman reports that 98 per cent of the business concerns have already signed codes. Some few are waiting for proper codes to sign.

Vice-Chairman, Dr. J. Churchill Hindes, received excellent co-operation from Mr. George Davidson in the matter of having the names of previous signers checked off on the precinct lists. A lists f each precinct is now available to the precinct captains when called for.

The club is receiving the whole-hearted support of the press, the clergy, the selectmen and other town officials. All signs point to a harmonious finish, thanks to our chief aide-de-camp, Fred Scholl, who is always on the job and ready to pour oil on troubled waters.

The next meeting of the club will be held this Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the general committee room of the Town Hall.

Frances Sullivan, Secretary

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Ronald Colman in "The Masquerader," and "Midnight Club," with Clive Brook and George Raft as the stars, will make up the double bill that opens at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday. "The Masquerader" is the story of a young Canadian journalist who discovers that he is the living image of his dissipated, drug-crazed cousin, who is the leader of England's ruling political party. Colman plays the dual role of John Chilcote, political leader, and John Loder, journalist. While making a critical speech in the House of Commons, Chilcote collapses. Stumbling home in the fog, he collides with his double, whom he installs in his place in his seat of government and his home. Colman, "The Masquerader," has to solve the problem of fooling Chilcote's wife, Elissa Landi, his mistress, Juliette Compton and his brother members of Parliament. "The Masquerader" is hailed as the best thing Ronald Colman has given the screen in years.

"Midnight Club," is a screen adaption of E. Phillips Oppenheim's famous story, with George Raft, Clive Brook, Helen Vinson and Alison Skipworth as the principal players. It is the story of an American detective's plan to break up a London jewelry theft ring. Raft plays the role of the detective, a tough character from New York's East Side, who worms his way into the ring by posing as a skillful crook. Brook is cast as the leader of the thieves, a suave cultured gentleman on the surface. The story moves from the supper club which the gang uses as a "front" for its operations to the salons where lords and ladies foregather, and from them to the haunts of the underworld.

Great Death Valley Park Is Lowest Point in U. S.

Mysterious Death Valley, the lowest point in the United States, became a national monument under the national park service of the Department of the Interior by proclamation of former President Hoover, observes the Review of Reviews. This added another 1,500,000-acre area, rich in geologic and historic interest, to Uncle Sam's chain of parks and monuments. It lies in southeastern California, near the Nevada line.

According to the United States Geological survey, the valley lies 276 feet below sea level, yet fewer than 86 miles away towers Mount Whitney to an altitude of 14,496 feet, the highest point in the United States outside of Alaska.

In the midst of the sand dunes, gravel and saline deposits of the desert is an oasis, Furnace Creek ranch, where Panamint Indians cultivate oranges, garden vegetables, corn and alfalfa. Nor is the valley itself bare of plant life. The cactus, greasebush, yucca palm, chuckwalla, and other odd flora help create a unique landscape. And in spring the ground is carpeted with wild flowers of rare beauty and color.

Luxurious Pen Scheme

There are no walls and no cells, not even a punishment cell, at the Roxbury farm, Maryland's penal institution. No handcuffs, leg irons, clubs nor revolvers are visible. Neither are there guards, keepers or turnkeys, says the Baltimore Sun. The inmates are in charge of men designated as "officers," who act as instructors as well. The place seethes with building and farming activities. One may observe a half dozen small groups of inmates working in as many widely separated spots on the place with the nearest officer probably a quarter of a mile away. The inmate's garb is a comfortable jumper or jacket and a pair of overalls. The dark blue denim of this costume is the only monotonous thing about Roxbury.

When Wrestling Counted

In 858, Emperor Buntoku of Japan ordered his two sons to stage a wrestling match so that he could determine which one should succeed him.

"THE MASQUERADER" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Ronald Colman in the famous dual roles of "The Masquerader" comes to the University Theatre on Sunday for four days. In its original play form, one of the most successful melodramas the world has ever seen was made of the strange human story of two men who so closely resembled each other that neither wife nor mistress could be sure. Elissa Landi and Juliette Compton have the feminine leads with Colman's dual roles. David Torrence, Halliwell Hobbes, Creighton Hale and Helen Jerome Eddy are in the cast. Samuel Goldwyn has given his production of the English melodrama a bright modern setting. The background is the labor uprisings and the political crisis that are the headlines of London today.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Patricia Ellis have the leading roles in "The Narrow Corner," the companion feature. It is a story of love and adventure with a glamorous setting in the Dutch East Indies, inhabited and visited only by strange and unusual characters, people usually beyond the pale of society.

Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery are co-starred in "Another Language," adapted from the stage success which ran for more than a year on Broadway. This picture will be shown starting Thursday. Its story concerns the oppressive effect of a middle-class family upon the happiness of a young girl who marries into it, a stranger to the customs of the household. There are many hilarious moments in the picture, despite the dramatic structure upon which it is built.

Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson play the leading roles in "Her Bodyguard," the companion picture. It is an amusing tale of a love affair between a beautiful stage star and the private detective assigned by a jealous suitor to guard her from rivals. How the girl and the bodyguard outwit everyone else and find happiness together provides a highly funny tale.

Natives Believe Everest Is Goddess of Mountains

To the natives, Everest is the goddess-mother of the mountains, the abiding place of a great spirit, and to disturb its guarded sanctuary is to brave the wrath of the gods. All the higher peaks of the Himalayas are the home of spirits, some good, some evil, and the loftiest of them are reserved for the principal deities of the Hindoo religion.

Nanda Devi, one of the highest mountains in the British empire, towers to a height of 25,500 feet in the province of Garhwal, and the snow which is continually being blown off its summit is the smoke from a god's kitchen. Beneath the peaks of Badrinath and Kedarnath, which are among the holiest of the heights, lives a Hindoo high priest, who from his rocky residence, is in communion with the gods. He is so holy that only the highest caste Brahmins can approach within five feet of him, and the entrance to the temple over which he presides has three doorways, in succession—of copper, silver, and gold, respectively.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Star is informed that William "Robbie" Robinson and Robert "Olio" Lee have entered Wentworth Institute this year. This should prevent "Joe" Tansey from worrying too much about his pitching another spring for both Robinson and Lee are fine hurlers, the former having victories to his credit over the strong North Cambridge K. of C. Team, Cambridge Red Sox and Waltham City Club nines. Both boys play the outfield when not pitching and Lee is a wicked hitter. Big "Olio" is also quite a football player, running, kicking and passing well above the average. "Robbie" too can play the gridiron game, being a fast running halfback. All in all these local boys should help Mr. Tansey quite a bit.

UPRISING OF MODERN ASSYRIANS RECALLS BIBLICAL WARS

Once more, as in the days when Hezekiah ruled in Jerusalem, the Assyrians crop up in the news. When, under Sennacherib, king of Nineveh, "the Assyrians came down like a wolf on the fold," the Hebrew bribes of gold and silver, jewels and dancing girls were not enough to halt the invader. But a plague broke out among Sennacherib's cohorts, all "gleaming in purple and gold," and he returned to Nineveh, whose ruined walls can be seen across the river Tigris from modern Mosul. Dispatches report an uprising of Assyrians in Iraq.

Today the Assyrians of Iraq are a Christian minority living a precarious existence along the frontiers of Turkey, Syria, and Iraq. They are isolated like their neighbors, the Armenians, by religion from the Kurds, Turks, and Iraqis among whom they live, says Dr. Maynard Owen Williams in a communication to the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Called "Chaldeans" in Baghdad

In Baghdad they are called "Chaldeans" and play the part of rivermen in that Tigris-split capital of the new kingdom of Iraq, where business is in the hands of the Jews, and land transport is borne on the backs of Kurdish porters.

During the World War, the Assyrians, hedged about by age-old enemies, helped the Allies, only to have the Turkish tide sweep back to inevitable reprisals. Now England, whose protege Iraq has been, views fresh uprisings north of the Mosul oil fields with alarm and King Feisal has been urged not to leave by plane for Switzerland. Even yet the boundary between Iraq and Syria has not been defined, and a local squabble or punitive action between irregulars may have very grave consequences. Naturally people living under mandates are watching with interest the evolution of Iraq, recently made independent, and a full-fledged member of the League of Nations.

Deep in the heart of Central Asia the Citroen-Haardt Expedition found caves at Bazaklik in which Buddhist rubber-stamp art had been superimposed upon Uighur inscriptions in an alphabet derived from the Syriac, still used by the "Assyrians" and the parent script for the Mongols and Manchus of later years.

First Christians in China

How Syria's Church of the East extended its influence to Merv and Sinkiang is still a mystery, but Christianity and Mohammedanism swept eastward across Asia almost simultaneously, and the Nestorian tablet discovered in Sian, Shensi, shows that by 781 A. D. Nestorian Christianity, officially recognized by Imperial Decree in 638, had spread far and wide through China. One can well imagine the surprise of Jesuit missionaries when they found that a form of Christianity had preceded them into China by more than a thousand years.

In the region where Kurdistan breaks away toward the Tigris Valley military operations are very difficult and Kurdish tribes were appealed to recently by speeches in their own tongue broadcast from loud speakers in low-flying planes. A joint force of British and Iraqi planes saved an army column trapped near Birisia during a campaign against the Kurdish Sheik, Ahmed of Barzan. The whole region is one conducive to guerilla warfare and irregular engagements.

When, in the land of Scheherazade, an Arab king boards the modern flying carpet to escape the terrific heat, or airplanes are used to bombard Kurdish tribesmen, indomitable fighters since the days of Xenophon, with radio threats and pleas, it is quite evident that the "unchanging East" is changing. But the lot of the Christian minorities along the upper reaches of the Tigris remains a problem.

The Assyrian name has persisted, although changed in meaning until it now applies to a small group of Nestorian Christians, related perhaps to that semi-fabulous "Prester John" so famous in the chronicles of medieval travelers. The modern Assyrians are so little known that visitors to Asia are unable to learn in what way this small group, now threatened by massacre, has continued its life and identity among so many enemies.

Trains through Winchester and automobile traffic was badly balled up Monday morning during the rush period from 7:50 to 8:30. The trouble was due to difficulty at the switching station. Trains were lined up for over a half hour north and south of the center, and the gatemen had their hands full looking after trains, autos and pedestrians. Passengers at the station expecting to take trains at 8 o'clock did not leave until nearly 8:30. During the rush a hole in the street near the east signal light developed over the big Edison manhole located there, and Officer Hanlon, on duty in the traffic box, had to leave his post and mark the point with a red flag. All in all, it was an auspicious opening for the week after the labors of the two previous days.

THE SELECTMEN'S TRIBUTE TO JAMES HINDS

James Hinds has been an institution in Winchester for many years. Born here, and educated in our public schools, he has taken an important part in town affairs since early manhood.

He was our town engineer—and a very able one. No man in our time has exercised a greater influence in the growth and development of the town. Our excellent streets, our splendid system of sewerage and surface drainage, our very complete engineering records—such the envy of our sister communities—are due in no small part to his efforts.

He was more than town engineer. He was the indispensable consultant to every Board of Selectmen for over three decades. No matter how knotty the problem, "Jim" could be depended upon to help unravel it. No matter how wrathy the individual, "Jim" would send him away happy. No matter what the job, "Jim" was ready for it—and it was always well done.

His great interest in civic affairs is well known to his fellow citizens. He served on countless committees which gave freely of their time and energy to the accomplishment of public good. His participation in the Winchester plan for unemployment relief—a model for other cities and towns—insured from the start a high degree of effective organization.

His great love for Winchester has never waned. His recent work in planning the reconstruction of Highland avenue, now nearing completion, was a revelation to his associates. It proved to be his last major project. That splendid new highway constitutes just the sort of monument that "Jim" would have chosen for himself. And those who labored with him in this task will love to recall the inspiring example of this man, even then broken in health, but as youthful and uncomplainable in spirit as when he took up his duties as engineer 28 years ago.

The sad news of his passing reached the Board at its meeting last Monday. It came almost the very moment that a letter from "Jim" was being read. His last letter. It contained the list of projects which he recommended for consideration for 1934. He was indeed faithful unto death.

A great gentleman has passed on. He will be sorely missed. But the good that he has done will live to honor him. He would ask for no greater monument than the simple assurance of his fellow-citizens that the standards of the town he loved shall be kept high—that Winchester shall remain the best town in the Commonwealth. We must not fail him.

MANY REGISTER FOR THE COMMUNITY SCHOOL

The Community School for Church Workers opens in Winchester at the First Baptist Church next Monday evening, Oct. 2 at 7:30 p. m.

Sunday School teachers in goodly numbers are registering for the more technical courses — Mrs. Lobingier's course in expressional work for primaries and juniors and the "Leadership of Youth" of Dr. Stock.

Professor Wildman's series of lectures on the "Life of Christ," coming the second hour at 8:30 is interesting many. "This is just what I have always wanted to study." "An adult interpretation of Jesus is what I need." "Since I left Sunday School, I have never studied the Bible. I need a mature point of view." These and like exclamations greet the registrars daily.

Much interest has been evinced in Mrs. Powell's course in "Worship." Parents need and want to know what is going on in Sunday Schools, the reasons for the material used, an explanation of the emphasis on present day situations rather than Bible study.

Most important, they want to learn to be articulate about religion, to understand the child's religious point of view, to help him to unfold and develop his ideas of God.

THRIFT SHOP

The Thrift Shop will open Monday morning, Oct. 2 at 16 Mt. Vernon street, next to Richardson's Market, and will be open daily until further notice from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. The Shop will be open for donations from Sept. 29. It is hoped that the splendid co-operation of the people of Winchester will continue as in the past. Anything and everything is acceptable. Whatever may be cast aside as your clean house will meet the need of someone. Clothing of all kinds, shoes especially childrens; furniture, dishes, table linen, utensils of all kinds, books in short, everything.

The Thrift Shop has become a Winchester institution and has been instrumental in supplying the needs of many worthy people.

You are cordially invited to visit the Shop and observe the splendid work it is doing. Your interest is appreciated.

Articles may be left at the Shop or will be called for. Thank you.

CHILD INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY TRUCK

Harry Carlson, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Carlson of 91 Brookside road, was painfully injured shortly after noon yesterday when he was struck and knocked down by a Ford truck, owned and driven by Harold McCue of 83 Sheridan circle.

According to the police McCue was making a right turn at the bend of Forest street at the lower end of Clematis street while the boy was walking on the grass plot opposite the residence of Mr. E. H. Butterworth.

Harry was picked up and taken to the Winchester Hospital by Steward E. Chase of 24 Clematis street, and treated by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne for lacerations of the scalp, lip and left ear.

OPPOSED USE OF RESERVOIRS BY SPORTSMEN

On Wednesday, Mr. E. C. Sanderson, of the Water and Sewer Board, attended a hearing at the State House given by a commission appointed by the Legislature to investigate the desirability of passing laws permitting sportsmen and others to use water supplies for fishing, boating and hunting. A very large attendance of representatives of sporting clubs advocated the passing of such laws. Representatives of Boards of Health and Water Boards opposed the passing of such laws which would cause a menace to health and a danger of fire to the woods.

It is very important to keep water supplies for their original purpose, thus guaranteeing the purity of the water.

WINCHESTER AT ARLINGTON

Winchester High School will take a nose dive into the acid vat tomorrow afternoon when the Red and Black football team will oppose Arlington High at Arlington. The Spy Ponders are being touted as one of the best schoolboy eleven in Greater Boston, by virtue of their win over Newton, while Winchester is making no particular claims to greatness this fall.

On paper Arlington should win without much trouble, but better Spy Pond teams than this year's machine have found Coach Mansfield's doubletheme and the locals are conceding nothing tomorrow. The Winchester lineup was uncertain last night and there may be some changes in the group who started against Saugus.

TOWN TEAM AT LOWELL SUNDAY

Winchester Town Team will open its 1933 football season Sunday afternoon, playing the Lowell Indians at O'Donnell Park in Lowell, commencing at 2:30.

The "Townies" have been hard at work for the past two weeks preparing for their opening tilt and expect to make a good showing at Lowell. The Indians have a good club, composed of college stars and former Fitton players and boast the heaviest lineman in semi-pro football in the person of "Dinny" Moore of Arlington, 295-pound guard. "Jigger" Kingsley of Stoneham, Newhall, McPhie and Rauding of Lexington are all playing for the Lowell team.

WINCHESTER YOUNG MAN BYRD'S SUPPLY OFFICER

Stevenson Corey Important Member of Expedition to Antarctic

Those who hold with the old saw that "Where there's a will, there's a way," can find support for their contention in the experience of Stevenson Corey of Governors avenue, who is to be supply officer for the expedition which is now preparing to leave for the Antarctic under Admr. Richard Byrd.

"I just made up my mind to go," Corey told the Star reporter when he was asked how he managed to be included among the 70 men chosen to go on the expedition from among the 6000 applicants.

Continuing, the young man told of his great interest in Byrd's previous explorations, of reading everything written about them, of seeing them depicted in the movies and of determining to go on the Admiral's next venture.

Casting about, Corey finally found a man conected with Byrd's organization whom he knew and after continually contacting him was offered a chance to help work "The Bear," a ship purchased for the coming expedition, from the Pacific Coast to Boston. Despite the fact that the detail did not bid fair to be an especially pleasant one, Corey made haste to accept and May 5, 1932, left for Oakland, Cal., where he shipped aboard the "Bear," renamed by Byrd the "Bear of Oakland," and made the trip back to Boston, working in the hold, engine room, aloft, or anywhere a hand was needed.

The trip to Boston was an eventful one, taking 52 days instead of the normal four weeks, and including adventures that might well grace the pages of a story book. The ship ran out of food, water and coal, and at one time it was necessary to chop up wooden partitions for fuel to keep going. Putting into Salina Cruz, the last port on the western coast of Mexico, the "Bear" was suspected of carrying arms and its crew of desiring to start a revolution.

As a consequence Corey and his shipmates found themselves virtual prisoners until they were able to establish their identity with the Mexicans by wiring Washington, it being two days before they were able to clear the ship and continue on their way. It was Aug. 9 before the ship arrived in Boston and Corey got back home.

WOBURN EDITOR AND WIFE OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Star joins a host of friends in extending its congratulations to Editor and Mrs. James D. Haggerty of the Woburn Daily Times in their observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, celebrated Wednesday. They were showered by congratulatory messages, telegrams and flowers.

Mr. Haggerty is editor and publisher of the Woburn Daily Times, which he established in 1901, and which he has developed into a newspaper of considerable influence. The newspaper had its beginning with a foot press operated by Mr. Haggerty himself, in the building at Everett and Main streets, where he first started a job printing plant.

The couple were married on Sept. 27, 1908, in Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, by Rev. John W. H. Corbett, S.F.L. Mrs. Haggerty was Miss Mary A. Lovell of Roslindale. They have 11 children: James, Mae, Madeline, Dorothea, Arlene, Paul, Lorraine, Janice, Norma, Joan and Beatrice. The oldest is James D. Jr., who is sporting editor of his father's paper. He turns out as fine a sport page as any of the small dailies.

Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty have been active in the affairs of the town. Mr. Haggerty giving of her time generously to Red Cross, hospital aid and other community activities, and Mr. Haggerty is usually associated with every public movement of any consequence. At present he is giving much time to the promotion of the N.R.A., when he can break away from his golf matches at Woburn Country Club.

JAMES HINDS

TOWN ENGINEER SUCCUMBED MONDAY

James Hinds, Winchester's town engineer for the past 30 years died Monday night, Sept. 25, at his home on Forest street, of a heart attack, following a long illness. His death came as a severe shock to the entire community as he had been able to visit the latter Monday afternoon and had appeared to those who talked with him to be much improved in health.

Few in Winchester have been more widely known and more universally esteemed than Mr. Hinds whose entire life was devoted to the business of the town in which he was born and which he was pleased to serve far beyond the confines of the position he so ably filled.

Citizens of all walks in life knew and liked "Jim" Hinds, but only a few could appreciate the value of his service to the town, a service cheerfully and faithfully performed, both in his own department and elsewhere, for he was at all times ready to assist with any project for the betterment of the community.

Outside Winchester he was well known among municipal engineers and was held in esteem by both State and County commissioners. As a consequence he was able to secure for the town favorable consideration in connection with many projects, and assistance which other communities often found it difficult to obtain.

Mr. Hinds was the son of David and Elizabeth (Carnohan) Hinds, and was born April 6, 1876 in the old North End of Winchester on what was then Richardson's Row, now Cross street. He received his early education in the old Washington School, which was later taken over and remodelled by the New Hope Baptist Society. Later he attended the old grammar school which stood on the sight of the present Wadleigh building and was a pupil at the high school during the time when Hon. Lewis Parkhurst was principal.

His father died when he was a boy and as a consequence Mr. Hinds was obliged to work to assist his family, one of the many jobs he held being that of lighting the kerosene lamps which illuminated the town in those days. After working his way through high school, he attended Dartmouth College for a time before he secured in 1893 the job which led to his position with the town.

While Weaven & Booth, Boston contractors, were building the town sewer along Mt. Vernon street in that year James McGrath, one of Bowditch & Company's engineers under D. W. Pratt, hired Mr. Hinds as a rod boy, he having been recommended by Daniel MacKenzie, son of the local contractor furnishing sand and gravel for the job.

At the conclusion of that job Mr. Hinds entered the town engineering department under Elmer D. Fletcher, succeeding Mr. Fletcher and being appointed town engineer April 1, 1903.

His activities in behalf of the town were not confined to the Engineering Department. From 1909 to 1922 to April 1, 1927, he served as superintendent of streets and from 1901 to 1905 he was a member of the Board of Health. He was assessor from 1921 to 1924 and in 1910 was deputy local moth warden and deputy tree warden.

In addition to his town offices he was a member of virtually every important town committee appointed after he commenced his duties as engineer. Though far from well at the time he played a conspicuous part in the success achieved by the committee in charge of the town's recent observance of its Tercentenary and more recently rendered valuable service in the town's campaign for unemployment relief.

In his younger days Mr. Hinds enjoyed quite a reputation as a ball player and retained his interest in the game to a remarkable degree, serving for several years as a director of the old Winchester Baseball Association which gave the town championship semi-professional nines in the days preceding the world war.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

At the meeting of Sept. 28, two absentees were recorded. Not quite so good a record as that of the previous week, but there is a chance to improve it.

We were delighted to get a splendid letter from Irving last week, and in our opinion one of his best remarks was to the effect that he expects to attend our meetings again in the near future. Speed the day!

Citizens of Precinct 3 are observing that the Community Service Committee of this club is functioning. Under the guidance of this Committee Rotarians are canvassing Precinct 3 for the purpose of obtaining signatures on the "Consumers Cards" which have been furnished by the National Recovery Administration. Inasmuch as the business establishments of this town have joined practically 100 per cent with N. R. A. we believe that consumers will have no difficulty in understanding that their signatures belong in the space provided therefor, and will act accordingly.

President Allen went to the Conclave at Poland Spring the first of this week, and was very properly thrilled by his experiences while there. We know this because Allen told us so in unmistakable language, just after luncheon today. And his story needs no corroboration but for all that we think it a shame that no other one of our members went to this conclave. Two hundred and fifty-five Rotarians registered at Poland Spring House and Allen tells us that they arrived at the familiar conclusion. "This is just about the best conclave yet!" Which goes to confirm the idea that you can have a good time at a conclave, particularly if you go with that idea in mind.

Mr. Elliott P. Boardman of The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston spoke before the club today as a representative from N. R. A. headquarters at Boston. Mr. Boardman is equipped to, and as a matter of fact did, give us plain understandable talk about N. R. A. Some of Mr. Boardman's conclusions in the matter are essentially as follows: The National Industrial Recovery Act is not flawless. It is easy for you, I, or the man in the street to point to its imperfections. But consider! We are confronted with an all-wide economic crisis which unquestionably will overwhelm us if not thwarted very soon. So far as this country is concerned not one worthy defensive measure outside of N. I. R. A. has been offered for our use, nor is it probable that such will be offered. Is it not then the part of the sane man to accept the N. I. R. A. at least in principle, to do his bit in the way of overcoming its defects and to bend every effort to secure a distribution at least reasonably equitable of the benefits which modern civilization is capable of producing. Think it over again and yet again.

Percentage of attendance Sept. 21 —96 per cent.

It will be a great privilege for the people of Winchester to hear this splendid speaker, who has been classed among the outstanding men orators of the country. Whether it be politics, temperance, social, or industrial problems on which she speaks, she always commands the same enthusiastic attention.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Mary Smith and her committee.

The Republican Club's program for the coming year is a very fine one, several well known and interesting speakers having been secured for the various meetings.

The meetings will be held the first Wednesday of each month beginning Oct. 4 and continuing through April.

CHARLES L. FISH

Flags on the Common and public buildings were at half staff on last Friday and Saturday in honor of Charles L. Fish of 47 Vine street, an army veteran, who was stricken ill while visiting in Boston last Tuesday and died Thursday, Sept. 21 in the Boston City Hospital.

Mr. Fish had not lived long in Winchester. He was born 52 years ago in Charlestown and saw service during the Philippine Insurrection with Company I of the 26th United States Infantry. He was a member of Camp Vigan, National Society, Army of the Philippines, of Boston. Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Jessie Fish.

The funeral was held on last Saturday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Not all apples are ideal for both eating and cooking but the McIntosh seems to be. It is green with close red striping but the effect is softened by a soft grey bloom. Concord and Tokay grapes are both plentiful and popular. Italian prunes are now coming from Idaho. That delicious pear, the Bartlett, is still plentiful and inexpensive, though other varieties are beginning to come into market. The only peaches now available are the big Californias which are beautiful to look at but not distinctively flavored.

The cabbage and its higher caste relatives are beginning to dominate the vegetable market. Cauliflower is of high quality and very reasonable. Broccoli and Brussels Sprouts are available but will be more plentiful and cheaper later.

The Quaker Maid Kitchen presents the following menus for your Sunday dinner:

Low Cost Dinner
Beef and Pork Loaf Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Cabbage
Bread and Butter Apple Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Fried Chicken Baked Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Cauliflower
Cranberry Sauce
Bread and Butter Squash Pie
Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit Juice
Oven-broiled Chicken
Browned Sweet Potatoes
Glazed Onions
Celery Cranberry Jelly
Rolls and Butter
Lemon Meringue Pie
Coffee Milk

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY PRODUCES EMPEROR JONES

Many older Winchester residents were interested to read of the success attained by Dudley Murphy in producing Eugene O'Neil's play, "Emperor Jones," for Motion Pictures because of the fact that the young man formerly made his home in this town. He is the son of H. Dudley Murphy, internationally known artist and sportsman, and brother of Carlene Bowles Samoiloff who makes her home in the former Murphy studio on Highland avenue.

Dudley Murphy saw "Emperor Jones" some eight years ago in Provincetown and was immediately struck with the possibilities of the play for the cinema. Producers were interested in his ideas but were unwilling to sink any money in such a production as he outlined and so it was not until he himself was able to make the picture that work upon it commenced.

Mr. Murphy completed the picture in six weeks at Long Island, N. Y., studios and it became an immediate success, playing to capacity houses at the Rivoli before coming to Boston to open Monday of this week at the RKO-Keith Theater. The young producer, who has achieved several distinctly new effects in the making of his picture, flew from New York to Boston to attend the opening of "Emperor Jones." He received his early education in the Winchester schools, later attending Milton Academy and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He served in the World War and upon receiving his discharge went to California to enter the motion picture business, purchasing his own camera and equipment and "learning the game" from his own actual experience.

HOLDUP AT LOCAL GAS STATION REPORTED

About 10 o'clock last Friday night Police Headquarters was notified of trouble at the gasoline filling station at the corner of Forest and Washington streets.

Sergt. John H. Noonan and Patrolman James E. Farrell were sent in the cruising car to investigate, and upon arrival were told by Manager James F. Brown that he had been robbed of about $90 by the occupants of an automobile who had left the station shortly before the arrival of the police.

According to Brown, who lives at 89 Marble street, Stoneham, he was counting money in the station when a brown Ford roadster drove into the yard and the driver entered the toilet in the station.

Brown put a roll of bills amounting to about $90 in his pocket and went out to the machine, in which two other men were seated. Both got out and one of them stood near Brown as he put air in the tires of the car, after which the trio drove away in the direction of Montvale. After they had gone the filling station manager missed the roll of bills, and immediately notified the police, furnishing the officers with a description of the occupants of the Ford. A thorough but unproductive search was made for the fugitives.

WINCHESTER RESIDENT FAVORS BRIDGE OR TUNNEL

That a high-level bridge over the Mystic River or a tunnel beneath it, to expedite traffic, both vehicular and water, is imperative is the opinion of Edward L. Burwell of Winslow road, this town, general manager for New England of the LaFrance Industries, weavers of furniture and drapery fabrics in all their varieties, and he has so expressed himself to the State Emergency Public Works Commission and in a public communication published in a Boston newspaper.

Mr. Burwell is a former Chelsea resident. He was born on Bellingham Hill and left Chelsea at the time of the fire of 1908. He is thoroughly familiar with the bridge situation and the delays to vehicular and water traffic which have been a hindrance to both for so long a time.

As a member of the maritime division of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, he has taken an active part in past activities to bring some relief at this point.

SHOTS FIRED AS SUSPECT FLEES POLICE STATION

Several shots from the revolver of Traffic Officer Joseph Derro last Friday evening halted a man who had attempted to leave Police Headquarters where he was being held by the local authorities for questioning by the Medford Police.

Shortly after 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, Headquarters was notified that a Ford coupe of the old planetary transmission type and bearing a Rhode Island registration had been parked for some time on Woodside road near Winter Pond.

Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman John Dolan went to investigate and upon arrival at Woodside road found two Medford Police officers near the car attempting to locate the driver who it was thought was wanted for questioning in connection with an affair being investigated by the police of that city.

The driver of the machine could not be located anywhere in the vicinity and Sergeant Cassidy ordered Patrolman Dolan to drive the car to Headquarters where it was planned to hold the driver when he arrived to claim the machine.

Later in the evening a man approached Officer Derro in the traffic box and enquired about the Ford. He was sent to Headquarters with Patrolman John J. Regan, and at the station questioned by Lieut. John A. Harrold. He stated that he had been at the pond after turtles, from the shells of which he made ash-trays.

Lieutenant Harrold notified the Medford Police that the man was at Headquarters, but as soon as he heard the telephone call the suspect attempted to escape. Officer Regan gave chase, and Officer Derro left the box as he saw the fugitive head along Railroad avenue. When the man heard Officer Derro's revolver fired into the air he stopped and was returned to Headquarters where he was locked up as a suspicious person.

Later the Medford authorities visited the station and questioned the man who was permitted to go when it was discovered that he obviously was not the person for whom they were looking.

The chase and firing of Officer Derro's revolver arroused considerable excitement in the center and a large crowd gathered in an incredibly short space of time.

TRAFFIC HEAVY LAST SUNDAY

Local police announced that traffic was unusually heavy last Sunday when the annual visitation of the Jewish Cemeteries, situated to the north of the town in Montvale, took place. The visitation had been postponed from the previous Sunday because of the heavy rain on that date.

It is estimated that more than 25,000 people visited the cemeteries, and from early morning until late in the afternoon automobiles of all descriptions went through town on their way north.

Not a single motor accident was reported, which is a high tribute to the supervision of the police who as a matter of fact did not have a single call for any sort of trouble during the entire day.

One woman fainted at the cemetery, and the authorities were forced to keep an eye on the operations of several would-be pan-handlers, but in general everything went smoothly, all traffic being made one-way on Washington street north of Forest street, the swarm of machines being sent away from the cemeteries through Woburn or Stoneham.

Police Chief William H. Rogers, in full uniform, directed local police arrangements with Sergts. Thomas F. Cassidy and John H. Noonan at the cemeteries with Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey. Patrolman William E. Cassidy was stationed at Washington and Main streets, Patrolman John J. Regan, at Mt. Vernon and Washington streets; Patrolman John Dolan at St. Mary's Church, Patrolman D. Irving Reardon at Swanton and Washington streets; Patrolman Charles J. Harrold at Cross and Washington streets; Patrolman Joseph J. Derro at Forest and Washington streets and Patrolman Clarence E. Dunbury between Forest street and the Cemeteries. Traffic Officer John E. Hanlon was in the center with Desk Officer John J. Hogan. Patrolman James Noonan newly returned to duty after being accidentally shot at target practice several weeks ago, was on desk duty at Headquarters.

ICE FOR REFRIGERATION

A renewed popularity of ice refrigeration as compared with other means of preserving food has been observed by local officials of the Metropolitan Ice Company. As a result of many requests, the refrigerator department of the company is now prepared to make a modern ice refrigerator out of any outworn or outdated mechanical or electric ice box. Sales of new ice refrigerators by the company have also been higher so far this month than in any similar period of other years.

"As people become more interested in health," company officials say, "they naturally turn more and more towards ice refrigeration. Ice provides the only air-conditioned refrigeration available. It keeps foods not only cold, but fresh. In an ice refrigerator, the food is continually bathed in a stream of pure, chilled air—humidified by the slowly melting surface of the ice. Without any artificial means whatsoever, food odors are carried down the drain pipe.

"That is why food keeps so much better in an ice refrigerator, why it tastes so much better, why it is always fresh. It is also the reason why more well-informed people than ever before are using ice."

Listed among those who successfully passed the examinations for admission to the Massachusetts Bar in June is Louis L. Wadsworth, Jr. of Winchester. The list of those admitted was made public this week and included the name of a former Winchester young man, Walter A. Redding, who now makes his home in Medford.

GOOD NEWS FOR SUFFERERS FROM CORNS AND CALLOUSES

Many of our readers will, no doubt be interested to know that right here in Winchester may now be purchased the famous Great Christopher Positive Corn Cure. Discovered by the brilliant German chemist, Dr. Emil H. Funk, this remedy is said to be so remarkably efficient that the manufacturer offers a $25 reward for any corn that it cannot remove. This is certainly an unusual guarantee. The manufacturers also state that it does a good job in removing callouses, warts and moles; and that it relieves the pain and soreness of bunions. They say further that it is absolutely safe, and never fails to give results, if used according to the printed directions inside each package.

McLaughlin's Shoe Store, always on the alert to give the people of this community the best of merchandise and service, have been successful in obtaining the agency for this product in this vicinity, and will be pleased to show and explain Great Christopher to anyone calling at their store.

ROSS WON SINGLES TITLE

Doubles Play Reaches Final Round

"Herb" Ross, seeded number four, defeated the top seeded "Larry" Freeburn in three straight sets last Sunday morning on the Palmer street courts to win the annual singles tournament for the Winchester Lawn Tennis Association Cup. The former Tech player served notice that he would have to be given real consideration for the current title when he defeated Hall Gamage in the semi-final round on Saturday afternoon.

Ross was very much on his game Sunday forenoon against Freeburn, defeating him in convincing fashion without the loss of a set, and losing no more than three games in any one set. Freeburn, one of Winchester's best players, seemed none too sure of himself and missed many shots which he ordinarily would have made with ease.

Both men served many more doubles than usual and both were careless about foot-faults. There were many long rallies, and now and then some nice placements, but in general the match was decided on errors, and the more finished player, Freeburn, made many more than the steadier Ross, who played every shot with great care.

Only one of the late round matches went to odd sets, that one being when Hall Gamage defeated Norman Dalrymple, a most promising youngster, in the third round, 4—6, 6—2, 8—6. Freeburn played much better tennis to defeat the veteran "Jim" Riley in the semi-finals than he showed Sunday against Ross, in the latter instance, appearing to tire badly during the third set.

Play in the doubles tournament for the Benedict Trophy reached the final round last Sunday afternoon and this week-end "Larry" Freeburn and Hall Gamage will meet "Jim" Riley and "Billy" Gilpatric to decide the tournament. This should be a fine match with the wise ones picking the stylists, Gamage and Freeburn, to take the measure of the veteran "Jim" Riley and his youthful, but brilliant partner, Gilpatric.

Freeburn and Gamage were rather hard pressed to win last Sunday from Ross and Wallace Blanchard, while Riley and Gilpatric won comfortably from "Doc" Blackler and "Bob" Drake.

Following are the summaries:

WINCHESTER DEFEATED SAUGUS

65-Yard Run by Provinzano Only Score

Winchester High School's football team avenged its late season defeat of last year at the hands of Saugus High by winning its first game of the 1933 campaign from that school, 6 to 0, last Saturday afternoon at Saugus. A 65-yard runback of a punt for a touchdown by sophomore Frank Provinzano was the game's only score, but the locals threw away several opportunities to tally and outplayed their heavier Saugus opponents much more than the score would indicate.

A good sized crowd gathered around the sun-baked gridiron for the contest, many local fans following Winchester to Saugus for a peek at the Red and Black machine for 1933.

While the locals played pretty poor football on the whole there were times when they looked quite promising and much better than during the opening game of 1932 with Stoneham. The boys showed plenty of fight during the whole four periods and defensively were impressive, but there was no punch to the offense when in scoring position and several times the choice of plays was very poor.

Winchester lost heavily in penalties, being called twice for clipping, once for backs in motion, once for two incomplete forward passes in same sequence, once for too many times out and five times for offside. Saugus didn't lose a yard all afternoon at the hands of the officials.

Coach Mansfield's boys were in position to go places shortly after the opening whistle when Bairstow blocked a kick deep in Saugus territory and LeRoy recovered the ball. Two rushes netted only four yards, a pass was grounded and Hannon kicked short and outside at the Saugus 20.

Saugus kicked to Tremberth who got back to the Saugus 40. Two tries at the line made three yards before Hannon passed to McGaragle for a first down at the Saugus 30. Provinzano and Hannon made it first down inside the 20, but here the offense bogged badly and an incomplete forward pass gave the home team the ball at its 18-yard line.

Lentine broke through to block a kick, but Winchester was called for offside, and Saugus got away a long kick to McGaragle who took the ball at his 40 and ran to the Saugus 44. Hannon and Provinzano picked up six yards at the line and Provinzano passed to Hannon who made a pretty catch and ran to the Saugus 20. Here the attack again went haywire and shortly after the opening of the second quarter Saugus took the ball on downs at its 20.

Two thrusts at the line netted five yards and Saugus kicked, Hannon making a nice runback, only to find Winchester had been offside on the play, the penalty giving Saugus its initial first down of the game at its 38-yard line.

Finding the local defense too tough Saugus tried to kick, but Lentine blocked the try and Grosvenor recovered the ball at the Saugus 15-yard line. Five yards for backs in motion hurt the local's cause, but Hannon got them back off tackle, only to have a costly fumble lose a down. A pass failed to click and Saugus took the ball on downs at its 15, kicking out of danger.

Shortly after the beginning of the second half Winchester threatened to get going but a penalty for clipping lost the locals the ball at the Saugus 30. Saugus was forced to kick, the ball going to Frank Provinzano at the Winchester 35-yard line.

The sturdy little halfback, avoided several tacklers and aided by some nice blocking by Lentine and Hanlon worked out to the right and into the open, finally outstepping three Saugus tacklers in a sprint along the sideline for a touchdown. Hannon missed the try for goal at placement.

Just before the close of the third quarter a second penalty against Winchester for clipping turned the tide of battle completely and gave Saugus the ball on the locals' 25-yard line. A second penalty for offside placed the ball five yards nearer the Winchester goal, but a pass failed to function and on fourth down Hannon saved Winchester's bacon when he hauled down a flying Saugus back out in the open at the local 18.

Hannon punted to Saugus 36 where Lentine made a corking tackle. Provinzano recovered a Saugus fumble at the Saugus 42, but the local attack couldn't get going and on fourth down a second incomplete pass gave Saugus the ball at its own 48-yard line.

Here Pendleton, a flashy halfback, was inserted into the Saugus lineup and the Winchester supporters' hearts fell as he ground off a first down at Winchester's 40. This big speed boy seemed to be going somewhere when a costly fumble was recovered by Winchester at its 30-yard line and Hannon kicked short to the Saugus 48.

Lentine broke through to throw Pendleton hard for a three yard loss and the Saugus speedboy went out of the game with a bad leg. Saugus kicked short to Winchester's 44, and on first down Provinzano got away on a near touchdown jaunt, being stopped by the Saugus safety man on his 28-yard line. Once again Winchester was offside and the ball went back to the 33, but Hannon and Hanlon advanced to the Saugus 20 as the game ended.

A referee's decision hurt Winchester soon after the opening of the second half of the game when Hannon got off a beauty quick kick that traveled from his own 37-yard line to the Saugus goal line. Despite the protests of Captain Lentine and his team mates that the ball did not cross the line, the official ruled that it did, and it was as a consequence put in play at the Saugus 20 instead of inches from the goal line where anything could have happened.

JOHN SCULLY WON BOYS' SINGLES FOR WINCHESTER

Second in Row for Scully—Dean Carleton Runner-Up

For the second time in a row, John Scully, a member of last season's Winchester High School tennis team, won the boys' singles title in Mrs. George W. Wightman's annual "fall tennis party" for boys and girls 15 years of age and under at the Longwood Cricket Club last Saturday. In the spring Scully was the boys' winner in the same tournament, defeating his fellow teammate, Dean Carleton, and strangely enough it was Carleton who faced him in the final round of last Saturday's play.

Scully defeated Carleton, 6—4 for Winchester's only win of the tournament. Dean paired with Judith Reed to reach te final round in mixed doubles but the local pair was defeated for championship honors by the Newton team of Caroline and William P. Evarts, Jr.

On the girls' side of the tourney, Judith Reed, Gene MacDonald and Ruth Bernnard were quarter finalists, Judith Reed and Gene advancing to the semi-finals where they were eliminated respectively by Elena Ciccone of Newton and Caroline Evarts, also of Newton.

Scully and Carleton were Winchester's only representatives to reach the quarter finals on the boys' side.

The final match between these lads marked the fourth all-Winchester championship final of the year. Scully and Carleton produced two of them and the others were in the North Shore junior championships where Sylvia Hatch defeated Kay Parrot, and again at the Oceanside tourney at Magnolia where Lucy Fowle won from Janet Smith.

In accordance with present codes the government has ceased to ask for bids. In line with eliminating unfair competition it is now issuing "invitations" for figures for supplying the local mud track with gasoline. Good old Nira!

But of course Nira has no place in the "five dollar bill" edict recently issued by our Board of Selectmen.

It is interesting to note that town officials can handle any situation in any location, and while the old original sign placed at the entrance to Rangeley spells the name thusly, official designation spells it Rangeley. Evidently the senior Skillings who laid out and named his estate was lacking in h-s- ability, either to suitably designate his grounds or to comply with the code.

Oct. 1 to 7 is National Dog Week. Instituted in 1928 by Will Judy, editor and publisher of "Dog World" and a group of sportsmen, some of the objects of the movement are: "to educate dog owners to their obligations, both to their dogs and to the public—to teach kindness and consideration by children and adults towards dogs and animals generally—to emphasize the use of the dog as home protector and faithful companion—and to secure fair and just laws for dogs and their owners." We have heard of weeks much less worthwhile, and it is our opinion that much of the trouble caused daily in Winchester by dogs is largely because of the thoughtlessness of their owners. If a "Dog Week" will help to bring such owners to a realization of their responsibility, we are sure everyone will want to boost it as much as possible. Dogs have an appeal which is universal and a loyalty far above that of the human variety. The following selections chosen from several submitted speak for themselves:

No Questions

He is very imprudent—a dog is. He never makes it his business to inquire whether you are in the right or in the wrong, never bothers as to whether you are going up or down on life's ladder, never asks whether you are rich or poor, silly or wise, sinner or saint.

You are his pal. That is enough for him, and come luck or misfortune good repute or bad, honor or shame, he is going to stick to you, to comfort you, guard you, give his life for you if need be foolish, brainless, soulless dog.—Jerome K. Jerome.

MY COMFORTER!

The world had gone all wrong that day
And tired and in despair,
Disconcerted with the ways of life,
I sank into my chair.

A soft caress fell on my cheek,
My hands were thrust apart,
And two big sympathizing eyes
Gazed down into my heart.

I had a friend, what cared I now
For fifty worlds? I knew
One heart was anxious when I grieved—
My dog's heart, loyal, true.

"God bless him" breathed I soft and low,
And hugged him close and tight.
One lingering lick upon my ear
And we were happy quite.

The tortoise may have been fast enough to beat the hare in a footrace, but a big turtle that decided to cross Main street near Pike's Garage Wednesday wasn't anywhere near speedy enough to suit the drivers of motor vehicles who were stopped for some distance both ways because the nearest drivers refused to run over him. Finally a bystander came to the rescue and picking the big turtle up gingerly by the tail deposited him in the nearby pond to the the honking of auto horns and shrilling of sirens.

HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY TEAMS AMONG LEADERS

This week's sports cuts, running in the Star, should prove interesting to those who did not know that Winchester High at one time sponsored ice hockey as well as to those who can recall the days when the locals ranked with the best schoolboy teams in this part of the state.

The 1904-05 team is especially interesting because of the fact that it was the first hockey team to represent the school. The 1912-13 club made local history as the first Winchester team to play in the old Boston Arena. Warren Goddu, captain of this team, was chosen all-scholastic captain in 1913 and was the outstanding schoolboy "rover" in greater Boston. He played for four years at high school and was a member in his freshman year of the school's greatest forward line with Theodore Hurd, Irvine Small and Leon Tuck, the last two later Olympic stars.

On the 1923 team were the late Chester Tutein, who afterwards captained Tech, and Francis Getty, mgr., now United Press sports editor. Norman Small, on the 1911 team, later became one of the greatest goalers in club hockey around Boston, while Lowell Smith was a star with the Amherst College team.

WINCHESTER YOUNG MAN BYRD'S SUPPLY OFFICER

"The Bear of Oakland" is one of two ships which will take the present Byrd party south. It is an auxiliary barkentine, 58 years old and was originally a revenue cutter in service in northern waters, rescuing ice bound Esquimaux, capturing seal poachers and preventing smuggling. It is a coal burning vessel while the other ship the Jacob Rupert, named for the popular owner of the New York Yankees baseball team, is an oil burner.

It is on the latter ship that Corey will sail, but the local young man is supply officer for the entire expedition and as such will be in charge of the care and dispensing of all stores, in itself a huge task. In addition, he is a dog driver and when time has permitted has visited Wonalancet, N. H., and taken part in the training of the huskies.

Victor H. Czegka of Melrose, a marine gunner under orders to Admiral Byrd, is manager of the expedition and it is with him that Corey has been associated. Czegka, who was a member of the last Byrd expedition, has been busy for two years getting together the supplies for the current trip, and Corey has been working with him since Sept. 1, 1932. In point of service these two are the oldest members of the expedition.

Supplies for the expedition have been gathered from all parts of the United States and Europe, and Corey is responsible for some 20,000 items in his storerooms. Included are two tractors, two snowmobiles, 50 dog sledges, 150 dogs, 50 tons of dog food, 20 tons of flour, 14 tons of sugar, 150 cases of coffee, 600 pounds of banana sugar, 6500 pounds of powdered milk, 35 tons of dehydrated vegetables, as well as coal, fuel oil and other supplies for the ships.

Most of the food is in concentrated form, one small phial among the doctor's supplies containing concentrated Vitamin C equal to the same amount contained in three carloads of lemons, while the 600 pounds of banana sugar is equal to a carload of the fresh fruit.

The dehydradized vegetables are a most valuable and necessary part of the diet and are fresh vegetables treated by a special process to remove the water content without breaking the cells or harming the vitamin content. When boiled the water content is replaced.

Whale and seal meat is eaten by the expedition and Corey admits that the taste for this meat has to be acquired.

In addition to the food supplies, the expedition is taking an auto-giro, a Curtiss Condor bombing plane, christened the William Horlic in honor of the malted milk king who has been very helpful to the expedition, a Fokker plane and two airplane motors and parts for the planes left in the Antarctic during the previous expedition. Specially prepared furs from Alaska will be taken south to withstand the extreme temperatures which will reach as low as 100 degrees below zero.

"The Bear of Oakland" has already started south and it is expected that the Jacob Rupert will sail by the third or fourth of next month. At New York fuel oil will be taken on as well as gasoline and oil for the planes while at Norfolk, Va., "The Bear" will take on 1500 tons of coal. At this port 1000 bushels of dried apples and 100 bushels of fresh apples will be taken aboard, the gift of the Admiral's brother, Capt. "Tom" Byrd; and here also the Fokker plane will be gathered in. At Balboa, the dehydrated foods will be obtained with quantities of bamboo poles, to be used as markers for ice trails and as aerials for the portable radios with which the sledges are equipped. Quantities of Hawaiian pineapples will also be secured in Balboa.

The expedition will go south to the Bay of Whales in the Ross Sea and cast anchor against what is known as "the Barrier," a sheer cliff of ice, ranging in height from 40 to 200 feet. Trekking across the ice a party of 40 members of the expedition, including a doctor, photographers, scientists, mechanics, dog drivers and a cook will establish camp 10 miles inland at "Little America," scene of the former camp.

Admiral Byrd expects to do more flying on this trip than ever before, making a flight from Ross Sea to the Weddel Sea, and back, across the Antaetic Continent. With two companions, the Admiral plans to spend the winter in the vicinity of the South Pole, living in a specially constructed cabin, which was taken south knocked down on shipboard. He hopes to reach the south magnetic pole and to salvage the two planes he was forced to leave in the Antarctic on a previous expedition. Maps will be made, based on aerial photographs, and other scientific data amassed.

Corey is to be in charge of supplies at the ice camp as well as on shipboard and will also drive dog teams and go on explorations. Each member of the party is a picked man and passed a most rigorous physical examination before shipping, also having his teeth put in perfect condition. The 27-year-old supply officer appeared "in the pink" and eager to depart on the expedition, from which he will not return, if everything goes well, before May of 1935.

"Steve," as he is known to the entire expedition and in fact to most of the force at the Charlestown Navy Yard where he is well known and liked, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Corey and has lived in Winchester six years. He previously lived in New York where he graduated from Evander Childs High School and captained the cross country team. He's "ready to go" and all Winchester wishes him the best of luck.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The most startling innovation in plot for screen production to come out of Hollywood since the advent of talking pictures is to be seen in "Turn Back the Clock," Lee Tracy's latest starring vehicle which opens a seven day run at the big Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. The picture is a revelation of what might happen to a person who was given an opportunity to relive his life with the benefit of mature experience. Events of recent years and even months are brought into the unique plot written by Ben Hecht and Edgar Selwyn. In the role of Joe Gimlet, wise-cracking, self-sufficient "small-towner," who leads a double existence, Lee Tracy is said to deliver one of the most entertaining performances of his career. Tracy has a chance to marry a wealthy girl in his home town, but decides to marry Mae Clarke instead. They move to New York and open a cigar store. Here they struggle to make a living, squabbling over nickels and dimes and then kissing and making up in their tiny room. A fight precipitates an accident in which Tracy is knocked unconscious. When he comes to he finds himself back in his home-town among people he knows have passed on. He looks in the mirror and sees his own face as it was ten years ago. He again meets the girl he spurned and thus finds himself living life all over again from a new angle. He is years ahead of the other folks in the town and married to his first sweetheart, when a surprising climax brings the story to a smashing but logical conclusion. Mae Clark and Peggy Shannon play the two wives.

"The Devil's In Love," with Loretta Young and Victor Jory as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill opening Saturday. Victor Jory portrays the hero, a surgeon, who gets in a jam and becomes a derelict. It shows him on the downgrade where step by step he loses station to reach the deepest of despair. It shows him being galvanized into action by an emergency that calls forth the small spark of courage left in him. And it brings him back to success and a large share of happiness. Loretta Young and Vivienne Osborne head the feminine support.

CAPITOL THEATER, ARLINGTON

The perennially popular Richard Dix and his latest film, "No Marriage Ties" will be seen at the Capitol Theater, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. In "No Marriage Ties," acclaimed by critics and audiences as Dix's best triumph, the star portrays a brilliant but liquor bitten advertising mentor and dashing lover who is opposed to marriage because it kills love. The powerful climax is gripping and presents the triangle in a tragic but sympathetic denouement. Elizabeth Allen and Doris Kenyon carry roles and in support are David Landau, Alan Dinehart and Hilda Vaughn.

The companion picture is an amazing story of the struggle of a young immigrant who becomes a leader. It is based on the life of the late Mayor Cermak of Chicago. The picture with Preston Foster and Zita Johann is titled, "The Man Who Dared."

Thursday ushers in another smashing bill headed by Ronald Colman in "The Masquerader" assisted by a very able cast including Elissa Landi, Juliette Compton, Halliwell Hobbes and David Torrence. The thrills and heart-throbs of the famous stage play are brilliantly revised by Colman in a smooth and polished manner.

The other picture on this smash program has a cast so full of screen, stage and radio names that to list them all will fill up all our space. Among many others in "Moonlight and Pretzels," one of the most tuneful and cleverly produced musicals to ever flash on a screen are Leo Carrillo, Roger Pryor, Mary Brian, Jack Denny and his orchestra, Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, the famous Frank and Milt Britton Band and a host of others. The dance ensembles were beautifully arranged by Bobby Connolly.

Mrs. Harriet Hildreth of this town is to speak on Roadside Beautification on Oct. 10 at the morning session of the fall meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held with the Thursday Morning Club of Great Barrington.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is nigh unto them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth." Psalms 145:18.
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following verse: "Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord." Acts 3:19.
Among the readings which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following verse: "Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord." Acts 3:19.
Among the readings which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "This material world, even now, becomes the arena for conflicting forces. On one side there will be discord and dismay; on the other side there shall be Science and peace. . . . These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual harmony. This mental fermentation has begun, and will continue until all errors of belief yield to understanding." (p. 565).

TOWN ENGINEER SUCCUMBED MONDAY

Mr. Hinds was a Mason, a member of William Parkman Lodge of Winchester, and a member of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows, of this town. He was a charter member of Winchester Lodge of Elks, serving as the lodge's first esteemed loyal knight, and was also for many years a director of the Winchester Co-operative Bank.
Flags on the town hall, common and many public and private buildings were at half staff as a tribute to his memory, and the Co-operative Bank and town offices were ordered closed during his funeral.
On July 21, 1906, Mr. Hinds married Mary Cornell, and soon after his marriage went to occupy the home on Forest street in which he died.
Surviving are his wife, and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Hinds and Mrs. George Soley, both of Winchester.
Every town department was represented at the funeral services which were held on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, officiating. Harlow Hoxsey, tenor, sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." During the services a tribute to Mr. Hinds from the Board of Selectmen was read by Mr. Whitley, while the profusion of beautiful flowers from town departments, town officers, fraternal organizations and private individuals indicated the esteem in which the deceased was held by his associates and friends.
Members of the Board of Selectmen acted as honorary pallbearers and three past chairmen of the Board, James A. Laraway, George M. Brynes and Harris S. Richardson, were active bearers with Ernest R. Eustis, William R. Baker and Harold P. Bostwick.
Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Mr. Whitley.

SUPERINTENDENT QUINN APPOINTED MEMBER OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—Paul C. Stetson, Superintendent of Schools, Indianapolis, Ind., and president of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association announced at Association headquarters here today that James J. Quinn, Superintendent of Schools, Winchester, Mass., has been appointed a member of a national committee on a national outlook on education. This committee will meet and report at the Cleveland Convention of the Department of Superintendence, Feb. 24—Mar. 1, 1934.
The appointment of this committee is an important item in a fundamental reorganization of the convention plan followed by the educational leaders in their national professional organization for many years. The change was made to extend greater responsibility to individual members in the Department's attempt to plan more effectively for meeting the current crisis in education.
Seven such committees have been appointed by President Stetson. These groups will give their attention respectively to problems of teacher training, a comprehensive program of public education, financing the schools education for the new America, public education and public welfare, a national outlook on education, and the interpretation of the schools to the public.

FREE HOSPITAL FACES PROBLEM OVER FINANCING

With the rich man no longer rich, and the consequent disappearance of large gifts, the financing of the country's voluntary hospitals must now be recognized and their support drawn from the mass rather than from a few millionaires.
This is the summary by officials of the American Hospital Association of the fundamental problem to be faced by the 4500 members of the organization when the annual convention opened in Milwaukee for a five-day meeting beginning Sept. 11. Ways and means to create this new and broader income base in a permanent form was a prominent topic in the discussions of the hospital convention.
Leaders in the hospital field and others presented their studies in the care of the indigent and unemployed, methods to place hospital bills in the regular family budget and a "planned economy" of hospital services, both nationally and in local units.
According to the association, which has headquarters at 18 East Division street, Chicago, serious financial distress is general among the voluntary hospitals of the country, due to increased charity loads and decreased income from paying patients and endowment funds. Philanthropic gifts, it is reported, have dwindled to almost nothing.
A recent survey has shown that one-third of the admissions to the voluntary hospitals of the country are now of patients unable to pay for their care. It is indicated that more than 1,700,000 of these patients will be cared for by the non-governmental hospitals during the present year.
"This increased charity load," said Dr. Bevet W. Caldwell, executive secretary of the association, "is of people urgently in need of hospitalization but unable to get into the already overcrowded city, county or state hospitals.
"The feeding alone of nearly 2,000,000 people represents a huge sum of money. The unemployed man is supported by public funds until he becomes ill or is injured. Then, if he enters a voluntary hospital, he is off the relief rolls and on the hospital for food, shelter and all the services necessary not only to maintain life but to preserve and rebuild health."
The final exhaustion of family resources, the filled-up condition of free hospitals and the accumulation of medical or surgical needs which can no longer be postponed, are given as factors contributing to the increased charity demands on hospitals. At the present time the hospitals' financial crisis is being intensified by a rising price level in all commodities purchased by the hospital, from vegetables to surgical instruments.

The Long Look Ahead

NRA CLUB NOTES

It looks as if Winchester was going "over the top" strong for the National Recovery Act. Manufacturers and traders have subscribed to the various codes. They have added workers—shortened hours—hardened themselves with additional expenses. They have done their part. Now it's up to the consumers to do their bit. Buy now! This is the psychological moment to recover that very elusive and much longed-for prosperity.

The campaign is going full blast this week. The precincts are well covered by volunteer workers. They are representatives of the NRA—and for consumers' signatures. And we are all going to "sign on the dotted line." And we are all going to like to do it, too. For whatever mistakes there may be in the President's recovery program, he is trying to do something, at least. And we have nothing to lose in doing our part.

At the last meeting of the club Chairman George H. Lochman reported receiving posters from the editor of the "Star," T. Price Wilson. These will be a great help in advertising the campaign throughout the town.

Also, 12 more pamphlets of instructions have arrived from Washington, D. C. which, of course, will be good news to the NRA Compliance Committee. They are the ones who will have to go into a huddle over instructions. So why should we worry!

The captains of the precincts have a few troubles of their own, too. Regardless of instructions, there is a shortage of buttons, and the "stickers" persist in sticking together. If anyone is shy of a button, he can borrow the other fellow's. But just try to pry apart a bunch of well-glued "stickers" and see where you get!

Despite "sticker and button" troubles, all the captains are optimistically and cheerfully proceeding with the work of getting the consumers' cards signed. Fred H. Scholl reports great progress in his precinct, and encouraging rumors from other quarters show that the campaign's success is assured.

As Chairman George H. Lochman is attending the Convention of Postmasters this week, the captains will have more time to gain their 100 per cent mark. The precinct reports will be called for at the next club session, Friday evening, Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock in the general committee room of the Town Hall.

PARK DEPARTMENT NEWS

At this writing there are 127 men at work on the Aberjona River improvement. The Highland avenue construction is giving work to 24 men who were formerly on the river pay roll. The balance remaining in the Aberjona account, as of Sept. 23 was $15,566.07.

The storm of a week ago held up the work in the rear of the Beggs & Cobb tannery as the high water made it impossible for the shovel to continue operations. The crews were transferred to the Leonard Field section where the greater number was put to work filling the large water-filled hole in the rear of the beach. A smaller crew was employed in the construction of stone gutters and catch basins in the roadway leading to this beach. This will prevent the road from washing out at this point.

The shovel resumed work on Monday of this week. Excellent progress has been made since the shovel has been at work. That part of the swamp near the Woburn loop of the Boston & Maine R. R. has been dug out and the shovel is now starting operations on the other side.

The rank growth of weeds in the Mill Pond is now being removed. It is expected that this work will be finished by the end of the present week and it is needless to say that the Mill Pond will present a much more attractive appearance. When the water is restored to its proper height in this pond the weeds will not have a chance to grow again.

MRS. LILLIAN LEDWIDGE

Mrs. Lillian Ledwidge, nee Randall, wife of Waldo L. Ledwidge and a former resident of Winchester, died last Sunday night in the Somerville Hospital, after an emergency operation which followed a brief illness.

Mrs. Ledwidge was a native of Lyndonville, Vt., and before her marriage was employed as a secretary with the old Boston Journal, of which Mr. Ledwidge was circulation manager.

For nearly 20 years after her marriage she made her home in Winchester, living first on Mystic avenue and later on Maxwell road and Park avenue. For several years after leaving Winchester she had lived in Arlington. She is survived by her husband, by a son, John, a step-son, James L. Ledwidge, living in New York; and a step-daughter, Mrs. Amy Clapp of Waverly. Her mother and a brother also survive.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in the chapel of A. E. Long & Son, undertakers, in North Cambridge.

MRS. LILLIAN COTE

Mrs. Lillian Cote, wife of Moses A. Cote of 35 Mt. Pleasant street, Woburn, who died Tuesday night in the Choate Memorial Hospital in that city, was a native of Winchester, having been born here Aug. 3, 1879, daughter of Samuel and Cecelia (Gilgun) Ward.

Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, Frederick W., Antoine and Everett W.; two sisters, Mrs. William Hogan of Woburn and Mrs. Albert Chase of Arlington, and five brothers, William, Charles, Samuel and George Ward of Woburn and Everett W. of Washington.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with high mass of requiem in St. Charles' Church, Woburn, at 9 o'clock. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE GUARD VETERANS ASSOCIATION

It may not be known to many of the men who in the years 1917-20 gave freely of their time and in many instances money, and enlisted in the different companies throughout the State in order to give protection to the home communities in which they resided, and stand in readiness to cope with any emergency that might arise, that out of that organization has grown a wonderful organization composed of many of those same men who walked the streets of Boston during the Police strike and did any other duty that was theirs to do. At the present time there are scattered throughout the State 26 units made up of men of all ranks from Colonel down to private, whose object is like the Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and others to keep alive the spirit and good fellowship that prevailed during the time they were in service.

Winchester had a fine company who did their part during that time and so far as is known very few are in the Veterans organization. At the present time the nearest unit to Winchester is in Medford and they have one of the most active units in the State. It is made up of men from Winchester, Woburn, Arlington, Somerville, Malden and Medford. The expense is very small and at the present time Medford Unit is offering reduced rates for the remainder of the year as a special inducement to get men into the Association and have them enjoy the fellowship and comradeship of the organization. Any comrade desiring information regarding the unit can call the Adjutant of Medford Unit, Fred Dunbar, 12 Court street, Medford, telephone Mystic 0738-W.

Medford Unit will gladly welcome all comrades who are desirous of coming into the ranks and the next meeting will be held on Friday evening, Oct. 6 in Riverbank Hall, Masonic Building, Medford Square.

LUCEY—O'CONNELL

The marriage of Miss Helen L. O'Connell, daughter of Mr. Edward O'Connell of Middlesex street, and Cornelius A. Lucey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lucey of Mason street, Malden, took place on last Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24, in St. Mary's Rectory with Rev. Fr. James Lynch officiating.

Miss O'Connell wore white satin with a shirred white tulle turban and a shoulder veil. Her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Theresa M. O'connell, who wore blue velvet with matching hat and carried yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, house decorations being freshly cut flowers and palms. Upon their return from a wedding journey which is to take them to Niagara Falls and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Lucy are to make their home in Malden at 27 Preston street.

A TRIBUTE

To the Editor of the Star:

I believe the inhabitants of Winchester have lost a faithful servant in the death of Town Engineer James Hinds. When you consider that he was appointed Town Engineer year after year for so long by the various Boards of Selectmen, it proves conclusively that he was an efficient engineer.

I was personally acquainted with "Jim" for more than half a century. I have always found him a sterling citizen. As the late Preston Pond informed me, he and others were the Town Fathers who developed Winchester into one of the most beautiful residential suburbs in Greater Boston.

As a member of the Board of Health in 1904 he served on that able Committee that constructed the town stable and garbage house, and in conjunction with the late Dr. Church, Dr. Allen, Dr. French and Dr. Eaton, abolished the unsightly dump and depressions that were so numerous in various sections of the town.

Some folks can very readily recall the wonderful work he accomplished in regard to home gardens during the World War and how he helped the unfortunate. How vividly I recall when he worked all night fighting the blizzards of winter and walked with a sick horse from Ridge street to the town stable in a terrific snow storm, a distance of approximately three miles. I believe "Jim" has earned a rest. May he rest in peace.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

The Parent-Teacher Association was responsible for a successful Well Child Clinic which was held in Northampton during a period of four weeks last spring.

The success was doubtless due to the splendid organization which was started nearly four months in advance of the clinic, when the Public Health Nursing Consultant for the Massachusetts Department of Public Health presented the plan to the president of the Northampton Parent-Teacher Association. The chairman of the project selected district chairmen who took charge of appointments in each section of the city.

The publicity chairman worked out a commendable program including weekly, and finally daily, newspaper articles, a moving picture runner, advertisements in the paper sponsored by local banks and the Commercial College, and distribution of posters and flyers. The Edwards Congregational Church printed a notice in the weekly bulletin. The Hampshire County Gazette gave the finest kind of cooperation, contributing two editorials and devoting front page space to the picture of Dr. Susan M. Coffin, of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the examining physician.

The services of the examining physician, the dental hygienist, the nutritionist, and the public health nurse were given by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association acted as hostesses each day; and 392 children attended, 179 of whom are entering school for the first time this fall. A total of 1092 physical defects were found in these 392 children and right away the Northampton Parent-Teacher Association was busy making plans for securing corrections of the defects. The Northampton Visiting Nurse Association, the school nurses, and the Hampshire County Public Health Association followed up these Well Child Clinic children, and several local organizations helped financially with the correction of some defects.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The fall tennis tournament is occupying the limelight at present, matches being held nightly.

Sunday afternoon was a lulu. Ask "Doc" Blackler. Before a plentiful audience and a well organized "jeering" section, said "Doc" engaged with Crewman "Bill" Locke in a game of singles.

Now Mr. Locke had the trivial advantage of 40—30. Spectators, however, thought the 40—30 points should have gone to "Doc" Blackler.

"Bill" was all over the court. His was a game inspired. His serves were bombastic, his returns chain lightning, his back hand irrepressible. Hither and "zither," all over the place he socked 'em. He bounded and rebounded. He had springs in his legs and fire in his eyes. And through it all the constantly growing "jeering" section gave encouragement with vociferous and oft repeated "alley-oops!"

The Doctor finally emerged the victor, two sets to one. Such a game. Such a suspense. Oh! O!

Mr. Lester C. Gustin Jr., step up. For this is the laddikins (our erstwhile crewman) who won the Shuh-Shuh Gah Trophy in a walk away.

Yes, Junior can certainly handle a canoe, although when he tipped over, the judges had a hard time figuring whether he was handling the canoe or the canoe was handling him.

The judges were unanimous in their decision and modest Junior graciously acknowledges the plaudits of his fellow members.

"Shucks!" says Junior, "shucks." 'Twan't nothin'. Come down and watch me win it again next year.

Folks, the Shadow is back! We all know tootin' well if the Shadow is in town something big is going to bust.

Here it is. The crew is running a big Hallowe'en party on Oct. 28. Nuff sed. If it's a crew time it's a good time.

Wait for the Shadow's further announcements.

Next club dance is Oct. 14.

LOST IN THE WOODS

By A Timber Cruiser of 30 Years' Experience

More people are lost during the hunting season, October, November and December than at any other time of the year. It is true, some people possess instinctively a sense of location, and naturally are less likely to find themselves lost than others who have no such sense of location.

Many, on the other hand start out totally unprepared, as it were, carrying with them no map or compass and make no notes of any kind. On a clear day when the sun is shining, one may get along very well, but it is always better to make notes of points of compass whether it is clear or cloudy weather.

If you are to travel very far you should count your steps for at least 250 steps in a straight line. That means 2½ feet to the step, or about 650 feet which means 1/8 of a mile. By consulting your watch this will give you an idea how fast you are traveling. If you have no map you can make a little sketch as you go along, until you are satisfied you have your bearings. One reason why so many hunters get lost is because they do not get sufficient bearings when they first start out. It is always wise to have a small ax and plenty of matches. If you are going to follow a trail all day these things are not necessary, but many people are prone to follow their instincts and so get lost.

When, however, one discovers they have lost their bearings, and they are not in a very large body of woods they should follow the first good path they come to, or go down a stream which is sure to bring them to some point of safety, and thus are prevented from getting lost. Never try what promises to be "short cuts" unless you have considerable daylight ahead, for when anyone becomes confused and loses their bearings, nothing looks natural and often a person becomes for the time being temporarily insane.

I was traveling in the Winter time on snowshoes in company with a man on a dark, cloudy day. It was small, soft wood growth. I realized my companion did not know where he was, but I made no comment and continued going ahead. Suddenly we came into a little field where we could see a house. It was the very house where my companion was born and lived until he was 11 years old and had been on the farm many times since that time. I turned to him, asking him if he knew where he was. He replied he never saw the place in his life before. I exclaimed in amazement, "why 'Will,' don't you know this place?" He at once became angry, wondering if I thought him an abject fool. Realizing the condition he was in, I suggested we go down to the house, get warm and rested to which he consented. He rapped at the door and when the lady opened the door and invited us in his look of bewilderment was ludicrous. "For goodness sake, Emma, is that you," he cried. Then it began to dawn upon him where he was, within three miles of his own home, and on the place where he was born. I have seen many such cases.

In books we often read if lost, look to see which side of the tree the moss grows on, which is usually north, heavy limbs are on the south side, etc. But all such suggestions are not likely to occur to a lost man. Such a man is not his normal self, but virtually insane.

Why do people travel in a circle? The majority of people take a longer step naturally with the right foot than with the left. Having been a timber cruiser for 30 years or more, traveled the White Mountains of New England, the Allegheny Mountains in the Virginias, the Great Smokey Mountains in the Carolinas, Canada, Newfoundland, Sierra de Madre Mountains in Mexico, the Great Dismal Swamp in Virginia, Swamps in the Southern States and Tropical West Indies, I have never had to sleep out of doors on account of being lost at night unless I had planned to do so. I always use a compass, sunshine or rain. If I have no map, I make a sketch as I go, make a complete record of my travels, sometimes in great detail, sometimes on preliminary work just a general idea of the course. It all depends on just what kind of work you are doing.

I have never been as far away from civilization as many people have been, not over 40 miles from the nearest settlement, but I have never felt any anxiety as to the point where I wished to come out and my experience has always been that I have never failed to find myself just where I wanted to be. So many hunters in chasing game lose their course and mountains look so different from almost every angle and trails resemble each other so much. Leads, on the mountains look so much alike that it is easy to get lost unless one has a good sense of location, or has made notes and sketches as he went along. If one finds himself lost in the woods and will have to remain all night, he should be sure to build a good fire and keep warm. There is nothing like keeping one's feet before the fire to draw malaria from the system, prevent a cold or rheumatism.

When one is walking in the woods ordinarily where there is no trail, if he covers 1½ miles per hour he will be doing well, especially in a mountainous district.

Notwithstanding the Boston weatherman's statement that we have had a good summer this year, there are quite a few who disagree, and the excessively hot and humid weather of this week added to their conviction. On Tuesday the glass went up to 72 and on Wednesday reached 86 for a good portion of the day. Interspersed with light showers and clear skies, the two days were anything but comfortable.

"TUGBOAT ANNIE" AT THE UNIVERSITY

With Marie Dressler as Annie, redoubtable feminine skipper of Puget Sound, and Wallace Beery as the irresponsible but irresistable Captain Terry, "Tugboat Annie opens Sunday for four days at the University Theatre. Sea-going tugs race for wrecks, there is an amazing engine room climax in which Beery invades a blazing firebox to plug boiler tubes and save a great liner, and hilarious comedy abounds between dramatic incidents. The cast includes Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frankie Darro and Paul Hurst.

Clive Brook, George Raft, Alison Skipworth and Helen Vinson are co-featured in "Midnight Club," the companion feature. The story is a breathless, rapid-fire tale of London society, upperworld and underworld, and centers about the efforts of an American detective to break up a great jewel-theft ring which has been preying on lords and commoners alike.

Leslie Howard, who recently appeared in "Animal Kingdom" and "Smilin' Thru," heads the cast of "Captured" which starts Thursday. It is a highly dramatic story of an amazing triangle with the locale of a German prison camp. The supporting cast includes Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Margaret Lindsey and Paul Lukas.

"Brief Moment" the companion feature is a screen adaptation of the successful Broadway play. It presents Carole Lombard as a struggling night club "blues" singer. Others in the cast are Gene Raymond, Monroe Owsley and Donald Cook.

Velocity of Tennis Balls

If a tennis ball were an airplane it could fly across the Atlantic in 35 hours, for it covers 613 miles an hour when in action. That is the speed which the ball attained when one of the players collected in the DAVIS cup match between Germany and England. Service balls sped across the net at "only" 68.7 miles an hour. Even the slower balls didn't "go from one line to the other at a rate of 31 miles an hour.—Montreal Herald.
